NO LIQUOR IN TORONTO JUNCTION.

Wholesale or Shop Licenses Will not be Issued.

Hon. J. R. Stratton States the Policy of the Department Local Option Will be Thorough, When Adopted.

A representative of The Globe called upon Hon. Mr. Stratton, as head of the License Department, and asked him, in view of the several applications for wholesale or shop licenses from Toronto Junction, where a local option by-law had been recently adopted, what was the intention of the department in regard to such applications.

Mr. Stratton, in reply, stated that it was not the intention of the department to entertain such applications or authorize the issue of wholesale or shop licenses in Toronto Junction or elsewhere in local option municipalities. That there might be no misunderstanding in regard to this matter, Mr. Stratton added that it was the fixed policy and intention of the department that no wholesale or shop license should be issued in any of the municipalities of the Province where local option bylaws had been adopted and were still in force, and the License Commissioners have been so instructed.

THE BEST YET.

A Vicious Dog.

While Michael Bird, a man who resides in the south end of the town, was passing the Peter Hamilton foundry, a stray dog flew at him, fixing its teeth in the calf of his right leg, and tearing his trousers. By kicking out frantically the man shook off the infuriated animal before it had a chance to badly lacerate his leg. The dog does not usually display such a vicious disposition, and apparently Mr. Bird did nothing to make it angry. The owner will be asked to shoot the dangerous animal.

Good Carpets, Curtains and Rugs.

Our supremacy in the Carpet World is well known to shoppers in Peterborough. One glance at our immense showing of CARPETS, CURTAINS, LINOLEUMS and RUGS on the second floor is enough to convince you of our supremacy.

It would be a hard task indeed to imagine a want in Carpets, Curtains, Linoleums or Rugs that could not be supplied from our new Spring Goods.

It would be harder to find the equal of such sterling qualities and large quantities.

Hardest of all would be to find another instance of such extreme moderation exercised in pricing them.

THE ADJOURNED VESTRY MEETINGS.

Of St. John's and All Saint's Anglican Churches.

Were Held Last Night Satisfactory Reports Present All Saints Want New Church.

The adjourned Vestry meeting of St. John's church was held last night with upwards of 100 members present and great interest was manifested in the large amount of business transacted. Rev. J. C. Davidson presided. The reports of the different societies were first presented and were favourably commented on.

THE CHANCEL GUILD.

The Chancel Guild reported expenditures of $19 on the permanent and festival decorations of the church, and a present balance on hand of $26.

WOMEN'S AUXILIARY

The Woman's Auxiliary report presented by Mrs Peter Campbell, showed receipts of some $127, which had been expended on their missionary enterprises, especially in the North-west. Over $225 had also been raised for Diocesan Missions. A life membership had been presented to Mrs. (Rev.) J. C. Davidson by the late Miss Fair, whose memory was held in loving remembrance.

THE CHOIR.

The Choir reported a membership of fifty-three, and entire harmony and united in their work. The members were all volunteers who did their work freely and faithfully for the church's cause. A pleasant excursion had been given them last summer by the congregation, and a camp for the boys.

JUNIOR W. A.

The Junior Woman's Auxiliary under Miss Dolly Comstock, had sent out a bail valued at $32, and had held 22 meetings. An annual gift of $5 had been made to the band in memory of Mrs. Greenwood, the late President.

GIRLS' GUILD.

The Girl's Guild reported some $95 receipts during the year. Their work had been chiefly of a social character and their meetings largely attended. Work had also been done for missionary objects for home and abroad.

YOUNG MEN'S GUILD

The Young Men's Guild had held several pleasant meetings and had interesting papers from Mr. Dennistoun and Mr. Kerr. They had carried through the Sunday School picnic and taken part in social entertainments.

THE KING'S DAUGHTERS

The King's Daughters showed a large amount of most useful work. The Hospital and Protestant Home had been regularly visited and a large Christmas distribution. More clothing had been received than before and the society had received liberal support both from within and outside the congregation, and after the season's operations a balance of $28 was left on hand. In connection with this the report of the Rector's Poor Fund and the Holy Communion Poor Fund was read. From these two funds it had been possible to make loans and gifts to 85 persons and families, amounting to $107, making a total of $187 given through the church for this purpose. Several persons commented with approval on the results which had been attained through the happy and careful administration of these funds.

SUNDAY SCHOOL

The Sunday School was reported as being in a satisfactory condition. The number of scholars was larger than ever before, and the contributions had also increased. Faithful work was being done by an efficient band of teachers.

At the special Lenten services the collections had amounted to $30, and after paying expenses a balance of $6 was shown.

The business of the last meeting was then resumed. Mr. Poussette made this report as representative of the Nicholls Hospital Board, and was re-elected, on motion of Dr. Halliday, who spoke most highly of the Hospital, its present equipment and management. Dr. Boucher also spoke along the same line.

AUDITORS' REPORT

The auditors' report was then presented by Mr. Lount, who made several suggestions.

This was followed by a report from the finance committee. There was much interesting discussion after these two reports had been read, and the affairs of the church were carefully considered. It was finally decided that the present balance on hand was needed for pressing improvements, and the hope was expressed that later an a portion of it might be applied to the sinking fund on the mortgage debt. In the meanwhile the necessity was pointed out to increase the revenue by the envelope system, and it was determined to reduce the special offerings to three, in January, June and October, the smaller collections being paid out of the ordinary church funds.

Twelve Sidesmen and twelve ushers were then appointed, on motion of Lt.-Col. Rogers, after which the Rectory project was taken up, and envoked considerable enthusiasm. It was determined that the committee on sites be constituted a rectory committee, with the addition of the present wardens, and Mr. A. H. Stratton, to consider the subject with a view to the erection of a building as soon as funds would permit, and to obtain all information in regard to it, to be laid before the meeting of the congregation at an early date. The balance to the credit of the fund was now reported as standing at $2259, to which it was determined to add the plate collection of Easter Day. The fund was reported to be rapidly growing, and $3500 was suggested to be sufficient for beginning building operations.

Lt.-Col. R. Z. Rogers of Grafton, was warmly welcomed by the chairman to the meeting and much appreciation was expressed by the chairman and church wardens regarding the large attendance and interest manifested in the church.

ALL SAINTS.

The adjourned vestry meeting of All Saints church was held last night with the Rector, Rev. William Major, presiding, and a large attendance of the members of the congregation; and great interest was manifested. The Wardens' report having been received was adopted, pending the supervision of the auditors.

Mrs. Dayman presented the report of the Chancel Guild, which was also received and adopted.

The matter of a new rectory and a new church was discussed at considerable length, and is reported fully in another column of this issue.

After the transaction of some more business, the meeting adjourned.

"UNE ECLUSE MONUMENTALE."

French-Canadian Tribute to the Great Engineering Work.

OPINIONS OF LA PRESSE'S.

A Wide Spread Interest in the Trent Waterway Would Become a Feeder to Montreal.

In a recent number of La Presse, Montreal, perhaps the most enterprising of the French-Canadian journals, and one of the most enterprising in the country, appears an interesting article under the heading "Une Ecluse Monumentale," — a monumental lock. The article which is signed J. X. Perrault, is founded upon the visit of the Royal Transportation Commission to Peterborough, pays a tribute to our lift lock, and deals intelligently with the merits of the canal. Mr. J. X. Perrault, the writer of the article, was present at the meeting of the commission held in Peterborough recently, and the impressions of his visit to the town and lock are interestingly told. The article, illustrated by a fine three column engraving of the lift lock, is so well worthy of reproduction for its merits, as well as an indication of the wide interest being taken in the Trent Waterway, that a translation of it is here presented:

"A few days ago the Royal Transportation Commission had a sitting in Peterborough to study the famous Trent Valley Canal, intended to unite Georgian Bay (in effect Lake Huron) and Lake Ontario. Already nearly four million dollars have been devoted to the work of this great interior way of communication, traversing the sister province for a distance of more than two hundred miles. To-day 170 miles are navigable for vessels having a draught of 6 feet, easily deepened to 8 feet. There remains therefore thirty miles to be opened to complete this great route of communication for the transportation of the economic products of the west.

"One can conceive all the interest this gigantic enterprise has for the rural and industrial population of the five counties which the Trent canal traverses.

"Important delegations, representing the Boards of Trade, great industries, and the municipalities, came from all points of the district, to show the urgency for finishing, without delay, this great work, from which all the country will profit.

"They showed that for twenty years successive governments have contributed largely to the work already done, which represents to-day an annual interest of more than $120,000, without profit to the country at large, without an opening at either extremity of the canal, for the four millions which have been expended to develop the interior of this district.

"To give an idea of the difficulties to be overcome, it must be recalled that the route presents an elevation total of about 600 feet above the level of Lake Ontario, and about 200 feet above the level of Lake Huron.

THE LIFT LOCK

"To overcome this formidable ass's (hog's) back, there are required a considerable number of deep locks, whose cost will also be considerable. It is here that the Minister of Public Works has executed a structure, without example in America, and we can add, in the entire world. It consists of a lift lock, capable of elevating vessels a height of 65 feet. This lift lock has been constructed at Peterborough, and will be inaugurated on the opening of navigation. We publish an engraving illustrating this monument of canalization, of which only three examples, of very small size, exist to-day in the whole world: one at Les Fontinettes, in France, another at La Bouviere, in Belgium, and a third at Anderton, in England. This structure of solid concrete and iron, is a great honour to Canada, and is calculated to render interior navigation the greatest services. Not fewer than four similar hydraulic locks, not to speak of a certain number of ordinary locks, and dams, are necessary to complete the works, and open the Trent Canal to navigation. These works will cost the Government several millions and can be finished in the space of two to three years.

"It will then be easy to transport wheat from Midland on the Georgian Bay to Montreal at a cost of 2 1-2 cents per bushel. In adding another cent for transportation from Fort William of Port Arthur to Midland we arrive at a total price of 3 1-2 cents per bushel of wheat from the head of Lake Superior to Montreal.

THE CANAL'S TRANSPORTATION CAPACITY.

"During only one season of navigation the Trent Canal is capable of transporting about 200,000,000 of bushels of wheat, with a navigation of 24 hours per day and with barges 800 tons and a capacity of 26,000 bushels.

"As the canal traverses a series of lakes and rivers, of considerable size, a steam barge of 30,000 bushels can easily tow four barges, each of 26,000 bushels, coupled two and two and forming a "procession" of 134,000 bushels of wheat. A fleet like that can make thirty voyages complete from Midland to Montreal during the season of navigation, making an approximate total of four million bushels.

"All this information was submitted to the Transportation Commission at its recent sitting, and are of the greatest interest in that they present a prompt solution of the question of transporting the products of the North-west to the seaboard at Montreal and Quebec.

"Naturally reckoning is made upon return freight for the barges, to the extent of one-third of their cargo capacity, to permit of their being operated at an advantageous price. It must not be forgotten, however, that the capacity of Trent Canal barges is 800 tons, while those of the famous Erie Canal have a capacity of only 240 tons. Moreover the towing is done, in great part, on the Erie Canal by horses at a slow pace, while the towing on the rent Canal will be done entirely by Steam power. So that if the Erie Canal has been able to feed the great port of New York with hundreds of millions of bushels of wheat, the Trent Canal, better equipped, will be able to feed the trans-Atlantic ships at Montreal and Quebec with millions of wheat to far greater extent.

ELECTRIC DEVELOPMENT POSSIBILITIES.

"It is necessary to add that these 800 feet of fall of water fed by more than 300 lakes, can develop hundreds of thousands of hydraulic horse power which electricity will utilize in a radius of 200 miles throughout the area of this vast water power. There will necessarily follow a considerable manufacturing development, for which the Government will be able to draw a profit for the location of these electric works, which will contribute largely to pay the interest upon the capital expended.

Here an urgent expenditure is called for on the part of the Government to realize the economical transportation of the wheat of the West by saving 300 miles of distance as compared with the Welland Canal route. There remains to the Minister of Canals the honour of completing this superb enterprise which will assure the supremacy of the St. Lawrence route over that of the Erie Canal via Buffalo and New York."

PETERBOROUGH'S IN MIDLAND LEAGUE.

Strong Base-Ball Club Organized Last Night.

Will Attempt to Bring Championship Home to Peterborough Again—The Players Signed

A meeting of the Peterborough Baseball Club held last night in the Oriental Hotel parlours was well attended, and the utmost enthusiasm was manifested in the affairs of the Club. It was decided that a team would be entered in the Midland Baseball League this year, and delegates to attend the meeting at Port Hope on Thursday night were appointed.

The Club is in an excellent condition, and prospects for a successful season are very bright.

The officers for the year were elected as follows:—

Patrons and Patronesses — Hon. and Mrs. J. R. Stratton, Mr. and Mrs. Hughes-Cha s, Mr. and Mrs. P. Campbell and Mr. and Mrs. G. Hutton.

Hon. President—R. B. McKee.
President—W. Rudkins.
1st Vice-President—W. Crowley.
2nd Vice-President—Dr. Wightman.
Manager—Fred Whiteroft.
Secretary-Treasurer—M. J. Hutchinson.

The Club will place a strong team in the League this year, and it is believed that the honours won by the team in 1900 when they won the League championship, will be duplicated this year. Practically all the members of last year's Excelsior team have been signed by Manager Whiteroft for this year's Peterborough team, and in addition a number of other good men have joined the ranks of the players. The following men have been signed:—

E. Flaherty, J. Sheridan, E. Howell, E. Belleghem, J. Pilling, N. Miller, J. McDonald, K. Simpson, T. Pilling, C. Graham, F. Casson, E. Taylor, W. Wareham, C. Earls and Fred Derocher.

Peterborough will break into Intermediate C. L. A. this season, and a district comprising teams from Lindsay, Oshawa and Peterborough will probably be arranged. The suggestion has been made that the teams in this district might play a double schedule, which would give each team two home games with each of the other teams. This would add interest to the series, and the winners would probably nto be decided until the last game played.

THE STAGE CANADIANS

CLARA MORRIS, GREAT EMOTIONAL ACTRESS, BORN IN TORONTO.

Louis Beaudet, the "Ideal Ophelia," Is a Native of Montreal Then Miss Margaret Anglin, Daughter of Ex-Speaker of the House of Commons, Who Was Born in Toronto, Bids Fair to Eclipse Anyone Now on the Stage.

"Canada has furnished the American stage with some of its brightest and most finished actresses," said "Citizen" Beard, as he sat in a cosy corner of the King Edward Hotel the other night, according to The Sunday World, "and has also contributed its quota of the vocalists and instrumentalists now appearing before the public on the concert platform. Let me tell you one or two things about several of the foremost women on the stage or just retired." "Did you know that Clara Morris, the greatest emotional actress of her time, is a native of Toronto, and that she graduated from the back row of the ballet, and before retiring was the creator of numerous roles, and that in her day the foremost critics of the world wrote of her 'Camille' as being remarkable in its conception and exposition; and did you know that Louis Beaudet, the brightest vaudevillian of two continents, often referred to in the legitimate as the 'ideal Ophelia,' was born in Montreal, and received her education in a convent at Lachine?" Well, such is the case. There are others of equal prominence. Clara Morris, of course, was the most finished actress, though Margaret Anglin, who was born in Toronto and educated in Montreal at the Convent of the Sacred Heart, is rapidly convincing her admirers and the theatregoers in general, that her fame as an artist will one day eclipse that of any actress now on the stage. Miss Anglin first made her appearance in 'Shenandoah.' That's nearly ten years ago. Then, in 1896, she was the Roxane in 'Cyrano de Bergerac,' giving every evidence of a great future. In her tour of Canada and United States with James O'Neil, she gathered fresh laurels, which she has added to since joining the Empire Theatre Company.

"Then there's Viola Allen, not a Canadian born, but her childhood was spent in Toronto, where she received her early training. Miss Allen, you will remember, was the first Glory Quayle in "The Christian," which, five years ago, had such a vogue. She was first heard as leading woman to the lamented John McCullough, afterwards playing with Salvini, 'Joe' Jefferson and 'Billy' Florence. To-day she is in the first rank of actresses and has won fame on both sides of the Atlantic.

"Julia Arthur, who was born at Hamilton, is another striking example of what a determined woman can do. She made her first appearance with an amateur dramatic club at eleven years of age, and three years later appeared with Daniel Bandman, afterwards joining Sir Henry Irving. She scored a personal triumph at Rosamond in 'A Becket,' though her greatest hit was 'A Lady of Quality.' It is said of her that she has no rival so endowed with a Juliet nature, while another writer spoke of her as 'the Sarah Bernhardt of the American stage.' Miss Arthur, who in private life is Mrs. B. P. Cheney, has retired from the stage and is a resident of Boston.

Beautiful Caroline Miskel, wife of Charles H. Hoyt, the dramatist, was born in old Kentucky, but Toronto was her home from babyhood until she joined Augustin Daly's forces in her eighteenth year. Mrs. Hoyt was one of the most beautiful women on the stage, and in 'A Contented Woman,' which was written for her by Mr. Hoyt, she made a pronounced hit. Poor little Caroline died when her future was assured.

"Of course you know that Margaret Mather, who made her stellar debut as Juliet, in McVicker's Theatre, Chicago, was born at Tilbury, Ont., and that when she died five years ago her funeral shroud was the costume of the master's heroine, Imogene, in 'Cymbeline,' was considered one of her strongest character studies.

"Ethel Knight Mollison, a native of St. John, N.B., is now touring Australia. Miss Mollison made her debut nine years ago with Olga Nethersole, and she was ingenue to Ada Rehan, Julia Arthur and Henrietta Crossman, appearing also with Richard Mansfield in 'The First Violin,' and in a number of stock companies as leading lady.

"Charlotte Nickinson, who is to her friends Mrs. Daniel Morrison, is now living in retirement, I understand, in Toronto. She was a bright actress in her day, winning the title of 'la Jeune Quebecoise' during her sixty-night engagement at the ancient capital, where she played the part of Melaine in 'Napoleon's Old Guard.' She also appeared in other plays, one of the incidents of her career being her management in 1877 of a production of 'The School for Scandal,' under the patronage of Lord Dufferin.

"Speaking of vocalists and instrumentalists, I might mention Miss Genevieve Finlay, who is the principal contralto in 'A Country Girl.' This little girl was born in Quebec and first made her debut at Daly's Theatre, New York, two years ago in the part she is now playing. Miss Nora Clench, violiniste, who was honored by the Queen. She was born at St. Mary's, Ontario, and is now in England. Madame Albani, born at Chambly, Flora and May Irwin, who are the comediennes of the day, were born at Whitby, their father being Robert E. Campbell.

"I might also speak of Miss Lawrence, daughter of E. E. Prentice, who made her debut in the Court Theatre, London, and May Waldron of Hamilton, who was the wife of Stuart Robson, one of the drollest comedians of his time. Miss Street, otherwise Evelyn de Latre of London, Ontario, is also making a reputation abroad as a violiniste. There are many others, and among them not a few young women from Ontario and Quebec, who will be heard of in the next few years. As for the men, I could mention them by the score, Henry Miller, who is under Daniel Frohman's management, is a Toronto boy. Jack Park, another Toronto boy, is considered the finest light opera baritone singer, on the American stage, and Jack is a Broadway matinee idol. Many Toronto boys are managers of some of the largest theatres in New York and Chicago, which goes to show you that Canada, and especially Toronto, is well represented in the theatrical profession." Mr. Beard was asked to say something about himself, but he declined. However, Mr. Beard is so well known in Toronto in business and musical circles that his rapid rise to the position of business representative of the Augustin Daly Musical Company, the strongest and oldest theatrical firm in America speaks well for the business ability of this young man. In speaking of the new musical comedy, "Sunny Ceylon," that was put on at Daly's Theatre, London, at a cost of seventy-thousand dollars, last Saturday, Mr. Beard said it surpassed all musical shows ever seen in London and would be reproduced at Daly's Theatre, New York, the early part of next season, after which it will be seen in Toronto for perhaps two or three weeks. "As for 'a Country Girl,' it will last for some time to come. It is now in its second year in this country, and we have not yet covered half the territory. But I am tired now, and must bid you good-night."

SECRET IS TO DO AS YOU ARE TOLD

Everyone Who Has Had Dyspepsia and Used Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets Tells You to go and Do Likewise.

"I would have a Sour Stomach and Heartburn and could never touch any rich food. I was told Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets would cure me. I concluded to try them and only had to use half a box when I was cured."

So says Isaac Jenkins, of 116 Dund s street, Toronto.

Isn't the lesson clear to you, you sufferers from the tortures of Indigestion? It is that you can be cured easily and quickly if you'll only do as you are told—use Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Who tells you to use them? Everyone who has ever used them themselves. For everyone who has had Dyspepsia and who has used Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets is to-day telling others to go and do likewise.

If you would, in reason, eat what you like and when you like use Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

England Not on the Map.

A British minister has just been sent to Bolivia, and this is the first representative England has had in that country for nearly 40 years. The last diplomatic agent sent there arrived at the capital on a feast day and immediately applied for an audience with the president. It did not suit His Majesty to receive ministers on that particular day, so he sent word for the Englishman to come around some other time. This rebuff rather nettled British dignity, and the president was very much surprised to receive a note a little later, saying that the accredited representatives of Great Britain were not accustomed to being put off on pretexts by presidents or any one else. Then the president got ruffled. The upshot of the matter was that the British minister was tied to a mule, head backward, and driven out of the country in this undignified attitude.

When the outraged Englishman finally reached a cable office, he communicated the account of his woes to the British Foreign Office. The story goes the official in charge, without taking the trouble to look up Bolivia's geographical position, ordered a battleship to the scene to insist upon proper amends being made for the insult. This was a great joke, for the reason that Bolivia is an inland country and has no port at all.

When the British head of foreign affairs got down his map to look up Bolivia, he took his pen and scratched a line through it, thus severing all diplomatic connection with it. When the President of Bolivia heard of this several months afterward, he retaliated in smart fashion. A United States firm were getting out some new geographies for Bolivia, and he wrote them: "Leave England blank on maps in our school books." This was many years ago, but there are still many of those old geographies in circulation, which show no British red.

Lord Rosebery's Superstition.

Lord Rosebery is superstitious. I recollect one Sunday afternoon walking in his grounds at the Durdans. He found a dead Ledgehog on the path by the Epsom course. Lord Rosebery halted. "I wonder what that means? Had I seen it last Sunday—the Sunday before the Derby (which he had won)—in place of the day after I should have been in a state! You know, one ran across my path at Eton just before I ran my first race. Isn't it strange?"—Windsor Magazine.

Adventure With an Octopus.

Captain S. F. Scott of British Columbia was yachting off Victoria with a party of friends, and while alone one evening in a rowboat a mile from the yacht, got into a school of blackfish, which struck the little boat with such force that its occupant was sent flying into the water. Captain Scott continues:

It seemed a joke to be upset like that, and I laughed. But just as I had swum back to the boat and laid my hands on the upturned keel I felt myself seized halfway below the knees—seized with such strength and suddenness and pulled down with such tremendous force that the boat was jerked clean over, and came down on the top of my head.

Like lightning came the truth. I was in the arms of a devil-fish.

There is no mistaking the grasp. Every one of the devil-fish's eight powerful arms closes upon his prey, and he pulls down, down, until he drags it to the bottom. With a desperate kick I freed myself from the creature below me. Seizing the boat, I had my arm under one of the thwarts when the devil-fish caught me again.

I felt his grasp tighten. The pain was excruciating. With every movement that I made my flesh was lacerated. I began to grow weak from loss of blood. But I never relaxed my hold of the boat.

The agony must have lasted for only a few minutes in reality, but it seemed an eternity before I felt that clutch on my legs loosen. I kicked with all my strength, struggled, twirled, and then felt myself free. I think my solid boots must have injured the arms of the octupus and compelled him to let go.

It was not until an hour and a half later that my friends noticed that my boat was motionless on the water, and came out to see what was the matter. They found me more dead than alive. The skin was nearly all gone from my feet to my knees, and above that it remained for weeks as black as a man's hat. For two months afterward I lived only on milk. Altogether, I was laid up for seven months as the result of my encounter.

A RADIUM MINE IN LONDON.

Six Grains of the Indestructible in Each Ton of Refuse.

Incredible though it may seem, there is a radium mine right in the heart of London. Thousands of people walk over it every day, and never suspect that beneath their feet there is a quantity of the most precious commodity the world has ever known.

At the present time radium is vauled at 12s a milligramme, or one thirty-thousandth part of an ounce. An ounce of pure radium has never been found, and if it could, authorities declare that it would be worth £750,000.

This precious substance is mainly to be found in pitch-blende, an oxide of uranium—of much value as a pigment for coloring porcelain and tinting glass. For many years past a well known firm of analytical chemists and metallurgists in London have been throwing away the by-products obtained from pitch-blende in the process of extracting uranium, and in doing so have discarded close upon £1,000,000 worth of radium.

"Of course," one of the members of the firm in question said to the writer recently, "radium is only a recent discovery, and had we known the value of pitch-blende refuse I need hardly say that we should have taken the greatest care of it, instead of having it taken away in dust-carts. As a matter of fact, we paid 3s 6d per ton to have the residue carried away, and it was ultimately used for leveling and laying out roads in the city, and for filling in the foundations of the houses.

"The greater part of the pitch-blende used by us was obtained from Joachimsthal, in Austria, now the chief source of the new element. The Austrian Government has now, however, prohibited the exportation of the residues of the mines of Joachimsthal, probably with the idea of making a 'corner' in radium. But formerly we practically enjoyed a monopoly of the mines."

For something like seventy years this particular firm of chemists were engaged in the work of extracting uranium from pitch-blende, and during that time hundreds of tons of radium-laden residues were carted away from their premises. It is estimated that from one to six grains of radium were contained in each ton of refuse, and that somwhere under London close upon £1,000,000 worth of radium has been buried. Furthermore, this radium is still in existence, for one of the chief properties of the substance is that it is indestructible.

The Destruction of Romance.

Most of England's moated houses had their secret hiding-places. In the long gallery of Parham Hall a sliding panel in a window-seat exposed a narrow passage leading to a hole beneath the floor, wherein a proscribed priest might take temporary refuge from a too zealous officer of the Commonwealth, says Oscar Parker in The April Booklovers Magazine. In Birtsmorton Court, in Gloucestershire, a secret passage once ran from a concealed chamber in the oak-panelled dining-room to a tunnel beneath the mout, and so on to an exit beyond. Sir John Oldcastle is said to have been secreted here during the wars of the Roses. The hidden chamber now harbors nothing more romantic than the family provender. A secret room, with a sleeping apartment, was constructed over the kitchen of Moreton Hall, and access to the mout was feasible down a narrow shaft in the wall. Alas! the secret chamber has been modernized into a storeroom for cheese! It is a miracle that romance has any breath left in its emaciated body. The mout was the family fishpond in the good old days, and it was usually kept stocked with carp, pike and perch. From a convenient window a line could be dropped into the placid waters, and the larder replenished at no cost and with little delay. Monster pike of hoary age still survive, it is said, in some of these old moats.

BY MARY J. HOLMES.

CHAPTER XLII

Merrily rang the bells next day. Helen's heart was very sad as she met the smiling faces of her friends, and Mark had never been prayed for more earnestly than on that Christmas morning when Helen knelt at the altar rail, and received the sacred symbols of a Saviour's dying love, asking that God would keep the soldier husband, hastening on to New York, and from thence to Washington

* * * * *

"Married On Christmas Eve., at St. John's Church, Silverton, Mass., by the Rev. Mr Kelly, Capt Mark Ray, of the —th Regiment, N.Y.S. Vols., to Miss Helen Lennox, of Silverton."

Such was the announcement which appeared in several of the New York papers two days after Christmas, and such the announcement which Bell Cameron read at the breakfast table on the morning of the day when Mrs. Banker started for Silverton.

"Here is something which will perhaps interest you," she said, passing the paper to Juno, who had come down late, and was looking cross and jaded from the effects of last night's dissipation.

Taking the paper from her sister's hand, Juno glanced at the paragraph indicated by Bell, then, as she caught Mark's name she glanced again with a startled, incredulous look, her cheeks and lips turning white as she read that Mark Ray was lost to her forever, and that in spite of the stolen letter Helen Lennox was his wife.

"What is it, Juno?" Mrs. Cameron asked, noticing Juno's agitation.

Juno told her what it was, and then handing her the paper let her read it for herself.

"Impossible! there is some mistake! How was it brought about?" Mrs. Cameron said, darting a curious glance at Bell, whose face betrayed nothing, as she leisurely sipped her coffee and remarked: "I always thought it would come to this, for I knew he liked her. It is a splendid match."

Whatever Juno thought she kept it to herself, just as she kept her room the entire day, complaining of a racking headache, and ordering the curtains to be dropped, as the light hurt her eyes, she said to Bell, who, really pitying her now, never suggested that the darkened room was more to hide her tears than to save her eyes, and who sent away all callers with the message that Juno was sick—all but Sybil Grandon, who insisted so hard upon seeing her dear friend that she was admitted to Juno's room, talking at once of the wedding, and making every one of Juno's nerves quiver with pain as she descanted upon the splendid match it was for Helen, or indeed for any girl.

"I had given you to him," she said, "but I see I was mistaken. It was Helen he preferred, unless you jilted him, as perhaps you did."

Here was a temptation Juno could not resist, and she replied haughtily:

"I am not one to boast of conquests, but ask Captain Ray himself why I did not marry him."

Sybil Grandon, who not deceived, but she good-naturedly suffered the young lady to hope she was, and answering haughtily: "I can't say I honor your judgment in refusing him, but you know best. However, I trust that will not prevent your friendly advances towards his bride. Mrs Banker has gone after her, I understand, and I want you to call with me as soon as convenient. Mrs. Mark Ray will be the belle of the season, depend upon it," and gathering up her furs Mrs. Grandon kissed Juno affectionately and then left the room.

The Camerons and Sybil Grandon were not alone in calling upon the bride. Those who had liked Helen Lennox did not find her less desirable now that she was Helen Ray, and numberless were the attentions bestowed upon her and the invitations she received.

But with few exceptions Helen declined the latter, feeling that with her husband in so much danger, it was better not to mingle in gay society. She was very happy with Mrs. Banker, who petted and caressed and loved her almost as much as if she had been her own daughter. Mark's letters, too, which came nearly every day, were bright sunspots in her existence, so full were they of tender love and kind thoughtfulness for her. He was very happy, he wrote, in knowing that at home there was a dear little brown-haired wife waiting and praying for him, and but for the separation from her he was well content with a soldier's life. Once Helen thought seriously of going to him for a week or more, but the project was prevented by the sudden arrival in New York of Katy, who came one night to Mrs Banker's, with her face as white as ashes, and a wild expression in her eyes as she said to Helen:

"I am going to Wilford. He is dying. He has sent for me. I ought to go on to-night, but cannot, my head aches so," and pressing both her hands upon her head, Katy sank fainting into Helen's arms.

CHAPTER XLIII.

Georgetown, February—, 1862.

Mrs. Wilford Cameron:

Your husband cannot live long. Come immediately.

M. Hazelton."

So read the telegram received by Katy one winter morning, and which stunned her for a few minutes so that she could neither feel nor think. But the reaction came soon enough bringing with it only the remembrance of Wilford's love. All the wrong, the harshness, was forgotten, and only the desire remained to fly at once to Wilford. Bravely she kept up until New York was reached, when the tension of her nerves gave way, and she fainted, as we have seen.

At father Cameron's a telegram had been received, telling of Wilford's danger. But the mother could not go to him. A lung difficulty, to which she was subject, had confined her to the house for many days, and so it was the father and Bell who made their hasty preparations for the hurried journey to Georgetown. They heard of Katy's arrival, and Bell came at once to see her.

"She will not be able to join us to-morrow," was the report Bell carried home, for she saw more than mere exhaustion in the white face lying so motionless on Helen's pillow, with the dark rings about her eyes, and the quiver of the muscles about the mouth.

"It is very hard, but God knows best," poor Katy moaned, when the next day her father and Bell went without her.

"Yes, darling, God knows best," Helen answered, soothing the bright hair, and thinking sadly of the young officer, sitting by the camp-fire, and waiting so eagerly for the bride who could not go to him now. "God knows what is best, and does all for the best."

Katy said it many times that long, long week, during which she staid with Helen, living from day to day upon the letters sent by Bell, who gave but little hope that Wilford would recover. Not a word did she say of Marian, and only twice did she mention Morris, who was one of the physicians in that hospital, so that when at last Katy was strong enough to venture on the journey, she had but little idea of what had transpired in Wilford's sick-room.

Those were sad, weary days which Wilford first passed upon his hospital cot, and as he was not sick but crippled, he had ample time for reviewing the past, which came up before his mind as vividly as if he had been living again the scenes of bygone days. Of Katy he thought continually, repenting of his rashness, and wishing so much that the past could be undone. Disgusted with soldier life, he had wished himself at home a thousand times, but never by a word had he admitted such a wish to any living being, and when on the dark, rainy afternoon which first saw him in the hospital, he turned his face to the wall and wept, he replied to one who said to him soothingly:

"Don't feel badly, my young friend. We will take as good care of you here as if you were at home."

"It's the pain which brings the tears. I'd as soon be here as at home."

Gradually, however, there came a change, and Wilford grew softer in his feelings, half resolving to send for Katy, who had offered to come, and to whom he had replied, "It is not necessary." But as often as he resolved, his evil genius whispered, "She does not care to come," and so the message was never sent, while the longing for home faces brought on a nervous fever, which made him so irritable that his attendants turned from him in disgust, thinking him the most unreasonable man they ever met with. Once he dreamed Genevra was there—that her fingers threaded his hair as they used to do in the happy days at Brighton—that her hand was on his brow, her breath upon his face, and with a start he awoke just as the rustle of female garments died away in the hall.

"The nurse in the second ward has been in here," a comrade said. "She seemed specially interested in you, and if she had not been a stranger, I should have said she was crying over you."

With a quick, sudden movement Wilford put his hand to his cheek, where there was a tear, either his own or that of the "nurse," who had recently bent over him. It was not Katy, and if not, who was it that twice when he was sleeping, came and looked at him, his comrades said, rallying him upon the conquest he had made, and so exciting his imagination that the fever began to increase, and the blood throbbed hotly through his veins, while his brows were knit together with thoughts of the mysterious stranger. Then, with a great shock it occurred to him that Katy had affirmed, "Genevra was alive."

What if it were so, and this nurse were Genevra? The very idea fired Wilford's brain, and when next his physician came he looked with alarm upon the great change for the worse exhibited by his patient.

"Shall I send for your friends?" he asked, and Wilford answered savagely:

"I have no friends—none at least, but what will be glad to know I'm dead."

And that was the last, except the wild words of a maniac, which came from Wilford's lips for many a day and night. When they said he was unconscious, Marian Hazelton obtained permission to attend him, and again the eyes of the other occupants of the room were turned wonderingly towards her as she bent over the sick man, parting his matted hair, smoothing his pillow, and holding the cooling draught to the parched lips which muttered strange things of Brighton, of Alnwick and Rome—of the heather of the Scottish moors, and the daisies on Genevra's grave, where Katy once sat down.

"She did not know Genevra was there," he said; "but I knew, and I felt as if the dead were wronged by that act of Katy's. Do you know Katy?" and his black eyes fastened upon Marian, who soothed him into quiet, while she talked to him of Katy, telling of her graceful beauty, her loving heart, and the sorrow she would feel when she heard how sick he was.

"Shall I send for her?" she asked, but Wilford answered:

"No, I am satisfied with you."

This was her first day with him, but there were other days when all her strength and that of Morris, who, at her earnest solicitation, came to her aid, was required to keep him on his bed. He was going home, he said, going to Katy, and like a giant he writhed under a force superior to his own, and which held him down and controlled him, while his loud outcries filled the building, and sent a shudder to the hearts of men, who at first had occupied the room with him, were well enough to those who heard them. As the two leave for home, Marian and Morris both begged that unless absolutely necessary, no other one should be sent to that small apartment, where all the air was needed for the patient in their charge. And thus the room was left alone for Wilford, who grew worse so fast that Marian telegraphed to Katy, bidding her come at once.

* * * *

Slowly the wintry night was passing, the fifth since Marian's message was sent to Katy, and Morris sat by Wilford's cot, when suddenly he met Wilford's eye fixed upon him with a look of recognition he could not mistake.

"Do you know me?" he asked so kindly, and with so much of genuine sympathy in his voice, that the heavy eyelids quivered for an instant, as Wilford nodded his head, and whispered:

"Dr. Grant."

"You have been sick," Morris said, anticipating the question Wilford would ask. "You are very sick still, and at the request of your nurse I came to attend you."

A pressure of the hand was Wilford's reply, and then there was silence between them, while Wilford mastered all his pride, and with quivering lips whispered:

"Katy!"

"We have sent for her. We expect her every train," Morris replied, and Wilford asked:

"Who has been with me—the nurse, I mean? Who is she?"

Morris hesitated a moment, and then said:

"Marian Hazelton."

"I know—yes," Wilford replied, having no suspicion as to who was standing outside his door, and listening, with a throbbing heart, to his rational questions.

In all their vigils he'd together no sign had ever passed from Dr. Grant to Marian that he knew her, but he had waited anxiously for this moment, knowing that Wilford must not be shocked, as a sight of Marian would shock him. He knew she was outside the door, and as Wilford turned his head upon the pillow, he went to her, and leading her to a safe distance, said softly:

"His reason has returned."

"And my services are ended," Marian rejoined, looking him steadily in the face, but not in the least prepared for his affirmative question.

"You are Genevra Lambert?"

There was a low, gasping sound of surprise, and Marian staggered forward a step or two, then steadying herself, she said:

"And if I am, it surely is not best for him to see me. You would not advise it?"

She looked wistfully at Morris, the great desire to be recognized, to be spoken to kindly by the man who once had been her husband overmastering for a moment all her prudence.

It would not be best, both for his sake and Katy's," Morris said, and with a moan like the dying out of her last hope, Marian turned away, her eyes dim with tears and her heart heavy with a sense of something lost, as in the gray dawn of the morning she went back to her former patients, who hailed her coming with childish joy, one fair young boy from the Granite hills kissing the hand which bandaged his poor crushed arm so tenderly, and thank her that she had returned to him again.

Goldwin Smith Talks of Arnold.

Sir Edwin Arnold, the English author and journalist, who died recently, was a personal friend and former pupil of Dr. Goldwin Smith, of Toronto.

To a reporter Dr. Smith stated that while he had been a warm friend of Sir Edwin, he had very few reminiscences of the late author to relate.

"He was a pupil of mine while at Oxford," said Dr. Smith, "where he obtained the University Prize for English verse. I remember the poem which he recited before the University Convocation. It was called 'Belshazzar's Feast,' the last two lines of which ran as follows:

Crownless and sceptreless Belshazzar lay,
A robe of purple on a form of clay.

"He became the editor of The London Telegraph, which was at first a very sensational paper, but developed into a more popular journal, and later took on superior rank. In The Telegraph he strongly supported Mr. Gladstone. The proprietor of The Telegraph was a Mr. Levi, who, upon being given a baronetcy, changed his name to Lawson.

"During his journalistic career he was engaged in writing poetry, but never obtained a great reputation as a poet. He had, however, a remarkable command of luscious language. 'The Light of Asia' was a great success, partly because it was new to most readers. Another work, 'The Light of the World,' was not so great a success; it was not new, and was exceedingly difficult to handle.

"He visited Japan, where he became enamored with Japanese character and civilization, and married a Japanese wife.

"He was a successful journalist, judged from a pecuniary point of view, while his general success as an educationist earned him a knighthood."

"Was Sir Edwin not a guest at the Grange?" querried the reporter.

"He was upon two occasions, the last of which was on Nov. 26, 1891, when he was on a lecturing tour," replied Dr. Smith, in conclusion.

The Trying Time

In a young girl's life is reached when Nature leads her uncertain steps across the line which divides girlhood from womanhood. Ignorance and neglect at this critical period are largely responsible for much of the after misery of womanhood. Not only does Nature often need help in the regular establishment of the womanly function, but there is almost always need of some safe, strengthening tonic, to overcome the languor, nervousness and weakness, commonly experienced at this time.

If there is an invalid woman, suffering from female weakness, prolapsus, or falling of womb, or from leucorrhea who has used Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription without complete success, Dr. Pierce would like to hear from such person—and it will be to her advantage to write as he offers in perfect good faith, a reward of $500 for any case of the above maladies which he cannot cure.

"I wish to tell you the benefit we have received from using your remedies," writes Mrs. Dan Hall, of Brodhead, Green Co., Wis. "Two years ago my daughter's health began to fail. Everything that could be thought of was done to help her but it was of no use. When she began to complain she was quite stout; weighed 170, the picture of good health, until about the age of fourteen, then in six months she was so run down her weight was but 120. She kept failing and I gave up, thinking there was no use, she must die. Friends all said, 'You will lose your daughter.' I said I fear I shall. I must say doctor, that only for your Favorite Prescription my daughter would have been in her grave to-day. When she had taken one-half bottle the natural function was established and we bought another one, making only two bottles in all, and she completely recovered. Since then she is as well as can be."

Messrs. McMillan & Maguire, Hunter street, at noon received the following from their New York Agents:

New York, April 19.—The stock market this morning was entirely a professional affair, there being absolutely no outside interest in it. The unexpected announcement of the Northern Sec's decision caused a slight rally, but within 15 minutes it settled to absolute dullness again. Traders report that there is no outside business whatever on the floor and the transactions are entirely professional. London was a moderate buyer this morning. Sentiment there is reported bullish on American stocks. Oliver bid up stocks all around the room this morning; the offerings were very light. There is considerable bull talk on the Wabashes and we learn from excellent sources that buying orders have been distributed in many of the important houses. The Gates faction are trying to create bullish sentiment in the Realty issues again. We look for an irregular market the balance of the day though in many quarters a strong close is anticipated.—Floyd Crawford & Co.

PORT HOPE AND THE TRENT CANAL

"We Have Overwhelming Advantage," say People of that Town.

An Attack on the Reports Made by the Engineers.

The Toronto Star of last night contained the following article on the Trent canal:

The Trent Valley Canal has arrived at the parting of the ways, not only in routes, but if you would believe those who advocate the diversion via Port Hope, in utility as well.

"It has simply arrived at this point," remarked Dr. L. B. Powers, President of the Port Hope Canal Association, today. "It has ceased to be a political plaything, and is about to become a reality of more or less proportion. Is the Government going to complete it on the lines they began it—a six or eight foot play toy canal—or are they going to finish it as it should be finished, with a 10, 12 or 14 foot draught? And if it is to be finished upon a proper basis, is the Government to be led around by the nose by a few interested parties and induced to complete this important canal over a route that is comparatively worthless, when a more practical route can be utilized at a much smaller expenditure, and with much greater advantage to the entire country? Port Hope doesn't want the canal if we cannot prove that our route is the most feasible. If our route is the most feasible and will be to the greater advantage of the country we want it brought to Lake Ontario via Bewdley and this port. If the Trent River route to the Bay of Quinte is the better, then we will fall into line and pull for the completion of the line by way of Trenton. All we want is to prevent the Government making what we consider will be a huge and costly blunder."

That is succinctly Port Hope's position in the controversy anent the Trent Valley Canal diversion. Surely the town's contention is an eminently reasonable one, even if it were not backed up by natufal advantages of incalculable benefit in such an undertaking.

PORT HOPE'S ADVANTAGES.

Port Hope's request for consideration would be a reasonable one if the route they proposed was of equal length with that via the Trent River and the formation in both districts identical. In these two initial considerations Port Hope has such a decided advantage that the proposition demands most serious consideration.

Take the distance alone. From the mouth of the Otonabee River to Trenton via the Trent River is 58 1-2 miles. From the mouth of the Otonabee to Port Hope is from 19 1-2 to 23 miles, the difference depending upon the route from Rice Lake to Port Hope selected. Right at the commencement there is a saving in distance to the lake of from 36 to 39 miles. In the projected Port Hope Hope route there would be from 13 1-2 to 15 miles of direct canalage, while via the Trent River there would be 19 miles of canalage and 22 miles of unproved river navigation. The remainder of the distance in both routes is open navigation on Rice Lake. The lake run via Port Hope would total six miles, while the run from the Otonabee to the mouth of the Trent is 17 1-2 miles, or almost three times as long.

NATURE OF THE ROUTES.

So much for actual distance; now for the character of the country. The Trent River country is rocky. Almost the entire route would have to be dynamited more or less, while the country from Rice Lake to Port Hope is almost entirely light clay, a material easily handled and at the same time tenacious enough to form good canal banks. There is about half a mile of rock near the town.

On the Port Hope route the canal has the choice of following a big natural ravine. To follow this route would mean adding two or three miles to the canal, but it would save hundreds of thousands of dollars in construction and expenditure. In addition, this ravine would supply the canal with much water, for there are a dozen small streams tributary to the Generaska River which flows through Port Hope by way of this ravine, to say nothing of affording excellent opportunities to dam back the supply without flooding any extraordinary amount of land.

The estimate of land to be flooded by the Trent River route with a six-foot canal is 30,000 acres, all of which will have to be paid for by the Government. With an 8-foot depth the amount of flooded land will increase materially, on the Port Hope route a low estimate places the flooded land at 500 acres. Even if it did jump up to 1,000 or 1,500, which seems excessive in view of the nature of the country, the expenditure in this regard would be a mere trifle as compared with a similar expenditure on the Trenton route.

POWER POSSIBILITIES

On the Trenton route those who favour it point out the power possibilities. Some even go so far as to claim that there is 100,000 horse-power, and, according to the Port Hope men, this estimate is ridiculous. They say that 30,000 is the very outside figure, and maintain that four-fifths of this amount is in the hands of private individuals, who would demand compensation for interference.

On the contrary, the Port Hope route presents a fall of 360 feet in 9 1-2 miles—direct route. Only 200 or 300 horse power is developed on the Generaska River. These rights could be easily purchased, and, in fact, the Government could, for a comparatively small sum buy the entire right of way and control all the water power developed.

TWO AGAINST PORT HOPE.

The two most used arguments against the Port Hope route are the dangers of open lake navigation from Port Hope to Presque Isle Bay, which is the entrance to the Bay of Quinte, and the difficulty to be encountered getting over the ridge between Rice Lake and Lake Ontario. The difference between the level of the two lakes is 360 feet, as a matter of fact a cutting through a natural break in the hills for 3 1-2 miles, the greatest depth of which would be 68 feet plus the depth of the canal, would enable the canal to surmount this ridge. From a point 3 1-2 miles from Rice Lake to Lake Ontario via the ravine or gulley, the slope is gradual. There are at least three routes available. One is a direct cutting of 9 1-2 miles, which only takes advantage of the Generaska River for about three or four miles. The second is one selected away back in 1833, when R. A. Mingy surveyed the route at the request of Sir John Colborne, the Lieutenant-Governor of Upper Canada. Mingy followed the ravines, and made the distance 13 1-2 miles. He, however, failed to select the course which would produce the most water, for in those days the water power privileges of the Trent River had not been gobbled up, and the amount of water drained from Rice Lake was but a minor consideration. This survey of 1833 is, according to Port Hope, the only unbiased examination of the route ever made.

GRAVE COMPLAINTS

In connection with the surveys of the Government Engineers Rogers and McLeod, complaints are made.

"The Port Hope route has never been fairly reported upon if you except the survey of Mingy," said Mr. J. F. Clark, vice-president of the Port Hope Association, rather warmly. "Mingy went over the route and reported it to be perfectly feasible. Then the matter was dropped. The Trent Valley Canal was commenced, and Port Hopers regarded it, as the entire country did, as a political buttercock. It progressed by puny jerks to its present shape. About four years ago, when we finally woke up to the fact that the canal had reached such a stage that it was about to become a reality, we re-opened the agitation for its diversion this way—and what was the result? Rogers took a jaunt over the route. He never made an adequate or proper survey, but simply went back and reported against the route. He never made an adequate or proper survey, but simply went back and reported against the route. He did not say that it was unfeasable, or even half as expensive as the Trent Valley route, but he reported against it. Rogers was biased in favour of the Trent Valley route.

"Engineer McLeod, who also reported on the route, was acting under instructions, and so reported against the route.

"Now I tell you we have information to show that Peterborough men have purchased Trent Valley lands and water powers in the hope of securing heavy damages when the canal floods these lands or interferes with their flow of water, hence their strong advocacy of the Trenton route against what they know to be the best interests of the country and their own district."

PORT HOPE'S HARBOUR

President Powers said: "Mr. Rogers estimates the cost of buying and fitting up Port Hope Harbour to meet the requirements of an outlet for the canal at $350,000. He never made any inquiry about the matter, for $100,000 at the outside would buy and equip the harbour. The harbour is in first-class shape. It is the best harbour on the Ontario shore between Toronto and Kingston, and the chances are if the canal came here the harbour board would give the Government the harbour. Rogers has persistently over-estimated our route and underestimated the Trenton route. Why in one item alone in the Frankfort-Trenton section estimate, Rogers left out cement, a $400,000 item. That shows you the unreliability of his figures and the character of the efforts made to maintain the original route intact. Even after over-estimating the cost of the Port Hope route the first time, Rogers was not content, but upon his second survey advanced it outrageously."

The original estimate of the cost of an eight-foot canal over the Trent River route is just over $5,000,000. Rogers' first estimate of the Port Hope route was $2,100,000. In his second the estimate jumped to $3,647,000, with $1,000,000 extras, a desperate attempt, Port Hope men say, to bring the cost equal to that of the 58 1-2 mile Trenton route. A local estimate of the cost of the Port Hope route is $1,116,000.

"What we want is an unbiased survey," say the officers of the Port Hope Association. "If an unprejudiced man of ability will say that our route is not the better one every way, we will accept the verdict and turn in and help Peterborough and Trenton force on the completion of the canal by the original route. Surely that's an eminently fair position."

WOMEN LISTEN; ARTIST TALKS.

Mr. Gerald Hayward Addresses Winnipeg Ladies.

On the Subject of Art—He is Related and Known in Peterborough.

The following is taken from the Winnipeg Telegram, and concerns Mr. Gerald Hayward, a well known miniature portrait painter and a brother-in-law of Mrs. Stewart Hayward, town:

"The members of the Women's Art Association were unanimous in their praise of the informal talk so kindly given by Gerald Hayward yesterday afternoon upon the history and methods of miniature painting on ivory, which proved most interesting. To him alone does the credit belong for its revival, both in the United States and Canada.

"When some twenty years ago Mr. Hayward came out from England to New York, he found the art not lost but sleeping. So he had an exhibition of his portraits at Avery's galleries, Fifth Avenue. These were the first in modern miniatures ever shown on this continent. He soon had many followers, but it is a rare art, and "the true gift" must go with it, as is the record even of the most noted of old miniaturists. Half a lifetime was often spent before attaining their highest ideal, and by the long practice of the eye and brush to bring into the face the expression, individuality and the life-like look that appeals.

"Mr. Hayward has certainly fully mastered these difficulties. His flesh tints and halftones are most beautiful and so natural to each subject, with the life almost sparkling in the eye, which is only increased by a strong magnifying glass. The hair, too, is another of his strong points. Undoubtedly the miniature is a lovely heirloom, and in its antique locket of gold never becomes a white elephant as do so many of the large old paintings.

SOME INCIDENTS.

"Among some amusing incidents of his studio life Mr. Hayward relates one which happened in Chicago. Being asked by a wealthy family to paint their mother, he showed her one of our Queen, painted from life when Princess of Wales. The old lady remarked: "Oh, yes, that is very good. I remember seeing a wax figure of her at Mme. Tussaud's in London."

"One can readily imagine Mr. Hayward's feelings, and in many cases people are almost as ignorant of what the beautiful old art really means.

"Unfortunately the demand for cheapness has brought many tricks into vogue most detrimental to the art, and causing much disappointment.

"Mr. Hayward brought his very interesting discourse to a close by telling his listeners that this art is once more awakening, refreshed and revived by its long repose, to rise, as he expressed it, "like the Phoenix of old, fair emblem of restored and reinvigorated life, strong beautiful, healthy and radiant, once more to adorn the world with its immortal and unfading art."

With him for their attention, and expressing his pleasure at meeting them, afternoon tea was served and an opportunity given to study at leisure a number of the miniatures that this interesting artist has with him.

"OLD BLEACH" LINENS

SOLE MANUFACTURERS:

The Old Bleach Linen Co., Ltd.
Randalstown, Ireland.

We take pleasure in announcing to the people of Peterborough that we have received and placed on sale a large assortment of the above famed "Old Bleach" Linens, embracing Huck Towels and Towellings.

Compare the beautiful silky lustre of these Goods with any other makes. Here is what the manufacturers say about the famous products of their mills:

"Reasons Why Linens Now-a-days Wear Out So Quickly."

"In the good old-fashioned days Linen was spun, woven and bleached by the ladies of the house.

"Naturally great care was bestowed on its production, but more especially on the bleaching.

"This was effected by boiling it with mild soap, and then spreading it on the grass to be whitened by the rays of the powerful, yet kindly sun.

"And their carefulness was rewarded, for Linens bleached in this way had a beautiful silky appearance, and gave endless wear; being looked upon as heirlooms, and handed down to succeeding generations.

"In "Old Bleach" Linen the greatest care has always been exercised in their manufacture. The highest class yarns only are made use of, thus ensuring a perfect texture.

"The safe, old-fashioned system of bleaching on the grass is strictly adhered to, and to this is mainly due the undoubted wearing properties and lustrous silky appearance for which the "Old Bleach" Linen specialties are celebrated all the world over. Every Towel and every yard of their Linen Huck bear the trade mark 'OLD BLEACH.'"

We invite you to call and inspect these beautiful products of Linens.

The Old Bleach Linen Co. say:—"Their wearing properties will be appreciated long after the price is forgotten."

GREATEST FIRE IN TORONTO'S HISTORY

Toronto's Wholesale District Swept by Flames.

TOTAL LOSS TEN MILLIONS.

Peterborough, Hamilton, Buffalo and London Sent Aid—Began in Currie's, West Wellington Street, Tuesday Night —Fire Fiend Devastated Acres Before Morning —Burning at 5 a.m.—Chief Injured.

Toronto, April 20.—Indescribable in its terrors, irresistible in its force, and calamitous beyond any disaster that has yet overtaken Toronto was the great fire that last night swept through the wholesale centre of the city, leaving in its track acres of smoking ruins, where a few hours before there had been huge warehouses and factories filled with the costliest of merchandise.

Toronto this morning faces a fire loss of ten millions of dollars, and sees its wholesale district, an area of awful ruin. At 3 o'clock this morning, after the flames had practically unhindered sway for seven hours, they had eaten up block after block of the finest warehouse places in the country and were still unconquered.

North, south, east and west they spread, and the fire department, disheartened at the start by the injury to the chief, were pitiful in their utter helplessness.

From a blaze which had a beginning, serious looking to be sure, in the Currie premises in Bay street, yet not necessarily containing the fountain head of a conflagration, tens of thousands of citizens watched the flames sweep unresisted, here and there, wherever they could reach.

Beyond All Human Effort.

Within thirty minutes from the time that the firemen were called the fire was beyond all human effort to control. Valiantly, as the firemen struggled, they had to retreat from building to building and from street to street.

From Wellington street, where stood the massive six-storey warehouse occupied by the Ansley and other firms, and which was the beginning of the end, the sweep of the destroying element up till 5 o'clock this morning had taken in the area west on Wellington street, north side, to the vacant lot separating the Suckling & Ivey warehouse, north on Bay street to the Toronto Engraving Company, across the street to The Telegram, which is partially damaged, south on that side, completely gutting the three adjoining buildings; then east along Wellington street, avoiding the low buildings on the northeast corner. On the south side of Wellington street, the fine four-storey building of stone and brick of the Wyld, Darling Company was sacrificed and the flames have gone east to the Kilgour Paper Company.

Brock Warehouse Gone.

On Wellington street, west of Bay, the old Brock warehouse, almost a landmark, fell prey from flames which came from the Rolp Smith and Brown Bros. factories. Through to the south the conflagration extended into the rear of the warehouse on the north side of Front street from Bay to Warwick Bros. & Rutter, and scorching the Queen's Hotel.

Both sides of Bay street are also in ruins, involving the loss of tall, solid buildings. South of Front street every building in the block bounded by Bay and Lorne streets and the Esplanade are no more.

Threatens Custom House.

The change of wind prevented the burning of the Cobban factory 200 yards south on the water front, which was threatened with flying embers, but that same shift sent the flames roaring with but feeble effort to stay them, taking in the famous old block on the south side of Front street, and at the time of writing threatening the Custom House at Yonge and Front. On the north side the fire has almost reached the Bank of Montreal.

Outside Brigades Help.

The people of Toronto are unanimous in thanking Buffalo, Hamilton, Brantford, London, Peterboro, East and North Toronto and other municipalities which sent engines and portions of their brigades or offered to do so.

CHIEF THOMPSON INJURED.

The most serious accident of the evening was that to Chief Thompson. As soon as the firemen perceived that the flames were crossing the lane between Currie's building and the Ansley establishment a party entered at the door of the latter and, headed by the chief, started to drag a hose to the upper storeys. On arriving at the third flat they found further progress barred by the smoke and flames. Turning to make their way downstairs again they found their egress barred. The hose was pulled to the window and passed out, and one by one they slipped down to the ground. Chief Thompson was the last to go, and on nearing the bottom of his perilous journey he partially lost his hold and dropped to the pavement.

The firemen around quickly came to his rescue and carried him away. He was taken to the Emergency Hospital, where it was discovered that his injuries amounted to a fracture of the fibula of his right leg and a severe rupture of the ligaments. He was induced to go home.

There were no other serious injuries, but thruout the night the staff at the Emergency were kept busy ministering to the little accidents which befell the fire-fighters. The injuries were confined mainly to slight bruises, cinders in the eyes, and muscular strains. There were ten men who had been ministered to up to one o'clock. They were: Jas. Ashfield, Bolton-avenue station, bruised; Wm. Stephenson, Bolton-ave., fell while working on a ladder; W. R. Dahle, Lombard-st., eye hurt; Thos. Sargent, Bolton-avenue, eye burned; Thos. Davies, Portland street, bruised; John Lowry, Lombard street, eye hurt; John Soo, Lombard street, eye hurt; Walter Parker, Berkeley-street, eye hurt; Thos. Sargent, Bolton-avenue, bruised.

In addition to these Thos. Cook of 42 Sheridan-street, had his ankle badly sprained and James Ellis of 588 College-street, had his face severely cut by falling wires.

Alfred Gates of Bay-street station, was struck by a falling piece of timber and suffered a severe concussion. He was taken to the Emergency.

Alfred Gates was ascending a ladder at the corner of Wellington and Bay-streets when a pole broke and struck him behind the ear, knocking him off the ladder. He was taken to the Emergency, where it was found he was suffering from a rather severe concussion.

INSURANCE COMPANIES' LOSSES.

It was very difficult to obtain even an approximate estimate of the amount of the damage caused by last night's fire, as the majority of the insurance agents in town were on the scene of the disaster and could not be reached.

The Royal will lose $80,000.
The Scottish Union, $250,000.
The Atlas, $150,000.
The Commercial Union $200,000.
The Anglo-American, $200,000.
The Norwich Union, $250,000.

In short, the English companies will lose from $200,000 to $50,000 each. And the Canadian companies up to $500,000.

The heaviest loss will fall on the Western and British American Companies.

Loss $14,000,000 to $17,000,000.

(Special to the Examiner.)

Toronto, April 20.—A conservative estimate by insurance men to-day place their losses as a result of last night's conflagration at ten millions. Beyond the insurance the estimates vary from four to seven millions, making the total loss from fourteen to seventeen millions. The estimate of the number of hands thrown out of employment vary from five to seven thousand, the largest number being employed in the book and stationery trades.

VAGUE REPORT OF FIRING.

Che Foo Reports With No Details—Member of Japanese Imperial Family Hanged For Railway Wrecking.

London, April 20.—The lull in news from the Far East continues, there being nothing new this morning, beyond a vague report from the Standard's correspondent at Che Foo that heavy firing was heard last night and that searchlights were observed working. None of the numerous reports of Japanese landings is yet verified.

An Imperial Jap Hanged.

Paris, April 20.—The St. Petersburg correspondent of the Petit Parisien says that when it was asserted that one of the two Japanese caught in an attempt to blow up the railroad near the Mongolian frontier belonged to the Imperial family instructions were asked from St. Petersburg. The reply, according to the correspondent, was "hang," and the order was promptly carried out.

According to the St. Petersburg correspondent of the Petit Parisian, a despatch received from Port Arthur says that many mutilated corpses have been cast ashore, and it is affirmed that fragments of a uniform enabled the authorities to identify one of the bodies as that of Vice-Admiral Makaroff.

THE WOOLEN INDUSTRY.

Attempt to Corner the Finance Minister Which Proved Futile.

Ottawa, April 20.—A debate upon the tariff in its application to the woolen industry was precipitated yesterday by Mr. R. A. Pringle, Cornwall, who took exception to the statement by the Finance Minister Monday that he had seen a circular issued by the Canada Woolen Mills, Limited, notifying their customers that they were prepared to fill orders, and that, therefore, the statement that they were closing down their mills was not warranted by the facts. Mr. Fielding yesterday read an advertisement inviting orders, and Mr. W. R. Brock, president of the company, explained that the company were endeavoring to obtain sufficient orders to keep the mills in operation until May 12, when they are to be sold, because a better sale could be effected of a running concern with orders to hand over to the purchaser. Since the preferential tariff came into force merchants like himself had been compelled to send larger orders to England because the Canada mills were unable to compete. The debate on the G. T. Pacific was continued by Messrs. Kemp, Hughes, Lefurgey, and T. L. Thomson, until adjournment of the House.

TARDY RECOGNITION.

Right Hon. Mr. Long Admits Canadian Cattle Are Not Diseased.

London, April 20.—In the House of Commons yesterday the Right Hon. Walter Hume Long stated that the Board of Agriculture had no information showing that any infectious disease existed among Canadian cattle since the passing of the disease of animal act in 1896.

The Liverpool Daily Post, in a lengthy comment on the resolution of the Liverpool Chamber of Commerce, regarding the removal of the embargo against Canadian cattle, says the question is not really one for a single section of the community, and, if an alteration in the law is to be brought about, it must be demanded by the voice of a majority of the people.

Cooke Defence Closed.

Montreal, April 20.—The defence closed their case yesterday in the famous Cooke-Blakely libel case. Mr. MacMaster made a motion for reserved cases arising out of the disputes he had had with the judge over the admission of certain evidence. He also made a plea for the release of the accused in the form of privilege.

Killed By Broken Bottle.

Winnipeg, April 20.—Monday night Johnny Fraser, aged 13, son of John Fraser of Fort William, tripped over and fell on a broken bottle, while running in a lane with companions, severing an artery in his left leg and dying in less than an hour.

While Shooting Pike.

Chatham, April 20.—W. E. Bennett, 15 years of age, and only son of Robert Bennett of Blenheim, was accidentally injured Monday evening while shooting pike in a creek in that vicinity. He received the entire charge of the gun in his side, above the hip, and died four hours after the accident. Bennett, who was in a boat, with a companion, drew his gun towards himself by the muzzle.

A. H. Erb Dead.

Elmira, April 20.—A. H. Erb, ex-warden for the County of Waterloo, died suddenly from pneumonia at his home last evening.

BRIEFS FROM THE WIRES.

The Klondike gold output for the year is now estimated at $10,000,000.

Hiram King of New Canada was found dead from exposure in a ditch near his home.

The lithographers throughout the United States have decided for the arbitration agreement.

The Erie Tobacco Co. may leave Windsor, claiming breach of agreement by the municipality.

Mark Eastman and Geo. Coan, New York toughs, were Tuesday given ten years apiece in Sing Sing for assault.

Jen Sigurl died in a New York police station, presumably from knock-out drops, used in robbing him. A Hungarian waiter is under arrest.

The body of Wm. Mitchell of Southampton was washed up at Belle River, having passed through Lake Huron, River St. Clair and Lake St. Clair.

Sues For Libel.

Windsor, April 20.—Peter Dumond, customs officer at Belle River, has instituted proceedings against Le Progress, a local French weekly paper, for defamatory libel.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 20, 1904.

THE SECURITY IS GILT-EDGED.

The subject of the guarantee of a loan of two million dollars by the Ontario Government, to provide for the completion of the Algoma Central Railway, presents opportunities for differences of opinion. The Opposition is of course bound to criticize the proposal. This is both their right and their duty, but in exercising this right, and performing this duty, it is proper that statements of fact should be adhered to. It is objected that if this loan is guaranteed, other industries throughout the province will be demanding assistance such as is proposed, under the loan to give the "Soo" industries. As a matter of fact, no assistance is being given to these industries directly. The guarantee of the loan is to aid in the completion of the Algoma Central Railway, and all the benefit the industries will derive will be incidental. This objection would be as unfounded if one were to oppose the completion of the Trent Valley Canal because it would be aiding the industries of Peterborough; but, as in the case of the railway, that aid would be only incidental, a consequence, not the object, of completing the canal. It is also objected that the security for the guarantee of the loan is inadequate. This is a puerile and absurd objection. The security is vastly disproportionate to the amount of risk involved in the guarantee. These securities are as follows:—

First mortgage bonds of the Algoma Central Rail way...	$ 6,750,000
First mortgage bonds of the Manitoulin & North Shore Railway.....	405,000
Mortgages on steamships	725,000
Algoma Railway stock	10,000,000
Manitoulin Railway stock	211,000
Algoma Central land grant, worth, say.....	1,600,000
Dominion Government subsidy due and payable.....	350,000
Dominion Government subsidy becoming due and payable on the completion of the railway	450,000
Covenant of the Canadian Improvement Company	2,000,000
Total	$32,484,000

Though it would appear absurd to ask anything more than a ten fold security for the guarantee, there are besides those included in the above list, collateral securities of large value. There is first $2,000,000 of first mortgage bonds on the properties held as securities by Speyer & Co., about $300,000 of income bonds, and stock in the reorganized company to the extent of $5,000,000. The security is ample and it is difficult to see how the province runs any risk in guaranteeing the loan. At the very worst, if there is any default the province will have railway property and steamships which cost about nine million dollars, besides a land grant of 1,600,000 acres of land, worth at least a dollar per acre. The Government will have railway property which cost to construct, nearly nine millions of dollars. The Algoma Central, connecting with the C.P.R. will furnish a new route of communication between the North-west and the Upper Lakes, and the improvement of trade exchange. The Government is spending some two millions to build a similar colonization line of only 100 miles in length, the Temiscamingue, and if it has to realize on its guarantee it will have a railway property on the Algoma Central, and Manitoulin and North Shore, of more than double length for $2,000,000.

THE SUPERINTENDING ENGINEER'S REPORT.

The Progress of Work on the Trent Canal Told by Mr. R. B. Rogers.

The annual report of the Department of Railways and Canals just published gives some interesting and instructive information with reference to the Trent Canal.

The report of the Superintending Engineer, Mr. R. B Rogers, given below shows the amount of work done on the Canal during the last years:—

I have the honour to submit my annual report for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1903, on the works under my charge known as the Trent Canal. This is a term applied to the several works constructed to improve navigation together with the several navigable reaches between the town of Trenton, on Lake Ontario and Georgian Bay in Lake Huron.

The object of the works is to connect the several navigable stretches. When the present contracts are completed there will only remain three more comparatively inexpensive stretches of canal to construct in order to complete the whole of this land-locked waterway from Lake Huron to Lake Ontario.

A glance at the map of this district will show at once the great length of natural navigable reaches compared to the length of artificial navigable reaches required to connect them. Wherever possible advantage has been taken of utilizing the bed of the fine rivers which follow the course of this waterway for its entire length. By utilizing the beds of the lakes and rivers a comparatively cheap mode of construction is employed, while the cost of future maintenance will be reduced to a minimum. The Imperial Government as far back as the year 1835, chose this route as being the most natural and feasible to make a water communication between Lake Ontario and Lake Huron, and they spent considerable sums in carrying out the project, and in fact a sufficient sum of money was voted by the Government at that time to construct that part of the work lying between Lake Ontario and Balsam Lake. The works then constructed have ever since been used for local traffic.

When the two divisions at present under construction are completed, a continuous line of navigation between Hegley's Falls and the ports on Lake Simcoe, a distance of about 160 miles, will then be available. Though a draught of six feet is provided on all the sills, the land necessary to flood for a draught of eight feet has been purchased on the new sections at present under construction, so that if required a draught of eight feet could be provided at comparatively little extra cost.

Owing to the fact that this waterway is also used by the lumbermen to float their logs down stream to their mills, and many of the reaches which are now opened up for navigation have heretofore been used exclusively by the lumbermen for the floating of their logs, brings a new condition of things into existence, and some means will have to be adopted to meet this changed condition. It has heretofore been the custom of lumbermen to allow many waterlogged logs to remain in the channel after the rest of the drive has passed on. This is a most dangerous practice and is a great menace to navigation. Some regulation should be passed to prevent the leaving of these waterlogged logs in the navigation channel, which lie with one end on the bottom and the other end a few inches above the surface of the water. At night it is impossible to see the tops of these logs, and several accidents have occurred by vessels striking these logs, in some cases the logs have passed through the planking of the vessel.

Navigation closed on November 28, 1902, and opened again on April 2, 1903.

MAINTENANCE.

The height of water on the mitre sills of the locks was very fair throughout the season, though there is still room for very much improvement in regard to the regulation of the water on the different reaches. The regulation of the water is under three different managements, namely, the Dominion Government, the Ontario Government and the lumbermen, consequently it is not surprising that there are complaints regarding the management of the water during the dry season. Owing to the immense country drained, and the country becoming every year more cleared, the proper regulation of the water becomes more difficult. The regulation of the water also between Lakefield and Peterborough is, under the present circumstances, very unsatisfactory, and as the power at the several dams along the river is developed, the trouble will be increased. Owing to the mills at Young's Point and Lakefield using all the surplus water, any temporary stoppage almost stops the entire flow; in consequence the mills below are often stopped for a time. If the power owners at Lakefield and other dams were to notify the Government caretakers of the dams, or otherwise compensate for the stoppage by allowing extra water to escape, when it is necessary to stop temporarily for repairs, the cause of complaint would be removed.

With reference to the water supply, it is not generally known that such a vast system of reservoirs exists as there are in the country to the north of the direct route of the canal. From a recent survey of these reservoirs, it was ascertained that there are over fifty dams at present constructed which control about 70,000 acres of water in which over 25 billion cubic feet of water can be stored, not taking into account the large quantity that could be stored by many new dams that could be constructed. The proper storing and regulation of the large quantity of water above referred to is a most important matter, not only to navigation, but to the vast commercial interests that are located along the valley of the Trent. The traffic on this waterway has nearly doubled during the last ten years—the total number of lockages ten years ago was only 2,500—now the lockages total 5,299, being an increase of 114 over those of last year. This does not fairly represent the traffic on the canal, as owing to many of the longer routes of the steamers not passing through a lock, no record of the traffic is kept. There are over 30 steamers engaged in commerce between Lakefield and Balsam Lake, besides a large number of small steamers belonging to private individuals.

There are five steamers on the route between Peterborough and Healey's Falls, and several on Lake Simcoe. Many of the larger steamers are of considerable size, some of them carrying as many as 450 passengers.

REPAIRS.

The following repairs were made:—

Rosedale.—The latch on the swing bridge was repaired.

Fenelon Falls.—One of the valves of the centre gates was broken and was repaired. The wooden packing in the quoin posts of the gates was renewed. The lock walls were repointed.

A storehouse for use in connection with the lock was built. The gates were painted.

Bobcaygeon.—The mitre sill of the upper gates were caulked. The gates were painted.

Buckhorn.—The dam was staunched. This dam will soon have to be entirely rebuilt, as it has become so waterworn with age that to repair it properly would amount to almost the cost of a new dam. A new storehouse was built on the north side of the lock. The bridge and gates received a coat of paint.

Lovesick.—The flooring of the entrance pier, on the west side of the upper entrance, was renewed. The platform of the dam was also repaired.

Burleigh.—A new storehouse 24 feet by 36 feet was built. The valves of the centre gates were taken out, and adjusted, in order to make them work more freely. New stoplogs were also supplied to the dam.

Young's Point.—Some of the stoplogs in the dam were renewed and the platform was repaired; also new stoplogs were supplied.

Lakefield.—The old wooden snubbing posts on the wharf having been rotted away to such an extent as to become unsafe, "nigger heads" bolted to concrete blocks let into the ground were substituted. The top timber of the wharf was renewed.

No. 2 Dam, Peterborough Division.—The bank below the abutment of the dam on the west side became badly scoured. This was filled in with stone and riprap.

Nassau Dam.—The boulder filling on the lower side of the dam opposite the west sluiceway, was washed out. The filling was renewed with larger boulders.

Peterborough.—New lower lock gates were constructed. The upper gates were repaired, and the valves were caulked and adjusted. The old timber entrance piers above and below the lock on the west side were removed and replaced with solid concrete piers.

Buoying Out.—The buoys along the navigation channel were repainted, and new buoys were put in were required.

The tug Empire also had some slight repairs made to it it.

A considerable amount was spent on the dredge Otonabee in the way of strengthening the hull and caulking.

INCOME.

The following charged to income was made:

Bobcaygeon.—New upper gates for the lock were constructed.

Rice Lake.—A cut across the point at the east entrance of the mouth of the river at Rice Lake was made into the Bay. This will shorten the distance about two miles, besides providing a channel free from weeds and drifting sawdust.

Trent River.—Blasting and dredging on the rock shoal below the lock at Hastings was proceeded with. There is considerable work yet to do on this shoal to make it a good channel.

Healey's Falls.—Three concrete piers for a new bridge over the river at this point were constructed. The superstructure has been placed on this bridge by the township.

New Hull for Dredge.—A new hull, 26 by 72 was constructed to take the place of the old dredge Otonabee.

Road near Lindsay.—A considerable amount of dredging was done in the way of casting up from the side ditches on the road which it is proposed to make between Lindsay and Fenelon.

CAPITAL.

Hydraulic Lock.—In order to give a neat and substantial appearance to the embankments leading to the hydraulic lock, it was recently decided to underdrain and sod them. In accomplishing this object it became necessary to first prepare the whole of the surface of the slopes with soil in preparation for the necessary sodding, and a contract has been let for the sodding.

Construction.—Section No. 1, the Peterborough-Lakefield Division. The contract for this section, which was awarded to Messrs. Brown, Love & Aylmer, on August 27, 1895, was completed last year, with the exception of some cleaning up of the cut in the river below the lock at Lakefield.

Section 2, Peterborough-Lakefield Division.—The contract for this section was awarded to Messrs. Corry & Laverdure, on May 21, 1896. The work in connection with this section has been completed and taken off the contractors' hands.

Section 2, Simcoe-Balsam Lake Division.—This section is under contract with Messrs. Larkin & Sangster, as contractors. The work in connection with this contract has been well advanced and should be completed this fall. The only work remaining to be done is the completion of the earth excavation in the swamp near the fourth concession line of Carden, and the completion of the rock cut west of the hydraulic lock; the foundations in the press wells and the concrete in connection with the chambers of the hydraulic lock.

Section 3, Simcoe-Balsam Lake.—The contractors for this section are Messrs. Brown and Aylmer. Wet weather last season interfered considerable with the progress of the work of this section. Only two locks out of five have been completed, and only one dam. No dredging has been done as yet. But slow progress has so far been made, and if more rapid progress is not made it will take the greater part of two seasons yet to complete this section. All the structures have been completed with the exception of those in connection with Locks Nos. 2, 3 and 4, and the entrance piers of Lock No. 1, and glance piers of the Portage road bridge and the entrance piers at Lake Simcoe.

A contract was entered into with the Grand Trunk Railway Co. to raise the embankment of their road crossing the canal near Gamebridge. This work has been about completed and the traffic is now turned over the high level bridge across the canal.

Steel Bridge Superstructures.—A contract for five swing highway bridges and one high level railway bridge was awarded to the Hamilton Bridge Works Company. These have all been completed.

Plant.—The dredge Otonabee, was employed continuously throughout the season. During the latter part of last season she was rented to the Otonabee Power Company, and the contractors, Messrs. Brown, Love & Aylmer. This season up to the end of the fiscal year she was employed making a road through the swamp near Lindsay.

The dredge, Trent, was loaned to the Department of Public Works to dredge a channel leading up to the Cereal Works at Peterborough.

The tug, Empire, has been fully employed throughout the season in hauling scows of dredged material from the dredge, buoying out and snagging the navigation channel, delivering stone, timber, gravel, etc., for the various works of repair along the route, besides the use for inspection by the staff officials.

I am, sir, your obedient servant,

RICHARD B. ROGERS, M.I.C.E.,

Superintending Engineer.

GRAND TRUNK AGAIN TO THE FRONT.

The New York Agency of the Grand Trunk Railway System are now occupying what is conceded to be the handsomest railroad office in the world, on the ground floor of the new Dun Mercantile Agency Building, at 290 Broadway, New York. The floor is finished throughout in Sienna marble, bronze and plate glass, and these decorations cost the owners of the building $100,000.00, and it is considered the finest display of this handsome stone in America. The Grand Trunk leased the entire floor and called it the "Railway Exchange," having as subtenants:—

Great Eastern Fast Freight Line.
Lehigh Valley Railway Co.
Maine Steamship Co.
Clyde Steamship Co.
Queen & Crescent Route.
Louisville & Nashville Railroad Co.
Wisconsin Central Railroad Co.
Central Railroad of New Jersey.
The Central States Dispatch.
Pere Marquette Railroad Co.
Georgia Railroad Co.

The consolidation of these interests is a new departure, and in the brief time that they have been together, it has operated so to so much advantage to the roads interested, and has been such an accommodation to the shipping and travelling public, that its success is assured.

The entire office has been fitted throughout in mahogany which corresponds with the building's decorations, the offices being in the centre of the space, with a lobby down each side.

Everything considered, the Grand Trunk Railway System's new office is worthy of a call from anyone visiting New York. 1d

SMITH COUNCIL.

The council of the Township of Smith met at the Town Hall, Bridgenorth, on Monday, April 11, 1904. All the members were present and the reeve in the chair.

Minutes of last meeting were read and confirmed.

Moved by Mr. Graham, seconded by Mr. Scott, that a new school section be formed to include all that part of School Section No. 8, lying north of the 14th concession line, except the south half of the lot owned by Jas. Reid and to include the property of Peter Bullock now included in S. S. No. 7, and that it be designated at S. S. No. 12, and that the clerk be instructed to draw up a by-law for this purpose.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Harvey, seconded by Mr. Bell, that the sum of $38.57 be allowed the collector as abatements on the collector's roll for 1903, and that $34.45, as shown by statement, be returned to the county treasurer to be charged against lands.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Graham, seconded by Mr. Scott, that this council acquiesce in the proposition of G. W. Fitzgerald, county commissioner, to spend $100, being county grant on Smith, Miburn's division, together with a sufficient sum to complete the work.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Bell, seconded by Mr. Scott, that the Reeve and Mr. Graham be a committee to consider what action should be taken to meet the application for damages by Wilson Blewett for loss of his leg while working with stone crusher for the municipality.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Graham, seconded by Mr. Bell, that the sum of $75.00 be spent on R. Scott's division, providing T. Graham spend the sum of $25.00 on the same division.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Graham, seconded by Mr. Scott, that the following claims be paid, namely: W. T. Cullen, work on road, $1.25; Jno. Bell, work on road, $24; M. Bell, for Fitzgerald & Co, pole, etc., for crusher, $1.50; W. Nichols, repairing grader and crusher, $1.25; Review Ptg. Co., for printing, $11.50. P. T. Udy, acct. for goods to Mrs. Smith, $3.84; J. H. Brummell, wood for H. Bowie and Mrs. Smith, $3.50.

Moved by Mr. Bell, seconded by Mr. Scott, that the council adjourn to meet on April 25th.

McPherson & McGregor

(Successors to the F. R. J. McPherson Co.)

Take this opportunity of thanking the public for the very liberal patronage accorded the late firm. Trade has been so satisfactory that Mr McGrego decided to increase his interest in the business and, as a consequence, the firm will be known hereafter as McPHERSON & McGREGOR.

Our specialties are:—

Sanitary Plumbing
Sanitary Ventilating
Steam and Hot Water Heating
Electrical Wiring and Supplies

We wish to draw the attention of the public to a few of the many complimentary testimonials received by Mr. McGregor for the high quality of the work he has installed in Plumbing and Heating:—

From the Firm of Bennet & Wright, Plumbing, Heating and Electrical Contractors, Toronto.

This is to certify that Duncan McGregor has been in our employment steady for about fifteen years and during that time we have found him to be steady, honest and trustworthy. He has given every satisfaction as a practical mechanic in each of the following branches: Plumbing, steam and gas fitting, also electrical and conduit work, and for some time has had charge of some of our largest contracts with satisfactory results.

From Illsley & Horn, General Contractors, Toronto.

The bearer, Mr. Duncan McGregor, had charge of the electric wiring at the King Edward Hotel Building. The job was a large and complicated one and by the way Mr. McGregor handled the work he proved himself a mechanic of more than ordinary ability. We unhesitatingly recommend him as a first class mechanic to anyone needing his services.

From Mr. J. Ross Robertson, of the Evening Telegram.

Mr. Duncan McGregor, who has been connected with the Bennet & Wright Co. for some years, and who has superintended the work of plumbing and heating for the Bennet & Wright Co., is not only in my opinion, but also that of my architect, a fully competent mechanic. His work, my architect informs me, has been most satisfactory. Any thing that has come under my own supervision has been likewise satisfactory.

An Extract Taken from the June Number of Domestic Engineering.

During the recent convention of the Canadian Electrical Association held in the King Edward Hotel, a thorough examination was made of all the electrical work in the hotel, and it was pronounced second to none on the continent. Therefore, great credit is due Mr. Duncan MacGregor, who superintended the entire conduit, electrical and power system for the firm of Bennet & Wright, of this city, who were the contractors for all the different branches of the electrical work in the new hotel.

The subscriber offers for sale his large and commodious white brick residence, "Salem Bower," situated on the corner of Colborne and Chippewa Streets, in the village of Lakefield. The lot is 165x103 feet; the house 36x36 feet. On the first story are parlour, dining-room and breakfast room, with a hall 8 feet and a bedroom 12x13 feet. Upstairs there are four bedrooms and a bath room, with force pump from the cistern, also a conservatory and library, all in first-class condition. In the cellar, which is the full size of the house, is a steel plate furnace. In connection with the house is a kitchen, woodshed 15x36 feet, stable, driving shed, straw barn and poultry yard. The north and west side of lot is planted with evergreen and maple trees. It is one of the best locations in Lakefield, clean and on rising ground. No drawback, as Mr. Bell is giving up housekeeping. Time will be given if desired on Mortgage at 6 per cent. interest.

Mr. Bell will be at home every afternoon from 2.00 to 4.00 o'clock, and will be pleased to show intending purchasers through the house and premises.

Premier Pays His Respects to Leader of the Opposition.

PRESIDENT OF UNIVERSITY

Interesting Discussion on Bill to Define His Powers No Liquor Legislation—Government's Intentions As to Railway Taxation—Continuation of the Debate on the "Soo" Industries Aid Bill.

Toronto, April 20.—It was thought yesterday that a division might be reached in the Legislature on the bill to aid the Algoma Central Railway and the "Soo" industries, but an unexpected discussion on university matters delayed the start of the debate, and the great fire downtown prevented the finish. It will be resumed to-day.

No Temperance Legislation.

Mr. Whitney, when the orders of the day were called, asked if it was the intention of the Government to bring in this session legislation of any kind regarding the liquor traffic.

The Premier replied that it was needless to say at this stage of the session that it was not at all probable that there would be any legislation.

Mr. Whitney asked whether the report of the committee on Mr. Pettypiece's railway taxation bill, which was adopted by the House, would be incorporated in the Government's railway taxation bill.

The Premier replied that there would not be any amendment with regard to the taxing of the cars of car-loaning companies.

Mr Whitney said what he wanted to know was as to the correctness of a morning report that the Government would take authority to appoint Mr. Pettypiece to the commission.

The Premier said that they had not been able to frame legislation to incorporate the substance of the report on Mr. Pettypiece's bill. A commission would be appointed to gather information as to the legislation in the States on the subject. He had been looking into the legislation of Michigan and Indiana, and the more it was studied the wider the question appeared. The Government had not discussed the appointment of a commission, but as far as he knew there would be no legislation to permit the appointment of Mr. Pettypiece or any other member of the House. The Government's supplementary revenue bill exhausted the legislation on the subject this session.

The University's Friends.

Mr. Whitney, on the third reading of the bill to amend the university act, quoted figures to show the great advance in higher education in the State of New York and the large sums spent on it. If Ontario did not spend more, it would soon fall so far behind that it could never recover, and the Provincial University would be of no value. The Premier, in reply to a deputation asking for a physics building, had expressed sympathy, but asked would the House provide it just now. Mr. Whitney suggested to try the House.

Worked Up Wrong Tree.

Mr. Whitney said that The Globe had attacked Mr. Loudon as President and agreed with The Globe that there were "deadwood" and "rubbish" there, but the point was that the President had no power to remove them. The Globe's arraignment of the President, therefore, was unfair and based on an untrue statement. He declared that this attack was inspired.

The Premier—Inspired by whom?

Mr. Whitney—By some Government official.

The Premier—Not by a Cabinet Minister.

Mr. Whitney said he desired no party advantage, and that the Opposition would help in doing what ought to be done for the university.

The Trail of Party.

The Minister of Education replied: There were those, he said, who would be hold or profane enough to doubt the leader of the Opposition's statement, that he did not desire any party advantage in this matter. The Government fully appreciated its solemn duty in everything pertaining to educational affairs.

Mentally Incapable.

The Premier also replied, declaring that the speech of the leader of the Opposition was that of a partisan, as he had presented one view of the question only. The Premier could see no other motive than the desire to make party capital.

"He is mentally and constitutionally unable to take a large view of the situation, and I don't think it is unkind of me to say that."

Continuing, Mr. Ross said the public schools cost the Province 50 cents a head of the attendance, as compared with $200 a head for the students in arts. It could not be shown that the Government had dealt niggardly with the University. In Sandfield Macdonald's time the amount voted for educational purposes was $350,000; now it is over a million dollars. The Government did not regret the aid given to the University.

He also asserted that politics had had nothing whatever to do with appointments to the university staff. As to what had been said regarding the President of the university, he wanted to know if university professors were immune from criticism. The President had made an attack upon the Department of Education and upon the educational methods in vogue, and in what position did he stand that the Government could not come to its own defence? He hoped the time would never come in this Province when one man might not defend himself when attacked by another. He had no resentment towards the President.

He deprecated the low wash of political sentiment that seemed to sweep over everything. The university was one place where the political tom-tom should never be heard. It should be a great national school, a dynamic force to inspire men to a higher patriotism and higher resolve to work for the welfare and prosperity of the country.

The Book Tells You How To Get Well at My Risk.

If you want to feel better.
If you want more strength.
If you lack ambition.
If you can't do things like you used to.

If your nerve—your courage—is leaving you.

If your confidence in you is less.

If you lack vim, vigour, vitality.

If something is eating away your constitution.

Ask me by letter for the book. Don't risk a penny. Let me take the risk. Let me tell you of a drugg st near you who will give you six bottles of Dr. Shoop's Restorative a month on trial. Take it and see for yourself what it will do. Then decide.

No cost—not a penny—if you say, "I am no better." Don't leave it to the drugg st—nor to me. We might be prejudiced. You, you alone shall say the word whether you pay $5.50 or nothing. The drugg st can't complain. He is to bill the cost to me if you say so.

Try Dr. Shoop's Restorative at my risk. Not a penny if it fails. It's a two-cent stamp—or a postal—against six bottles of my Restorative—against $5.50, their cost. Don's you begin to believe the Restorative can do something unusual for the sick? I have found long ago, how certain it is, how seldom it fails.

I'll risk my reputation on it. And the cost of the medicine too. I know, and I want you to know. This is my way of gaining your interest. Others don't do it that way. It's pay anyway with them. Ask me for the book you need. Write me. Now—to-day.

PURSUING A MURDERER.

Killed a Man With His Axe in Kamouraska County, Quebec.

Quebec, April 19.—It was reported in town yesterday morning that a terrible tragedy had occurred in the parish of St. Alexandre, Kamouraska County, Friday evening, which resulted in the murder of a man named Kelly, hailing from New Brunswick. It appears that a gang of six or seven log drivers stopped on their way up at a hut owned by a lumberman named Alexandre Belanger and occupied by a guardian named Lambert, to get a rest. Lambert ordered the log drivers out immediately. The men tried to convince him that they would only remain a short time, but as they did not leave Lambert seized an axe and struck Kelly across the face, cutting his face open from the left eye to the chin.

The Attorney-General yesterday morning received an official report from Sheriff Poulett of River du Loup, but the sheriff did not give any particulars, nor mention the burning of the house in which the murderer, Louis Lambert, resided. He states that when he reached the scene of the tragedy, Dr. Vezina and others surrounded Kelly, who was unconscious, and remained in the same condition until the following morning, when he died.

A despatch received yesterday afternoon from Sheriff Poulett states that Lambert is not yet arrested. It is supposed that he has fled to the woods, where he is hiding, and a number of constables are now endeavoring to locate and arrest him.

BRIEFS FROM THE WIRES.

Dr. John Pearsall, a prominent homeopathist, is dead at Saratoga.

The 8-year-old son of Thos. Wilson, Elton, Man., was lost in last week's storm.

The body of "Ned Buntlene," the author, who died last week, was Monday interred at Waterloo, N.Y.

Capt. Bert Spencer is dead in Brooklyn, aged 75. When 20 years of age he was captain of a trans-Atlantic steamer.

Thomas Fisher of the Dominion Land Office, Winnipeg, was accidentally asphyxiated through a detached tubing of a gas stove.

Over 2,600 men are on strike in the shipyards at Quincy, Mass., over a question of hours. Work is stopped on three battleships.

Mad Mullah Alone.

London, April 19.—The British operations against the Mad Mullah of Somaliland ended with the Mullah's escape into Italian territory. In the House of Commons yesterday afternoon War Secretary Arnold-Foster said the Mullah had sustained very severe losses in men and animals, and that his forces were routed and driven out of the protectorate. The Mullah is now practically without any following, and therefore it had been decided to discontinue military operations.

A Wonderful Book.

As a work for family reference there was probably never compiled a more useful book than Dr. Chase's Receipt Book. Besides containing the symptoms of disease, their cause and cure and the great prescriptions gathered during half a century of medical practice, this book is replete with receipts for cooking and has a complete department devoted to the care of farm stock, bees, domestic animals, etc. For full particulars write Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

Fell 10 Feet to Death.

Toronto, April 19.—Yesterday morning about 8.30, Charles Troughton, aged 35, fell from the fourth storey window of the Rice Lewis Co. building, at King and Victoria streets, and died half an hour later in the Emergency Hospital. He was cleaning a window when he fell.

Big Shoe Factory Burned.

Brockton, Mass., April 19.—The large shoe factory here, owned by L. M. Reynolds & Co., was burned yesterday. The direct loss is estimated at $100,000. From 200 to 300 persons lose employment. The fire followed a terrific explosion.

Turk Shedding Blood.

Salonica, April 19.—Serious fighting has taken place between Turks and Bulgarians at Lipa, near Demir Kapu (a valley of the Vardar, 62 miles from Salonica). Many were killed on both sides.

King Is Home Again.

London, April 20.—King Edward and Queen Alexandra arrived in London from Copenhagen at 6.45 p.m. yesterday and drove to Buckingham Palace.

EVIDENCE IN COOKE CASE.

Testimony Heard That Lawyer Said Best Thing to Do Was to Blow Brains Out.

Montreal, April 19.—Yesterday's sitting of the Criminal Court was perhaps the most important of them all, and things began to look black for the Crown prosecutor. S. M. Jacobs was called in rebuttal. He deposed to meeting W. A. Weir and Mr. Greenshields in Hyman's cigar store about 30th March.

In the course of his testimony Mr. Jacobs swore: I think it has been already clearly proved I said who paid the money. I could have by one word come into the box and, by saying I never paid Cooke a cent, have saved his skin. I told Mullen I was perfectly willing to do anything to help him out of the mess, but don't expect me to perjure myself for a damned scoundrel like J. P. Cooke.

Hon. A. W. Weir being called, said he remembered meeting Mr. Greenshields in Hyman's cigar store in March last. Mr. Jacobs said $1,500 was paid over to J. P. Cooke by a third party, whose name he would have to protect, and consequently the evidence would have to go that he paid the money himself. Jacobs said in regard to the cases that the evidence was enough to damn Cooke, and I said that if the evidence was believed the best thing for Cooke to do would be to blow out his brains. I never knew anyone was prepared to go into the box and swear that he had made the payment or was present when the payment were made. The amount of $1,500 was also new to me. Mr. Greenshields was thoroughly taken by surprise; he said: "My God, it is all up with Joe." He added that the best thing for Cooke to do was to resign and go south.

A Blank Denial.

In the afternoon Mr. Cooke was put on the stand. His testimony was a blank denial, as far as it went up to the time of adjournment, of the charges that Jacobs had made against him. His examination will continue to-day.

IMPORTANT LEGAL DECISION GIVEN.

By Hon. Chancellor Boyd in Case of Ontario Ladies' College vs. Kendry.

A Case of Interest to Many Persons in Peterborough Plaintiff's Action Dismissed.

The case of the Ontario Ladies College vs. Kendry, which will be of interest to a number of prominent people in Peterborough, and also to a large number of persons in the City of Toronto, and in different parts of the province, was tried at the sittings of the High Court of Justice at Whitby on Monday, before the Hon. Chancellor Boyd, who delivered his judgment at the close of the trial, dismissing the plaintiff's action and strongly condemning the action of irrepressible canvassers going about the country making unauthorized statements and representations to induce people to subscribe for stock.

Many will remember one McDowell, a minister, who canvassed them for stock in the Ontario Ladies' College, and succeeded in getting many people to put their names down for different amounts of stock, holding out representations which he, it turns out was not authorized to make, and the effect of which in this case, the plaintiff's sought to avoid and hold the subscribers to what was the apparent but not the true bargain.

The College Authorities appear to have decided to make a test case of their action against Mr. Kendry, who it seems, was induced by Mr. McDowell to put his name down for five shares in their stock subscription book in the spring of 1892, at which time Mr. Kendry was told Mr. Cox and Mr. Massey had had each subscribed for $10,000, and that unless $50,000 more was subscribed before the following January he would never be called upon to pay anything. Two of these terms, the judge found, had not been carried out, until about 1896, and Mr. Cox's subscription in the sum named was not obtained at all, that gentlemen only consenting to take ten shares in addition to ten shares he formerly held. The college authorities sought to hold the defendant to the strict letter of the written agreement and claimed to have never authorized any agent to make such statements, but sent their agent out to get subscriptions in the ordinary way. The judge in summing up stated that in view of the evidence he believed the statements had been made and that the community must be protected against corporations sending abroad agents who could not be relied upon to make the canvass according to their instructions, and according to the terms upon which their principals intended to be bound. Mr. Kendry not receiving any notice in the January following his subscription, and hearing nothing of it for several years, had concluded that he was long since released, and when calls were made upon him, paid no attention them. This suit and a number of others followed, with, in this case, the result stated.

The Ontario Ladies College was represented by Geo. H. Watson, K. C., and J. B. Dow, Whitby; and Messrs. E. G. Porter and D. T. Medd appeared for Mr. Kendry.

LABOUR COUNCIL TO DISCUSS BY-LAW.

A Meeting of all Members of Local Trade Unions to be Held.

The Trades and Labour Council intend having their next meeting open to all members of the several local Unions for the purpose of discussing the two bylaws to be submitted to the electors on May 5th. It is hoped that all the Unions will interest themselves in this matter, and it is very necessary that each man should know how to vote intelligently on these important questions. Further notice will be given as to the night of the meeting.

PROCESSION OF BRIDES AND GROOMS.

Three Cathedral Weddings Celebrated Yesterday Morning.

Three weddings were solemnized in St. Peter's cathedral yesterday morning, the first being at 7 o'clock, when Mrs. Ellen Robertson, town, and Mr. Chas. Sullivan, Toronto, were married. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father McColl. The bride was attended by Miss Annie Haylin, and the groom was supported by Mr. John McGrath. Mr. and Mrs. Sullivan will reside in Toronto, and left yesterday morning.

At eight o'clock mass Miss Mary Elizabeth McGarrity, town, and Mr. Michael J. Geary, Ennismore, were united in marriage, by Rev. Father Galvin. The bridesmaid was Miss J. McGarrity, the bride's sister, and the best man was Mr. Alex. Geary, the brother of the groom. Mr. and Mrs. Geary will reside in Ennismore. The wedding ceremony was performed in the presence of a number of the relatives and immediate friends of the contracting parties.

Rev. Father Galvin again officiated at a wedding at nine o'clock. The contracting parties were Miss Elizabeth Camwell of Hamilton, and Mr. Mark Gurry of Campbellford. The bride, who was charmingly attired, was attended by Miss W. H. McDonald fulfilled the duties of groomsman. Mr. and Mrs. Gurry will reside in Campbellford.

FINED IN 1899 AND PAID TO-DAY.

Fred Fredenburg was not Forgotten by the Police.

The case of Fred Fredenburg who pleaded not guilty to a charge of vagrancy at yesterday's Court, was taken up this morning. Fredenburg was found sleeping in a barn on Monday night, and a sentence of one month's imprisonment imposed. But the police never forgot. It was in September '99 that Fredenburg was fined $8.25 for being drunk and disorderly. Prisoner was given ten days in which to make the payment, but he steered clear of the police until to-day, when he paid the outstanding account.

EX-WARDEN CROWE PASSED AWAY.

Died Yesterday After a Lingering Illness.

He was for Many Years a Member of County Council—A Consistant and Careful Legislator.

Word was received in town to-day of the death yesterday, at his home in Warsaw, of Ex-Warden Richard Crowe, who, for some months has been far from well. The late Mr. Crowe has been suffering for a considerable length of time from a stomach trouble, which baffled the skill of the physicians, and which eventually resulted in his death.

The late Ex-warden was a son of the late Francis Crowe, who came to Canada and settled in Dummer in 1841, emigrating from Ireland, in that year. He was the first reeve of the township of Dummer, which office he held for 17 years. The deceased had for a man of his years, had a long and valuable experience in municipal life. He first attained municipal honours when elected to the Township Council of Dummer, in 1881. He continued in that body as a councillor for four years, after which he was elected as Deputy Reeve of his township, giving him representation at the County Council.

For the years 1888, 1889 and 1900, he filled the office of Deputy Reeve and was a member of the County Council, acting in that capacity. He was again elected in 1896.

In 1899, when the system of representation was changed to that at present in force, the late Mr. Crowe was elected to represent District No. 5, comprising the townships of Dummer and Douro and the Village of Lakefield. He had been a member of the council ever since with credit to himself and his constituents.

Mr. Crowe had been chairman of various committees, and was looked upon as a careful and energetic municipal legislator.

In January, 1903 he was unanimously elected Warden of the County, and for a year he filled that important office with a marked degree of success.

His death, although it had been expected for some months, has cast a gloom over the members of the Council, with whom the late Warden was very popular.

His funeral will take place Thursday. The members of the Council will attend in a body. To-day a beautiful wreath was sent to the home of the deceased.

TORONTO'S APPEAL TO PETERBOROUGH.

For Help, Willingly Promised by the Mayor and Local Brigade Helped to Put out Conflagration.

About midnight, with the wholesale district of Toronto all ablaze, Mayor Urquhart, of that city, appealed to Mayor Roger by telephone for help, and this was willingly promised. Mayor Roger at once notified the fire hall, and the Grand Trunk station, the former for a section of men, and the latter for a special train. By 1.10 a.m., an engine and car were in readiness at the station, and the local brigade, taking with them the engine and some 900 feet of hose, left for the scene of conflagration about 2 a.m.

The firemen who went were:—Sam Wainwright, engineer; Archie Moore, J. Gibbs, A. Metheral, W. Tremaine, A. Ringer, C. Butcher, W. Metheral and A. Jones.

They arrived in Toronto about 5 o'clock, and undoubtedly materially aided in getting the gigantic fire under control.

The Peterborough brigade left Toronto about half past one, to-day, and were expected to reach town early this evening.

THE "A. F. F." CLUB.

A New Organization Formed Last Night - Limited Membership.

Last night a number of young ladies formed a "secret" society, to which has been given the name of the "A.F.F." Association. In harmony with the policy of the new organization, the words for which the above initials stand, were not supplied the Examiner, and as at the meeting at which the organization took place, the reporters were excluded, the public will perhaps never learn any further particulars.

The membership has been limited to 15, and, needless to say, there will be a warmly contested struggle for a place among the favoured 15.

The officers were elected, the two principal officers being Miss Loretta Booth, president, and Miss Ethel Potter, secretary.

PREMATURE DEATH OF A YOUNG MAN.

Late Mr. Francis Foley Aged 20 Years Passed Away Last Night.

The death occurred last night about 11 o'clock of Mr. Francis Foley, after an illness extending over two months. Pleurisy was the direct cause of his decease. The late Mr. Foley was but 20 years of age and was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Foley who live near Norwood in Asphodel township. He has been living in Peterborough for over a year and a half and during that period and became very popular among the men of the town. He was an active member of St. Peter's T. A. S. and the Ancient Order of Hibernians and his death will be felt as a great loss. The funeral will take place to-morrow morning at nine o'clock from the residence of deceased's brother-in-law, Mr. D. Henry, 21 Park street, to St. Peter's cathedral and thence to the Douro cemetery for interment.

MR. MOORE'S SECOND LETTER.

Contends Vote at Recent Board of Trade Meeting Did Not Represent that Body.

He Presents further Arguments against the Passing of the By-Law—Result to the Town in Case of Failure.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—To those who were not present at the meeting of the Board of Trade, when a resolution favourable to this by-law was passed, it is pertinent to the discussion to point out that only ten members of the Board were on hand, and that the resolution would have been defeated except for the votes of those members who were also stockholders in the Sugar Company. Under such conditions the advice of this assemblage will not, I believe, convince anyone of the disinterestedness or value of the resolution, nor increase respect for the future actions of the Board of trade. It was pointed out that so few being present, a vote should not be taken, but this suggestion was disregarded and the beet sugar men performed an act which men only in desperate circumstances would resort to, to enable them to use the name of the Board for momentary advantage. Let the ratepayers read the resolution in view of what occurred and I am perfectly content with the result.

There is not one redeeming feature in the Company's proposition and I believe I am quite justified, in view of the snap resolution obtained in the name of the Board of Trade, in making further reference to the above by-law.

From the statement which Mr. Garvin presented at the meeting, we find that the company received from the $50,000 of stock disposed of the sum of $27,676.00 which was dealt with and dissipated by the company as follows: Commission on sale of stock $2,000; cost of charter and salaries, $6,000; losses in growing beets, $6,000; total $14,000. Supporters of the by-law and others can figure out for themselves how much of the money went to any useful purpose.

Another item in this statement deserves notice. It appears the Company bought a block of thirty acres of land from the Messrs. Howden down by the river in North Monaghan for $10,000 in cash and $1000 of sugar stock. Cancelling the latter sum as of no particular account just now, we observe that $9,500 remains unpaid, and the fact that interest is accruing right along upon it does not improve its appearance. However the company, no doubt, consoles itself that it will be able to wipe this off the slate, as soon as it gets the town's guaranty, which will also enable it to pay for the Belgian machinery. To make things all round pleasant for the promoters it only remains for the town to continue the salaries, on the basis of statement filed.

The explanation given of how the farmers were made the Jonah of, in the company's summer operations was this: The company got an advance of $10,000 from the Wallaceburg factory to tide it over its straits, on the promise of returning the same value in beets, which they had planted just as a pictorial illustration of the profits arising from sugar beet growing, but they only produced $4,000 worth as the result of their summer's work, and so the Wallaceburg people were out $6000. Their resources however, were equal to this financial crisis. They got the farmers' beets and these they turned over to discharge the company's debt. The farmers are still wondering why they have not got their money.

Then the company allowed 130 acres of their beets to be frozen in the ground while the farmers saved all they had grown, the result being the climax of bad management, to which Mr. Dumble attributed the misfortunes and undoing of the company.

It requires little reflection indeed to convince one that the town should not step out of its legitimate work to support manufacturing enterprises except under most exceptional circumstances. Peterborough in the past has shown its wisdom in assisting only such companies in a conservative manner. In the case of the Canadian General Electric Company a large parcel of land with railway sidings required for their operations were provided by the town but no guaranty was given or asked. Nor did the Cereal Company look for a bonus or guaranty, but only the fixing of its assessments at what they then stood. These companies were engaged in established and prosperous enterprises and had been eminently successful in their operations, which descriptions have however no application whatever to the Peterborough Sugar Company.

Even if the Sugar Company's plant is installed in the building, there is no prospect of the company's operating next fall or winter, for 3,000 acres of beets at the least, as pointed out by Mr. Charles, must be grown, otherwise it would not pay to start up the factory. Only 1,100 acres have been promised by farmers, but of course my sanguine friend, Mr. Garvin, will get the other 1,900 acres. For myself I believe farmers will pay no attention to even their present promise in view of past experience with the company.

That the town would have to realize upon its mortgage is morally certain. Then imagine the "Electric City," the "first and best town in Canada," seizing the property of a deceased company and putting it under the hammer to the highest bidders. I am inclined to think that many of the ratepayers would rather treat it as "spilt milk" than allow the town's dignity and character to suffer by such an act. The "magnificent plant," the company is to buy with our endorsement, must have cost not less than $300,000., and after six months' use is now offered for fifty cents on the dollar. There will be an expense of $20,000 to install it. How much do you consider it will be worth after three years' use when $50,000 matures, and we have pulled it out of the building, as Dresden and Warton have done with theirs?

If the town has to pay its guaranty, we must issue debentures for the loss, which will not be less than $75,000. Running for thirty years this would require an annual interest of $3,000, and an annual sinking fund of $2,750, a total of $5,750; result, $172,500. The promoters say this cannot occur but we have before us Wiarton's unfortunate example, in which they have lost their $50,000 bonus to a sugar company a short time ago which is now defunct.

To sum up, the principle involved in the by-law as evidenced by surrounding circumstances and the conduct of its promoters is unsupportable and altogether opposed to those principles of political economy which should characterize the conduct of a municipal body.

Your obedient servant,
W. H. MOORE.

BILL PASSED THE THIRD READING.

Campbellford, Lake Ontario and Western Railway will be Given Charter.

Will Give Towns Along the Front Competing to Toronto Survey to be Made at Once.

The deputation which went to Ottawa on Monday night to appear before the Railway Committee of the House of Commons, in support of the Bill granting the charter to the Campbellford, Lake Ontario & Western Railway, returned this morning, and a number of the gentlemen comprising the deputation were here for a few hours waiting for train connections. In an interview the Examiner learned that the Bill passed the Committee without opposition, and now goes to the House for final ratification, which will of course, be given. Naturally the deputation is feeling jubilant over the success of the mission upon which they went to Ottawa.

The members of the deputation, which comprised about 30 of the most prominent business men of the different towns are: Messrs. Mayor Blow, and King, Whitby; Mayor Fowke, Edmonson, McLaughlin and French, Oshawa; Ald. J. J. Mason F. H. Mason, Bowmanville; Col. Jno. Hughes, Newtonville; Mayor Quinlan, H. Barrett, F. Outram, and H. C. Long, Port Hope; Mayor Moher, ex-Mayor Floyd, Holland and Dr. Ferris, Cobourg. Campbellford went sixteen men headed by the Mayor, to press that town's claims. Barrister Colville of Campbellford, is acting for the C.P.R. in making application for the charter.

The company will at once have a survey of the route made, and the gentlemen from the towns interested are in high hopes that the railway will soon be an accomplished fact.

COUNTY SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION.

Held in the Y. M. C. A. on Monday was Well Attended.

Reports Showed a Satisfactory Standing New Officers Elected for Ensuing Year.

The regular annual meeting of the County Sunday School Convention was held in the Y.M.C.A. Monday Morning and was attended by an exceptionally large number. The president, Rev. J. G. Potter, presided.

The reports of the various officers were presented and showed everything to be in a very satisfactory condition. The treasurer, Mr. A. T. Johnson, reported that after the pledge of $100 had been paid into the Provincial treasury, there would be remaining a balance of $60 to cover the work of teacher training and special work in school extension.

It was brought to the notice of the Council that the World's Sunday School Convention is meeting at the present time in Jerusalem, whereupon Rev. J. Bastow led the council in prayer for the Divine blessing to rest upon their deliberations and work.

The resignation of Dr. W. T. Harrison from the position of Field Secretary was next taken up and with regret accepted. The president and the secretary were appointed a committee to draft a suitable resolution regarding Dr. Harrison's good and efficient work.

The following officers were elected for the present year:

President—Rev. J. G. Potter.
1st Vice-Pres.—Mr. Jno. Lancaster, Otonabee.
2nd Vice-Pres. — Mr. R. C. Beard, Bridgenorth.
3rd Vice-Pres. — Rev. Wm. Major, town.
Secretary—Miss Laura Bennett, Otonabee.
Treasurer—Mr. A. J. Johnson, town.
Field Secretary—Mr. G. A. MacLennan, Norwood.
Home Class Supt.—Messrs. A. W. Cressman and Sheriff Hall, Town.
Normal Supt.—Rev. L. McKinnon.
Primary Supts.—For county, Miss Nina Sherin, Lakefield; for town, Mrs. J. W. Garvin.

It was decided to hold the annual series of township conventions in Peterborough, beginning June 12th. The arrangements for the convention were left in the hands of the president, secretary, Mr. T. W. Robinson and Rev. J. A. Wilson.

The semi-annual meeting will be held in the Y. M. C. A. building in the first week in October.

PRESENTED TO THE PRESIDENT.

The Peterborough Gentleman Attend Impressive Ceremony in Washington.

Knights of Columbus Present Chair of Secular History to Catholic University of Washington.

Rev. Father Fitzpatrick, Mr. D. O'Connell and Mr. H. LeBrun, returned last night from a trip to Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia and New York. The two former gentlemen were attending Washington as representatives of the Peterborough Council Knights of Columbus, at the endowment of a chair of Secular History made by the Knights of Columbus to the Catholic University of Washington. The ceremony at the presentation was a most impressive one, and was attended by about 6,000 persons, Knights and their ladies. This presentation took place last Wednesday, and on the following day about 4,000 of those in attendance were presented to President Roosevelt at the White House, among these being those attending from Peterborough as delegates, as well as Mr. LeBrun.

Cardinal Gibbons of Boston, and nearly all the Archbishops and Bishops of the United States, were in attendance at the presentation.

After leaving Washington, the Peterborough men visited Baltimore, Philadelphia, and New York, where Mr. LeBrun made a large number of selections of spring and summer goods.

Activity in Sporting Circles—Lacrosse Meeting on Saturday—Footballers Meet To-night.

LACROSSE LEAGUE MEETING SATURDAY.

The Trent Valley Lacrosse League will Meet in Oriental Hotel.

On Saturday morning, at ten o'clock, in the Oriental Hotel parlours, a meeting to organize a lacrosse league, comprising teams from the Trent Valley, will be held. The promoter of the scheme, Mr. T. P. Lancaster, of Havelock, has received assurances from a large number of clubs, of their intention to unite with the League, which from the start gives promise of being most successful. A great many smaller towns could easily support a lacrosse team in a League, such as the new organization will be, but would find a difficulty in placing a team in the C.L.A. The travelling expenses of the teams in the new League will be comparatively small, consequently this should not prove a barrier to the smaller towns entering teams. Belleville will in all probability enter a team in the League, which will be composed of 12 or 14 teams. Peterborough will be represented by the T.A.S. team, and Havelock, Hastings, Port Hope and other towns in the vicinity will enter teams.

The meeting is called at ten a.m. in order that the delegates may reach home the same evening. The delegates are asked to be on hand promptly.

LOCAL CURLERS STOOD WELL UP.

In the Points Competition of Ontario Curling Association.

The semi-annual meeting of the Ontario Curling Association was held yesterday morning in the Walker House, Toronto. Thirty Clubs were represented at the meeting, and the reports showed the Association to be in a good condition. The Executive Committee reported in part as follows:—

"During the past year we have received seven new clubs in to the Association, namely, Berlin, Brantford, Chatham, Mount Forest, Owen Sound, Pentanguishine, Wingham, and on club C m, bellf rd, has w l h drawn, leaving our present membership at eighty-five.

"Our Executive beg to report that this has been one of the best years in the history of the Association, our membership showing a large increase. In 1901, our membership was 2,558; in 1902, it was 2,751; in 1903, it was 2,871; and for the year just closed we reached the magnificent total of 3,503. The competitions were all carried out under favourable conditions. During the season, we are pleased to report that there was no occasion for a m eting of the Committee of Complaints and Appeals."

In general competition the points game returns were received from five clubs. The following Peterborough players obtained scores of 30 or over:

E. B. Edwards, P t rborough Grantites, 39.
R. M. Waddell, Peterborough Grantites, 33.
Dr. Eastwood, Peterborough Grantites, 33.

The Peterborough Thistles stood fourth in the list of group winners in the Tankard competi ions and were given medals.

BASEBALL.

A meeting to organize a baseball club in connection with the George street Young Men's Guild, was held last night in the Y.M.C.A. building. A number of the players were present, and from present indications the club will be able to get a fairly strong team together this season.

The officers elected were:—
Hon. Pres.—Rev. J. P. Wilson.
President—M. J. Hutchinson.
Vice-President—G. L. Galley.
Sec.-Treasurer—A. Mann.
Manager—Ross Dobbin.

The president and manager were appointed delegates to attend the meeting of the Guilds to be held tomorrow night for the purpose of organizing a Guild League. A committee composed of Messrs. Warne, Dobbin and Dundas was appointed to arrange for grounds for the season. The club colours were chosen as black and red.

BOWLING-ON-THE-GREEN.

A meeting of the Bowling Club was held in the Ontario Bank Chambers last night, and was well attended. The general situation was fully discussed and the matter of a bowling green was considered at some length. However nothing definite in this regard was done but the committee will report at another meeting to be held next Monday night. Rinks will also be arranged at this meeting.

FOOTBALL.

A very important meeting of the Old Country Wanderers' Football Club, will be held in the Crown Hotel this evening, beginning at eight o'clock. All Britishers are asked to be present.

SPRINTING

A. J. Burns accepts the challenege of Ed. Renton, to a road race, and will meet him at the Examiner office to-night at 7 30 to arrange details.

LACROSSE.

The T.A.S. 11 team will hold an entertainment on Monday night in the T.A.S. Hall. Rev. Father Galvin will give an address.

Messrs. Crowley and Hayes were appointed to represent the T. A. S. Lacrosse Club at the meeting to form a League on Saturday.

THE WRONG KAVANAGH.

Montreal Star.—Where Dade and Hendry were the two most talked of lacrosse players in this part of the country last year Finlayson and Kavanagh have taken their places this season. The truth about them is this—Finlayson has not signed with either Montreal or Shamrocks, and will not sign with any before May. Kavanagh is somewhat in the same position, and the reason for his not signing is that he has received a couple of requests to play out of town, one of the offers coming from Peterborough. It is more than likely that he may accept one and leave the city. To this the Toronto Telegram adds: — "While Peterborough has resolved to go up one and play intermediate, it is hardly likely they are reaching out for such lacrosse luxuries as Kavanagh. Still it is only a year or two since nothing in the lacrosse line was too good for Peterborough, and the indications are those good old days are coming again. Peterborough may want the intermediate championship this year to get back to her old place in the senior ranks next summer."

THE REGULAR DRILL OF 57TH REGIMENT.

Held in Armouries Last Night—The Week's Orders.

The regular weekly drill of the 57th Regiment was held in the armouries last night, but owing to the bad weather the turn out of men was not as large as on previous occasions. Company drill was taken up. About 10 o'clock the following orders were read:—

Headquarters, Peterborough.
April 19,1904.

Orders by Lieut.-Col. J. W. Miller, commanding 57th Regiment, Peterborough Rangers.

No. 1. Details of duty for week ending April 26th, 1904: Officer for the week, Capt. Bennett, next for duty, Captain Mills.

No. 2. The following extract from General Orders is promulgated for the information of the Regiment: "Lieutenant C. H. Bradburn resigns his commission 23rd February, 1904."

To be provisional 2nd Lieutenants: W. R. G. Higgins, M. Comstock, gentlemen; Sergt. J. W. Kelly, J. M. Gemmell, gentlemen, to complete establishment 11th February, 1904."

No. 3. The following are taken on the strength of the regiment: B Co., Pte. J. W. Carey and T. R. McClennan. E. Co., Ptes. P. D. Macgregor, C. T. Butcher and A. D. Shortt. G. Co., Ptes. A. B. Todd, R. E. Walker, W. Cauldwell, H. W. Roddy, C. F. Gilbert, T. J Forman, F. L. Youdall, E. F. Kerr, R. J. Collins. H. Co., Ptes. G. J. Smith, E. E. Howell, B. Robertson, J. H. Sawers, D. F. Clark.

No. 4. The Commanding officer wishes to make it known to the regiment that the sum of $37.50 had to be paid out of regimental funds to the Government for bayonets, belts and accoutrements found short in the various company armouries at the recent inspection. These missing articles are, no doubt, now in the possession of some member or ex-member of the regiment and the failure to return them must be attributed to carelessness, intentional or otherwise, but it is expected that most of them may yet be returned to stores. The commanding officer wished to impress upon all non-commissioned officers the necessity of keeping strict account of all clothing and accoutrements issued to the men of their respective sections, and upon all ranks the necessity of promptly turning into stores at the close of the season, or when otherwise ordered all regimental belongings in the possession in order that the regiment may suffer no further financial loss at future armoury inspections. It is unfortunate that the funds of the whole regiment should be made to bear the loss sustained through the negligence of a few.

9. In the event of any enrolled horse, wagon, cart or set of harness failing or neglecting as set out in paragraph 5 to notify the District Officer Commanding within one week of the occurrence, of the sale, transfer, destruction, or loss of the said horse, wagon, cart or set of harness, he shall be liable to forfeit to the Minister of Militia and Defence the sum of Two Dollars for each and every day during which he shall fail or neglect to notify the District Officer Commanding.

10. Drivers of teams will also be paid.

KEENE.

Mr. J. J. Miller, who has been in Midland during the winter, is now spending a few weeks here with his mother.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Sharp of Westwood, spent Sunday with their uncle, Mr. Jas. McNeil.

Miss Elizabeth Powell, of Trinity University, Toronto, is visiting her aunt, Miss B. Read.

Mrs. Miller of Peterborough, was the guest of her brother, Dr. V. McWilliams for a few days last week.

Mr. Harry Burnham went to Peterborough on Monday to work at the building trade with Mr. McCarthy, the contractor.

Mr. J. R. McIntyre is on the Executive Committee of the Midland Football League, and Keene's first game is with Harwood, at the latter village on the 30th inst.

Mrs. Moscrip of Sarnia has been visiting her niece, Miss Jennie Humphries.

The services in the Presbyterian church on Sunday morning were especially adapted to young men. Rev. D. D. McDonald, gave an instructive sermon on having a purpose, using Daniel as his example. In the evening at the regular meeting of the Y.P.S.C.E., Miss Nellie Renwick read a very impressive address on the topic, "How Christ transforms lives."

On Friday evening, the 29th, a social will be held at the residence of Mr. J. Henderson, under the auspices of the Y.P.S.C.E.

The water this year is unusually high and threatens the various dams on the river, especially that at Allandale, with destruction. Even some of the boat houses have been carried from their moorings and are taking a sail on their own account.

Mr. Bert Graham left on Monday for Peterborough where he will work in the Cordage Factory.

TOLD BY THE CENSUS

Progress in Various Lines by Canadians—Extraordinary Production of Butter and Cheese Our Manufactures.

The statistics of the census department, which are now in course of [illegible] prove in a striking manner the industrial progress which all have felt in the last decade. The details of the growth of the dairy industry are [illegible] of the substantial foundation on which Canada's prosperity is based. The value of butter and cheese products in the census of 1891 ranked eighth in the categories of manufactures, but in the census of 1901 it ranks third. In the latter census year sawmills, flour and grist mills, men's and women's clothing shops, foundry and machine works, planing mills, boot and shoe shops and sugar refineries led in the order named in value of production of establishments employing five hands and over. In the latter census the value of log products still leads, being $50,805,084, the value of flouring mill products is second, with $31,835,879, and the value of meat-packing and slaughtering products is fourth, with $22,217,984. The raw materials of flour and grist mills, butter and cheese factories and meat-packing and slaughtering establishments are almost wholly the products of agriculture, and their aggregate value in the 1901 census is $71,173,295, or 85 per cent.

In the manufacture of butter and cheese alone $25,302,531 out of the production of $29,462,102 was paid directly to the patrons as the value of the raw materials of cream and milk supplied to the factories, being 86 per cent. of the value of factory products. The share of this large distribution going to the farmers of Quebec is $11,039,279, being nearly 44 per cent. of the amount for the whole Dominion, and exceeding by $311,400 the total value of butter and cheese produced in the Dominion in the census year 1891. In Ontario the distribution to farmers for cream and milk supplied to factories in the last census year is $12,959,210, or 51 per cent. of the whole. Measured in the proportion of value of product to the payments to patrons of factories, Ontario is first, with 86.5 per cent., and Quebec is second, with 85.7 per cent. The value of buildings and plant in Canada increased from $1,968,171 to $6,316,974. It is noticeable, however, that the average of wages and salaries per factory fell from $500 to $120, doubtless following the introduction of new machinery, which lessened the number of hands necessary. The total value of land, buildings, implements, stock, etc., is $1,787,102,630. The total value of crops, fruits, live stock sold, meats, dairy products, wool, eggs, etc., in 1901 was $363,126,384. During the decade there was an increase of 1,844 dairy factories, of $1,318,800 in value of factories and of $18,951,043 in the value of the products of Canada. In the Province of Ontario there was an increase of 399 factories, of $1,523,105 in value of factories and of $7,501,584 in value of products. Quebec showed even greater progress, namely an increase of 1,264 in number of factories, of $2,389,964 in value of factories and of $9,955,850 value of products.

It is pointed out that the first factories making cheese only are in South Oxford, in Ontario, where one began in 1855, one in 1856 and one in 1860. The fourth and fifth are in North Norfolk and South Middlesex, and began in 1860. The oldest factory in Quebec is in Missisquoi, which began operations in 1866; Brome following with one in 1867, and one in 1868, and Beauce with one in 1870. The first factory making butter only started in Missisquoi, Quebec, in 1869. In 1874 another was started in Chateauguay, in the same Province, and a third in North Waterloo, Ontario.

Equally gratifying is a comparative statement of the manufacturing industries of the Dominion in 1891 and 1901 for all establishments employing five hands and over. These figures, which have not been published, show an extraordinary advance in the last decade. In 1891 there were 13,679 establishments producing $363,156,797, and these have grown to 14,650 establishments producing $481,053,375 in 1901. As a general thing the figures in detail show a decrease in the number of factories of several kinds, but an increase in the production. In boots and shoes, for example, the number of factories fell from 267 to 179, but the production increased from $12,908,215 to $18,481,216. Bread and biscuit factories declined from 269 to 258, but the production increased from $8,374,306 to $11,637,808. The greatest increase both in number and production was in the dairying interest, which grew from 1,735 factories and $10,697,879 production to 3,576 factories and $29,462,402 production. Meat-packing establishments also enjoyed great prosperity, increasing their production from $5,261,143 to $22,217,984, though the number fell off from 62 to 57. Some of the most noticeable declines were jewellery from 50 factories, with $1,416,109 production, to 35 factories and $996,313 production; ships and repairs from 132 establishments producing $3,067,175 to 39 establishments producing $1,899,836. Lumber products, 126 factories and $13,113,802 production in 167 and $10,751,959 production.

Forbes Robertson on Acting.

The Canadian Club, at Ottawa, at a recent luncheon, heard Forbes Robertson in a ten-minute speech on the "Art of Acting." He was introduced by Colonel Sherwood, C. M. G., president of the club, as an ardent Imperialist, a point which Mr. Robertson has succeeded in bringing home to all his Ottawa acquaintances. Mr. Robertson made a finished little speech on the drama, and fixed his standard at "a true tale to nature and true in the telling." He excluded musical comedy and sensational melodrama from consideration as true drama, and pointed to Sir Henry Irving as an exemplar of success to be obtained in the pursuit of the higher dramatic art.

Not What She Meant.

One of the German women who accompanied George I. to England was hissed and hooted at by the crowd as she was being driven along the mall to St. James' Palace. Putting her head out of the coach, she called out in broken English: "Good people, why you abuse us? We come for all your goods." "Yes," answered a man in the crowd, "and for our chattels too."

THE BABY.

Where did you come from, baby dear?
Out of the everywhere into the here.

Where did you get your eyes so blue?
Out of the sky as I came through.

What makes the light in them sparkle and dance?
Some of the starry spikes left in.

Where did you get that little tear?
I found it waiting when I got here.

What makes your forehead so smooth and high?
A soft hand stroked it as I went by.

What makes your cheek like a warm white rose?
Something better than anyone knows.

Whence that three-cornered smile of bliss?
Three angels gave me at once a kiss.

Where did you get that pearly ear?
God spoke, and it came out to hear.

Where did you get those arms and hands?
Love made itself into hooks and bands.

Feet, whence did you come, you darling things?
From the same box as the cherubs' wings.

How did they all just come to be you?
God thought about me, and so I grew.

But how did you come to us, you dear?
God thought of you, and so I am here.

—George Macdonald.

A CRISIS IN WOMAN'S LIFE.

There are Backaches and Headaches and Days When Life Seems Scarcely Worth Living.

There comes a time in the life of all women when they are face to face with a grave crisis; when there are distressing backaches, headaches, dizziness, when even some women are threatened with the loss of their reason; when they suffer because they are women. The happiness of women for the rest of their lives depends upon being safely tided over this crisis. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have proved a blessing to women at all ages, and are particularly valuable at two critical periods—when girlhood is merging into womanhood and when woman are approaching the turn of life. These pills make the rich, red blood that stimulates all the organs of the body, expels disease and makes the weary sufferer bright, active and strong. Mrs. A. Jones, Cypress River, Man., says:—"Out of gratefulness I feel that I must let you know the good Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have done me. For years I suffered from inflammation of the womb and kindred troubles. Only those who have been similarly afflicted can tell how much I suffered, or how dreary life seemed. I tried many medicines but none of them helped me. Then I was advised to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I am grateful now for that advice, for after using about a dozen boxes every symptom of the trouble disappeared and life again seemed worth living. It is now several years since I took the pills, and as there has been no sign of the trouble since, I feel safe in saying the cure is permanent."

What these pills have done for Mrs. Jones they will do for all suffering women if given a fair trial. But you must get the genuine with the full name "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People" on the wrapper around every box. Sold by all medicine dealers or sent by mail post paid at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 by writing The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Has Paid Debt to Society.

Toronto, April 19.—Among those released from Kingston Penitentiary last week was Reginald Launcelot Middleton, the promoter of the Brantford & Woodstock Railway, whose proposed venture caused so much excitement in Woodstock five years ago last summer, and the story of whose fraud is still fresh in the memories of Woodstock citizens. Middleton was convicted there of bigamy after his railway scheme fell through, and received a sentence of seven years in Kingston Penitentiary. He has been released after serving over five and a half years.

A Bandit's Desperation.

Chicago, April 19.—Peter Neidermeier, one of the car barn bandits attempted to commit suicide in his cell early yesterday. The heads of matches were eaten as one method, the other method was by opening an artery in his left arm by means of a lead pencil, with which he tore a jagged wound in his wrist. Later he re-opened the wound with his fingers after it had been dressed. He wrote a note expressing repentance, but boasting of suicide because he would cheat the scaffold.

Do you ever give the other fellow a thought? He is always near you, for the world is made up of other fellows, who are much like ourselves. That chap who has the seat next to you at the boarding house table, he is the other fellow to you, and you, my friend, are the other fellow to him. The man who sits next to you in the street car to-night, the person who works near you in the office, shop, store, or bank, he is the other fellow, and you bear the same relationship to him.

Be kind to the other fellow, wherever you find him.

You appreciate a kind word, don't you? You feel down and out once in a while, and a bit of encouragement is a great tonic. This other fellow is just like you. He has his off days, the days that are dark with the dawn, days that commence wrong and keep wrong till the night has come, and the weary head is rested in sleep. The other fellow has his days of planning, even as you.

He has his board to pay, and his new clothes to buy, and his salary isn't much.

Perhaps he is a business man. Well, what odds? He is only the other fellow to some banker or some other business head. He has his anxious hours of buying and selling, of meeting balancing days at the bank, and of keeping his account covered to the satisfaction of the manager.

Don't forget the other fellow.

Did he do a nice bit of work, tell him, it will do him good, and he will be more likely to repeat the performance to-morrow. You remember when some one told you, and you were glad. Pass it on. Did he hold you up on the street, and ask you for a nickel? Slip him a dime. He, at that moment, is the other fellow to you.

Does this other fellow compete with you in business, or is he opposed to you as a salesman, covering your ground? Remember you are the other fellow to him, and how would you like him to treat you?

Life is crowded with other fellows. When we stand in front of the street car, the motorman is the other fellow, and if we are on the rear, the conductor and the chaps who smoke are all other fellows. When we lunch, it is the waiter and those at the table with us who are the other fellows. In the church, it is the man in the same pew, and at the club the other fellow may sit across from you at the card table. How would you like him to have a card up his sleeve, or stack the pack? If we buy a paper, the newsy for the moment is the other fellow, and if we have our shoes shined, it is the other fellow to us who gave us the shine. And so it goes through our existence, we are always meeting other fellows, be we rich or poor, learned or ignorant.

So be good to the other fellow, as you expect him to be kind to you.

The world is wide, yet not so very. A Methodist minister, who is now in Montreal, who used to live in Hamilton, and whose name is spelt much like Henderson, delivered a lecture in an eastern town near Brockville. He had been through the Civil war, and his lecture was punctuated with thrilling experiences. He told of the battle of Lookout Mountain. He described how the Northern force, to which he belonged, climbed step by step. Foot by foot he took his hearers. Death stared from the mountain top. Cannon belched at them, and rifles shot them, but they did not waver. They took that hill, and one section capturing a cannon from the now fleeing Southerners, turned it on them. As the speaker told his story there was an impressive silence. Then, with one of those touches of real drama with which our lives are so magnificently colored, a man jumped up in the audience and with a voice keen with emotion, he interrupted the lecturer and shouted:

"Yes, sir, and I was one that helped you turn that gun."

He was the other fellow of 40 years before.

Remember the other fellow to-day. You may meet him 10 years from now under circumstances as peculiar as this.—Charles F. Raymond, in Toronto Star.

Pawning Wives and Daughters.

They have a curious way of utilizing wives and daughters in some parts of India. If a man wants money he puts these members of his establishment in pawn, and his creditor detains them until the debt is discharged. The custom varies in different localities. In Mellore the Yercalis pledge their daughters to creditors who may either marry them or give them away, and a man who has to go to jail deposits his wife with another family of her tribe until his return. In North Arcot unmarried daughters are frequently mortgaged and become the absolute property of the holder until liquidation.

HOBBIES.

Interesting Data of Their Value in the Wilds of Labrador.

Every man, especially in scantily settled regions like this, should have a hobby of some sort to occupy his mind. We lay all one Sunday in a dense fog in a small harbor on an uninhabited island, in which we had taken refuge in the foggy darkness of Saturday night. The unusual experience of so many hours of enforced rest made time hang almost heavily on our hands, and we whiled away the afternoon walk in collecting various shrubs and pressing them, and learning their names from one of the numerous books of reference which are published at prices within the reach of every one in these days. Most of these books contain excellent keys for classifying and naming any plant one finds, and the puzzle to the mind in some direction totally unconnected with one's daily work affords much more rest than time of mere idleness. Most of these guide books also, give one interesting legends attached to these various humble friends which beset our paths every time we go ashore. These not only interest the mind but furnish fresh sources of interest and conversation, where new topics are remarkable by their absence.

Take, for instance, the common Crowberry—common all over Newfoundland. Every one knows that this plant is a northern shrub which no cold is able to destroy, and yet how many have noticed the main reason why it can resist temperatures which would destroy most other common plants. (Phanerogams). The reason is that the leaves are rolled back on themselves, and the outer edges stuck together so that the breathing mouths of the leaves are covered up. In this way there is never any of that excessive evaporation which reduces the temperature so rapidly, and changes of temperature hardly affect it at all. Take again the common White Flower (Ledum Latifolium), or Labrador Tea. Why can it also resist the cold so well? Here the breathing mouths are protected by thick yellowish wool, so thick that one wonders that one has so often seen it and not noticed this peculiarity about it. The flowers we got here were really beautiful. The Marsh Holy Rose, called Andromeda, because it is said it resembles her as her feet were chained to the rock under water. With it is the Marsh Laurel—the small variety known as the Lambkill, which has been so fatal to goats in this country. Indeed, I found that some of the members of the crew were well aware of its propensities, they having had a little experience in stock raising in that line in Conception Bay.—From Dr. Grenfell's letters on the Fisher Folk of Labrador.

Dickens' First Gold Watch.

Mr. E. S. Williamson, the well-known Dickens collector and lecturer of this city, now possesses the first gold watch owned by Charles Dickens. Francis Jeffrey Dickens brought it to Canada. Before going west he became acquainted with Mr. F. M. Midford of Toronto, and this acquaintance afterwards developed into a warm friendship. On his return to Toronto some years later it came about one day that being in want of money Mr. Dickens said he must sell the watch. Mr. Midford promptly declared his readiness to furnish the cash needed and his unwillingness to see such a relic pass into the hands of strangers. "It was my father's first gold watch," said Dickens, "and I'd much rather see it yours, Midford, than a stranger's." After the death of Mr. Midford in 1891 the Dickens watch passed to his sister, Mrs. Hadwen, from whom it was purchased by her brother, Mr. William Midford. The watch remained in Mr. William Midford's possession until a few months ago, when Mr. Williamson became its owner.—Toronto Globe.

Healthy Kidneys, Pure Blood.

By Means of the Kidneys Only Can the Blood be Purified and the Kidneys Are Kept Healthy by Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

At this season of the year the Kidneys are always sure to be more or less deranged.

The work of filtering from the blood, the poisonous matter which result from the artificial winter life is too much for them, and spring finds the blood loaded with waste matter and the kidneys in a sluggish and clogged condition.

The effects are felt throughout the entire system. The liver in sympathy with the kidneys becomes slow constipated and digestion is impaired, giving rise to headaches, dizzy spells and feelings of discomfort.

The quickest and most satisfactory way of setting the kidneys right is the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

This great family medicine is endorsed by the many thousands who have tested its merits. Acting as it does on kidneys, liver and bowels, it is not only prompt to relieve but thorough and lasting in the benefits which it bestows.

Next to a personal test of this preparation probably the best evidence of its value is found in the enormous sale which it has throughout the length and breadth of this continent.

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, one pill a dose, 25 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

To protect you against imitations the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, are on every box.

Purified by Suffering

BY MARY J. HOLMES,

"Mr. J. Cameron, Miss Bell Cameron," were the names on the cards sent to Dr. Grant late that afternoon, and in a few moments he was with the father and sister who asked so anxiously for Wilford and explained why Katy was not with them.

Wilford was sleeping when they entered his room, his face looking so worn and thin, and his hands folded so helplessly upon his breast, that with a gush of tears Bell knelt beside him, and laying her warm cheek against his bony one, woke him with her sobs. For a moment he seemed bewildered, then recognizing her, he raised his feeble arm and winding it about her neck, kissed her more tenderly than he had ever done before. He had not been demonstrative of his affection for his sisters. But Bell was his favorite, and he held her close to him while his eyes moved past his father, whom he did not see, on to the door as if in quest of some one. It was Katy, and guessing his thoughts, Bell said:

"She is not here. She could not come now. She is sick in New York but will join us in a few days."

There was a look of intense disappointment in Wilford's face, which even his father's warm greeting could not dissipate, and Morris saw the great tears as they dropped upon the pillow, the proud man trying hard to repress them, and asking no questions concerning any one at home. He was too weak to talk, but he held Bell's hand in his as if afraid that she would leave him, while his eyes rested alternately upon her face and that of his father, who, wholly unmanned at the fearful change in his son, laid his head upon the bed and cried aloud.

Next morning Bell was very white and her voice trembled as she came from a conference with Dr. Morris, who told her that her brother would die.

"He may live a week, and he may not," he said, adding solemnly, "As his sister you will tell him of his danger, while there is time to seek the refuge without which death is terrible."

"Oh, if I could only pray with and for him!" Bell thought, as she went to her brother, mourning her misspent days, and feeling her courage giving way when at last she stood in his presence and met his kindly smile.

"I dreamed that you were not here after all," he said, "I am so glad to find it real. How long before I can go home, do you suppose?"

He had stumbled upon the very thing Bell was there to talk about, his question indicating that he had no suspicion of the truth. Nor had he; and it came like a thunderbolt when Bell, forgetting all her prudence, said impetuously:

"Oh, Wilford, maybe you'll never go home. Maybe you'll——"

"Not die!" Wilford exclaimed, clasping his hands with sudden emotion. "Not die—you don't mean that? Who told you so?"

"Dr. Grant," was Bell's reply, which brought a fierce frown to Wilford's face, and awoke all the angry passions of his heart.

"Dr. Grant," he repeated. . . . "He would like me removed from his path but it shall not be. I will not die. Tell him that. I will not die," and Wilford's voice was hoarse with passion as he raised his clenched fists in the air.

He was terribly excited, and in her fright Bell ran for Dr. Grant. But Wilford motioned him back, hurling after him words which kept him from the room the entire day, while the sick man rolled, and tossed, and raved in the delirium, which had returned, and which wore him out so fast. No one had the least influence over him, except Marian Hazelton, who, glided to his side, and with her presence and gentle words soothed him into comparative quiet, so that the bitter denunciations against the saint, who wanted him to die, ceased, and he fell into a troubled sleep.

With a strange feeling of interest Mr. Cameron and Bell watched her, wondering if she were indeed Genevra, as Katy had affirmed. They would not ask her; and both breathed more freely when, with a bow in acknowledgment of Mr. Cameron's compliment to her skill in quieting his son, she left the room.

That night they watched with Wilford, who slept off his delirium, and lay with his face turned from them, so that they could not guess by its expression what was passing in his mind.

All the next day he maintained the most frigid silence, answering only in monosyllables, while Bell kept wiping away the great drops of sweat constantly oozing out upon his forehead and about the pallid lips.

Just at nightfall he startled Bell by asking that Dr. Grant be sent for.

"Please leave me alone with him," he said, when Dr. Morris came; then turning to Morris, as the door closed upon his father and his sister, he said abruptly:

"Pray for me, if you can pray for one who yesterday hated you so for saying he must die."

Earnestly, fervently, Morris prayed, as for a dear brother; and when he finished, Wilford's faint "Amen" sounded through the room.

"I am not right yet," the pale lips whispered, as Morris sat down beside him. "Not right with God, I mean. I've sometimes said there was no God, but I did not believe it; and now I know there is. He has been moving upon me all the day, driving out my bitterness toward you, and causing me to send for you at last. Do you think there is hope for me? I have much to be forgiven."

"Though your sins be as scarlet, they shall be white as snow," Morris replied; and then he tried to point that erring man to the Lamb of God who taketh away the sins of the world, convincing him that there was hope even for him, and leaving him with the conviction that God would surely finish the good work begun, nor suffer this soul to be lost which had turned to Him at the eleventh hour.

Wilford knew his days were numbered, and he talked freely of it to his father and sister the next morning when they came to him. He did not say that he was ready and willing to die, only that he must, and he asked them to forget, when he was gone, all that had ever been amiss in him as a son and a brother.

"I was too proud, too selfish, to make others happy," he said. "I thought it all over yesterday, and the past came back again so vividly especially the part connected with Katy. Oh, Katy, I did abuse her!" and a bitter sob attested the genuineness of Wilford's grief for his treatment of Katy. But, after I am gone, and the duties of the world have closed up the gap I shall leave, I see a brighter future for her than her past has been; and you may tell her I am——" He could not say "I am willing." Few husbands could have done so then, and he was not an exception.

Wholly exhausted, he lay quiet for a moment, and when he spoke again, it was of Genevra. Even here he did not try to screen himself. He was the one to blame, he said. Genevra was true, was innocent, as he ascertained too late.

"Would you like to see her, if she was living?" came to Bell's lips; but the fear that it would be too great a shock, prevented their utterance.

He had no suspicion of her presence; and it was best he should not. Katy was the one uppermost in his mind; and in the letter Bell sent to her next day, he tried to write. "Good-bye, my darling;" but the words were scarcely legible, and his nerveless hand fell helpless at his side as he said:

"She will never know the effort it cost me, nor hear me say that I hope I am forgiven. It came to me last night; and now the way it not so dark, but Katy will not know."

CHAPTER XLIV.

Katy would know; for she was coming at last. A telegram had announced that she was on the road; and with nervous restlessness Wilford asked repeatedly what time it was, reducing the hours to minutes, and counting his own pulses to see if he could last so long.

"Save me, Doctor," he whispered to Morris, "keep me alive till Katy comes. I must see Katy again."

And Morris, tenderer than a brother, did all he could to keep the feeble breath from going out ere Katy came.

The train was due at five; but it was dark in the hospital, and from every window a light was shining, when Morris carried, rather than led, a quivering figure up the stairs and through the hall to the room where the Camerons were, the father standing at the foot of Wilford's bed, and Bell bending over his pillow, administering the stimulants which kept her brother alive. When Katy came in, she moved away, as did her father, while Morris too stepped back into the hall; and thus the husband and wife were left alone.

"Katy, precious Katy, you have forgiven me?" Wilford whispered, and the rain of tears and kisses on his face was Katy's answer as she hung over him.

She had forgiven him, and she told him so when she found voice to talk, wondering to find him so changed from the proud, exacting, self-worshiping man to the humble repentant and self-accusing person, who took all blame of the past to himself, and exonerated her from every fault. But when he drew her close to him, and whispered something in her ear, she knew whence came the change, and a reverent "Thank the good Father," dropped from her lips.

"The way was dark and thorny," Wilford said, making her sit down where he could see her as he talked, "and only for God's goodness I should have lost the path. But he sent Morris Grant to point the road, and I trust I am in it now. I wanted to tell you with my own lips how sorry I am for what I have made you suffer; but sorriest of all for sending Baby away. Oh, Katy, you do not know how that rested upon my conscience. Forgive me, Katy, that I robbed you of your child."

He was growing very weak, and he looked so white and ghastly that Katy called for Bell, who came with her father, and the three stood together around the bedside of the dying.

"You will remember me, Katy," he said, "but you cannot mourn for me always, and sometime in the future you will cease to be my widow, and, Katy, I am willing. I wanted to tell you this, so that no thought of me should keep you from a life where you will be happier than I have made you."

Wholly bewildered, Katy made no reply, and Wilford was silent for a few moments, in which he seemed partially asleep. Then rousing up, he said:

"You said once that Genevra was not dead. Did you mean it, Katy?"

Frightened and bewildered, Katy turned appealingly to her father-in-law, who answered for her. "She meant it—Genevra is not dead," while a blood-red flush stained Wilford's face, and his fingers beat the bed-spread thoughtfully.

"I fancied once that she was here—that she was the nurse the boys praise so much. But that was a delusion," he said, and without a thought of the result, Katy asked impetuously: "If she were here would you care to see her?"

There was a startled look on Wilford's face, and he grasped Katy's hand nervously, his frame trembling with a dread of the great shock which he felt impending over him.

"Is she here? Was the nurse Genevra?" he asked. Then, as his mind went back to the past, he answered his own questions by asserting "Marian Hazelton is Genevra."

They did not contradict him, nor did he ask to see her. With Katy there he felt he had better not; but after a moment he continued: "It is all so strange. I thought her dead. I do not comprehend how it can be. She has been kind to me. Tell her I thank her for it. I was unjust to her. I have much to answer for."

Between each word he uttered there was a gasp for breath, and father Cameron opened the window to admit the cool night air. But nothing had power to revive him. He was going very fast, Morris said, as he took his stand by the bedside and watched the approach of death. There were no convulsive struggles, only heavy breathings, which grew farther and farther apart, until at last Wilford drew Katy close to him, and winding his arm around her neck, whispered:

"I am almost home, my darling, and all is well. Be kind to Genevra for my sake. I loved her once, but not as I love you."

He never spoke again, and a few minutes later Morris led Katy from the room, and then went out to give orders for the embalming.

* * * *

In the little room she called her own, Marian Hazelton sat, her beautiful hair disordered, and her eyes dim with the tears she shed. She knew that Wilford was dead, and as if his dying had brought back all her olden love she wept bitterly for the man who had so darkened her life. She had not expected to see him with Katy present; but now that it was over she might go to him. There could be no harm in that. No one but Morris would know who she was, she thought, when there came a timid knock upon her door, and Katy entered, her face very pale, and her manner very calm, as she came to Marian, and kneeling down beside her laid her head in her lap with the air of a weary child who has sought its mother for rest.

"Poor little Katy!" Marian said; "your husband, they tell me, is dead."

"Yes," and Katy lifted up her head, and fixing her eyes earnestly upon Marian, continued: "Wilford is dead, but before he died he left a message for Genevra Lambert. Will she hear it now?"

With a sudden start Marian sprang to her feet, and demanded: "Who told you of Genevra Lambert?"

"Wilford told me months ago, showing me her picture, which I readily recognized, and I have pitied you so much, knowing you were innocent. Wilford thought you were dead," Katy said, flinching a little before Marian's burning gaze, which fascinated even while it startled her.

It is not often that two women meet bearing to each other the relations these two bore, and it is not strange that both felt constrained and embarrassed as they stood looking at each other. As Marian's was the stronger, so she was the first to rally, and with the tears swimming in her eyes she drew Katy closely to her, and said:

"Now that he is gone I am glad you know it. Mine has been a sad life, but God has helped me to bear it. You say he believed me dead. Some time I will tell you how that came about; but now, his message—he left one, you say?"

Carefully Katy repeated every word Wilford had said, and with a gasping cry Marian wound her arms around her neck, exclaiming:

"And you will love me, because I have suffered so much. You will let me call you Katy when we are alone. It brings you nearer to me."

Marian was now the weaker of the two, and it was Katy's task to comfort her, as sinking back in her chair she sobbed:

"He did love me once. He acknowledged it at the last, before them all, his wife, his father and his sister. Do they know?" she suddenly asked, and when assured that they did, she relapsed into a silent mood, while Katy stole quietly out and left her there alone.

Half an hour later and a female form passed hurriedly through the hall and across the threshold into the chamber where the dead man lay. There was no one with him now, and Marian was free to weep out the pent-up sorrow of her life, which she did with choking sobs and passionate words poured into the ear, deaf to every human sound. A step upon the floor startled her, and turning round she stood face to face with Wilford's father, who was regarding her with a look which she mistook for one of reproof and displeasure that she should be there.

"Forgive me," she said; "he was my husband once, and surely now that he is dead you will not begrudge me a few last moments with him for the sake of the days when he loved me."

There were many tender chords in the heart of father Cameron, and offering Marian his hand, he said:

"Far be it from me to refuse you this privilege. I pity you, Genevra; I believe he dealt unjustly by you—but I will not censure him now that he is gone. He was my only boy. Oh, Wilford, Wilford! you have left me very lonely."

He released her hand, and Marian fled away, meeting next with Bell, who felt that she must speak to her, but was puzzled what to say. Bell could not define her feelings towards Marian, or why she shrunk from approaching her. It was not pride, but rather a feeling of prejudice, as if Marian were in some way to blame for all the trouble which had come to them, while her peculiar position as the divorced wife of her brother made it the more embarrassing. But she could not resist the mute pleading of the eyes lifted so tearfully to her, as if asking for a nod of recognition, and stepping before her she said softly:

"Genevra."

Deranged Nerves AND Weak Spells.

Mr. R. H. Sampson's, Sydney, N.S., Advice to all Sufferers from Nerve Trouble is

"GET A BOX OF MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS."

He says: "I have been ailing for about a year from deranged nerves, and very often weak spells would come over me and be so bad that I sometimes thought I would be unable to survive them. I have been treated by doctors and have taken numerous preparations but none of them helped me in the least. I finally got a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. Before taking them I did not feel able to do any work, but now I can work as well as ever, thanks to one box of your pills. They have made a new man of me, and my advice to any person troubled as I was, is to get a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills."

"I had scrofula and erysipelas for eighteen years, until I heard

Of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery," writes Mr. Hilery Koons, of Queens, W. Va. "When I commenced to take this medicine I weighed one hundred and thirty pounds. I have taken six bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and three vials of his 'Pleasant Pellets,' and am glad to say I feel like a new man. I now weigh one hundred and seventy-five pounds. When I had used one bottle of the medicine I could feel it was helping me. I realize Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is the best medicine on earth."

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery purifies the blood and entirely eradicates the poisons that breed and feed disease. It cures scrofula, eczema, erysipelas, boils, pimples and other eruptions that mar and scar the skin. Pure blood is essential to good health. The weak, run-down, debilitated condition which so many people experience is commonly the effect of impure blood. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery not only cleanses the blood of impurities, but it increases the activity of the blood-making glands, and it enriches the body with an abundant supply of pure, rich blood.

FREE. Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of customs and mailing only. Send 31 one-cent stamps for the book in paper covers, or 50 stamps for the cloth-bound volume. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

MOUNT IRWIN.

It is with deep regret that we record the death of Mrs. D. Sullivan, who died on Thursday, March 31st, after an illness of about a year. She leaves to mourn her loss a husband and one son, as well as two brothers.

We have also to record the death of Mrs. S. Cahill, who died on Monday last at the family residence, after an illness of a number of years.

Mrs. Edward Allen, sr., who spent the winter with her daughter, Mrs. McNeill, of Orillia, has returned home.

Patrick and Jas. O'Brien have returned home from Minnesota.

Miss Etta Collins, who has spent the last three months in Lindsay, has returned home.

Miss Maude O'Neill, who spent the Easter holidays with her sister, Mrs. D. McNeill, of Waubaushene, has returned home.

Dwarf Trees for Small Gardens.

The modifications that plants undergo are sufficient to convince one of the great possibilities which await those who choose to make use of them to secure a large return from a limited area. It is well known that in proportion to size dwarf trees are more fruitful than standards, that they come into bearing sooner and are therefore of special value for use in limited inclosures or fruit gardens.

SOME HAPPENINGS IN THE NORTHERN TOWN.

Personal Mention and Other Items of Interest at Lakefield

The Canadian Order of Chosen Friends held an at home in the Foresters' Hall on Monday evening, April 18th. After a musical programme was rendered a supper was served. The balance of the evening was spent in dancing and games.

Mr. J. N. Johnson, V.S., has moved into his new office, formerly occupied by N. Nicholls. The doctor has had the building thoroughly overhauled and decorated, and is now comfortable in his new quarters.

Mr. Donald McLean of Moosejaw, formerly of Lakefield, who has been down to Ottawa to interview the Government, dropped off here for a few days to renew old acquaintances.

Mr. J. Purser of Buckhorn was in the village on Saturday and reports the roads up his way to be in excellent condition for this time of year.

Mr. Walter Smythe returned to the village for the summer. Walter is looking well and his many friends will be glad to welcome him back.

The Lakefield Tennis Club have secured Mr. C. J. Blomfield's courts for the season of 1904. The club is looking forward to a successful season and much enthusiasm is being shown by the boys for the game.

Mr. John Thompson of the Dickson Co., Peterborough, is here for the season, and expects before long to have the sawmill in operation.

The water in the river is now unusually high and as a result the back water is playing havoc with the different water powers. Especially is this the case with the electric light plant, and therefore the citizens of our village at present have but a meagre supply of light.

Master Cephas Lemay, who was unfortunate enough to be attacked by a dog and badly bitten about the face, is doing as well as can be expected.

Mrs. J. Harry Sherin entertained a number of her friends on Thursday last. A very pleasant evening was spent with crokinole and other games.

Miss Jory, of Dummer, is the guest of Mrs. Wes. Sherin, Regent street.

Mr. W. H. Casement is having his tinshop in connection with his hardware store enlarged to twice its twice its former capacity to enable his workmen to handle the rapidly increasing business in that department.

A public meeting of the ratepayers of the village of Lakefield, was held on Friday evening, 15th inst. for the purpose of discussing the advisability of constructing cement walks. The meeting was fairly well attended, Reeve Moore occupying the chair. The following persons expressed their views on the subject; Messrs. R. C. Strickland, E. R. Tate, F. J. Lillicrap, A. J. Kidd, J. Griffin, E. A. Tanner, Dr. Baker. It was moved by Mr. Tanner and seconded by Dr. Baker, that,

"Whereas, this meeting of property owners and ratepayers of the village of Lakefield, was called for the purpose of discussing the sidewalk question, and adopting a policy for the future construction of the same, it is resolved that all sidewalks in the village should in future be built of cement where and when practicable on the Local Improvement System, and that forty per cent. of the cost of the same on any street or part of street should be assessed against the properties abutting thereon and benefitting thereby, according to their frontage, and the remaining sixty per cent., and the cost of that part of the work that is incurred in respect of street intersections, and opposite exempted properties, be borne by the village. Corner lots, etc., to be left to the council to arrange some equitable adjustment which their position would require. The total cost to be provided for by the issue of local improvement debentures extending over a period of 20 years.

It was moved in amendment by Mr. J. Griffin, seconded by Mr. F. J. Lillicrap, that cement sidewalks be constructed, and that the town's share be paid out of the current revenue. The amendment had only two supporters, the motion being carried.

Mrs. Jonathan Smith and Mr. H. Smith have gone to Rochester to attend the wedding of Mr. Lewis Smith, who is to be married to Miss Ettie Babbage on the 21st of April.

Mr. Delbert Smith is getting better after a severe attack of blood poisoning.

Mrs. Jas. McIndoo is confined to her bed with a severe cold.

Miss Mamie Trew of Oak Hill, has been visiting her aunt, Mrs. Smith, for the past week.

Mr. R. J. Ellison, formerly of Garden Hill, has been visiting his sister, Mrs. Trew. Mr. Ellison is on his way to his new home in Alemeda, where he will take charge of a large business store and the post office.

Miss Pearl Clifford had a birthday party on Saturday, it being her 16th birthday. She received a lot of very fine presents.

Mr. and Mrs. Stevenson of Ireland, are visiting their sister, Mrs. John Wilson.

Mr. Jas. Baptie has imported a birthday. She received a number of handsome price.

Wound Round Shaft.

Stratford, April 20.—A serious accident befell Fred Baker, proprietor of the Wool Stock Mills here, yesterday morning. While engaged in adjusting a belt, set screws on a shaft behind him caught in his coat and wound him round the shaft. The strain of the shaft threw the belt off, leaving Mr. Baker suspended, but not before he had sustained severe injuries. He was taken to the hospital, where it was found his scalp was bruised and torn, left arm broken and his shin injured. It is feared he may be injured internally.

NEW BRITISH TAXES

Duties on Incomes, Tobacco and Tea Increased.

A HEAVY DEFICIT LAST YEAR

Chancellor of Exchequer Austin Chamberlain Estimates Another Deficit This Year and Explains That the New Taxes Are Expected to Meet It—Mr. Chamberlain Congratulated—House Adopts Duties.

London, April 19.—The widespread interest in the presentation of the budget to-day was evidenced by the crowded state of the house of commons. Long before the chancellor of the exchequer, Austen Chamberlain, rose to make his tsatement, every part of the house was filled. Joseph Chamberlain was present to hear his son. The former colonial secretary, whose first public appearance it was since his return from abroad, met with a great reception from the occupants of the ministerial benches, while the Nationalists invited him to sing "Rule Britannia," and greeted him with shouts of "Pig-tail."

The Budget Statement.

Austen Chamberlain rose shortly before 3 p.m. He opened his speech by expatiating on the difficulties of his position, the great wave of prosperity with Great Britain had enjoyed so long having apparently spent its force, and given place to a less prosperous cycle. The industries of Great Britain, especially the cotton industry, were depressed, and foreign competition was keener than ever.

Last Year's Heavy Deficit.

The markets in which Great Britain had heretofore been supreme were increasingly threatened. The commercial depression in the United Kingdom was aggravated by the conditions in South Africa. The revenue for 1903-4 was $18,620,000 below the estimate, while the expenditure exceeded the estimate by $15,035,000. The repeal of the duty on wheat had been more costly than anticipated, without affording the consumer the relief expected. The net total deficit for the financial year was $27,015,000.

Mr. Chamberlain proposed to realize from unclaimed government stock $5,000,000 towards the deficiency. The chancellor refused to suspend the sinking fund, considering it bad policy.

Incomes, Tea and Tobacco.

Mr. Chamberlain estimated the expenditure for 1904-5 at $714,400,000, and the revenue, on the basis of existing taxation, at $695,300,000, a deficit of $19,100,000, to be made up. He proposed, therefore, to increase the income tax by two cents.

The chancellor of the exchequer also proposed an additional tax of four cents per pound on tea, and a readjustment of the tobacco duties, imposing a duty of 81 cents on tobacco stripped before being imported; also an additional duty of 12 cents on cigars and an additional 25 cents on foreign cigarettes. Mr. Chamberlain proposed also to raise the moisture limit to 32 per cent., and introduce three or four different rates in the drawbacks, which he hoped would increase Great Britain's tobacco trade, especially to the colonies. The net gain by these tobacco changes was estimated at $2,750,000.

The increase in the income tax would give $10,000,000 additional revenue.

The increase in the net duty will amount to $10,000,000, bringing the total estimated revenue up to $718,670,000, or a surplus of $3,650,000.

Mr Chamberlain's announcements of the increase in the income tax and in the tea duty were both received with loud protests.

Congratulations.

On the motion to increase the tea tax, the Liberal leader, Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman congratulated the chancellor of the exchequer on the lucidity of his speech. He said he had discharged a difficult task in a manner to command general admiration. Mr. Ritchie, the former chancellor of the exchequer, also congratulated Mr. Chamberlain.

The house, after considerable discussion, adopted the increased tea and tobacco duties by majorities of 72 and 94 respectively.

Last year the government reduced the tax on incomes from one shilling and three pence to eleven pence. The addition of a penny now brings it up to the even shilling. The existing duty on tea is six pence per pound, to which Mr. Chamberlain proposes to add two pence.

House of Lords

London, April 20.—The House of Lords reassembled yesterday afternoon. Earl Spencer, the Liberal leader, congratulated the Government on carrying out the Anglo-French agreement, and asked if further papers would be laid before the House. Foreign Minister Lansdowne expressed his pleasure at the favorable reception of the agreement, and said the House would be asked to legislate on certain clauses therein. When the bill was introduced full information would be afforded.

Liaoyang, April 20.—A number of unimportant skirmishes are reported along the Yalu River. Six Japanese soldiers were killed by Russian scouts on April 16. Firing was heard on April 18.

MOTHER AND CHILD.

Suggestions How to Entertain and Teach the Little Ones.

"Happy is the child whose nurse is its mother!" It is not realized by many how capable a child is of ennui, "even as you and I," the grown-ups, and also how incapable the average nurse is of giving intelligent amusement to her charge, and how limited her opportunity in the confines of the nursery, even were she capable. Hence the adage, "Happy is the child whose nurse is its mother."

How full of interest and adventure life may be to the little one who follows the mother in her round of duties! He will dust and sweep, try to make beds, and set the table, sew when she does and fetch and carry to some purpose, perhaps, says a writer in Toronto Star. What delight could be greater than to help at the weekly baking, to be allowed a little wad of dough, which he may knead and make into pies and cakes just as mother does? It will be grey before he is done with it; it will probably have been picked up from the floor more than once, and for the first few times will not be fit to eat, but what of that? Does the mother realize that besides amusing her little one in this way she is developing his faculties, teaching him all sorts of necessary lessons; that the play is, though without any label, the best and most desirable kind of kindergarten? She will soon find, if she take the trouble to impress on the little scholar that there is a right way of doing all these things, yet without making a task of the play, that he is really of much assistance. It is wonderful what a little child of 4 or 6 can accomplish after a year or two's companionship with the mother.

A little game which a mother may play, while sewing perhaps, is one of buying and selling, and it will be of the intensest interest, because played with real money. Let the child buy from the mother a spool, a package of needles, and yard or a package of tape—anything the work-basket may contain or the mind suggest. For these he must pay in actual cash ten and 5-cent pieces and coppers and count his change carefully. Or he may be the vendor, with a little basket of articles for sale and must make the change. It is a lesson in arithmetic, in addition and subtraction, multiplication and division, that will be a most exciting adventure of the greatest possible use.

All this means a certain amount of time and trouble expended, and there may be mothers who cannot be bothered, so they say; they cannot have the children "round under their feet." This is a world where we never get something for nothing, and no mother can expect the best from a child to whom she has not given her best, towards whom she has not shown a wise unselfishness.

TORONTO MET LOSS BRAVELY.

The Signs of Recovery from Great Fire's Blow in Toronto.

14 ACRES WERE LAID WASTE

Thirteen to Fifteen Million Dollars' Worth of Property Swept out of Existence—Five Thousand Clerks and Operators out of Work—Evidence of Surprising Enterprise —The Insurances.

Toronto, April 21.—With fourteen acres of the centre of the commercial section laid waste, the hand of the destroyer was stayed early yesterday. While the embers of the ruined warehouses were still aglow Toronto's business men were planning a fresh start. From Lorne street through the very heart of the old business city to Yonge street, and north half-way to King street, there stretches a desert of tumbling walls and twisted girders, from which will spring the business city of the future. Toronto's financial interests will stagger under such a blow as few other Canadian cities ever received, but the signs of recovery are already here. Thirteen to fifteen million dollars in property were swept out of existence by the fire of Tuesday night.

5,000 Out of Work.

Five thousand clerks and operatives who have daily thronged Bay street to and from their employment came down yesterday to gaze on the ashes and the piles of hot bricks, and wonder where their wages would come from. Nearly eight millions of dollars are to be paid by the insurance companies, some of which have within the past few months experienced heavy losses. Such is the position of Toronto after its great fire. There is no despair. The business community will feel the loss, but it is recognized as only a check on the city's progress. Manufacturers who escaped the fire are offering their former rivals opportunities to re-establish themselves at once, so that their trade can be maintained, and the aid which came so willingly from other cities to Toronto to fight the flames is being extended in other ways to help fight the results of the fire.

As showing the energy with which the reverse is being met, it was stated that Gordon McKay & Co. had in the morning despatched three buyers to New York en route to Europe by the first sailings possible to secure new stock.

Whole Trades Wiped Out.

The destruction of nearly every one of the big wholesale clothing houses will affect every tailoring establishment in the city, said one prominent merchant tailor last night. The firms that suffered loss include the W. R. Brock Co., Wyld, Darling Co., Robert Darling, Bradshaw & Son, Dignum & Moneypenny, Gordon McKay & Co., Gault Bros. & Co., Greenshields, Limited, Merchants' Dyeing and Finishing Co., H. E. Bond & Co., W. R. Sanford, Boulter & Co., Caulfield, Burns & Co., Hachborn & Sheridan, Novi Modi Costume Co., Chas. Cockshutt Co., Mark Fisher, Sons & Co., R. B. Hutchinson & Co., Nisbet & Auld, Prime & Ranken.

Printing and Allied Trades.

The printing and allied trades are heavy losers, with the Warwick Bros. & Rutter, Rolph, Smith & Co., Brown Bros., W. J. Gage Co., Book Supply Co., Copp, Clark Co., Harris Litho. Co., Blackhall & Co. totally gone. Three of the principal envelope manufacturers are destroyed in Buntin, Reid & Co., Barber & Ellis and Davis & Henderson. Most of the above firms are also deeply interested in the paper trade, while in addition the E. B. Eddy Co., Canada Paper Co., Carter-Crume Co., the Kinleith Paper Co., Montreal Paper Co., and the Lincoln Paper Mills Co. are among the ruined. Warwick Bros. & Rutter have secured premises in Johnston's lane to handle the Government printing contracts. The Copp, Clark Co. have made their headquarters at their factory on Colborne street. They will rebuild.

Mats and Caps.

The wholesale hats and caps concerns are wiped out completely in the destruction of A. A. Allan & Co., Brereton, Manning & Co., Anderson & Macbeth, Ansley & Co., and Gillespie's late of the Ansley & Gillespie firm, who had a stock stored in the Ansley building preparatory to removing to new premises.

Shoe firms destroyed are Ames, Holden Co., G. E. Boulter, Garside & White, Hally & Boyd, Hawthorne & Co., B. L. Kennedy Co., McLaren & Dallas, Weston & Sons.

In medicines there are Northrup, Lyman Co., Evans & Sons, Toronto Pharmical Co., Dodd's Medicine Co., Scott & Browne.

SYMPATHY FROM LONDON.

Comments on the Fire Take Form of Praising Queen City.

London, April 21.—(C. A. P.)—An expression of opinion is made that the reduction of the great business houses of Toronto will likely dislocate for a time the wholesale trade of Ontario and the West. The London papers publish long details of the Toronto fire in many cases following it up with sympathetic comment. The city is described as the focus of the intellectual life of the Dominion and its wonderful growth is attributed to the enterprise of its citizens who know how to profit by the growth of the agricultural districts which it serves as their manufacturing and distributing centre.

Suggestive Conceptions of Distances.

The Graphic says Toronto has the sympathy of the whole Empire in the terribly destructive fire that has devastated that beautiful city. Being an open city, Toronto is structurally considered singularly free from the risk of fire. It gives a suggestive conception of the distance of the American continent that fire engines were sent from Buffalo and it is a consolation that the University buildings were saved.

To Enforce Bait Act.

St. John's, Nfld., April 21.—The Colonial Government is still awaiting an answer from the London authorities respecting the disputed clause of the Anglo-French Treaty, under which French fishermen would be compelled to cease operations on the French shore by Oct. 20 of each year. Meanwhile the Colonial Government is determined to enforce the Bait Act, and yesterday despatched the cruiser Fiona to resume the annual fishery patrol opposite St. Pierre.

Miss Fitzpatrick Married.

Ottawa, April 21.—At St. Joseph's Church yesterday afternoon Arthur Cannon of Quebec, was married to Miss Corrine Fitzpatrick, eldest daughter of Hon. Charles Fitzpatrick, Minister of Justice. The wedding was said to be the prettiest of the season. Father Mathieu of Quebec, officiated, assisted by the Rev. Father Caron of Quebec.

Died From Injuries.

Stratford, April 21.—Fred Baker, who was so seriously injured Tuesday morning by being caught in the shafting at the Wool Stock Mills, died yesterday morning at the hospital. Deceased was the eldest son of Ald. H. Baker, who is at present in Laskatown, N.W.T. Mr. Baker was 30 years of age and unmarried.

Kingston Wins Its Big Case.

London, April 21.—The Judicial Committee of the Privy Council gave judgment yesterday in the appeal of the Kingston Light, Heat and Power Company versus the Corporation of the City of Kingston. The question was whether an award fixing the price to be paid by the respondents for appellants undertaking, under an agreement for purchase, should be referred back to arbitrators. Their Lordships entertain no doubt at all that the questions raised on appeal have been rightly decided by the learned judges in Ontario. The appeal was dismissed, appellants to pay the costs.

Killed By Falling Tree.

Teeswater, April 21.—A sad accident occurred about six miles north of here Tuesday afternoon, by which a young man, Frederick Petteplace, lost his life. He and another young man, Wm. McDonald of Kinloss, were in the bush on Thos. McPherson's farm cutting wood. A falling tree lodged, and when it was freed a limb struck Mr. Petteplace, killing him instantly.

TO STRIKE ON LAND.

Japanese Transports Sighted West of the Yalu—Russia Squeezing Turkey With An Ulterior Object.

St. Petersburg, April 21.—The Birscheviya Viedomosti publishes this morning a letter from its correspondent at Pekin, in which it is said that the confidence of the Chinese Government in the success of the Japanese arms is shown in the request of Mr. Yang Shu, the Chinese Minister at Tokio, that the Japanese Government direct the commanders of the troops to preserve the Imperial palaces and tombs at Mukden from desecration and destruction.

China Sympathizes With Japan.

The writer says that the Chinese Government is in sympathy with Japan, but that it has begun to express this sympathy more cautiously. He adds that the Chinese in the United States have sent to the Pekin Government large sums to be used in reorganization of the army and navy, and, that, ostensibly of a desire to become acquainted with old Mongolian weapons, the Japanese are supplying Mongolian punters with modern rifles.

1,000 Russians in Yong Can.

Tokio, April 21.—Russian troops to the number of one thousand are reported to be in occupation of Yong Can, in northeastern Corea.

Floating Contact Mines.

Nagasaki, April 21, 11 a.m.—Contact mines have been found floating seaward forty miles from Cape Shang Tung. Three of them were discovered and destroyed by the Japanese fleet.

Japs Land At Newchwang.

London, April 21.—A despatch to The Central News from St. Petersburg says it is reported that a Japanese force has landed near Newchwang.

Japs Concentrating at Wiju.

St. Petersburg, April 21.—General Kuropatkin has sent the following telegram to the Emperor:

"Gen. Kashtalinsky reports as follows, on April 19:

"All is quiet on the Yalu. The Japanese are throwing up entrenchments opposite Golutsy and further to the north.

"The numbers of Japanese troops are increasing. They are concentrating at Wiju and spreading toward the north along the Yalu.

"Cossack sentinels have observed the lights of Japanese transports near Chingtaitse, opposite the village of Potansa, 25 versts west of Tatungkau. The vessels were anchored at a distance of fifty versts from the shore.

"According to a despatch from Gen. Mistchenko, Japanese ships were also seen near Souchou."

Sank Jap Torpedo Boat.

St. Petersburg, April 21.—The correspondent of The Novosti, says that on March 22 the Retvizan fired six shells at a Japanese torpedo boat, all of which took effect, resulting in the sinking of the boat.

Russia's Ulterior Object.

London, April 21.—Russia, says the Constantinople correspondent of The Daily Mail, is putting pressure in the shape of financial demands in connection with the war indemnities upon the Porte. This action is supposed to be a prelude to a demand for permission for the Black Sea fleet to pass through the Dardanelles.

Russians' Demand.

Paris, April 21.—The correspondent of The Temps at Constantinople says on the occasion of the last audience which the Russian Ambassador, M. Zinovieff, had with the Sultan, he insisted on the payment of $4,000,000 long due to Russia for arrears of the Turco-Russian war indemnity. Such a demand at such a moment, the despatch adds, leads to belief that Russian diplomacy is preparing the way for other demands.

THE TWO SCHEMES.

When the Opposition has said all they can say, the fact remains that the Government's agreement with the Grand Trunk Pacific is out of sight more favourable for the country than that made by the Tories with the Canadian Pacific. Their reply to this is that the Canadian Pacific was a pioneer line. They forget that, before they transferred it to the present company, the project had been in the hands of the Government for ten years, that the Government had built most of the really difficult portions, and that men like Sir Sanford Fleming were sure it was destined to be a profitable enterprise. The Grand Trunk is a pioneer line too in the sense that it will pass wholly through virgin territory. Here, in condensed form, is a comparison of the salient features of the two aggreements:—

C. P. R.	G. T. P.
Land Subsidy—25,000,000 acres.	Not an acre.
Cash Subsidy—$25,000,000; also $37,000,000 in the form of sections built by Government. The whole line handed over as a gift to the company.	Not. Government construction of section, Moncton to Winnipeg. To be leased to company at 3 per cent. At end of 70 years time reverts to Government. Government guarantees remainder of road. Same running rights to all other companies on terms to be fixed by Government.
Monopoly—For 20 years no competing road south of main line to be built; thus, to prevent competition by American roads.	No monopoly of any sort.
Customs Exemption — Company allowed free importation of all material used in construction. If, however, bridge and other material were bought in Canada, then company to receive from public treasury a drawback or bounty equivalent to amount of our duty.	Company to pay duty on all imported material.
Tax Exemption — All sites and grounds, together with Capital stock of company, to be exempt from taxes for 20 years; land grant in Territories exempt for same period.	No exemptions.
Control of Rates — Company exempt from Government control till earnings yield 10 per cent. of cost of construction.	Government to control rates from end to end.
Country Opened Up — From North Bay along Lake Pacific, 3,300 miles, through rich Manitoba and Britcountry of Quesish Columbia to bec and Ontario, Pacific, 2,550 miles, as well as new regoon in Manitoba, Territories and British Columbia.	From New Brunswick to Lake Superior, 1,000 miles West back country of Quebec and Ontario, as well as new region in Manitoba, Territories and British Columbia.

The reader will have seen the announcement, made in the Ontario Legislature, that the Canadian Northern is about to build a line from Toronto to Sudbury and getting running rights over it to the Canadian Pacific in return for running rights over the Canadian Pacific from Sudbury to Port Arthur. This looks like a step towards the absorption of the Canadian Northern by the Canadian Pacific; at any rate it confirms the suspicion that the two companies are "getting to bed together" in framing rates for the East and West. It is obvious that a competing line cannot be built too soon.

That the Grand Trunk Pacific will benefit the West by affording honest competition to the ranchman and wheat-grower will be admitted by every rational person, unless, like Mr. Osler, he has his own reasons for disliking competition up there. That it will benefit Ontario, Quebec and the Maritime Provinces by giving lower rates on west-bound manufactures to the West, as well as by opening vast areers within their confines that, without the road, must remain what they are now, a wilderness of no economic value, is equally clear. And that these great services to Canada will be performed at comparatively little cost to the Canadian people must be obvious to any one who reads the Grand Trunk Pacific agreements with an open mind instead of with a set determination to condemn.

HAVELOCK.

(From our own Correspondent.)

Havelock, April 19th.

The wind and snow storm which has been playing havoc with the general state of things for the past two days, has made a number of people wish that they lived down south where the oranges grow. Although the winter months here were very good for the general business of the town, the past few days have put everything to the bad, even the tempers of the mildish people in town think that it is about time a change was being experienced for better weather. Tuesday the wind blew so hard that it delayed a number of the trains, and if it and the snow keeps on, much more serious will be the consequences. The farmers and gardners are all complaining as everything in the line of vegetables will be late in the season. This weather has dampened the spirits of the sporting enthusiasts so much that all they are doing now is sitting down and talking of what has been, and what would have been done if this had been a good open spring. As none of the clubs can get down to practice without freezing up. The business people of the town are feeling this as much as anyone else. And the slow run in freight is caused by everything being blocked up west. This is the first spring of this kind that we have experienced in a great many years, and everybody will be thankful when they see the thermometer go up above freezing point to stay.

The electric lights on the streets make a vast improvement to the appearance of the town.

The park and pleasure ground is in a deplorable condition on account of the creek, which was boxed in a few years ago, falling in where it had been covered, by the decaying of the wood. Already a number of balls have been lost down through these holes, and it is both annoying and dangerous, as a player may run and not seeing these holes drop into one, and cause serious injuries. It is quite evident that if tile piping was put through and the park levelled down a little, and the people who have control charge a fee for the use of the grounds to the different clubs, that it would not only be a good investment but make a nice and attractive place to have all the games played on. And if it is left in this condition it will necessitate the clubs looking for another and less dangerous field, where they can play without falling out of sight.

Mrs Wm. Webster and daughters have returned after a two weeks' visit with friends in Toronto.

Mr. Geo. Mathison, who had to return home from Belleville a short time ago, on account of his eyes playing out, returns next week to resume his studies.

A number of people are putting the incandescent lights in their houses, and it is expected that the majority will follow just as soon as they see what satisfaction and saving they are giving to the old oil lamp.

It is rumoured that the C.P.R. is going to make a number of improvements to their plant here with the addition of a new water column and also equipp the yard with arc lights.

A moving picture entertainment given in the town hall Tuesday evening was a complete success financially, the house being crowded. A number of very amusing views were shown.

OMEMEE.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

No sickness or deaths in this village of late. Our medical gentlemen are not over-worked.

Building operations here will be on a large scale here this summer, and real estate is increasing in value.

The farmers are busy preparing for seeding. Many are reserving a few acres for the Peterborough Sugar Beet Co.

Mr. Belcher is the architect for our new school, which will cost not less than $6,000.

Thos. A. Macpherson is putting in an electric motor, to run his baking house machinery, and supply light for his shop.

Mr. Nixon, proprietor of the Bradhouse, is making a number of improvements to his house with a view of catering to the summer tourist trade.

Our High and Public schools are belargely attended.

Division Court sittings here on May 6th.

POLICY OF LIBERALS

Great Speech by Sir Wilfrid Laurier on Grand Trunk Pacific.

HOUSE ADOPTS AGREEMENT

Vote Was 116 to 61, or 55 of a Government Majority—Mr. Borden's Rainbow Policy—Opposition Must Have a Mephistopheles to Suggest Impossible Transportation Propositions—Other Speakers.

Ottawa, April 21.—"That is the policy on which we stand, and upon that policy I declare, as head of the Liberal party, we stand or fall. Upon that policy we stand or fall, but fall we shall not." In these words Sir Wilfrid Laurier last night once more committed his party to the Transcontinental Railway project, in a speech which roused his Parliamentary followers to great heights of enthusiasm. The Premier, in an address of a little over an hour, closed the Liberal arguments on the debate, preparatory to voting on the principle of the bill. Sir Wilfrid, who rose shortly before midnight, was in fine form, and his delivery was marked by a buoyancy and inspired patriotism fitting for the lofty theme.

Mr. Borden's Rainbow.

He reviewed Mr. Borden's scheme briefly, and compared it with a rainbow, evanescent and fluid. He showed that to give three railways the right of way over the C.P.R. line between Fort William and North Bay would stifle all competition, and in addition it would be a prodigal scheme to buy that portion of the C.P.R. after having made a present of it to them twenty years ago. The Opposition contained many discordant voices, and he would like to know how the Grand Trunk, if it brought its traffic from the west to North Bay, could carry it to St. John and Halifax unless it had a railway to the Maritime Provinces.

Opposition's Mephistopheles.

Sir Wilfrid looked to a Canada of 10,000,000 people in a few years, and asked what Mephistopheles had suggested to the Opposition that all their continental trade could be carried over one line of railway. The debate earlier in the day was participated in by Mr. Samuel Barker of Hamilton, Mr. Puttee of Winnipeg, and Mr. Alcorn of Prince Edward. The debate was expected to have ended when Sir Wilfrid finished, but Mr. Bell of Pictou, took the floor. The vote was taken at 1.40. Mr. Borden's amendment was lost by 61 to 116, a majority against of 55. The Speaker declared the main motion to go into committee on the bill carried on the same division reversed.

Senator Wark Looking Well.

Ottawa, April 21.—Senator Wark arrived yesterday to attend to his Parliamentary duties. Canada's centenarian is looking well, and in good condition to take his seat in the Senatorial Chamber.

When Senator Wark entered the chamber supported by Sir Mackenzie Bowell, the clerk was reading the report of the Committee on Standing Orders, but instantly every Senator present stood up and applauded until the venerable Senator from Fredericton had taken his seat. Senator Wark bowed his acknowledgments and then took his favorite place, not at his desk at the right of the Speaker, but at the table near the assistant clerk. During the recess Senator Wark attained his hundredth year.

Senator Kerr of Toronto introduced a bill to amend the Insurance Act.

THE INCURABLE CURED AGAIN

J. J. Perkins Owes his Life to Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Manitoba man Helpless from Kidney Desease Made Strong and Hearty by the Great Canadian Kidney Remedy.

Tyndall, Man., April 20.—(Special.)—Among the many in the great West who confidently state that they owe their lives to Dodd's Kidney Pills is Mr. J. J. Perkins, a well known resident of this place.

"For two years I was troubled with my Kidneys," Mr. Perkins states, "and at last became so bad that the doctor gave me up and said I was incurable.

"I, at times, had such severe pains in my back and kidneys that I thought I would have to give up all hope and die. I was unable to work and was becoming destitute.

"While in this condition a friend persuaded me to try Dodd's Kidney Pills. I had little faith in them, and it was more to please him than anything else I gave them a trial.

"To my surprise the first box did me so much good that I felt like a new man. Five boxes cured me completely.

"Dodd's Kidney Pills saved my life and I cannot praise them too much."

Thousands of cases similar to that of Mr. Perkins are the proof that any Kidney Pills from Backache to Bright's Disease yields readily to Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Punishment For Obstruction.

Lisbon, April 21.—Owing to the obstructive tactics adopted by the Opposition party in the matter of the budget and the army recruiting bill, King Carlos has dissolved Parliament.

Muddy Complexion.

Pale, sallow, yellow skin tells of a torpid, sluggish liver and impurities in the blood which will be entirely removed when Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are used. This great medicine awakens the action of the liver, invigorates the kidneys and regulates the bowels. As a result digestion is improved, bodily pains disappear and the health is benefitted in every way.

PRESENTATION TO MR. WM. STEWART.

His Otonabee Friends Gave Him Gold Headed Cane.

A large number of Otonabee people called at the residence of Mr. Wm. Stewart on Tuesday evening and presented him with the following address and a gold headed cane, and to Miss Stewart a beautiful flower stand:—

To Mr. and Miss Stewart:

Dear friends,—Having learned that it is your intention to leave our neighbourhood in the near future, we, your neighbours and friends, feel that owing to our long and intimate friendship it is eminently befitting that we take this opportunity to show our hearty appreciation of you as a family in our midst. Being one of the earlier settlers and continued resident of this neighbourhood you have, by your industry, sociability and morality, won for yourselves the respect and esteem of all with whom you have come in contact. In your quiet way you have chosen rather to prefer than to be preferred, this we feel that we, who know you longest know you best. As you have not seen fit to prolong your stay here we ask you to accept these as a token of the high estimation in which you are held in our midst.

As you go to your new home you have our best wishes for your happiness, and we hope that your lives may grow brighter and brighter unto the perfect day.

Signed on behalf of your friends and neighbours.

Otonabee Union, April 12th.

McPherson & McGregor

(Successors to the F. R. J. McPherson Co.)

Take this opportunity of thanking the public for the very liberal patronage accorded the late firm. Trade has been so satisfactory that Mr McGrego decided to increase his interest in the business and, as a consequence, the firm will be know hereafter as McPHERSON & McGREGOR.

Our specialties are:—

Sanitary Plumbing
Sanitary Ventilating
Steam and Hot Water Heating
Electrical Wiring and Supplies

We wish to draw the attention of the public to a few of the many complimentary testimonials received by Mr. McGregor for the high quality of the work he has installed in Plumbing and Heating:—

From the Firm of Bennet & Wright, Plumbing, Heating and Electrical Contractors, Toronto.

This is to certify that Duncan McGregor has been in our employment steady for about fifteen years and during that time we have found him to be steady, honest and trustworthy. He has given every satisfaction as a practical mechanic in each of the following branches: Plumbing, steam and gas fitting, also electrical and conduit work, and for some time has had charge of some of our largest contracts with satisfactory results.

From Illsley & Horn, General Contractors, Toronto.

The bearer, Mr. Duncan McGregor, had charge of the electric wiring at the King Edward Hotel Building. The job was a large and complicated one and by the way Mr. McGregor handled the work he proved himself a mechanic of more than ordinary ability. We unhesitatingly recommend him as a first class mechanic to anyone needing his services.

From Mr. J. Ross Robertson, of the Evening Telegram.

Mr. Duncan McGregor, who has been connected with the Bennet & Wright Co. for some years, and who has superintended the work of plumbing and heating for the Bennet & Wright Co., is not only in my opinion, but also that of my architect, a fully competent mechanic. His work, my architect informs me, has been most satisfactory. Any thing that has come under my own supervision has been likewise satisfactory.

An Extract Taken from the June Number of Domestic Engineering.

During the recent convention of the Canadian Electrical Association held in the King Edward Hotel, a thorough examination was made of all the electrical work in the hotel, and it was pronounced second to none on the continent Therefore, great credit is due Mr. Duncan MacGregor, who superintended the entire conduit, electrical and power system for the firm of Bennet & Wright, of this city, who were the contractors for all the different branches of the electrical work in the new hotel.

WESTERN FLOODS.

Break in Big Bridge at Saskatoon Ties Up Traffic.

Regina, N.W.T., April 21.—From information obtained, it is learned that extending from about four miles west of Regina, almost to Pense, a distance of thirteen miles, the country is under water. A portion of the C.P.R main line at Grand Coulee, nine miles west of Regina, is washed away. The floods at Lumsden and the break in the big bridge at Saskatoon have completely tied up traffic to the north and as a result Regina is overcrowded with immigrants. The station platform is piled high with baggage and a little village of tents is springing up around the depot.

The latest despatch from Lumsden says tracks are all washed out three miles north, and nothing is to be seen but telegraph poles, the track being covered with water. The town is all flooded; every building in the town has water in it, except one store, and the station.

The water is all over the track here and all over everything, all the way from six inches to six feet deep, in the low places. Several small washouts have occurred between Lumsden and the Four Miles, south.

Pense, N.W.T., April 21.—There is a big washout eight miles east of here. Lands round and about here are flooded for miles, and looking south from the train it looks like a vast lake.

A Mother's Recommendation.

I have used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for a number of years, and have no hesitancy in saying that it is the best remedy for coughs, colds, and croup that I have ever used in my family. M. P. P.'S SYMPATHY

Extended to Toronto in Its Hour of Calamity.

THE STANDARD OIL TRUST

Alleged to Be the Active Opponent of the "Soo" Industries—Six Months' Hoist Moved—Mr. Gamey Started a Lively Discussion Over Railway Contracts—Hon. Frank Latchford Back Again.

Toronto, April 21.—What is called the "Soo" bill was discussed at length in the Legislature yesterday again, and Mr. Downey will have the floor to-day, when a division will be reached. The feature of the debate was the evidence brought forward by Mr. Cameron (Huron) to show the intimate relations of the Imperial Oil Company, of which Mr. Hanna is solicitor, with the Standard Oil Trust, and that the latter controls the United States Steel Trust, which frustrated the efforts of the "Soo" companies to raise more capital at a critical period last fall.

Hon Frank Latchford returned from the south last night and was given a hearty reception by members on both sides of the House. He looks well, and says that his general health is excellent. His voice is still a little husky, but is rapidly improving.

Expressions of Sympathy.

In the Legislature yesterday reference was made to the disastrous fire which laid waste the wholesale section of the city on Tuesday night. The Premier expressed the sympathy of the Government with the city. Mr. Whitney joined in the expression of sympathy, and each of the Toronto members made appropriate replies.

Fire Won't Delay Session.

The destruction of the establishment of Warwick Bros. & Rutter will not delay the close of the session of Parliament. They are the Government printers, and all the type for the bills before the House was destroyed. Premier Ross explained that the law clerk would be authorized to make corrections and alterations in the bills by pen, obviating the necessity of making reprints.

The "Soo" Debate.

Mr. Smyth (Algoma) continued the debate on the "Soo" guarantee bill. He closed by moving, seconded by Mr. Gamey, the six months' hoist.

Mr. Beatty (Leeds) said that not 20 per cent of the land through which the road would pass was arable, and that it would be nothing less than a crime to settle people on it.

Mr. Sutherland (South Oxford) objected that it would set a bad precedent, and that before the session ended the credit of the Province would be pledged to $10,000,000, which was a very large amount.

Mr. Whitney An Artful Dodger.

Mr. Cameron (Huron) said that he was not at first very enthusiastic over the proposal, but if it was unique, were the circumstances, for never did a foreign corporation before ask $30,000,000 in such an enterprise in this country. He thought that the people of the Province would show little faith in their own future if they were not prepared to guarantee a $2,000,000 loan in view of such a great foreign investment in actual cash. Mr Whitney had said that he never met anyone except those directly interested who were not opposed to the bill. He thought the leader of the Opposition exhibited many of the qualities of the Artful Dodger.

Mr. Hanna's Hostility.

He declared that if the steel industry could be securely established at the "Soo" as an incident the Government would be justified in giving a guarantee five times greater than the present to the Algoma Central. He showed by the affidavit of A. D. Gall, oil merchant, of Montreal, that the Imperial Oil Company, of which Mr. Hanna, the member for West Lambton, is the solicitor, is controlled by the Standard Oil Trust. (Hear, hear.) He further showed by a return of the Imperial Oil Company to the Government, dated December 31, 1903, that the correspondence was written by directors of the Standard Oil Company from New York, and one letter said that "the fee of $10 will be sent from the Sarnia office." (Applause.) That was the real reason of the hostility of Mr. Hanna to the bill, for the United States Steel Trust, which is controlled by the Standard Oil magnates, was jealous of a rival at the "Soo." He believed that those who backed up the United States Steel Trust in preventing the manufacture of steel rails at the "Soo" would meet with the fate at the polls which they deserved. (Applause.)

Mr. Matheson said that to complete the Algoma Central would require at least $1,135,000, and that if the Government advanced this sum and took the land grant as security there might be some argument for was not justified in spending $1,000,000 to build a railway through it. But the Government, he believed, a country unfit for agriculture.

Mr. Gamey having stated that he would oppose the bill, criticized at length the statements of earnings and prospects made by the "Soo" companies. He read from a newspaper that Messrs. Conmee and Bowman got a ten per cent. commission on the contract price of the Algoma Central.

Question of Veracity.

Mr. Conmee emphatically denied that there was any such agreement.

Mr. St. John said that he had in his possession a contract which showed that Messrs Conmee and Bowman were to get three per cent. as the work progressed and seven per cent. when it was finished, and that this was to apply to all future contracts.

Mr. Conmee again said that there was no such contract.

The Speaker, as Messrs. St. John and Hanna endeavored to continue the discussion, said that, according to the rules, the statement of a member of the House must be accepted, but that if any other member were dissatisfied he might make a charge.

Mr. Hanna said that if it was necessary to make a charge he would do so, and in 48 hours the evidence could be brought before the House to prove it.

Mr. Conmee said he was quite prepared to deny the charge, and with that the incident ended.

Mr. Downey moved the adjournment of the debate, and the House adjourned at 10.45.

DON'T RISK A PENNY.

GET WELL FIRST.

For 30 years I've been a physician. I've treated nearly two million cases. Surely you'll admit that such experience must have taught me some certainties.

And all that I know of disease and cure—all that I have proven to be worth big wing—is condensed into my six books for the sick.

Write for a free copy to-day.

They tell me of my great discovery that practically all diseases can be permanently cured through the Sympathetic Nerves.

Not the nerves we feel with, see with, hear with, but the inside nerves.

It is these that unconsciously operate the vital Organs,—the Heart, Liver, Kidneys, Brain, etc.

When the inside nerves get run down, that Organ which is weakest in the body loses its power to act properly.

It then throws its work upon the other Organs.

These organs in turn become affected throughout, we are also scarcely any case is found without complications.

I proved it useless to doctor the individual organs themselves while the Nerve-Power to fully operate them was lacking.

Sedatives temporarily deadened the pain but increased the distress afterwards.

Tonics revived the drooping powers, only to insure relapse as soon as the stimulus was withdrawn.

Of what use to hourly move ahead the hands of a watch if the mainspring be seriously weakened?

There is but one sensible thing to do, viz.—stiffen up the mainspring.

That is what my now famous prescription, Dr. Shoop's Restorative, does.

It acts directly upon the Sympathetic Nerve Centres just as steam acts in an engine.

It provides, through these inside nerves, the power to make the weakest organ do its duty.

It enables weak organs to cast off their clogging waste matter, and to repair their worn tissue.

Like the human mill, at full capacity, that mill produces enough new material to keep itself running without further help.

So sure am I of this Restorative that I authorize certain druggists everywhere to supply it on a month's trial, to practically all who write me for that privilege.

To supply it at my expense if it fails to benefit,—at your expense if it cures.

The cost is but $5.50 for six bottles, including my professional help during treatment.

Could anyone furnish you better grounds for confidence?

You should get my book, which tells how to cure diseases permanently.

Write for it to-day—now—you can't get well too soon.

Address Dr. Shoop, Box 47, Racine, Wis.

Just specify which of the six you need.

Book 1 on Dyspepsia. Book 4 for Women
Book 2 on the Heart. Book 5 for Men (sealed)
Book 3 on the Kidneys, Book 6 on Rheumatism

P. S.—Simple cases often yield to one bottle of Restorative. All druggists carry it.

But all druggists do not supply it on a month's trial. You must write to me for that.

WHAT HAPPENS AFTER FIVE HOURS.

Dr. Bouchard, the eminent French physician, has furnished facts which show that if food is retained in the stomach more than five hours it becomes fermentative and putrefactive,—not digestive,—and that this is the starting-point of disease.

This food mass becomes putrid.

Generates gas.

The stomach dilates.

There is a seeming lump-weight, burning, or belching.

Blood, fibre, tissue, and cells begin to absorb poison from the stomach and alimentary canal instead of nutriment, and right here is the producing cause of Constipation, Diabetes, Bright's Disease, Uterine and Ovarian troubles, Rheumatism, Gout, Nervous and Mental Distress, Bronchitis, Heart Affection, Pulmonary Consumption, Jaundice, Liver and Skin Diseases.

Inability of the stomach to properly handle food is mainly caused by overeating, drinking too much liquid, gases generated from slow digestion, preventing the mixing of food with gastric juice to properly prepare it for use in the body

Dr J. S. Leonhardt worked for years in perfecting Anti-Pill, so that it would guarantee regular stomach action, and its astonishing cures are proof of its mission being fulfilled; of its being the greatest System Treatment in the world. 50 cents of druggists, or mailed to any address by WILSON-FYLE CO., Niagara Falls, Ont. CORNER GEORGE AND HUNTER STREET.

The oven of an Imperial Oxford Range and the old-fashioned spit before an open fireplace do better roasting than any other cooking apparatus invented.

In the olden days the spit had to be kept turning to get all sides of a roast cooked. It is much the same with the ordinary cook-stove. The heat of the oven is greatest on the fire side—roasts, bread, pies, cakes, etc., have to be turned and twisted to get them cooked at all. The result is uneven, unsatisfactory cooking—good food ruined. The diffusive flue construction of the draws fresh air into the flue chamber, super-heats it and diffuses it evenly over the oven, thus heating it quickly, thoroughly and uniformly—back, front and sides are at the same equal temperature. The result is juicy, tender roasts, light, dainty pastry, evenly raised bread—successful cooking.

When you buy an Imperial Oxford Range you get the result of over sixty years' thought and experience in scientific construction of cooking apparatus.

The resignation was accepted and a strong resolution passed expressing appreciation of his services.

The Directors decided to take steps at once to secure a new Director and the Secretary was instructed to interview the Provincial Committee and obtain information as to the best available man.

At the same meeting a resolution was passed, extending the freedom of the building to the delegates to the Bay of Quinte Conference to be held in Peterborough in June.

FUNERAL OF THE LATE FRANCIS FOLEY.

Held Under Auspices of Hibernians this Morning.

The funeral of the late Francis Foley, who died on Tuesday night, was held this morning at 9 o'clock under the auspices of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, of which organization the deceased was a valued member. The Hibernians to the number of about forty, were Marshalled by County President, Jos. Maher, and accompanied the body to St. Peter's Cathedral, where Rev. Father John O'Brien celebrated the funeral mass. The interment took place at the Douro Cemetery, and the pall bearers were Messrs. R. Torpey, F. O'Brien, J. Torpey, H. Gainey, S. Anglesye and Jas. Henry, all members of the Order. The funeral was from the residence of the deceased's brother-in-law, Mr. D. Henry, 21 Park street.

OBITUARY.

Former Peterborough Lady Died in Cranbrook, B. C.

It will be with deep feelings of regret that the many friends of the late Mrs. J. G. Cummings, formerly Edith May Hubbs, will learn of her death, which occurred at Cranbrook, brook, B.C.

The late Mrs. Cummings left here about a year ago, at the time of her marriage. She was a daughter of Mr. C. E. Hubbs, now of Brule Lake, Ont., but formerly of Ashburnham, and was married scarcely one year ago. Her brother, Mr. Fred Hubbs, is now a resident here. It is stated that Mrs. Cummings death was the result of an accident which she suffered recently in Toronto, before going west.

OBITUARY.

Death of W. Kincaid's Mother. Mrs. Ingram.

One of Manvers' oldest residents passed away in Bethany, Manvers, on Monday, April 11th, in the person of Elizabeth McGuire Ingram, widow of the late William Ingram, Deceased was 75 years of age, and was well and favourably known, having resided continuously in the one township for almost half a century. Being of a kind and genial disposition she made many friends with old and young. Her long illness was borne with a patience that was characteristic of her life when in health. The remains were laid to rest on Wednesday, 13th inst., in the family plot at Janetville cemetery. The pall-bearers were Jack Hamilton, Orma Kincaid, Barnie Kincaid, Milton Ingram, Lorne Sisson and Wilbert Lyle, the five former being grandsons, and the latter a sister's grandson, of deceased. The surviving children are John, of Lindsay; Joe., Mrs. G. Kincaid, Mrs. F. Hamilton, Mrs. L. B. Sisson and Miss Emma, Bethany; Mrs W. Kincaid of Peterborough, and Mrs. W. H. Fallis, of Sheppardville, Man. The service was performed at the house and graveside by Rev. E. Bowerman, of Bethany. The funeral was largely attended by the sympathizing friends of the sorrowing family.

HONOURED GUEST AT MASONIC BANQUET.

Mr. Walter Stocker Attended 75th Anniversery of St George's Lodge.

A Distinguished Gathering of Masons Held in Montreal Monday Night.

Mr. Walter Stocker returned this morning from Montreal, where he went to attend an executive meeting of the Bill Posters' Association, held in that city on Monday. On Sunday night Mr. Stocker had the pleasure of hearing Rev. Dr. Symonds preach to an immense congregation. This former Peterborough divine is meeting with remarkable success in his work in Montreal, and in conversation with other clergymen, Mr. Stocker learned that he is regarded as one of the most successful clergymen of the city.

Mr. Stocker was given an unexpected pleasure on Monday night, when he was a guest at the banquet to signalize the seventy-fifth anniversary of St. George's Lodge, A. F. and A. M. No more distinguished and representative gathering of Masons was ever assembled about a dinner table in Montreal. Not only were most of the Lodges in the city represented but every district in the province had sent its word of well-wishing and encouragement. Grand Lodges across the border had also members present to give kindly congratulations.

Among the guests was William B. Smith, P. M., University Lodge, Philadelphia, and ex-Mayor of that city. Mr. Smith is the only man born outside of the city of Philadelphia who who has ever been elected mayor of that city.

Over three hundred members of the Order sat down to a sumptuous repast, which was served in the Windsor Hotel. Mr. Stocker has a menu card of the banquet, which is one of the most unique ever gotten up for a similar event, and is highly prized by him.

One of the brightest speeches of the banquet was that delivered by Bro. J. D. Trisidder, who spoke in response to the toast to "The Grand Lodge of Quebec." Mr. Trisidder said that the events they had been called up to celebrate was unique in the history of the Masonic fraternity in the Province of Quebec. In all portions of the globe the Order was deservedly and exceedingly popular. He did not know of a single place where the Order could be said to be at a standstill. There was no place in its ranks for the stupid atheist or the irreligious libertine. Charity, in its broadest sense, was practised and encouraged by all its members.

Mr. Stocker returned to town by the 5.10 train this morning.

An Interesting Evening.

The examination for the final recital of Mrs. Morrow's pupils, will take place on Friday evening in the Y.M.C.A. Hall. The programme will consist of vocal and instrumental music, and amongst those who will take part are Mrs. McAllister, Mrs. W. J. Hopwood, Mrs. Callendar, of Norwood; Miss Bessie Sperry, Miss Bertha Parnell, Miss Florence Miller, Miss Ruth Dawson, Miss Belle King, Miss Dot Hackett, Miss Sproule, Miss Wilson, Miss Myrtle Kline, Miss Blomfield, Miss Montgomery, Lakefield; Miss Ada Mimms, of Toronto; Miss Margaret Bryce, of Keene; Messrs Aldred Davis, Jos. Legg, Norman Jolliffe, A. Brandrette, A. E. Frowde. Only pupils and members of former chorus classes admitted. The recital will commence at eight o'clock sharp and after half past eight none will be admitted.

All members of the previous chorus classes of Mrs. Morrow, and any wishing to join for this season, are asked to hand in their names to Mrs. Morrow on Friday evening, or to Miss Dobbin at the Review office, for the class will be reorganized at once. The former classes have been such a success in every way that it is hoped that many will take advantage of this opportunity. A cordial invitation is extended to all who are musical or interested in music, to become members of the class. The fee to be charged—if there be any—will be only such a small item that it need not deter any one from joining. 2d

Five Pound Dumb-Bell Exercises.

A new and valuable book, No. 1, of Fox's Athletic Library, has just been issued. It is "Prof. Attilla's Five-pound Dumb-bell Exercises," invented by the famous trainer of Sandow. It is finely illustrated by explanatory half tone plates for which Attila posed a well known athlete. It will prove an invaluable book to the student of physical culture, in view of the fact that no elaborate apparatus is necessary. The cover scheme is novel and striking and very handsome. The price is ten cents; postpaid for two cents extra. Other books now in press are No. 2, "Physical Culture by Means of Muscular Resistance and Breathing," and No. 3 "The Science of Baseball," by John J. McGraw, Manager-Captain of the New York National Baseball Team.

COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE BYLAW

There are many reasons why the Collegiate Institute bylaw should be sustained by the voters of the electors on May 5th. A new Collegiate Institute building is a necessity for many reasons. The premises at present occupied do not meet the requirements of the Department of Education, nor are they in keeping with the educational wants or the importance of the town. Peterborough has arrived at the dignity of a city standing, in population, and industrial and commercial importance, and it is plainly discreditable that towns of inferior standing in all other respects should be better provided with Collegiate Institute buildings than is Peterborough. The Examiner has pointed out with justifiable pride that the commercial superiority of Peterborough is evidenced by the fact that the amount of customs collections in Peterborough is equal or greater than half a dozen towns in the vicinity combined, say Belleville, Port Hope, Lindsay, Cobourg, Napanee, etc. Yet such towns as Lindsay, Napanee, Woodstock, etc., have creditable and thoroughly equipped Collegiate Institute buildings. We should not be behind these places in this as we are in no other respect. Public spirited citizens do not wish to be always compelled to assume an apologetic mood or a mood of humiliation in speaking with strangers and visitors in regard to our Collegiate Institute. The public is certainly tired of reading in the public press from time to time the reports of the High School Inspectors condemning the equipment and accommodation of our Collegiate Institute building. This ground of reproach must be removed. We must also have additional Public School accommodation and this will in large part, if not entirely, for present purposes at least, be provided by releasing the present Collegiate building for public school purposes. If we have a new Collegiate Institute building the cost of it will largely be met by the rental of $1,100 now paid for public school property. Apart from the question of site, a new building could perhaps be erected for $27,500. This specific figure is mentioned, because it is the amount upon which the rental of $1,100 now paid for public school property, would pay interest at the rate of four per cent. The reasons suggested are largely material reasons; but for educational reasons we must have a new institute building, and it is to be hoped that the public spirited ratepayers will see that the bylaw does not go by default. To defeat the bylaw, it is not necessary only to mark a ballot against it — it can to a certain extent be accomplished by neglecting to vote, or by refraining from voting. Not only the educational interests, but the good name of the town, is involved in the question of a new, modern and thoroughly equipped Collegiate Institute.

SUSPICIOUS LOOKING CHARACTERS AROUND.

Letter from a Resident of Fifth Ward Tells of an Incident.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—Permit me space in your valuable paper to point out an instance wherein I consider the people of the 5th ward have hardly been treated fairly by the council of the united municipality. This is in the matter of police protection. Not only of late, but frequently during the past winter, suspicious characters have made this ward their stamping grounds, and unless conditions, which are very annoying to respectable citizens, are remedied, complaints, both loud and long will find vent in an eruption unpleasant to those who advocated union. Why, sir, only last night I myself watched, for something like three hours, a number of men dodging about the house of a prominent citizen. I made an effort to approach with the object of discovering their design, but they immediately made themselves scarce. After watching for some moments I saw them again return and I was on my way to the police station when I saw these men leaving the premises hurriedly, having first been preceded by one whom I had not seen with them before. Nor were they leaving the place empty-handed, and I am forced to the belief that the man who got away first had effected an entrance into the house Whether this case has reached the ears of the police I cannot tell, but it is not the only one that has occurred. It certainly emphasizes the necessity for better police protection, and the Council should take immediate action,

Yours truly,

BICYCLIST RUN DOWN BY BUGGY.

A Furious Driving Case at the Police Court.

Some Directly Contradictory Evidence Given a "Vag" Given a Month's Hard Labor.

Directly contradictory evidence faced Police Magistrate Edmison in a fast driving case which was ventilated in the court this morning. The complainant was a certain Mr. Scott, who deposed that on the night of the 17th inst., he and his wife were wheeling home. Some distance past Auburn they met two buggies, which in their opinion were having a race. One was ahead of the other. Just as Mr. Scott was passing the foremost one, the buggy behind pulled out to pass ahead, thus running into Mr. Scott, knocking him off his wheel and breaking four of the spokes of the same, besides injuring himself.

Directly after the accident, Mrs. Scott, who had got off her wheel, remounted, and followed the buggy which she supposed had knocked over her husband.

The defendants in the case were M. Chambers and Jas. Sutherland. It was the latter whom Mrs. Scott followed and got P. C. McGinty to stop. But Chambers swore that he did not knock down Mr. Scott. After he had passed the two bicyclists he said he heard a shout and a buggy drawn by a light bay pacer dashed past him. His evidence was corroborated by two girls who were with him at the time. Mrs. Scott must then have followed Chambers, not noticing that the right buggy had raced ahead. Sutherland, on the other hand, proved that he was at Chemong at a certain house and could not have had time to be near the place of the accident at the time of its occurrence.

The case was dismissed.

Lewis Leonard was charged with vagrancy, and pleaded guilty. A sentence of one month's imprisonment with hard labour was imposed.

LOCAL FIRMEN HELPED TORONTO

In the Great Fight Against Wednesday's Fire.

Arrived There 5 a.m. but Found Flames Had Been Got Under Control—Returned Last Night.

The detachment of the Peterborough Fire Brigade who went to Toronto early on Wednesday morning for the purpose of assisting in the fight against the great fire which raged for eight hours in the wholesale district of that city, returned home about five o'clock Wednesday night. On the arrival in Toronto of the detachment shortly after five o'clock, they received a telephone message that the flames had been conquered at last, and it would only be a question of time before the entire conflagration would be extinguished. The detachment, consisting of nine men, however, churned their 800 feet of hose to the spot at once, but it was not needed, and the Peterborough men had but little work to do. The fire engine was not even taken off the train.

A number of the firemen were seen in the fire hall this morning by an Examiner representative. It was their opinion that notwithstanding the graphic reports given in the city papers, people here could not realize the immensity of the fire, the extent of destruction, and the tremendous financial losses incurred. In its heat the fire was intense, but the sight was magnificent, such as few people ever have an opportunity of witnessing. Every now and then a towering building would collapse with a thunderous crash, which echoed back and forth through the many tall buildings of that district. The crowds—for there were tens of thousands there—watched spell bound, all absorbed in the beautiful sight, all engaged in viewing the wreathing clouds of smoke which hung ominously overhead as far as one could see. The crowd pressed on nearer and nearer involving a heavy task on the thick cordon of police. Bricks and glass fell unceasingly perilously near, and yet the crowd almost hypnotized by the large tongues of red fire, pressed forward, resulting in many sustaining injuries in the crush and having to be taken to the hospitals.

LATEST SPORT

THE WANDERERS TO WANDER.

Play Norwood at Norwoo in the Midland League on April 30th.

An enthusiastic meeting of the Old Country Wanderers' Football Club was held in the Crown Hotel last evening. There was a large attendance of the members present, and Mr. G. W. Allen occupied the chair. The committee appointed reported on playing uniforms. The following players are asked to turn out to practice at the driving park on Saturday afternoon at eight o'clock:—Messrs. Hobson, Whitelaw, Smiles, Allen, Lyons, Hawkins, Head, Greatrox, Arden, Linney, Swailes, Wilson, Wallace, Strange, Frost, Gelpho, Butler, Haines and Holly. All the other playing members of the club are also asked to be present.

The concert to be given on the 27th inst., was next discussed and final arrangements completed. The event will be held in the Sons of England Hall, Hunter street. Tickets can be had at the Examiner office.

The first League match will be played on April 30th, with Norwood at Norwood. The team will be picked on Saturday afternoon at the Driving Park.

SPRINTING.

The sport-loving public will see another five mile road race on Friday, May 13th. Last night, Burns, the winner of the race of last Saturday, was challenged by Renton, and accepted. Both men signed articles at the Examiner office last night, and the race will take place on the date mentioned above.

The challenger has won some distinction as a long distance runner, and the race will doubtless be one of considerable interest. The course will be the same as that of the last race.

CURLING.

Notwithstanding the fact that the spring millinery openings have long since passed into history, and the "Good old summer time" is at hand, the curlers are loath to believe that the winter season has passed, and still continue to haunt the hallowed spot on Charlotte street, where so many pleasant evenings have been spent, enjoying the "roarin' game" during the winter months, which seem to have difficulty in making up their minds to leave.

Yesterday afternoon one of the most interesting curling games of the season was played at the rink, participated in by the following enthusiastic sports:—

E M Best,	R J Frost,
D Hall,	W J Thompson,
E B Edwards,	T Brightman,
R M Waddell, sk...13	W G Morrow...6

This is the first time in the history of the game in Peterborough that curling has been enjoyed on April 20, and this fact added interest to the affair.

FOOTBALL.

A good practice was held last night at the Central Park by the members of the Y.M.C.A. Football Club. Morgan, Noble, McFadden, Scriver, Murrell and Robertson of last year's "Y" teams were out. A lot of new material has been looked up and the "Y" team will be hard to beat this year. The boys will have regular practice nights arranged so that all who wish to play with them will know when and where to practice. A notice of the same will be given later.

The Quaker Football Club have received their new outfit of suits and will be soon seen on the field in their red and white sweaters and stockings.

TURF.

The annual meet of the Ontario Jockey Club will take place in Toronto at the Woodbine, May 21st, to June 4th. A good list of prizes for the different events is offered.

BASEBALL.

The Peterboroughs have received a letter from the University of Toronto Baseball Club, asking for a game here with a team from the club about the first of June.

* * * *

A meeting of representatives from the Young Men's Guilds in town will be held to-night in the Y.M.C.A. parlour, called by the St. Andrew's Guild for the purpose of organizing the Guild League for the season. Two representatives from each Guild have been invited.

* * * *

The annual meeting of the Midland Baseball League will be held to-night in Port Hope, and at it the formation of the league for the season will be decided. It is expected that Oshawa, Bowmanville, Port Hope, Cobourg, Lindsay and Peterborough will enter teams. The reorganized Peterborough team will apply for admission. Mr. Fred Whitcroft, the manager, going to the meeting for that purpose, and the Canadian Cordage team would also like to be given a place in the League.

* * * *

Things are not looking very bright for the Rosenath baseball team to get down to business very early in the season. Their wonder twirler, Geo. Dawe, who has held some of the best teams in the district down, has been ill for some weeks, and it will likely be several more weeks before he will be in a condition to handle the sphere again.—Hastings Star.

COBOURG IN A "SOFT SPOT."

Cobourg, April 20.—The annual meeting of the Cobourg Baseball Club champions of the Midland League, was held last evening, a large number of baseball enthusiasts being present. It was decided to enter the league again. The Midland League has in the past proved a soft spot for the speedy little team, and an effort will be made to arrange a series of games with the winners of the Toronto Senior League. The following officers were elected:—

Hon. President—J. R. McColl, M.P.
Hon. Vice-President—S. Clarke, M.P.P.
President—E. W. Hargraft.
Vice-President—A. W. Hayden
Secretary—D. Kocy.
Treasurer—Harry McGuire.
Manager—Thos. McHall.
Executive Committee—H. McGuire, Bruce O'Brien, M. Kenealy, Chas. McCallum, W. Swift.
Delegates to Midland League meeting—H. McGuire, F. Muilhall.

LACROSSE.

In the suit of the Athletics of St. Catharines vs. the C.L.A. over the amount deducted from the St. Catharines bond for a defaulted game to Oshawa, Judge Carman, of St. Catharines, yesterday gave judgment for the club for $96 and costs. The association's case is still to come up.—Globe.

MR. J. W. GARVIN WILL MAKE A REPLY.

To Mr. Moore's Letter at Tuesday Night's Meeting.

The Ratepayers are Asked to Reserve Judgement Until Both Sides are Heard.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—Permit me to say that Mr W. H Moore's second letter, characterized by a lack of knowledge, misrepresentation, fallacious argument and apparent malice will be replied to by me on Tuesday evening next in the Town Hall, East Peterborough (5th Ward) At that public meeting I will read Mr. Moore's letter word for word and comment thereon. It may prove interesting to the hearers. The ratepayers are respectfully asked to reserve their judgment.

Yours truly,
J. W. GARVIN.

AMENDED ACT RE BEET SUGAR BONUS.

Introduced on Monday to Meet Peterborough's Position.

Permitting Council if People Approve to Pass Beet Sugar Aid By-Law.

At the session of the Ontario Legislature on Monday afternoon, Hon. Mr. Stratton introduced an amendment to the "Consolidated Municipal Act of 1903," to permit Peterborough and towns similarly situated to aid the beet root sugar industry represented by a factory situated in an adjoining municipality.

Some years ago the Municipal Act was amended, permitting municipalities to pass bylaws for granting aid by way of bonus to iron or other smelting works within or adjacent to the limits of such municipalities. The above mentioned amendment adds beet sugar factories to the industries that may be aided under such circumstances.

This will permit Peterborough, if the ratepayers give their permission, on May 5th, to pass the bylaw authorizing the town to guarantee the bonds of the Beet Sugar Company.

MOUNT PLEASANT.

(From our own Correspondent.)

Several flocks of wild geese have been seen returning from the north. One flock of them took up their abode for several days in a field owned by Mr. R. Hooton of Cavan. Finding the lakes in the north closed with ice, like Noah's dove they were forced to return south again, as no resting place on the water could be found by them.

Sunday, the 17th inst., being a fine day, and the roads being in a fairly good condition, there was a large number at the Methodist church to hear a discourse by their pastor, who founded his text on the prophecy of Micah, chapter 6, vs. 8. No better text could have been chosen. It is full of information necessary for the human race to know. It is free from all dogmas and creeds and so simple that any of Adam's race can fully understand what the Lord requires of them.

Rev. Mr. Whitelaw's sermon was full of thought and instruction. His subject was "Diversity," and "Unity." The feeling that now exists in favour of the union of all Protestant churches was likely the reason for the preacher's discourse. His sermons prove that he spends time in their preparation. We hope the time is near at hand when a union of all Protestant churches will take place.

Our cheese and butter factory will be in operation in a few days, under a new and efficient cheesemaker. Let a good feeling exist amongst the patrons and let us endeavour to patronize home industry. It may not be possible to satisfy all with the mode of doing business, but let our motto be "United we stand, divided we fall." Perfection is not to be found in the working of any of our institutions. Charity should be the ruling principle in business matters with one another.

How to Ward Off an Attack of Rheumatism.

"For years when springtime came on and I went into gardening I was sure to have an attack of rheumatism and every attack was more severe than the preceding one," says Josie McDonald, of Man, Logan Co., West Va. "I tried everything with no relief whatever, until I procured a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm, and the first application gave me ease and before the first bottle was used I felt like a new person. Now I feel that I am cured, but I always keep a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm in the house and when I feel any symptoms of a return I soon drive it away with one or two applications of this liniment. SIR JOSEPH TRUTCH.

His Death in England Recalls the Work He Did in Canada as a Western Pioneer in British Columbia.

The death in England of Sir Joseph Trutch is an event that does not attract so much attention as it deserves, especially in Eastern Canada. That Sir Joseph must have been a prominent man in the West at some time or other is, of course, learned from the biographies. But that he did anything in particular is not so generally understood. Yet Joseph Trutch was an important personage in his sphere, and to him, in a large measure, is attributable the favor with which the Pacific Province looked upon the proposal to join Canada.

British Columbia before the Union was a Crown colony, inherited from the Hudson's Bay Company. The great fur-trading corporation had used the territory for its business purposes, and had built its forts at various points. The company was frequently in conflict with Russia, for the then Czar, or his advisers, had in mind the appropriation of the entire Pacific Coast. It was the hope of Russia to extend, first, under the trading pretext, and then, upon the plea of prior occupation, from what is now the boundary of Alaska down to San Francisco. The gradual movement in this direction led to the elevation of the territory to the dignity of a Crown colony, with the famous Sir James Douglas as its first Governor. Late in the fifties came the discovery of gold and the rush of the gold-seekers from all parts of the world to the Cariboo district. Among the arrivals from England was Joseph Trutch, a Civil Engineer, who was ready to make his fortune either at gold mining or at his profession.

The traveler on the Canadian Pacific Railway, when he reaches Yale, on the Fraser River, and proceeds west along the bank of that stream, rich in minerals and in gold, notices that the south shore, opposite him, is mountainous. Half way up the precipice and well towards the mountain top is a little ledge following the course of the river. Sometimes it is moderately wide. A wagon could pass along it. At other times it is exceedingly narrow. A man or a horse would have to navigate it with care. Here and there the mountain recedes, and the space is covered by a rough bridge of logs. This is the Cariboo road, built from the coast into the inferior. The construction of this Cariboo road was the first work upon which Joseph Trutch was engaged. Trutch was one of its designers, and one of the builders.

The Cariboo road is now superseded by the railway. It was in order that this fate might overtake it that far-seeing men in British Columbia, Joseph Trutch among them, espoused the idea of union with Canada. The Confederation of the Eastern Provinces had been completed in 1867. The people on the Pacific Coast knew that a great British Dominion was rising on this continent, and they wished to belong to it. The advantages were numerous. It would make their province more firmly a possession of the Crown, to which they were devoted. It would give them Eastern interests, and it would give the East interests in the West. If a railway connecting the two ends of the Dominion were built important commercial enterprises would be undertaken, and development, particularly of the vast mineral wealth of the province, would follow. With a view to promoting the idea of union three of the leading men of the province were, in 1870, despatched to Ottawa—Messrs. Trutch, Helmcken and Barnard. These diplomats, for such they were, waited upon the Dominion Ministers, and soon terms of Confederation were decided upon.

The terms included the usual financial arrangements applicable to new provinces, and provided for the construction of the Canadian Pacific Railway. On the latter subject the agreement was that the Government of the Dominion would undertake to secure the commencement simultaneously, within two years from the date of the union, of the construction of a railway from the Pacific to the Rocky Mountains, and from some point on the Rocky Mountains to the Pacific Coast; also that the road should connect with the railway system of the East within ten years. Many of the Eastern people viewed the bargain as preposterous, first, on the ground of the expense involved, and, secondly, because the time limit was too short. It was upon these considerations that the project was opposed in Parliament. To expend so freely upon a line to connect us with the "sea of mountains" was pronounced absurd. However, the terms were agreed to, and then the troubles began.

Joseph Trutch, who had done so much both at Ottawa and in London to promote the union and to arrange the terms, was appropriately enough, appointed the first Lieutenant-Governor of British Columbia. Shortly afterwards Sir John Macdonald's Government at Ottawa went out on the Pacific scandal cry, and the Government of Mr. Mackenzie succeeded it. Mr. Mackenzie found the task of carrying out the contract with British Columbia exceedingly difficult. In order to secure delay in the construction of the road he sent a diplomatic mission to the coast under Mr. J. D. Edgar, and endeavored to arrange a modified bargain. Some success was achieved in this direction. Through the intervention of Lord Carnarvon what are known to history as the Carnarvon terms were arranged. This modified agreement set aside the obligation to build the road within ten years, and required the Dominion to proceed with the surveys, to spend from $1,500,000 to $2,000,000 a year on construction, to complete the railway by 1900, and to build a railway from Esquimalt to Nanaimo, on Vancouver Island. But Parliament would not agree—or at least the Senate would not assent—to the Nanaimo and Esquimalt Railway, and then the fat was in the fire.

British Columbia maintained that the terms were broken and a demand for secession was heard. At this juncture Lord Dufferin went to the coast to pour oil upon the troubled waters. The Governor-General assured the people that it was the desire of the East to carry out the contract in spirit, if not according to the letter, and to ultimately complete the connection. Governor Trutch also aided in calming the public mind. He maintained that the terms should not be interpreted too strictly; but that the Dominion should be given time. The disappointment was thus allayed. But it happened that a change of Government came at Ottawa. Sir John Macdonald was restored to power, and he made the Canadian Pacific contract, under which the railway was constructed through from end to end by Nov. 7, 1885, or just five years in advance of the date set by the Carnarvon terms.

All through the stormy period Sir Joseph Trutch was a moderating influence. He had fought for union, and had seen it accomplished. He stood by it in the hour of apparent disappointment, and was rewarded by the ultimate success of the terms. His influence in the West was very great and he may be regarded as one of the Confederation leaders.

IRELAND'S GAELIC REVIVAL.

Progress Made by the Movement in a Dozen Years.

It has been thought by some persons that the Gaelic revival in Ireland would prove to be a mere temporary outburst of Celtic enthusiasm, short-lived and sterile in practical results. But the facts of the situation at the present time in the twelfth year since the tide commenced to flow, indicate something directly opposite. Year after year the movement has grown in volume and momentum. It seems to have captured not only the heart but the head of Ireland. It wrung from a reluctant Board of Commissioners of public education the right to have the Irish children taught the native language in the Irish national schools. Grudgingly, slowly and by piecemeal was this right conceded, but now Gaelic may be taught in every Public School during the ordinary school hours, provided the adequacy of the course of instruction in the subjects heretofore studied is not impaired or hampered thereby.

It is alleged that the directorate of the Gaelic League during the past three years have printed and sold a larger number of publications than the aggregate issued in English by all the publishers in Ireland, without including newspapers. The income of the league treasury during the last year amounted to about $30,000. And now a school of the higher Irish learning has been established in Dublin, which has just issued its first prospectus. The governors of the school are Major-General Sir William Butler, Mrs. J. R. Green, Edward Gwynn, Dr. Douglas Hyde, Dr. E. Hogan, Sir Anthony McDonnell, John McNeill, Dr. Whitely Stokes and Professor John Strachan. Professor Kuno Meyer is director. According to the prospectus there will be three courses of study during the year. Professor Meyer will open one in March on Irish paleography and the reading and analysis of manuscripts. Professor Strachan is to open a course in June and direct a class upon the reading of old and middle Irish texts. Mr. Sampson, librarian of the University of Liverpool, will conduct a bibliographical class on the methods to be observed in describing and cataloguing the ancient and modern manuscripts.

Certainly all these activities appear to show that the revival is deep-rooted in the native soil or rather that the root is again sending forth a new growth. What the outcome will be no one knows, but it is always an interesting study to watch the bud break into foliage and flower. Competent scholars tell us there is a valuable addition to the world's literature to be found in the numerous ancient Celtic manuscripts which should be brought forth to light. The Gaelic revival now that it has shown the marks of permanency carries the promise of unlocking these treasures of ancient Celtic lore to add them to the common stock.

Blind Swimmers.

It is a standing puzzle that all blind swimmers are able to hold an almost perfectly straight course for very considerable distances, though no more guidance is given to them than some species of call or whistle coming from the winning goal. A blind man, in fact, desiring to go in a straight line possesses the curious power of being able to do so almost exactly. A provincial Mayor instituted a series of contests in an open lake between blind men and ordinary ones of about equal skill and strength, and the result was marvellous so far as the straight steering of the blind was concerned.

Doan's Kidney Pills

Cured Mr. George Graves, Pitts Ferry, Ont., of a very bad case of kidney trouble.

He tells about the cure in the following words: "I cannot recommend Doan's Kidney Pills too highly. I never took anything that did me so much good. I had a severe pain in the small of my back and could scarcely get up or down without help. I could hardly urinate, but when I did the pain was terrible. I was in the Hotel Dieu, Kingston, last winter and when I came out I was some better but not cured. It was then I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised. Since taking them I have been completely cured and have not had any trouble with my kidneys since."

A UNIQUE LIBRARY.

Mr. Barnett's Collection of Shakespearian Works Is a Veritable Encyclopaedia.

Stratford, up to the G.T.R., is famous for being the place where Shakespeare lies buried—by proxy. The wards are named from Shakespeare, and some of the schools also. There is a Romeo School, but, alas! no Juliet. There is a Hamlet School, and by the irony of coincidence, its recent teacher was a man named Macbeth.

But the most unmistakably Shakespearen feature of Stratford is the library of Mr. J. D. Barnett, in Romeo Ward, says Kodak in Toronto News. Mr. Barnett was formerly master mechanic of the Grand Trunk shops in that city. As a youth he came to this country, when railways were young, with eleven volumes of Shakespeare in his grip. This was the beginning. Mr. Barnett's present Shakespearian library runs into thousands of volumes, and occupies two rooms, one of them a large parlor with a double portion of books as high as the ceiling. He has all the available texts of Shakespeare's plays, most of the commentaries extant, and as many as possible of the commentaries on the commentaries. He has also some of the controversies on the latter, with the marginal manuscript annotations of the ingenious disputants. These, like his uncountable collection of miscellaneous books, have been picked up by Mr. Barnett during forty years of pilgrimages among book-stalls in both the Old and the New World. Where other men perpetuated their hobbies in dogs, horses, and Egyptian relics, Mr. Barnett had but one indestructible hobby—books. The result is that his Stratford library is perhaps the most remarkable private library in Canada, if not in America, and his collection of Shakesprarian is a veritable encyclopaedia, from the most antiquated dust-covered tome, ponderous and erudite, to the latest Shakespearian cartoon or squibs of doggerel. The catholicity of the great bard has thus another monument. Washington Irving would have added another chapter to his Sketch Book if he could have seen this library. Mr. Barnett's stupendous aggregation of books, ancient, mediaeval and modern, is one more proof that even a master mechanic, in an age of wheels, may indulge a lifelong passion romantic.

Dr. Hutton on Canadian Character.

"Canadian National Character" was the subject chosen by Dr. Maurice Hutton, Principal of University College, in a recent address at the Empire Club at Toronto. Plato, in discussing where there could be found the combination of the strong and the gentle, which made up the best type of character, could only find in the watch-dog the true ideal blend. But to-day Plato could be told that in the Canadians would be found a more ideal combination of the various blends which make up the best form of character. In Canada were to be found all the ancient blends brought across from the Motherland. There were the people from the North of Ireland, where the Saxon met the Celt and produced a type stronger than either. There were the descendants of the Huguenots, a combination of the Saxon and the Norman, and better than either. Then the English, Saxons and Normans and Danes and Britons were here, and there was another type the Motherland did not have. We are sharing this country with the French people, nearer than any other to the ancient Greeks and whose more subtle and delicate intelligence corrects the sterner qualities of the Anglo-Saxon.

In addition to these blends we have the same reliance, resourcefulness and energy which mark the Americans, but with a better climate to develop these characteristics and without the quarrelsome, mischief-making, and demagogism which have been the curse of American diplomacy from the days of Washington to the Alaskan and Panama instances of sharp practices. Canadians lived simply, there was an absence of the wealth and luxury and ease which hinder advance, and there was an inspiring pride and hope in our broad acres and great resources. Therefore Plato might be asked if he did not think that the Canadian people combined all the points of character which he wanted for his ideal state.

Dr. Hutton urged more close intercourse between the English-speaking and French elements, and asked why we should not add to the Union Jack as a Canadian flag the Bourbon lilies, which have now no other home.

The Selfish Rich.

Mr. Chamberlain might with advantage reflect on the fact that while the much-abused multi-millionaires of America have given of their own free will fully £60,000,000 for technical schools and colleges, as well as libraries, the wealthy classes of this country have only given £2,500,000. In our case the vast fortunes made from trade appear to have gone to building up titled families.—London Daily Chronicle.

CANADA

The following poem was read by William Wilfrid Campbell of Ottawa at recent at homes of the Canadian Clubs of Ottawa and Toronto.

Are there none to speak and save?
Canada, my own, my own.
From Western peak to Eastern wave?
Canada, my own, my own.
Art there none to lift and save,
Must you sink in debt and grave,
Crushed in gyve of thief and knave?
Canada, my own, my own.
Are there none to wake the dead?
O, people unto grossness wed?
Canada, my own, my own.
Must this cursed trade go on,
Franchise but a bartered pawn,
Freedom, thought, and honor gone?
Heaven strike or send a hotter dawn
To Canada, my own, my own.

Must the hideous tale be told?
Canada, my own, my own.
Men like puppets bought and sold,
Freeman's rights for place and gold?
Canada, my own, my own.
Must this hideous lie go out?
Are we but degenerate spawn
Or a greater people gone?
Canada, my shamed, dishonored own.

Canada, my own, my own.
Lie in the dust and make your moan,
Dishonored by those very ones
Who should have been your truest sons,
Like ship on surfs that overwhelm
By some false captain at the helm,
Canada, my own, my own.
Creep in the dust and make your moan;
To childish superstitions doomed,
Or in material greed entombed
Your people sleep through sordid years
Of modern doubts and deeds and fears.
Lie in the dust and make your moan,
Poor Canada, my own, my own.

O wherefore wonder when our life
Is all one shrunken party strife,
When every question of the hour
Betrayed to greed of party power,
When every voice for truth is stilled,
Save that which party spake or willed,
With pandering pulpits, venal press,
God send redress, God send redress,
To this poor human wilderness.
A people for high dreamings meant,
But damned by too much government.

O dream in vain your future power,
And build in vain your heart's high tower;
O Canada, my own, my own.
When you have sold the olden truth
That greatness which inspired thy youth.
And bartered for a sordid gleam
The light of all your highest dream,
With all the gross material strife
Of godless money hungered life,
O Canada, my own, my own.
Your children, they have dragged you down
And trampled all your old renown.
As some base harlot of the town,
O Canada, my own, my own.

O splendid dream of plain and lake,
When will you from this curse awake.
And with new-kindled honor take
Your place with those who guide the helm
Of Britain's mighty peopled realm?
When will you, raised to that regard
Of self, above the market yard
Of life's low levels, hold your share
In Britain's mighty world-wide care?
O Canada, my own, my own.

O wide thy lands and wide thy sky,
Canada, my own, my own.
But wider yet the living lie
That we have lived, my own, my own!
Let us arise from our old graves
Of self and ill, as o'er the waves
God's dawn from night, to that which saves,
Canada, my own, my own.
Rise and strike the shackling free
That bind us up and heart and knee,
And be what God dreamed we should be,
Canada, my own, my own.
Loved Canada, my own.

W. Wilfrid Campbell.

Ottawa, March, 1904.

Duke of Connaught's Successor.

Lord Grenfell, who is to be the Duke of Connaught's successor in Ireland, is as much a product of Africa as Lord Roberts was of India. After serving in the "little wars" which ended in the shattering of the Zulu power at Ulandi he was appointed to Lord Wolseley's staff in the first Egyptian campaign, and in the Nile Valley he remained until, as Sirdar, he had successfully stemmed the repeated onrush of Mahdist barbarism at Gennis, Gemafzah and Toski. "I owe everything to Egypt," Lord Grenfell once said, "rank, honors, decorations, and—my wife." Evelyn, a daughter of General Robert Wood. When Sir Francis returned to Egypt as commander of the British troops there he found—to his no small mortification—that the task of recovering the Soudan had been entrusted to his previous subordinate—Kitchener.

What Gold-Beaters Can Do.

Gold-beaters by hammering, can reduce gold leaves so thin that 282,000 must be laid upon each other to produce the thickness of an inch, yet each leaf is so perfect and free from holes that one of them laid upon any surface, as in gilding, gives the appearance of solid gold. They are so thin that if formed into a book 1,500 would only occupy the space of a single leaf of common paper, and an octavo volume of an inch thick would have as many pages as the books of a well-stocked library of 1,500 volumes with 200 pages in each.

Purified by Suffering

BY MARY J. HOLMES,

That was all, but it made Genevra's tears flow in torrents, and she involuntarily held her hand out to Bell, who took it and holding it between her own, said . . .

"You were very kind to my brother. I thank you for it, and will tell my mother, who will feel so grateful to you."

This was a good deal for Bell to say, and after it was said, she hastened away while Marian went on her daily round of duties, speaking softer if possible to her patients that day, and causing them to wonder what had come over that sweet face to make it so white and tear-stained. That night in Marian's room Katy sat and listened to what she did not before know of the strange story kept from her so long. Marian continued all Wilford had told, breathing no word of blame against him now that he was dead, only stating facts, and leaving Katy to draw her own conclusions.

"I knew that I was handsome," she said, "and I liked to test my power, but for that weakness I have been sorely punished. I had not at first any intention of making him believe that I was dead, and when I sent the paper containing the announcement of father's death, I was not aware that it also contained the death of my cousin, a beautiful girl just my own age, who bore our grandmother's name of Genevra, and about whom and a young English lord, who had hunted one season in her father's neighborhood, there were some scandalous reports. Afterwards it occurred to me that Wilford would see that notice, and naturally think it referred to me, inasmuch as he knew nothing of my cousin Genevra.

"It was just as well, I said—I was dead to him, and I took a strange satisfaction in wondering if he would care. Incidentally I heard that the postmaster at Alnwick had been written to by an American gentleman, who asked if such a person as Genevra Lambert was buried at St. Mary's, and then I knew he believed me dead, even though the name appended to the letter was not Wilford Cameron, nor was the writing his, for, as the cousin of the dead Genevra, I asked to see the letter, and my request was granted. It was Mrs. Cameron who wrote it, I am sure, signing a feigned name and bidding the postmaster answer to that address. He did so, assuring the inquirer that Genevra Lambert was buried there, and wondering to me if the young American who seemed interested in her could have been a lover of the unfortunate girl.

"I was now alone in the world, for the aunt with whom my childhood was passed died soon after my father, and so I went at last to learn a trade on the Isle of Wight, emigrating from thence to New York, with the determination in my rebellious heart that some time when it cut the deepest, I would show myself to the proud Camerons, whom I so cordially hated. This was before God had found me, or rather before I had listened to the still, small voice which took the hard, vindictive feelings away, and made me feel kindly towards the mother and sisters when I saw them, as I often used to do, driving gaily by. Wilford was sometimes with them, and the sight of him always sent the hot blood surging through my heart. But the greatest shock I ever had came to me when I heard from your sister of his approaching marriage with you. Those were terrible days that I passed at the farm-house, working on your bridal trousseau; and sometimes I thought it more than I could bear. Had you been other than the little, loving, confiding, trustful girl you were, I must have disclosed the whole, and told that you would not be the first who had stood at the altar with Wilford. But pity for you kept me silent, and you became his wife.

"I loved your baby almost as much as if it had been my own, and when it died there was nothing to bind me to the North, and so I came here, where I hope I have done some good, at least I was here to care for Wilford, and that is a sufficient reward for all the toil which falls to the lot of a hospital nurse. I shall stay until the war is ended, and then go I know not where. It will not be best for us to meet very often, for though we respect each other, neither can forget the past, nor that one was the lawful, the other the divorced wife of the same man. I have loved you, Katy Cameron, for your uniform kindness shown to the poor dressmaker. I shall always love you, but our paths lie widely apart. Your future I can predict, but mine God only knows."

Marian had said all she meant to say, and all Katy came to hear. The latter was to leave in the morning, and when they would meet again neither could tell. Few were the parting words they spoke, for the great common sorrow welling up from both their hearts; but when at last they said good-bye, the bond of friendship between them was more strongly cemented than ever, and Katy long remembered Marian's parting words:

"God bless you Katy Cameron! You have been a bright sun-spot in my existence since I first knew you, even though you have stirred some of the worst impulses of my nature. I am a better woman for having known you. God bless you, Katy Cameron!"

CHAPTER XLV.

The grand funeral which Mrs. Cameron once had planned for Katy was a reality at last, but the breathless form lying so cold and still in the darkened room at No. —, Fifth Avenue, was that of a soldier embalmed—an only son brought back to his father's house amid sadness and tears. They had taken him there rather than to his own house, because it was the wish of his mother, who, however hard and selfish she might be to others, had idolized her son, and mourned for him truly, forgetting in her grief to care how grand the funeral was, and feeling only a passing twinge when told that Mrs. Lennox had come from Silverton to pay the last tribute of respect to her late son-in-law. Some little comfort it was to have her boy lauded as a faithful soldier, and to hear the commendations lavished upon him during the time he lay in state, with his uniform around him, but when the whole was over, and in the gray wintry afternoon her husband returned from Greenwood, there came over her a feeling of such desolation as she had never known—a feeling which drove her at last to the little room upstairs, where sat a lonely man, his head bowed upon his hands, and his tears dropping silently upon the hearthstone as he, too, thought of the vacant parlor below and the new grave at Greenwood.

"Oh, husband, comfort me!" fell from her lips as she tottered to her husband, who opened his arms to receive her, forgetting all the years which had made her the cold, proud woman, who needed no sympathy, and remembering only that bright, green summer when she was first his bride, and came to him for comfort in every little grievance, just as she came to him now in this great, crushing sorrow.

With Mr. Cameron the blow struck deeper, and his Wall Street friends talked together of the old man he had grown since Wilford died, while Katy often found him bending over his long-neglected Bible, as he sat alone in his room at night. And when at last she ventured to speak to him upon the all important subject, he put his hand in hers, and bade her teach him the narrow way which she had found, and wherein Wilford too had walked at the very last, they hoped.

For many weeks Katy lingered in New York, and the June roses were blooming when she went back to Silverton, a widow and rightful owner of all Wilford's ample fortune. They had found among his papers a will, drawn up and executed not long before his illness, and in which Katy was made his heir, without condition or stipulation. All was hers to do with as she pleased, and Katy wept passionately when she heard how generous Wilford had been. Then, as she thought of Marian, and the life of poverty before her, she crept to father Cameron's side, and said to him pleadingly:

"Let Genevra share it with me. She needs it quite as much."

Father Cameron would not permit Katy to divide equally with Marian. It was not just, he said; but he did not object to a few thousands going to her, and before Katy left New York for Silverton, she wrote a long kind letter to Marian, presenting her with ten thousand dollars, which she begged her to accept, not so much as a gift, but as her rightful due. There was a moment's hesitancy on the part of Marian when she read the letter, a feeling that she could not take so much from Katy, but when she looked at the pale suffering around her, and remembered how many wretched hearts that money would help to cheer, she said:

"I will keep it."

CHAPTER XLVI.

The heat, the smoke, the thunder of the battle were over, and the fields of Gettysburg were drenched with human blood and covered with the dead and dying. The contest had been fearful, and its results carried sorrow and anguish to many a heart looking so anxiously for the names of the loved ones who, on the anniversary of the day which saw our nation's independence, lay upon the hills and plains of Gettysburg, their white faces upturned to the summer sky, and wet with the rain drops, which like tears for the noble dead the pitying clouds had shed upon them. And nowhere, perhaps, was there a whiter face or a more anxious heart that at the farm-house, where both Helen and her mother-in-law were spending the hot July days. Since the Christmas eve when Helen had watched her husband going from her across the wintry snow he had not been back, though several times he had made arrangements to do so. Something, however, had always happened to prevent. Once it was sickness which kept him in bed for a week or more, again his regiment was ordered to advance, and the third time it was sent with others to repel the invaders from Pennsylvania soil. Bravely through each disappointment Helen bore herself, but her cheek always grew paler and her eye darker in its hue when the evening papers came, and she read what progress our soldiery had made, feeling that a battle was inevitable, and praying so earnestly that Mark Ray might be spared. Then, when the battle was over and up the northern hills came the dreadful story of thousands and thousands slain, there was a fearful look in her eye, and her features were rigid as marble, while the quivering lips could scarcely pray for the great fear tugging at her heart. Mark Ray was not with his men when they came from that terrific onslaught. A dozen had seen him fall, struck down by a rebel ball, and that was all she heard for more than a week, when there came another relay of news.

Captain Mark Ray was a prisoner of war, with several of his own company. An inmate of Libby prison and a sharer from choice of the apartment where his men were confined. As an officer he was entitled to better quarters; but Mark Ray had a large, warm heart, and he would not desert those who had been so faithful to him, and so he took their fare, and by his genial humor and unwavering cheerfulness kept many a heart from fainting, and made the prison life more bearable than it could have been without him. To young Tom Tubbs, who had enlisted six months before, he was a ministering angel, and many times the poor homesick boy crept to the side of his captain, and laying his burning head in his lap, wept himself to sleep and dreamed he was at home again. The horrors of that prison life have never been told, but Mark bore up manfully, suffering less in mind, perhaps, than did the friends at home, who lived, as it were, a thousand years in that one brief summer while he remained in Richmond.

At last, as the frosty days of October came on, they began to hope he might be exchanged, and Helen's face grew bright again, until one day there came a soiled, half-worn letter, in Mark's own handwriting. It was the first word received from him since his capture in July, and with a cry of joy Helen snatched it from Uncle Ephraim, for she was still at the farm-house, and sitting down upon the doorstep just where she had been standing, read the words which Mark had sent to her. He was very well, he said, and had been all the time but he pined for home, longing for the dear girl-wife never so dear as now, when separated by so many miles, with prison walls on every side, and an enemy's line between them.

"But be of good cheer, darling," he wrote. "I shall come back to you some time, and life will be all the brighter for what you suffer now. I am so glad my darling consented to be my wife, even though I could stay with her but a moment. The knowing you are really mine makes me happy even here, for I think of you by day, and in my dreams I always hold you in my arms and press you to my heart."

A hint he gave of being sent further south, and then hope died out of Helen's heart.

"I shall never see him again," she said despairingly; and when the message came that Mark had been removed, and that too just at the time when an exchange was constantly expected, she gave him up as lost, feeling almost as much widowed as Katy in her weeds.

Slowly the winter passed away, and the country was rife with stories of our men, daily dying by hundreds, while those survived were reduced to maniacs or imbeciles. And Helen, as she listened, grew nearly frantic with the sickening suspense. She did not know where her husband was. He had made several attempts to escape, and with each failure had been removed to safer quarters, so that his chances for being exchanged seemed very far away. Week after week, month after month passed on, until came the memorable battle of the Wilderness, when Lieutenant Bob, as yet unharmed, stood bravely in the thickest of the fight, his tall figure towering above the rest, and his soldier's uniform buttoned over a dark tress of hair, and a face like Bell Cameron's. Lieutenant Bob had taken two or three furloughs, but the one which had left the sweetest, pleasantest memory in his heart, was that of the autumn before, when the crimson leaves of the maple, and the golden tints of the beech, were burning themselves out on the hills of Silverton, where his furlough was mostly passed, and where with Bell Cameron he scoured the length and breadth of Uncle Ephraim's farm, now stopping by the shore of Fairy Point, and again sitting for hours on a ledge of rocks, far up the hill, where beneath the softly whispering pines, nodding above their heads, Bell gathered the light brown cones and said to him the words he had so thirsted to hear.

Much of Bell's time was passed with Katy, at the farm-house, and here Lieutenant Reynolds found her, accepting readily of Uncle Ephraim's hearty invitation to remain, and spending his entire vacation there with the exception of three days, given to his family. Perfectly charmed with quaint Aunt Betsy, he flattered and courted her almost as much as he did Bell, but he did not take her with him in his long rambles over the hills, or sit with her at night, alone in the parlor till the clock struck twelve—a habit which Aunt Betsy greatly disapproved, but overlooked for this once, seeing, as she said, that—

"That young lieutenant was none of her kin, and Isabel only a little."

Those were halcyon days which Robert passed at Silverton, but one stood out prominently before him, whether sitting before his camp fire or plunging into the battle; and that the one when, casting aside all pride and foolish theories, Bell Cameron freely acknowledge her love for the man to whom she had been so long engaged, and paid him back the kisses she had before refused to give.

"I shall be a better soldier for this," Robert had said, as he guided her down the steep ledge of rocks, and with her hand in his, walked slowly back to the farm-house, which, on the morrow, he left to take again his place in the army.

There were no more furloughs for him after that; and the winter passed away, bringing the spring again, when came the battle in the Wilderness, where, like a hero, he fought until, becoming separated from his comrades, he fell into the enemy's hands; and two days after, there sped along the telegraphic wires to New York:

"Lieutenant Robert Reynolds captured the first day of the battle."

Afterwards came the news that Andersonville was his destination, together with many others made prisoners that day.

"It is better than being shot and a great deal better than being burned, as some of the poor wretches were," Juno said, trying to comfort Bell, who doubted a little her sister's word.

MRS. WALTER MARTHORNE, BROOKLYN, N.S.

She says: "I suffered for three years with terrible headaches and rushing of blood to my head. I lost my appetite and became very thin and weak. I tried many different remedies and consulted doctors, but all in vain until I started to use Burdock Blood Bitters. I had not taken more than two bottles when I began to feel better, my appetite improved wonderfully and I increased rapidly in weight. I took altogether four bottles and am now as well as can be, for which I owe my thanks to Burdock Blood Bitters. I can recommend it to all those suffering as I did."

The real reason for the instant success of Gold Seal Lager is the fact that it is different to others—and the points of difference are all good points.

A Quart Baby.

Now and again there is an item in the newspapers concerning the birth of a puny baby so small that a quart cup holds it comfortably. If the article told all the facts it would probably tell also of a mother who in weakness and misery had looked forward to the baby's advent with shrinking and fear.

To have fine, healthy children the mother must be healthy, and it is the common testimony of mothers that the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription not only promotes the mother's health but also gives her strength to give her child.

"Favorite Prescription" accomplishes these results by tranquilizing the nerves, promoting a healthy appetite, and giving refreshing sleep. It increases physical vigor and gives great muscular elasticity, so that the baby's advent is practically painless. It is the best of tonics for nursing mothers.

"I gladly recommend Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription," writes Mrs. J. W. G. Stephens, of Mills, Northumberland Co., Va. "Before my third little boy was born I took six bottles. He is the finest child and has been from birth, and I suffered very much less than I ever did before. I unhesitatingly advise expectant mothers to use the 'Favorite Prescription.'"

Dr. Pierce now feels fully warranted in offering to pay $500 in legal money of the United States, for any case of Leucorrhea, Female Weakness, Prolapsus, or Falling of Womb which he cannot cure. All he asks is a fair and reasonable trial of his means of cure.

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of customs and mailing only. Send 50 one-cent stamps for the cloth-bound volume, or only 31 stamps for the book in paper covers. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Canadian Soldiers Under Cambridge.

There are some old soldiers in Toronto who served under the late Duke of Cambridge. One of them wrote the day of the Duke's death: "I notice in the papers to-day the death of the Duke of Cambridge. It might be of interest to some of the readers of your valuable paper to know that there are at least three veterans living in Toronto who fought in the first division of the army in the Crimean War, under his command, Mr. Jenkins, Coldstream Guards; Chas. Elmsworth, late 93rd Highlanders, and Charles D. Wilson, late 42nd Regiment. The late Duke was held in great respect and the highest esteem by everyone in that division, and I believe he felt the same towards the men.

"My earliest recollection of him is seeing him on the 24th of May, 1854, when a grand review was held in honor of the anniversary of our late Queen's birthday, in Scutarin, on the Bosphorus. The troops were reviewed by the Sultan of Turkey. The late Field-Marshal Lord Clyde, better known as Sir Colin Campbell, was his right-hand man and dearest friend in that campaign.

"He picked an orderly from the 42nd Highlanders—Tom Elliott by name—a man 6 feet 2 inches in height, who was with him in that capacity until the day of the Battle of Alma. When the division was formed in line before they crossed the Alma, he asked liberty from his Royal Highness to fight with his own regiment that day, and I think he was the first man killed crossing the river. The Duke supported this soldier's mother until the time of her death.

"I believe he left the Crimea after Inkerman, on account of the fact that the Highlanders and the Guards were separated, and he is reported to have said that he went out to command a division, not a brigade."

THE WOOLLEN INDUSTRY.

Attempt to Corner the Finance Minister.

THE COMPANY'S CIRCULAR

Ninety nine out of one Hundred People in Canada Have Benefitted by Reduction in Tarriff Mr. Brock's Statement.

Ottawa, April 18.—A debate upon the tariff in its application to the woollen industry, was precipitated to-day by Mr. R. A. Pringle, Cornwall, who took exception to the statement by the Finance Minister yesterday that he had seen a circular issued by the Canada Woollen Mills, Limited, notifying their customers that they were prepared to fill orders, and that therefore the statement that they were closing down their mills was not warranted by the facts. Mr. Fielding to-day read an advertisement inviting orders, and Mr. W. R. Brock, President of the company, explained that the company were endeavouring to obtain sufficient orders to keep the mills in operation until May 12th, when they are to be sold, because a better sale could be effected of a running concern, with orders to hand over to the purchaser. Since the preferential tariff came into force merchants like himself had been compelled to send large orders to England, because the Canadian mills were unable to compete.

Mr. Cowan suggested that in every line of industry there could be shown some particular instances where individual enterprises which did not succeed in the hands of one person, were quite successful in the hands of another. He quoted the Kingsville Woollen Mills in support of this contention, the proprietor of which in 1896 asserted that if the Liberals were returned to power it would kill the industry. But the mills closed down before there was any change in the tariff and went into bankruptcy, giving the excuse that the owner could not stand the uncertainty regarding the tariff. The institution had been reorganized since, and it had turned out more goods than ever before, running almost night and day to keep up with the orders.

Mr. Oliver supported the Government's policy because 99 out of 100 of the people of Canada had benefitted from the reduction in the tariff on Woollen goods. He objected to antiquated machinery and antiquated methods being kept profitable by means of an extra twist of the tariff screw every time the manufacturers asked it.

Mr. Logan thought the woollen manufacturers would not thank the Opposition for precipitating the debate just a few weeks before the budget was brought down. There were four woollen mills in this county, and all were prospering as they had never done before. At Oxford the mills had been enlarged and extended; at Amherst last year the first sod for a new mill, which now employs one hundred hands in the manufacturer of woollen cloth, was turned. Springhill also proposed to establish another industry.

GOODS MUST BE CAREFULLY AND PLAINLY MARKED.

Hereafter the Canadian Pacific Railway Co. will exercise the greatest possible care in accepting goods for transhipment on its lines. The following circular explains this:—

Office of the Freight Traffic Manager. Circular No. 30.

Montreal, April 15, 1904.

To shippers, agents and connecting lines:—

Marking and Addressing Freight.

The attention of all concerned is again directed to the necessity of fully marking all freight.

1. Each package or piece must be plainly marked with the name and address of the consignee, so as to ensure prompt delivery, even if separated from the waybill.

2. Marks on packages should be compared with the bill of lading, and correction, if necessary, made by the shipper or his representative. Old marks must be removed or effaced.

3. Tags should not be used when the nature of the goods will permit of the address being stenciled on packages. If this be not possible, some distinguishing mark or brand must be placed upon the goods, and must be shown in the bill of lading. Agents must transfer such mark or brand to the waybill, which must describe the goods fully. For example, in the case of a shipment of canned goods, the bill of lading (and also the waybill) must show so many cases of tomatoes, so many cases of pears, so many cases of corn, etc., as well as the brand and the mark indicating the consignee and destination.

4. The address on the packages must correspond with that shown in the bill of lading. For example, on a shipment to Winnipeg the packages must be marked "Winnipeg," and not some other destination for which the goods may be ultimately intended. If packages are intended for redistribution beyond, a special designating mark may be used for the guidance of those attending to the redistribution, but only the destination given in the bill of lading must be shown on the goods.

5. Frequently in connection with lake and rail shipments, there is on the same boat more than one consignment for one consignee. In order to prevent such shipments from becoming mixed, it will greatly facilitate their correct handling if shippers will also show on packages their names or trade mark. Consignments can then be delivered complete and errors avoided.

6. Freight consigned to a place of which there are two or more of the same name, must not be forwarded unless the name of the county and province be given.

7. When freight is consigned to a place not on the line of a railway, the shipper must be requested to state the name of the railway station at which the consignee will accept delivery; or if destined to a place reached by a water line, the name of the railway station at which delivery is to be made to such water line.

The proper marking and addressing of freight is as much in the interest of the shipper as of the carrier. Neglect in the proper addressing of packages may result in the loss or miscarriage of the goods.

Agents must see that these instructions are carried out.

W. R. MACINNES,
Freight Traffic Manager.

CHIEF ENGINEER'S REPORT ON CANAL

Mr. Collingwood Schrieber and the Trent Waterway.

Mr. Collingwood Schrieber, Chief Engineer and Deputy Minister of Railways and Canals, reports on the Trent Valley Canal as follows:

The term "Trent Canal" is applied to a series of water stretches, which do not, however, form a connected system of navigation, and which, in their present condition, are efficient only for local use. By various works this local use has been extended, and by others, now in progress and contemplation, this will become a through route between Lake Ontario and Lake Huron.

The series is composed of a chain of lakes and rivers, extending from Trenton at the mouth of the River Trent, on the Bay of Quinte, Lake Ontario, to Lake Huron.

Many years ago the utilizing of these waters for the purpose of through water communication between Lake Huron and Lake Ontario was projected.

The course, as originally contemplated and modified, is as follows:

Through the River Trent, Rice lake, the River Otonabee, and Lakes Clear, Stony, Lovesick, Deer, Bucknorn, Chemong, Pigeon, Sturgeon, and Cameron to Lake Balsam, the summit water, about 165 miles from Trenton; from Balsam Lake by a canal and the River Talbot to Lake Simcoe; thence across Lake Simcoe to the Severn river; thence by the Severn river to Georgian Bay, Lake Huron; the total distance being about 200 miles, of which only about 45 or 20 miles will be actual canal.

The full execution of the scheme, commenced by the Imperial government in 1837, was deferred. By certain works, however, below specified, sections of these waters have been made practicable for navigation, and the whole scheme is now being carried out. A branch of the main route, extending from Sturgeon lake south, affords communication with the town of Lindsay, and, through Lake Scugog to Port Perry, a distance of 190 miles from Trenton.

The following table gives the distance of navigable and unnavigable reaches:

	Nav. Miles	Unnav. Miles
From Trenton, Bay of Quinte to Nine Mile Rapids	9
Nine Mile Rapids to Percy Landing	19 1-2
Percy landing to Heeley's Falls dam	14 1-2
Heeley's Falls dam to Peterborough	51 3-4
Peterborough to Lakefield	9 1-2
Lakefield to a point across Balsam Lake	61
Balsam Lake to Lake Simcoe	18 3-4
Across Lake Simcoe to Severn River	18
Lake Simcoe to Georgian Bay via Severn River	14
	150 1-4	65 3-4

The works by which the Trent navigation has been improved comprise canals with locks and bridges, at Young's Point Burleigh Rapids, Lovesick, Buckhorn Rapids, Bobcaygeon, Fenelon Falls and Rosedale; also dams at Lakefield, Young's Point, Burleigh Falls, Lovesick Buckhorn, Bobcaygeon and Fenelon Falls. By these works there is afforded communication between Lakefield, 9 1-2 miles from Peterborough, and Balsam lake, the headwaters of the system; opening up a total of about 160 miles of direct and lateral navigation.

At Lakefield, 9 1-2 miles from Peterborough, the dam at the head of the Nine Mile rapids of the River Otonabee, maintains navigation on Lake Katchewanooka up to Young's Point.

At Young's Point, 5 Miles from Lakefield, the dam between Lake Katchewanooka and Clear lake controls the water level through Clear and Stony lakes up to the foot of the Burleigh canal. The lock here, it should be observed, is controlled by the Provincial government.

At Burleigh Rapids, 10 miles from Young's Point, a canal, about 2 1-2 miles in length, passes the Burleigh and Lovesick rapids and gives communication between Stony Lake and Deer Bay.

At Buckhorn rapids, 7 miles from Burleigh Rapids, there is a canal about one-fourth of a mile long.

At Bobcaygeon, 15 3-4 miles from Buckhorn Rapids, a dam, 553 feet long, controls the water level up to Fenelon Falls and at Fenelon Falls, 15 Miles from Bobcaygeon, a canal about one-third of a mile in length connects Sturgeon lake with Cameron Lake.

The following is a list of the locks, with their dimensions:

1 lock at Rosedale (maintained by the Ontario Government) 100 ft. by 30 ft by 4 ft 6 in to 6 ft 6 in depth water on mitre sill.

2 locks at Fenlon, 134 ft by 33 ft by 5 ft to 6 ft 6 in depth of water on mitre sill.

1 lock at Lindsay, 134 ft by 33 feet by 5 ft to 7 ft depth of water on mitre sill.

1 lock at Bobcaygeon, 134 ft by 33 ft by 5 ft 8 in to 7 ft 6 in depth of water on mitre sill.

1 lock at Buckhorn, 134 feet by 33 ft by 5 ft to 9 ft depth of water on mitre sill.

1 lock at Lovesick, 134 ft by 33 ft by 5 ft to 9 ft 4 in. depth of water on mitre sill.

2 locks at Burleigh, 134 ft, by 33 ft by 6 ft to 8 ft depth of water on mitre sill.

1 lock at Young's Point, (a Provincial government work) 134 ft by 33 ft by 5ft to 14ft depth of water on mitre sill.

1 lock at Peterborough, 134 ft by 33 ft by 5 ft to 10 ft depth of water on mitre sill.

1 lock at Hastings 134 feet by 33 ft by 7 ft to 10 ft 6 in depth of water on mitre sill.

1 lock at Chisholms, 134 ft by 33 ft by 5 ft to 8 ft 6 in depth of water on mitre sill.

The accountant's report shows the amount spent on the canal:

Total expenditure on Capital Account	$4,135,353 56
Less expenditure prior to Confederation ($3 9,.71 31
Less Expended 1880 ... 561 50	709,912 81
Agreeing with Public Accounts Balance Sheet, 1903, p 4	$3,825,420 75
Total distance, Bay of Quinte to Georgian Bay	212
From Sturgeon point on Sturgeon lake, 48 3-4 miles from Lakefield the branch through the town of Lindsay to Port Perry at the head of Lake Scugog	27

Sealed tenders addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for Port Colborne Breakwater," will be received at this office until Friday, May 6, 1904, inclusively, for the construction of a breakwater at Port Colborne, Welland County, Ontario, according to two sets of plans to be seen at the offices of Louis Coste, Esq., Resident Engineer at Port Colborne, Ont.; H. A. Gray, Esq., Engineer in charge of Harbour Works, Ontario, Confederation Life Building, Toronto; Charles Desjardins, Esq., Clerk of Works, Post Office Building, Montreal, and at the Department of Public Works, Ottawa.

Two forms of tenderers will be furnished but the contractors are at liberty to tender for one or both schemes.

Tenders will not be considered unless made on the form supplied and signed with the actual signature of tenderers.

An accepted cheque on a chartered bank, payable to the order of the Honourable the Minister of Public Works, for twenty-two thousand dollars must accompany each tender. In the case of parties tendering for both schemes only one cheque will be required. The cheque will be forfeited if the party tendering decline the contract or fail to complete the work contracted for, and will be returned in case of non-acceptance of tender.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

By order,

FRED. GELINAS,
Secretary.

IN ITS LAST STAGES

Main Debate on the "Soo" Guarantee Bill Concluded.

THREE MONTHS "HOIST" LOST

Three Members' Votes Challenged—Other Members Admit That They Are Creditors—The Argument on Their Right to Vote Postponed—Morning Session Will Start to Hasten Prorogation.

Toronto, April 22.—What is known as the "Soo" bill was practically carried last night in the Legislature by a straight party vote of 48 to 45. The vote was on a three months' "hoist" amendment, which was negatived by three, but before the main motion was put Mr. Whitney challenged the right to record a vote by three of the members, Messrs. Conmee and Bowman, and Hon. J. R. Stratton, on the ground that they were interested as creditors. Mr. Hendrie and Mr. Beatty announced that they were also creditors, and, though they were opposed to the bill, asked a ruling as to their right to vote. As the hour was late, it was decided to defer the argument on these points until today. In the endeavor to finish the session this week it was previously agreed that the House should meet to-day at 11 a.m.

Mr. Downey resumed the debate on the second reading of the "Soo" bill and the motion to give it a three months' hoist. He was followed by Messrs. Pettypiece, Hanna, Willoughby, Bowman, Fgy, Hon. Mr. Gibson, Whitney and Premier Ross.

Objections to Three Members' Votes.

The leaders of both sids having wound up the debate at 11.30 p. m., it was expected that a division would at once take place, but Mr. Whitney objected, on the ground that it would take so long that the members would miss their street cars home.

Mr. Smith (Sault Ste. Marie) retorted that 300 families in that town had been waiting for weeks for the decision and that they should be considered in preference to the convenience of the Legislature.

Mr. Whitney, rising, said, "I object, Mr. Speaker, to the votes of the hon. member for Port Arthur, the hon. member for North Bruce and the hon. the Provincial Secretary, and I ask your ruling."

The Speaker—The first Lord of the Treasury, Right Hon. A. J. Balfour, on the floor of the British House of Commons, in 1892, stated, in reference to an objection of that sort, that the Government, the Speaker and the Chairman of Committees always leaves these matters for the House to decide.

Mr. Whitney—Is that your ruling?

The Speaker—I give my ruling by stating his words. The question is not for me to decide. It can only be settled by a vote of the House on a substantive motion, which cannot be taken until after the division.

Mr. Hendrie (Hamilton) stated that the firm of which he was a director and also a shareholder had entered into certain contracts with the Algoma Central, and was now in the position of being a creditor of these allied companies. He wished to know from the Speaker whether he had a right to vote on this question. If he had he intended to vote against the bill.

The Speaker, in replying to Mr. Whitney, said that only one man could be challenged at a time. In 1856 objection was raised to some who were alleged to be interested in the Grand Trunk bill, and each name was voted on separately. The rule was that the member whose vote was challenged must retire during the discussion and until after the decision. Common sense must be used, and it was obvious that if twenty or any other number could be challenged at a time and they were obliged to retire the control of the House might pass into the hands of a minority.

Mr. Whitney and the Speaker.

Mr. Whitney—The statement that such a procedure would throw the control of the House into the hands of the Opposition is a new argument to be used by any Speaker of any British Legislature.

The Speaker—I have given my ruling, I have stated the precedents, I have made diligent search in order to be correct, and if my ruling is objected to I appeal to the House.

Mr. Whitney—Oh, well, we propose to appeal to the House, but the time for that has not come

Mr. Beatty (Leeds) said that he was a contractor for the Algoma Commercial Company, which owed him money which he had paid from his own pocket. If he were permitted to vote he would vote against the bill.

After some further discussion the amendment for a three months' "hoist" was put and lost on a straight party division of 45 yeas and 48 nays.

Mr. Whitney then moved that the votes just given by James Conmee and C. M. Bowman be disallowed, "they having a direct joint pecuniary interest in the said bill." He proposed, he said, to follow it up with another motion to disallow the vote of Hon. Mr. Stratton, "on the ground that he is a shareholder in the bank which is a creditor." (Cries of "Oh, oh.")

The Premier objected to coupling the names, for the Speaker had already ruled that only one could be challenged at a time

Hon Mr Gibson suggested that the House might adjourn at this stage and listen to-day, on the main motion, to the arguments on the point raised by Mr Whitney.

The suggestion was adopted and the House adjourned at 12.15 a.m.

THE FATE OF TWO JAP SPIES

Japanese Officers Steevo Yukoka and Giska Oki Were Found With Railway Wrecking Tools and Were Shot—Russians Fleeing North Across the Yalu River Drawn in Hundreds.

St. Petersburg, April 22.—The Emperor has received the following telegram from Gen Kuropatkin, under yesterday's date: "All was quiet on the Yalu, on the 19th and 20th, and there has been no change. On the night of the 19th under Tower Hill west of Kaichju, a steamer was observed sending off boats, evidently for the purpose of taking soundings. The boats soon returned."

Two Jap Spies Shot.

St. Petersburg, April 22.—In another telegram to the Emperor Gen. Kuropatkin says: "I respectfully report to Your Majesty that Steevo Yukoka and Giska Okf, were arrested near the station Turchaikal. In their possession were found three cases of Bickford fuse, a French wrench, dynamite cartridges, tools for railway wrecking, cylinders containing one and one-half pounds of pyroxlin, good maps of Mongolia, Manchuria and Northern Corea and a number of notes. The officers were shot."

Hundreds of Russians Drowned.

London, April 22.—A correspondent of The Times, cabling from Newchwang, says that a messenger has arrived there from the Yalu River, with the information that the Russians are fleeing north across the river in overcrowded boats and are losing hundreds of men by drowning.

To Prey on Jap Commerce.

St. Petersburg, April 22.—The admiralty, it is announced, intends to fit out two ships purchased from Germany, which were formerly in the trans-Atlantic service, together with a number of ships of the volunteer fleet with rapid firing guns and to send them to the Pacific to prey upon Japanese commerce.

Port Arthur Doomed.

London, April 22.—The Tokio correspondent of The Daily Telegraph says that Port Arthur undoubtedly is effectually blocked, and that events are culminating around the doomed fortress.

The correspondent of The Standard at Tientsin says that Japanese troops are now embarking from Corea and possibly are being reinforced by the forces on the Yalu River, from which the Russians have practically withdrawn.

Kuropatkin Orders An Advance.

Paris, April 22.—The St. Petersburg correspondent of The Petit Parisien says he has learned that Gen. Kuropatkin has ordered the advance of the Russian forces, which are massed in Northwestern Corea, and that a brigade of infantry, with 5,000 Cossacks, is within 100 versts of the Tumen River.

The People's Money.

St. Petersburg, April 22.—Russia has made a new issue of $15,000,000 in paper currency against free gold in the State bank. At the Ministry of Finance it was explained.

Japs in Disguise.

St. Petersburg, April 22.—Mail advices from Alexandroff, Island of Sakhalin, says it is believed that 2,000 to 3,000 Japanese, employed on the eastern and southern coasts, are disguised as soldiers and sailors.

PROHIBITION CONVENTION.

Almost 500 Representatives Present—Party Ties No Longer to Bind Them—The Resolutions Passed.

Toronto, April 22.—The annual meeting of the Dominion Alliance filled the Guild Hall on McGill street yesterday, about 450 delegates attending. At the afternoon session Mayor Urquhart sat on the platform beside President G. F. Marter, Rev. C. A. Chown, Rev. Chas. Deacon, Rev. Dr. Abraham, Dr. Emory, Secretary F. S. Spence, and Treasurer R. J. Fleming.

The mayor expressed his welcome to the convention on bohalf of the city. He believed the great movement at present was to curb the liquor traffic and abolish the bars, and he gave it his cordial support.

Mr. Marter's Address.

In his inaugural address G. F. Marter called for calmness, resolution, and unity in the policy of supporting only such electoral candidates as would pledge themselves for prohibition. He still held his faith in Premier Ross' promises. Mr. Ross would have been defeated by his own political followers and there were not enough on the other side who would enable him to carry his measure. Mr. Marter thought it disgraceful that voters placed party before temperance principle.

Rev. Dr. R. H. Abraham, field secretary of the movement, wrote 375 letters to prominent temperance workers in connection with the work and only got 45 replies, 12 per cent. only responding. Fifteen voters' leagues had been formed, and the expenses had barely been met.

Rev. C. A. Chown presented the resolutions adopted by the committee, and an animated discussion ensued.

Vote For Right Men.

The principal resolutions finally adopted were:

That this convention reaffirms the declaration made at its last annual meeting, that the minimum of legislation that can be accepted as reasonable and right would be the abolition of the public bar, the treating system, and drinking in clubs, and the imposition of such other restrictions on the liquor traffic as shall most effectively curtail its operation and remedy its evils.

That it is the duty of temperance men to work for the nomination and election of candidates pledged to the immediate enactment of the legislation asked for by the Alliance, and this convention is confident that if either political party definitely declared itself in favor of such a policy, that party would be endorsed by the electors at the polls.

That this convention also expresses its conviction that Governments and political parties should be made aware that they cannot continue to ignore the demands for adequate temperance legislation, and hope for the support of temperance men.

Treasurer's Report.

R. J. Fleming presented the treasurer's report, showing an income of $2,550.83, and an expenditure of $3,094.05, leaving a deficit of $143.22.

The report of the executive committee was presented, and they were instructed to carry on the establishment of voters' leagues. A fund of $7,500 was asked for. About $1,000 was subscribed before the close of the afternoon meeting.

Business Session.

The evening meeting was presided over by Emerson Coatsworth, and was largely a business session.

The officers for 1904-5 were selected, among them being: President, G. F. Marter; Secretary, F. S. Spence, Treasurer, R. J. Fleming.

A number of addresses were made and the convention closed.

ENTHUSIASM FOR HOME RULE.

Nationalist Convention Sees the Unionist Defeated By Irish.

Dublin, April 22.—The annual Nationalist convention at the Mansion House here yesterday was well attended, and excited much enthusiasm. John Redmond, who presided at the opening proceedings, said the Unionist Government and party were in a condemned cell waiting for the execution of the sentence which had been pronounced on them, and in all human probability it was reserved for the representatives of Ireland to give the final blow which would end their existence. They had denied Ireland home rule, had broken their pledges and had introduced a budget which would impose an additional burden of $2,500,000 yearly on Ireland. The question of home rule was again becoming a deciding factor in English elections, and when the dissolution of Parliament came it would be found to be a deciding factor as to what Government should rule this Empire. The convention passed a resolution in favor of home rule, and expressing confidence in the Irish members.

May Bombard Port.

Kingston, Jamaica, April 22.—The British cruiser Retribution, which, under instructions from the Imperial Government, sailed from Kingston, April 11, for a Nicaraguan port, in connection with the seizure of six Cayman turtle schooners and the arrest of their crews by Nicaraguan officials reached the Nicaraguan coast yesterday, after ascertaining that the vessels and crews had been sent to Bluefields. The captain of the Retribution accused the Nicaraguan commandant under whose orders the schooners were seized, of conspiracy. There is consternation among the Nicaraguan officials over the affair. It is rumored that should it be found necessary the Retribution will bombard the port of Bluefields.

What French Give Up.

London, April 22.—(C.A.P.)—Right Hon. Alfred Lyttelton, replying in the House of Commons, said that the following establishments would be given up by French citizens as a result of the Newfoundland Treaty: One cod fishery with a catch of 260,000 fish; three cod and lobster fisheries, with a catch of 185,000 cod and 2,530 cases of lobsters; nine lobster fisheries, with a catch of 1,842 cases; 4 petits pecheurs, with a catch of 140,000 fish.

AFTERMATH OF TORONTO FIRE

Insurance Rates Up—Railways Want Some Burned Over Property—High Prices May Prevent Rebuilding.

Toronto, April 22.—One of the most important advances that have yet been recorded in the annals of local insurance rates was announced at the conclusion of yesterday's meeting of the Canadian Fire Underwriters' Association. The revised schedule of extra fire rates for Toronto handed out by Secretary Hadrill of Montreal was only decided on after much anxious debate and careful weighing of the situation.

The regulation is retroactive and went into effect at Tuesday midnight.

By it, on all mercantile, schedule and other specially rated risks, there is to be an increase in the rate of $1, or, to put it in other words, congested district property insured at the rate of 1½ per cent. will in future be assessed at a 2½ per cent. rate. Secretary Hadrill, while not prepared to offer a precise estimate of what the all-round advance will amount to under these conditions, made the rough calculation that it will represent an increase of about 75 per cent.

Railways Want to Come In.

What is to be done with the property affected by the fire? The property owned by the city south of Front on the Esplanade is said to be sought by the railways. And it is also said that the Canadian Pacific is the particular road that is anxious to secure this space to be used for additional sidings, and freight accommodation. It is also stated that the G.T.R. will be bidders in the field if it is once decided that the present tenants decide not to [illegible].

May Not Rebuild.

The rebuilding of the burned area will in a great measure depend on the attitude of builders. Already there is a disposition among some of those burned out to fear that they will be "held up." If such is the case, they express themselves as willing to leave the property vacant for a period and locate for business elsewhere. While intimations of prompt re-construction have come from many, the conditions as they will shape themselves will be a determining factor. A member of the Wyld-Darling firm said yesterday that they would certainly not enter upon rebuilding operations if prices were unduly advanced.

Another Serious Fire.

Another serious fire broke out in the wholesale district at 8 o'clock last night, and the premises of Phillips & Wrinch, dealers in threads and notions, 8 West Wellington street, were badly damaged. The total loss on stock and buildings will be in the neighborhood of $35,000, covered by insurance. Yesterday this firm was being congratulated at being the only one left in that line.

A FOUR HOURS' FIRE.

Twenty Buildings, Including R. C. Church, Burned At St. John, N.B.

St. John, N.B., April 22.—The C. P.R. has information that some twenty buildings, including the Roman Catholic Church, Independent Order of Forestors hall, postoffice and Junction house, were destroyed by fire at McAdam Junction yesterday. The fire started in the Junction House about 4.30 o'clock, and was under control at 8.30. The C. P.R. machine shops escaped, though the roof caught fire several times. No estimate of the loss could be obtaines here last night.

From Sleep to Suicide.

Winnipeg, April 22.—Chas. Handcock, a wealthy rancher, living near Erinview postoffice, for the past twenty years, killed himself at six o'clock yesterday morning, at the residence of his brother-in-law, John Berry. He was sleeping with Mr. Berry's son, and while lying in bed reached for a revolver and shot himself in the head. He had been in ill-health for some time.

FRIDAY, APRIL 22, 1904.

RECORD-BREAKING ELECTION EXPENSES

The Opposition politicians and press have wasted much eloquence and invective in trying to attach a charge of corrupt electoral methods to the Liberal party, the inference being presumably that the Conservative party only was pure.

In the Toronto News, one of the most partizan of the "Independent Conservative newspapers," was published on November 14th, 1903, a remarkable "Narrative of a movement in Ontario to raise and expend money for legitimate campaign purposes." According to this document it was raised for the general elections of 1902, by a specially devised "Ontario Conservative Association," the sum of $28,000 and distributed for "legitimate" election expenses to the Opposition candidates in the several ridings. Of this sum, at the claimed, only $22,000 was thus applied. It would amount to an average of about $325 for each constituency, which according to the narrative of the Conservative conspiracy "to purify politics," was sufficient for "legitimate" expenses.

But applying this standard to the certified bill of election expenses of Mr. Dunlop, the successful Conservative candidate in North Renfrew, results in a decided misfit. His election expenses amounted to $7,278.19, about 32 1-2 times greater than the standard amount set by the Ontario Conservative Purity Association.

Was Mr. Dunlop's big bill compiled for "legitimate" expenses? Let us look at the matter a moment. Mr. Dunlop's election expenses of $7,278 breaks the record. The next highest election expenses bill on record being one-third less—$1,800. Mr. Dunlop's bill of election expenses is so interesting that it is reproduced below as certified to on Feb. 26th by his financial agent:—

Postage and stationery	$ 292 13
Rent of committee rooms in Pembroke	336 25
Caretaker of committee rooms	181 50
Clerical work on voters' lists, etc.	114 75
Wood for committee rooms	4 50
Furniture and fittings for committee rooms	24 85
Speakers' expenses	75 00
Newspapers for committee rooms	5 00
Livery and driving	500 25
Bill posting, etc	117 00
Printing	456 97
Telephone and telegrams	102 09
Electric light	41 75
Seals and scissors	5 75
Personal expenses of candidate, including rent of halls	1,626 00
Total	$7,278 19

According to the theory of the "Ontario Conservative Association," $225 is a sufficient sum for the "legitimate" expenses of a candidate, since the total expenditure for this purpose in the general election of 1902, was, as we are told, only some $22,000. But if each candidate in 98 constituencies had spent as much as Mr. Dunlop for "legitimate" expenses the total expenditure for all the ridings of the province would, instead of $22,000, be $713,000. It will be noted that Mr. Dunlop's expenditure for "Livery and driving," was $5,810.25, a sum for this item alone seventeen times larger than the standard average fixed by the Conservative association for all purposes, and more than double the highest recorded election expenses previous to December, 1903. Mr. Dunlop's "personal" election expenses, are returned as amounting to $1,6.6, seven times for this one item alone, in excess of the standard average of the Conservative "Purity" Association. No wonder Mr. Dunlop, when spoken to regarding this enormous election bill of expenses, said to a News reporter, "I am trying to forget it as soon as I can." But the public won't forget it very soon. Here we have a Conservative candidate, conducting an election under the auspices of the Conservative party, which formed an association to bring election expenses to a legitimate standard minimum, piling up an election bill over thirty times greater than this standard. Will any one believe that this huge bill can represent "legitimate" expenses? Is there not the greatest reason to believe that there is some ultimate relation between the big bill of "legitimate" election expenses and the big "Conservative" majority Mr. Dunlop polled in North Renfrew?

YOUNG'S POINT.

(From our own Correspondent.)

A very pretty wedding took place in St Mary's church Tuesday last, when Mr. Richard Fitzgerald, son of Mr. Edward Fitzgerald, of this place, was united in marriage to Miss Henriette Duncon, of the Isle of Wight, England. The wedding ceremony was performed by Rev. Father Phelan. The bride was charmingly attired in cream cashmere, trimmed with silk and lace, and wore a white picture hat. Mrs. DuBois, of Denver, Col., who acted as bridesmaid wore blue trimmed with cream silk and hat to match. Mr. Fred Fitzgerald, brother of the groom, acted as groomsman. The choir rendered special musical selections for the occasion and the wedding march was played with much expression. After the ceremony the usual wedding dinner was enjoyed by a number of friends at Mr. E. Fitzgerald's home and after dinner was over and the bridal party were tendered the congratulations and best wishes from their friends, the afternoon was spent in games and songs. The bride received quite a number of costly presents. The groom's gift to the bride was a gold watch and chain and to the bridesmaid a gold brooch. The friends of both wish them a very happy and prosperous wedded life.

A school meeting was held here Wednesday for the purpose of joining some of the ratepayers of Douro whose children have been attending the school here. It was finally settled that they would be joined to the school here.

The water in the river, which is very high in our little village at present, is now on the decline.

The Lakeview House is undergoing a thorough overhauling this week, papering and painting; getting it ready for the summer tourists.

Mr. James McPherson, of Peterborough, has almost completed bricking the residence belonging to Mr. Jams Reid.

Miss Mary Young, of Ennismore, is visiting friends here.

Mr. T. Hoolihan, of Pittsburg, spent a couple of days with friends here this week.

Mrs. DuBois and Master Albert, of Denver, Col., after making an extended visit with her father here, left this week for her home.

Mr. P. Sullivan spent a couple of days in Peterborough this week attending his cousin's funeral, Mr. B. Sullivan.

Mr. P. P. Young's new steamer is making great headway. Mr. Young is hustling the work along so as to have it ready for the beginning of the summer season.

CLYDESDALE.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

The farmers of Clydesdale are in great hopes that spring is near. A few chipmunks were seen last week.

This winter has been a very hard one. It has left feed very scarce in this neighbourhood, and it is quite cold yet.

All the Clydesdale boys are home now, and seem to be having a good time.

There was a very nice party at William Peters' on Friday night last.

Miss Maggie Menogue and Miss Emily Beggs were the guests of Stephen Scott on Sunday.

Miss Eva Hanks was the guest of John Menogue on Friday evening.

Simon Mahoney was the guest of W. Scott on Friday night.

Messrs. Maurice Hobbins and R. Hynes were the guests of Mr. Robert Fletcher on Saturday last.

Mr. Dennis O'Brien has arrived home from the shanty, where he spent a long winter.

Mr. Michael O'Brien is visiting with friends in town.

Mr. George Hynes had his waggon out on Thursday last for the first time this spring.

Mr. Jas. Scott was the guest of Simon Mahoney on Sunday.

CHURCH UNION.

On the subject of union between the Presbyterians and the Methodists the Christian Guardian, the organ of the latter, recently said, "Meantime we have fraternal union. Let us make the best of it. And for the rest, let us not be too hasty, but seek for and follow the indications of Providence." To this the Rev. Prof. S. G. Bland replies that fraternity between churches bearing different names, however little else there may be to divide them, "is pretty nearly impossible except in spasms." The brotherly sentiments which are expressed when the representatives of different bodies meet on a common platform are, no doubt, sincere enough, while they last, yet Prof. Bland says, "the amount of underhand intrigue that exists between the Presbyterians and the Methodists in Canada to-day is deplorable." This he does not attribute to differences of character or aim but chiefly to the fact that they are under different flags. Exactly the same conditions existed between the diverse Methodist bodies before they united and they practically disappeared with union. "Divide the most friendly set of school boys," says Prof. Bland, "into two armies; call one Russians and the other Japs; give them two flags, and in a week they will be ready to fight at sight." Among the evils which, according to Prof. Bland, result from living under different banners are waste of money and effort, overwork and under pay of ministers, whose rival fields must struggle all over the prairie to pick up enough tiny congregations to pay a starveling salary, lessened moral influence, divided counsels and impoverished ideals of life. But he thinks that perhaps the greatest evil of all "is the jealousy that has been, is now, and ever shall be, the offspring of division." In view of these his question is whether the two churches can afford to wait. The Guardian testifies to the immediate, extraordinary and permanent benefit that came to both the Presbyterian and Methodist churches in Canada through the unions hitherto achieved and also to an unconscious movement in the direction of uniformity of doctrine, or, at least of doctrine preached, and seems to assume that union between these bodies must ultimately be reached. The question might therefore be asked, whether the indications of Providence, sought for by the Guardian, have not been already vouchsafed.

CHANGE of LIFE

Owing to modern methods of living, not one woman in a thousand approaches this perfectly natural change without experiencing a train of very annoying and sometimes painful symptoms.

Those dreadful hot flashes, sending the blood surging to the heart until it seems ready to burst, and the faint feeling that follows, sometimes with chills, as if the heart were going to stop forever, are only a few of the symptoms of dangerous nervous trouble. The nerves are crying out for assistance. The cry should be heeded in time.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

was prepared to meet the needs of woman's system at this trying period of her life, and all women who use it pass through this trying period with comfort and safety.

READ THESE CONVINCING LETTERS:

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I feel it my duty to write you about the wonderful cure your medicine has brought about.

"I suffered for years with change of life. I would have fainting spells, either before or after my monthly periods. They would come on me suddenly. Sometimes I would be on the street.

"I had pains all over me. My head ached all the time, could take no walks or go up stairs without becoming completely exhausted. I suffered untold misery. I tried doctor's medicines for a long time, but derived no benefit.

"I cannot say too much in praise of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and would advise all sufferers of female trouble to use it, for it will certainly cure them."—MRS. LIZZIE C. REYNOLDS, Buchanan, Va.

When one stops to think about the good these women derived from this great medicine, it seems almost beyond belief; yet it is all true as stated in their letters published above at their own request.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—My trouble was change of life and cramping. No human tongue can describe what I suffered with the cramp. I dreaded from one time to another so much that I almost wanted to die.

"Our family physician did everything he could for me, but I got no relief. He said if I lived to get through with the other trouble, it would wear away after a time, but I had it six years and could not walk or exercise in any way without bringing on an attack of the cramp, and I would suffer untold misery until I would be perfectly exhausted and helpless.

"I read in one of your little books about your medicine being good for female trouble and change of life, and thought there was no harm in trying it, so I did, and it helped me and I was able to take walks and work some.

"I am very thankful for the relief your medicine has been to me."—MRS. V. M. BLAKE, Deep Water, W. Va.

For these ills no other medicine in the world has received such widespread and unqualified endorsement. Refuse all substitutes.

As a positive fact the private files at Lydia E. Pinkham's laboratory contain thousands of letters from women who have been safely carried through that danger period "Change of Life." The cures of Mrs. Reynolds and Mrs. Blake are not unusual ones for this medicine to accomplish.

No such helpful advice to women who are sick can be had elsewhere as will be received free by addressing Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass.—if you are sick write her—you are foolish if you don't.

G. T. PACIFIC R. BILL

Introduced After the Resolution Passes Through the House.

MR. BLAIR'S MEMORANDUM

Another Sharp Discussion in the Matter—Sir Wilfrid Punctures Mr. Borden's Ethical Contentions—Col. Hughes' Little Joke—Mr. Lefurgey Reads the Report of the G.T.R. Shareholders' Meeting.

Ottawa, April 22.—The House, after a day spent in committee upon the Grand Trunk Pacific resolution, passed it, and the bill founded upon it was introduced and given first reading yesterday. The debate was characterized by a sharp discussion upon ethics, in which Mr. R. L. Borden maintained that Mr. Blair's memorandum should have been brought down, with the other papers bearing on that gentleman's resignation. The Premier intimated that Mr. Blair when he resigned made a list of documents which he desired to be brought down, and that the memo was not included in that list, therefore Mr. Borden's contention was not tenable.

Col. Hughes' Little Joke.

The House again went into committee upon the Grand Trunk Pacific resolution, and Col. Sam Hughes took the floor and suggested with great suavity that the Premier withdraw the resolution, a request which was received with laughter from the Government benches, in which Sir Wilfrid joined. Col. Hughes declared himself in favor of a transcontinental railway, owned and operated by the people if need be, but in any event controlled by them. The Premier he insisted, had been buncoed, and knew he had been buncoed, with regard to the provisions respecting rolling stock, and in relation to the operation of the Winnipeg division the Government had nothing in the agreement that would be in the interests of the people of Canada. When the freight reaches Quebec Col. Hughes insisted that it would be 150 miles nearer to Portland than St. John he cared not what route it took. Under the amended contract the Grand Trunk Pacific had the Government at their mercy, and would only operate the section from Winnipeg eastward upon their own terms, pending the completion to Moncton. He contended that only by Government operation could the freight be retained for Canadian ports.

Grand Trunk Pacific Debate.

Speeches were made on the merits of the Grand Trunk Pacific by Messrs. W. H. Bennett, Hon. Chas. Fitzpatrick, R. F. Borden, Hon. Mr. Fielding, Clancy and Lefurgey. The latter, in order to get it on Hansard read a lengthy report of the Grand Trunk shareholders' recent meeting from The London Railway News. Hon. Mr. Fielding and Hon. Mr. Brodeur, who had a copy of the alleged verbatim report of the proceedings of the meeting, which was circulated among the members of the House by the Opposition, checked the report read by Mr. Lefurgey. Numerous discrepancies upon material points were detected, and attention directed to them, and the Government supporters demanded from Mr. Lefurgey some verification before the accuracy of either was accepted by the House.

At 12 o'clock the resolution was adopted, and Hon. Mr. Fitzpatrick introduced the bill thereon, which was given first reading.

Information Given.

Replying to Mr. Barker, Minister Emmerson stated that the gross earnings of the Intercolonial Railway for the eight months ending February 29, 1901, were $4,179,145. The operating expenses were for the same period $180,817.

The Minister of Militia informed the House that it is not the practice of the Department to reimburse officers who have been required to procure certain uniforms when the style and color of such uniforms are afterwards changed by regulation.

The Minister of Militia also stated contracts for forage caps and other headgear for the regular militia forces have been awarded within the last three months to Christie & Co., London; Hicks & Co., London; Laliberte, Quebec, and Bloomfield, London. These firms have held contracts for several years.

The Minister of Railways stated that it is the intention to put a second Maritime express between Montreal and Halifax, to leave Montreal daily in the evening.

The House adjourned at 12.10.

APPOINTMENT OF MR. J. B. JACKSON.

Sir Mackenzie Bowell Asks For All Correspondence Relating to It.

Ottawa, April 22.—J. B. Jackson, who, in the North Oxford election trial, came into unenviable notoriety and later came into a good thing in the shape of a $3,000 a year Government office in England, was the subject of discussion in the Senate yesterday. Sir Mackenzie Bowell asked for copies of all correspondence and recommendations, which led to Jackson's appointment as commercial agent to Leeds and Hull, England. Speaking to his motion Sir Mackenzie read from a newspaper reports of the North Oxford trial to show that Jackson was guilty of bribery in connection with the attempt to upset the election of Donald Sutherland. In one report it was stated that Mr. Jackson did not care whether the evidence was true or false so long as it upset the election. This, said Sir Mackenzie, was the man who was given a good position in England by the Government. He stated how honest men thought of such an appointment as that. This was but a bit of what might be proved against him.

Senator Kerr of Toronto pointed out that Sir Mackenzie based his imputations against Mr. Jackson on the evidence of the trial and especially on evidence obtained by Jackson through one Chambers. The election was a local one, and Chambers had been a Conservative candidate in the riding. The effect of the trial was that Sutherland was unseated and there was a new trial. When served with the subpoena Chambers stated that he knew no evidence to unseat Mr. Sutherland. He did not want to be called himself, and asked what Jackson would pay for getting that evidence. He asked $1,500. If Sir Mackenzie would get the shorthand evidence it would show that no money was paid Chambers as a bribe, but for information by which bribery sufficient to unseat the candidate could be proven. That was all that was proved.

The correspondence will be brought down.

Tell Me Who Needs Help

Just a Postal. That is All.

No money is wanted—from you—nor from him. I ask only a postal card, and I ask it as an act of humanity.

I will send him my book. I will arrange with a druggist that he may take six bottles Dr. Shoop's Restorative. He may take it a month at my risk. If it succeed the cost is $5.50. If it fail, I pay the druggist myself. And the sick one's mere word shall decide it.

Could I meet you—for even ten minutes—I would forever convince you that I have what these sick ones need. More than that, they must have it, for most of them can never get well without it.

But I can meet only a few, so I take this means to convince you. I let you take it a month to prove what it can do, and you can pay or I will pay, just as you decide.

I have found the cured ones fair. In the past twelve years I have furnished my Restorative to hundreds of thousands on these terms, and 39 out of 40 have paid—and paid gladly—because they were cured. I will pay just as willingly if you say I have failed.

My Restorative is the result of my lifetime's work in learning how to strengthen the inside nerves.

I don't doctor the organs, but I bring back the nerve power which alone operates every vital organ. I give the weak organ power to do its duty, as you would give a weak engine more steam.

My way never fails, save when a cause—like Cancer—makes a cure impossible. No case is to odifficult, for I have watched the remedy succeed in the most desperate cases that physicians ever meet.

You know some sick one who will be well with my help. Won't you let me furnish the help?

BEGINNING OF GAS.

Sir Walter Scott a Better Novelist Than Scientist.

Jan. 28 marked an interesting anniversary in the history of street lighting, for it was on that date in 1807 that Pall Mall was lighted with gas—the first street of any city so illuminated. The idea of using gas for purposes of illumination first occurred to Mr. William Murdock, a native of Ayrshire, who worked in the mines of Redruth, Cornwall.

He made his first experiments in 1792, at Redruth. Removing in 1798 to the machine making works of Messrs Watt and Boulton at Birmingham, he there followed up his experiments, and succeeded in lighting up the building with gas for the celebration of the Peace of Amiens.

The merit of bringing gas light into use in London belongs to a German named Winser, who somewhat retarded the success of his schemes by the extravagance of his pamphlets. Sir Walter Scott wrote from London that there was a madman proposing to light London with—what do you think?—why, with smoke.

Even the liberal mind of Sir Humphrey Davy failed to take in the idea that gas was applicable to purposes of street or house lighting. Yet, Winser having succeeded after all in obtaining some supporters, the long line between St. James' Palace and Cockspur street did blaze out in a burst of gas lamps on the night in question to the no small admiration of the public.

In London, about 1810, before any company had been established, Mr. Ackermann's shop in the Strand was regularly lighted with gas. It is said that a lady calling there one evening was so delighted with the beautiful white jets she saw on the counter that she offered any money for permission to carry them home to light her drawing-room!

Gas lighting had a ridiculous objection to contend with, worthy to be ranked with that which insisted for years, without experiment, that the wheels of steam locomotives would go on whirling without creating any forward movement. It was generally assumed that the pipes conveying gas would be hot and apt to produce conflagrations. People used to touch them cautiously with their hands, under the belief that a careless touch would burn them.

When Candles Were Used.

In view of the gloomy weather that has been associated with the opening of Parliament, says London Echo, it is interesting to note that on one occasion the royal speech had to be delivered by candle light. On this date, 1836, Parliament was opened by William IV., and the weather was unusually gloomy. An imperfection in the sight of the King, and the darkness of the House, rendered it impossible for His Majesty to read the royal speech with facility.

Most patiently and good-naturedly did he struggle with the task, often hesitating, sometimes mistaking, and at others correcting himself. On one occasion he stuck altogether, and after two or three ineffectual efforts to make out the word, he was obliged to give it up; when, turning to Lord Melbourne, who stood on his right hand, and looking him most significantly in the face, he said, in a tone sufficiently loud to be audible in all parts of the House, "Eh! what is it?"

Lord Melbourne having whispered the obstructing word, the King proceeded to toil through the speech; but by the time he got to about the middle the librarian brought him two wax-lights, on which he suddenly paused, then raising his head, and looking at the Lords and Commons, he addressed them on the spur of the moment, in a perfectly distinct voice, and without the least embarrassment or the mistake of a single word, in these terms:

"My Lords and Gentlemen—I have hitherto not been able, from want of light, to read this speech in the way its importance deserves, but as lights are now brought me, I will read it again from the commencement, and in a way which, I trust, will command your attention."

The King then again, though evidently fatigued by the difficulty of reading in the first instance, began at the beginning and read through the speech in "a manner which would have done credit to any professor of elocution."

To Investigate Gen. Hutton.

London, April 21.—(C.A.P.)—The Federal Senate has appointed a committee to investigate whether General Hutton attempted to retire Colonel Neild because of his criticisms in Parliament.

IS THF MASK OFF?

An Alleged Speech by a Russian General Which Indicates the Reasons Why Britain Distrusts Russia.

"What the nations are about to witness is a grand turning movement on the part of Russia against its old, dogged opponent, Britain. As an incident of this operation Japan must be crushed They must be cleared off Russia's flank, otherwise the advance of the Czar's forces cannot be continued across China. Japan stands between Russia and the aim of which she has never lost sight—to turn the British off their position in India and to shatter the British wall that blocks the Russian path in the Persian Gulf and the Bosphorus. Lord Lansdowne, the British Foreign Minister, not long ago boldly announced in the House of Lords that Britain would fight any power that might presume to share the advantages of the Persian Gulf. All I have to say is that that is a question of strategy and strength rather than a question of official pronounciamentos."

Thus spoke a Russian general the other day, according to a St. Petersburg despatch, which, however, strangely resembles a despatch which might be composed in the seclusion of some New York newspaper office. It is not like "a well known Russian general" to throw aside the mask unless something is to be gained; and it is difficult to understand how Russia secures any advantage by taking the world into her confidence, and avowing intentions which she has hitherto disclaimed. Of course, everyone knows how Russia yearns to establish a foothold in India; how she longs to destroy British prestige in Persia, and how she pants to spread her influence south, through China and Thibet, to Afghanistan. But we do not know any of these things because Russia told us of them.

The British have always differentiated between Russia and the Russian people, and it is Russia that they mistrust. For the Russians, the common people, who are little better than slaves, according to Anglo-Saxon ideas of liberty, Englishmen have always had sympathy, mingled with pity. But the Russia that has made Siberia notorious, that conquered Finland and Poland, that spreads her police spies over all the world, and that menaces India, is quite another Russia, indeed. This is the Russia that is at war with Japan, the Russia that Britain is always watching. One reason why this feeling should exist more in England than in any other European country is to be found in the fact that London has always been a city of refuge for the persecuted. All sorts of agitators, Finns, Poles, and Jews, congregate there escaped Nihilists make it their headquarters. In such numbers do they come that their influence is bound to be felt in London. These agitators or patriots (whichever they are) are always crying out against Russia. Many of them are able men, cultured men, and Englishmen who come in contact with them are prone to accept their interpretation of the word Russia. For fifty years or more this anti-Russian movement has been gathering strength. In itself it might never be serious, but added to real grievances it has had a powerful effect on the mind of the average Briton.

Had it not been for this sentiment, Great Britain could never have been dragged into her first and last open clash with Russia in the Crimea. This war, which did not really concern Great Britain in the first place, was chiefly of France's making. But the British Minister at Constantinople, Lord Stratford, had a personal grievance against the Czar (who had refused to receive him at St. Petersburg), and his private animosity prompted him to take an anti-Russian attitude. The war grew out of a petty religious squabble between France and Russia regarding the custody of some holy places in Jerusalem. It resulted in Russia demanding that the Sultan of Turkey recognize Russia as the protector of the Greek Church in Turkey. All the powers agreed to this, but Turkey, encouraged by Lord Stratford, refused. Suddenly the Porte ordered all Russians out of his dominion, and followed this edict up by attacking some Russian troops. Russia retaliated by destroying the Turkish fleet at Sinope. This engagement, which had some of the features of a massacre, so aroused British public opinion that the Ministry was forced into the arena, and Britain became the ally of France.

In 1856, the very year when peace was restored, the Shah of Persia, thinking Britain was sufficiently engaged in the Crimea, seized the City of Herat, on Russia's advice, thus committing an overt act of war. The expedition of Sir James Outram quickly cured Persia of her love of fighting. Then for a few years no offensive move was made by Russia. But in 1870 instigated by Bismarck, she abrogated the treaty by which the Crimean War had been settled, and began fortifying the Black Sea. Britain protested, but was not willing to go to war, especially as Germany supported Russia, and France lay prostrated at the feet of her conquerors. So nothing came of the protest, and Russia carried her point.

Not long after this, Russian intrigue at Cabul brought on the war with Afghanistan, in which Lord Roberts so distinguished himself. The Czar's policy was to establish himself in this "buffer State," and use it as a base by which he might penetrate India, and gain an outlet to the sea. In the years which have elapsed this policy has not changed. Russia, the great land country, needs, above everything, southern ports, and south-eastern ports. Britain's policy has been to keep Russia isolated, to seal up the Bear in his cavern. This, too, is the principle for which her stout little ally Japan has gone to war.

San Jose Scale.

St. Catharines, April 21.—The San Jose scale is declared by the Government Fruit Trees Inspector, Thomas Beattie, to be destructive to chickens as well as to fruit trees. A week ago Landis C. Bradt lost nine Plymouth Rock pullets in a mysterious manner, and Veterinary Surgeon Elliott, who was called in to perform a post-mortem examination, expressed the opinion that the birds had died from too close confinement. Mr. Bradt, however, had allowed the chickens to roost in the plum trees during the season, and called in the San Jose Scale Inspector, who found that the legs of the birds were covered with the scale.

The Montague Bribery Enquiry.

London, April 21.—(C.A.P.)—The evidence given before the Victorian Bribery Commission yesterday was directed to show that Dr. Montague influenced others besides Sir Alex Peacock. It is alleged he got questions asked in House of Assembly supplying Sir Alex. Peacock with the answer. Dr. Montague sent an affidavit to a Canadian to deny bribery and stating the money was offered out of friendship.

A Wonderful Book.

As a work forf amily reference there was probably never compiled a more useful book than Dr. Chase's Receipt Book. Besides containing the symptoms of disease, their cause and cure and the great prescriptions gathered during half a century of medical practice, this book is replete with receipts for cooking and has a complete department devoted to the care of farm stock, bees, domestic animals, etc. For full particulars write Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

12 Dropped to Death.

Sealed tenders addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for Port Colborne Breakwater," will be received at this office until Friday, May 6, 1904, inclusively, for the construction of a breakwater at Port Colborne, Welland County, Ontario, according to two sets of plans to be seen at the offices of Louis Coste, Esq., Resident Engineer at Port Colborne, Ont.; H. A. Gray, Esq., Engineer in charge of Harbour Works, Ontario, Confederation Life Building, Toronto; Charles Desjardins, Esq., Clerk of Works, Post Office Building, Montreal, and at the Department of Public Works, Ottawa.

Two forms of tenderers will be furnished but the contractors are at liberty to tender for one or both schemes.

Tenders will not be considered unless made on the form supplied and signed with the actual signature of tenderers.

An accepted cheque on a chartered bank, payable to the order of the Honourable the Minister of Public Works, for twenty-two thousand dollars must accompany each tender. In the case of parties tendering for both schemes only one cheque will be required. The cheque will be forfeited if the party tendering decline the contract or fail to complete the work contracted for, and will be returned in case of non-acceptance of tender.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

LeBRUN'S STORE SLIGHTLY DAMAGED.

A Fire Did $150 Damage Early Last Night.

Origin Supposed to be a Lighted Match Dropped Through Grating Damage Confined to Goods in Window.

With the disastrous Toronto conflagration fresh in the minds of all, the ringing of the firebell about half past eight o'clock last night created something more than the ordinary interest usually manifested on such occasions. The news that H. LeBrun's store on George street was on fire, spread rapidly, and before the bell had ceased to ring some two hundred persons were on the spot. As time wore on, however, the crowd swelled more and more, and in an incredibly short time fully five hundred must have been present. Looking around, one naturally wondered where they all came from.

The store was filled with smoke but no sign of any flame could be seen. On the arrival of the brigade an entrance was forced, and the firemen discovered a small blaze in the basement under the north window. The flooring was at once torn up and the flames quickly extinguished by the chemical appliance and a stream of water. The brigade was only busy for about ten minutes.

The only reasonable solution as to the origin of the fire is that it was caused by a lighted match or cigar or cigarette stub, having been dropped through the grating over the basement window. A large number of newsboys gather on this corner every night, and in the intervals between sales indulge in smoking cigarettes, etc. The supposition is that a match was dropped carelessly on the walk and fell through the grating igniting some material which happened to be in the space begow. The suggestion that the cause was that of defective electric wiring is not accepted in the light of investigations made to-day, when it was found that the wires were in perfect condition except where the fire had burned the insulation off. That it could not possibly have been caused by electricity is evidenced by the fact that the fuses were not blown, as would have been the case had there been a short circuit, which was the only thing that could have caused a fire by electricity.

Mr. H. A. Fisk, of the Peterborough Light and Power Company, inspected the premises this morning and stated that the fire could not possibly have been caused by defective wiring, as it was in first class condition. Even after the fire the lights in the window were still burning.

The loss, which is confined entirely to the goods in the window is about $150, which is the amount of insurance Mr. LeBrun is receiving. The goods in the store were not damaged at all, and business is being conducted as usual.

PETERBOROUGH LOSES AN OLD RESIDENT.

Mr. Geo. Lipsett Sr. Died this Morning after Long Illness.

One of the oldest residents of the Township of Otonabee died this morning in the person of Mr. Geo. Lipsett, Sr., whose death occurred after an illness of about a year, during which time he has suffered from heart trouble. While he has been ailing for this length of time he has been confined to his bed but four months.

The late Mr. Lipsett was one of the best known men in the late village of Ashburnham, where he lived for the last 20 years, prior to which he lived in the township of Otonabee, where he came with the first settlers in 1839. He was born in Ireland 71 years ago, and came to Canada when a boy of 6 years of age, settling in Otonabee, in which township he lived for 45 years. He married Mary Ann Andrews, of Asphodel, who predeceased him 15 years ago. One son, George, and four daughters, Mrs. Maniece, Mrs. McGregor, Mrs. Long and Miss Minnie, survive him.

The funeral will take place on Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock, to the Little Lake Cemetery, where interment will take place.

MR. W. S. McGUIRE AT PORT HOPE.

Will be Physical Director of the Y. M. C. A There.

Mr. W. S. Maguire of Peterborough, who some months ago went to Toronto to take a course in the Y.M.C.A. Training School, has been appointed physical director of the Y.M.C.A. at Port Hope, and will open up the work there. Two of the members of the Board, Messrs. Race and Hayden, were in town this morning.

Mr. Maguire's many friends will be pleased to learn of his success. He is one of the hardest workers at the school, and will without doubt prove his worth in his new line of work at Port Hope.

OWEN A. SMILEY
will appear to-night, in St. Andrew's Lecture Hall, in an entirely new programme. His many friends will be glad of the opportunity of hearing him again. Excellent musical programme in addition.

LOCAL DEPUTATION WENT TO BRANTFORD.

And Other Cities to Inspect the Fire Halls and Appliances.

Brantford Expositor. — "A deputation of municipal representatives from Peterborough are in the city today on a particular mission. They are here to gain valuable pointers concerning Brantford's municipal management, more especially in reference to the fire and police departments. This morning the visitors were shown through the fire hall by Chief Lewis, and made a very careful inspection of the equipment and management of the hall. A little later they went through the police quarters, and gathered some interesting facts. Just before noon they started for the waterworks plant where a thorough inspection was conducted. It is understood that it is the intention to erect a new fire hall in Peterborough."

The members comprising the deputation were Ald. Batten and Edgcumbe, T. A. S. Hay, Town Engineer, and Thos. Rutherford, Fire Chief. Other places visited were Hamilton and Toronto.

The members of the deputation learned, what the Examiner has been pointing out for months, that the present system of fire alarms here is deplorably antiquated, and needs modernizing in the worst possible way.

UNTIMELY DEATH OF MISS WILMOT.

Young Lady Well-Known Here Died in Toronto Yesterday.

The many friends in Peterborough of Miss Jean Kerr Wilmot, of Toronto, will regret to learn of her death, which occurred in that city yesterday. The deceased young lady, who met an untimely death, was well known in Peterborough, her sister, Miss Margaret Wilmot, having been a graduate of the Nucholls Hospital Training School for Nurses.

The late Miss Wilmot, who was 22 years of age, had been ailing for about 5 months, so that her death was not altogether unexpected.

The deceased young lady spent some time in Peterborough last summer, when her genial disposition made her a great favourite with all who were priviledged to meet her on that occasion. Her death occurred at her home, 93 Carlton street, Toronto, and the funeral will take place on Saturday at Newcastle on the arrival of afternoon train from Toronto, interment being in the Wilmot Burying Ground.

AN OLD RESIDENT HAS PASSED AWAY.

Mr. William Breckenridge Died after a Short Illness.

After a brief illness, William Breckenridge died yesterday at his home, 108 Boundary Road, from pneumonia, contracted Saturday, although for some days prior to that he had been ailing.

The late Mr. Breckenridge had been a resident of Peterborough for 31 years, during which time he carried on the business of a local contractor. He was born in Scotland 65 years ago, and come to this country from "Craig Hall," Parish of Sorn, 37 years ago, settling in Westwood, where he lived for 8 years, when he removed to Peterborough, residing in this town ever since.

He was married in Scotland to Margaret M. King, and had a family of nine Children, seven of whom, with Mrs. Breckenridge, survive him. Those living are: John and David, of British Columbia; William, of Chicago; Thomas, of Woodstock; Matthew, of Peterborough; Margaret and Annie, at home. Two sons, Robert and James, predeceased their father some years ago. Two brothers, John of Westwood, and Matthew of Indian River, and one sister, Mrs. J. Spence, of Peterborough, survive him.

The funeral will take place on Sunday at 1.30 from his late residence, to Little Lake Cemetery.

FUNERAL OF LATE EX-WARDEN CROWE.

Held Yesterday Afternoon — Interment at the 3rd Line Cemetery Dummer.

The funeral of the late Ex-Warden Richard Crowe was held yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock from his late residence in Dummer, to the 3rd line cemetery. The funeral was an exceptionally large one, and the attendance evidenced the deceased's popularity when alive. The following members of the County Council headed the long cortege: Messrs. E. A. Peck, Warden of Peterborough County; T. M. Hunter, Geo. Fitzgerald, Thos. Johnston and Dennis Maloney. There were also representatives of other municipalities, while the Canadian Order of Foresters, of which body the deceased was a member, was also represented. The floral tributes were abundant and beautiful. The pall bearers were Messrs. Christopher, J. J., W., and Joseph Crowe, and H. A., and Joseph Moore. Rev. H. McQuade, pastor of the Warsaw Methodist church, conducted the burial service.

W. E. ARMSTRONG IN POLICE COURT.

After Several Remands Case was Heard This Morning.

The Prisoner Advertised for Men and Women to Look after Exhibits at St. Louis A Tedious Case.

The evidence taken in the case against William E. Armstrong, alias F. H. Bradley, alias Stanley Steele, the ex-convict and alleged bogus St. Louis Exposition employment agent, was taken at this morning's court by Police Magistrate Dumble, and was of a long and wearisome nature.

The case aroused more than ordinary attention, for the court-room was well filled. The information had been again amended, and read that the prisoner was charged by one Thos. Hodgson, with having fraudulently deprived the informant of $5 on March 30th of this year, which money he had sent in answer to an advertisement which Armstrong is said to have inserted in the Toronto Mail and Empire. During the proceedings Armstrong sat well back in the prisoner's dock, but keenly noted everything that was said, hearing all however without any sign whatever of emotion or consternation. He pleaded not guilty but did not elect as to trial.

At a quarter to one the court adjourned for luncheon taking up the matter again at two o'clock.

The first witness called was John P. Paterson, a bookkeeper in the employ of the Mail and Empire Printing Co., of Toronto. Mr. R. E. Wod, who conducted the prosecution, produced a hand written advertisement for young men and women to go to look after exhibits at St. Louis. Witness said that when received the order was handed over to Mr. W. J. Douglas, General Manager, who wrote to the advertiser—W. E. Armstrong—asking for some recommendations, as they were not on the face of it, inclined to print the advertisement. Witness went on to say that Armstrong wrote on the back that he was in the employ of the Westinghouse people and that on the strength of such relationship the advertisement was inserted in the Mail and Empire newspaper on March 26th, 28th, 29th, 30th, 31st and April 1st, the order being for six days.

William Pringle, Principal of the Peterborough Commercial School, and hand-writing expert, was the next called. In answer to Mr. Wood he said that he had examined Armstrong's signatures in the post office registered letter delivery book and had compared them with letters he had written to applicants. In his opinion all the letters were written by the same person who signed for the registered letters.

Mr. D. O'Connel, who acted for the defence, objected that this was not evidence, on the grounds that it had nothing to do with the charge laid against the prisoner.

Magistrate Dumble over-ruled the objection, saying that the man's operations were such that it pointed to wholesale fraud and not alone in the charge laid. Cross-examined by Mr. O'Connel, Mr. Pringle said that he had been given the letters some ten days ago, some time after he had read of Armstrong's scheme in the local daily papers. They had been handed to him by Mr. Parkinson, the detective assigned to this case. Witness was aware that Mr. Parkinson wanted to know if he (witness) could certify whether the handwriting was prisoner's or not.

Mr. F. H. Dobbin, business manager of the Peterborough Review, was the third witness called. On March 24th prisoner came to the Review office and ordered 100 cards for the purpose of "engaging" his applicants.

Perhaps the most central witness was Detective Parkinson, of the Dominion Police Force, who conducted the investigation. The detective deposed that he arrived in Peterborough on Sunday morning, March 27th. He first saw prisoner the next afternoon in the post office. He was signing for a registered letter. The detective followed him to the Cavanagh House, which he (prisoner) entered. The detective next saw prisoner on Wednesday afternoon, March 30th, about 3 o'clock. He was on Hunter street, and had just come from the post office, where he had signed for a registered letter. The detective arrested him then and took him back into the post office. Here he asked him his business and place of abode, warning him in the usual manner that anything which he might say would be used in evidence against him. In answer to his questions witness said that he was a traveller for machinery, and that his home was in Pittsburg. When asked what firm he represented he told the detective that it would not do him any good to know. Witness then went on to say that he then demanded the registered letter for which he had just signed, and also all other letters which he might have in his possession. The registered letter was from Thomas Hodgson, 69 Mutual street, Toronto. It was an application for a position, as advertised, and enclosed was a $5 bill. As for the other letters the prisoner produced 39 of them, all addressed to him at box 848, Peterborough. One of these was read in court. It was from Miss Libby Jackson, of Gananoque, who in support of her application, stated that she was an expert stenographer, dark and tall. She enclosed a five dollar postal note, which the prisoner admitted to the detective he had cashed. An answer to Miss Jackson's application was found in Armstrong's possession. It was ready to be posted and said that her application had been accepted, and that he would be in Gananoque on April 9th. Continuing the letter ran, "If you are as charming as your letter would indicate I will keep you for myself!" The reading of this in court evoked much merriment, but Armstrong heeded it not. Witness went on to say that he found $35.91 on the prisoner's person, besides three letters which contained money. Witness opened prisoner's trunk at the Cavanagh House and found many letters, but no communication from any firm appointing him as their agent.

The court then adjourned for lunch.

PASSENGERS HAVE A GRIEVANCE.

Belleville Local Last Night was Slow in Reaching Station.

Passengers on the Belleville local last night are making some complaints about what they consider ill-treatment. The train arrived on time but before the passengers were given an opportunity to alight, the train backed down to the "Diamond," where it remained, according to a passenger's story, nearly half an hour.

Some of those on the train were coming to Peterborough on business, and naturally felt somewhat annoyed at this, to them, unnecessary delay.

INDIAN TRIBES MEET IN TORONTO.

Chief Johnston Paudash Attended a Grand Council of Chippewa's and Mississaugua's.

Chief Johnston Paudash of Hiawatha passed through town to-day on his return from Toronto, where he has been attending a grand Conference Council of the representative men of the Chippewa and Mississaugua tribes of the Colborne and Midland Districts. The meetings of the Council were held in the Temple Building, Bay street, Toronto, and there were thirteen in attendance, representing members of the tribes to the number of 1227. Chief Johnston Paudash, well known in Peterborough, represented the Hiawatha District, Rice Lake. Chief Big Canoe (Kecheogemah) presided. The object of the council was to consider matters of interest to the tribes, and certain claims upon the Government, many old claims of years standing, which have not yet been adjusted. Chief Paudash and friends had a fine view of the magnificently lamentable great fire in Toronto on Wednesday morning. The fire raged for seven hours — from 8 p.m. to 3 a.m.—and was of such intensity that the most distant and obscure streets of the city were lighted almost as by day. Chief Paudash visited the Parliament Buildings on Wednesday, and as a guest of the Speaker's Gallery, was an interested auditor of the "Soo" guarantee bill debate.

MR. HUGHES-CHARLES TO MR. W. H. MOORE.

The Former Defends the Board of Trade Against the Latter's Charge.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—I am very much surprised indeed that Mr. Moore should make such an uncalled-for insinuation against the Board of Trade, as he did in his letter to you of the 20th inst., but I may put it down to the special pleading of a lawyer who can see nothing but the one side of his case, and that, as a rule with most lawyers, is a very narrow one.

The Board of Trade meeting referred to by Mr. Moore was called chiefly to consider and discuss the action of the town council regarding their contemplated assistance to the Peterborough Sugar Company. Every member was notified of the meeting, and should have been there in view of the importance of the subject, but unfortunately a large number were conspicuous by their absence. However there were considerably more members present than were required to make it a legal meeting. The question was ably discussed by both sides and a resolution favouring the council's action was put and carried. I am not arguing on behalf of either side of the case, but simply to state that, as chairman of a meeting called for a special purpose, I had no right to enquire into the motives of the members who voted, neither had I any right to adjourn the meeting at the request of a member, who found himself in a small minority, without calling for a vote.

There would have been no fairness or justice in taking such a course and I want Mr. Moore and all the citizens of the town to know that the Board of Trade is not being run at the dictation of any party, but solely to further the best interests of the town without fear or favour.

Yours truly,
D. HUGHES CHARLES,
President of the Board of Trade.

NEW PROPRIETOR AT CRAIG HOUSE.

Mr. James Furlong, of Elmdale Takes over Lakefield Hotel.

The Craig House, in Lakefield, which for about six years has been conducted by Mr. John Craig, has changed hands, the purchaser being Mr. Jas. Furlong, of Elmdale, a gentleman with a long and successful experience in the hotel business, and who comes to Lakefield highly spoken of. The new proprietor has already taken charge of the business, which, no doubt, will flourish under his management.

Lakefield is becoming more and more an important point, particularly during the tourist season, and its popularity will no doubt continue to grow.

FORT HOPE.

The town is plagued just now with large numbers of predatory dogs, which hunt sometimes singly and at other times in packs. It is no uncommon sight to notice a gang of at least eight or ten dogs of all sizes wandering around together. A number of housewives are complaining of the raids made by the animals on their larders. The dogs walk into the houses when no one is about and decamp with whatever provender they can find. On Saturday an enterprising cur was noticed trotting up a street with a joint of meat in its mouth, evidently somebody's Sunday dinner. Many of the dogs do not carry their tags in a conspicuous position, and it would be interesting to know how many of them are duly licensed.—Port Hope Times.

The Y.M.C.A. in Port Hope has for some years been dormant, but recently it has been revived, and in a recent issue the Guide devoted considerable space to a description of the building in the course of which it says:—

"Next comes the attraction for the majority of the members, especially the younger portion. This is the large airy room to the west, which has been equipped with all the necessary appliances for a first-class gymnasium. It is quite probable that Mr. McGuire of Toronto, will be secured for instructor, his duties to begin the latter end of this week. Mr. McGuire is highly recommended in the city, and no doubt the class will advance speedily under his instructions. The upstair room will be used as the members reading room and already is supplied with all the latest magazines, periodicals and daily papers. It has been proposed to form a number of ladies' classes, and the idea appears to be a good one. It has been successfully carried out in other towns, and a number of the ladies here are desirous of becoming members; we see no reason why they should not receive some consideration. The lady instructor of Peterborough, makes weekly visits to Belleville, and with classes in Port Hope it would make a nice circuit for her."

The Mr. "McGuire" spoken of is evidently Mr. Walter Maguire of Peterborough.

An emigrant, who claims he came here from the Old Country to take a place with a farmer near Port Hope, who had written to an agent for help, says he called on the farmer and was told he was not ready for a man for a month. The emigrant went away and found a home with some one else, but in a few days the first farmer came around and took a dollar out of him for "board and lodging" during the few hours he had remained. The emigrant calls this a hardship, but it deserves another name.

BELLEVILLE

A reduction is being made in the mechanical staff of the Grand Trunk Railway at Belleville. The Company has dismissed about 25 of the firemen running out of that town, and 20 of the youngest engineers have been reduced to the grade of firemen. It is pretty hard to see how the Company will be able to handle the business with a smaller staff than that at present employed. There seems to be no diminution in the amount of traffic being effected, and with a reduced staff, greater difficulty than ever will be experienced in moving the freight.

LAKEFIELD.

A local clergyman, says the Lakefield News, lately returned from a visit to one of the Rathbun Company's lumber camps, relates an enjoyable and interesting trip. The camp, which is ninety feet long, is both spacious and comfortable, equipped with the most modern improvements, including a good system of sewerage and ventilation and a sufficient number of spittoons. The health of the men is carefully looked after, especially in regard to the sleeping departments. The wash room, office and dining room are also separate. The sixty men that are quartered here appear not only orderly but gentlemanly, which marks this camp as the "camp of camps" in the new century model and the foreman, Mr. W. Simpson, of Lakefield, is certainly modelling after an ideal far in advance of the old time shanty business. Among the novelties of this advanced system is the "watering tank" which holds some fifty barrels of water. This tank, with sprinkler attached, is placed on the sleighs by means of a pulley. This method being far in advance of the old-time cant hook. By means of this contrivance, Mr. John Lean was successful in landing 75 pieces at the depot in one load. All this goes to show how the lumber industry is thriving in our locality. Mr. Simpson will have completed his contract in a few weeks.

Mr. Thos Coon, of Round Lake, had the misfortune to break his right leg above the ankle on Monday night. Mr. Coon was driving into town in the evening, when the horses shied at a pile of scrap tin by the roadside, upsetting the waggon, and throwing Mr. Coon out and crushing his leg between the wheel and a log.—Standard.

MARMORA.

While on his way to church Sunday morning Mr. George Cock met with an accident which might have been very serious but from which he escaped unhurt. He, with his two boys, were passing through the deep water on the road near Mr. Matthew McFarlane's when the horse got frightened at the noise of the ice falling from the bushes and jumped into the ditch. The water there was so deep that the horse had to swim and the boys kept safe by climbing on the seat with the buggy floating. Mr. McFarlane came to the rescue with his boat and with assistance of others on their way to church, got them again on their way to Marmora, after an exciting and dangerous experience for half an hour. The road is very dangerous at that point.—Herald.

MILLBROOK.

The progressive little village of Millbrook evidently has troubles of its own, at least that is the inference drawn from the following item in the Reporter: "Every town has a liar or two, several smart Alecs, some pretty girls, more loafers than it needs, a womna or two that tattles, an old fogy that the town would be better without, men who will stand on the corner and make remarks about women, a man who laughs an idiotic laugh every time he says anything, scores of men with the caboose of their trousers worn as smooth as glass, and men who can tell all about other people's business but who have made a failure of their own."

NORTH ONTARIO.

"I am quite safe in saying that I have seen 1,000 deer lying dead in the forest up in the French River district this last winter," said Mr. John Kelly the other day.

Mr. Kelly recently came down from the North Shore where he spent the winter bushranging for a Saginaw lumber firm.

"I have travelled the woods a good deal in winter" went on Mr. Kelly "but I never saw such a depth of loose snow, nor such mortality among the deer before."

In 1861-2 there was 6 feet of snow on the level, but it was in two or three layers, with heavy crusts between that would carry the deer. But this year the snow was very deep, and all light and downy, and the deer could make little progress through it. The habit of the deer is to keep to the runways and browse along them, but in this long, severe winter, the fodder close to the runways gave out, and then the deer starved. I came across their dead bodies everywhere. Often they had waded out into the deep snow toward other trees, and, overcome by weakness, sunk down and died where they were.—Watchman-Warder.

He visited the British Isles, took in all the chief points of interest, went to France, to Germany The Hague, St. Petersburg, over the world-known Trans-Siberian railroad to Japan, the wonderful little states of the east, took a flying trip through China, saw the sister colony of Canada in the east called India, went down to sunny Ceylon, across the Indian ocean to the newly acquired district of South Africa, from there to Australia, to Honolulu, to San Francisco, and then on the over land limited to New York, landing at that city on March 27th, after an absence of two months and nine days, the same day as the car of hay landed at Bracebridge.—Burks Falls Arrow.

GUILD LEAGUE WAS ORGANIZED.

The Young Men of Different Churches Formed One Last Night.

A meeting was held last night in the Y.M.C.A. to organize a Guild Base Ball League. It was attended by the representatives of four Guilds: — Messrs. Elliott and Kerr of St. Andrew's; Cameron and Watt of St. Paul's; White and Galbraith, of Charlotte street; and Dobbin and Hutchinson, of George street.

Mr. Peter Kerr, was elected chairman of the meeting, and the first business was the election of officers, Mr. Kerr being elected President of the Guild League. The Executive Committee is to consist the officers elected and one representative from each Guild.

It was decided that a trophy be purchased by the League for competition among the different Guilds. Each Guild is to contribute an equal amount towards the purchase of the trophy.

Considerable discussion ensued on a motion to exclude players in the City and Midland League teams from playing on the Guild teams. It was finally decided however that only players on the Midland League teams shall be ineligible. Each Guild must furnish the executive with a list of their eligible players at least one week before the date of the first game, and all umpires will be chosen by the executive from the list supplied by each Guild. The meeting adjourned for two weeks, when a meeting of the executive will be held to draw up the schedule of games.

St. Luke's Guild may enter the League, which will then be composed of five teams.

PETERBOROUGH IN THE LEAGUE.

Will Enter Team in the Midland Baseball League.

Port Hope, April 21st. — The annual meeting of the Midland Baseball League was held here last night. Blake Crawford of this town was elected president of the League, and the following clubs entered: Bowmanville, Oshawa, Port Hope, Cobourg, Lindsay and Peterborough. The clubs deposited $25 each as a guarantee to finish the season. Great regret was expressed at the retirement of Tip O'Neil from the presidency of the League. Since its organization Tip has been one of its mainstays.

Mr. Fred Whitcroft was present, representing the Peterborough club, which was admitted to the League.

KAWARTHA BASE-BALL LEAGUE PROBABLE.

A Proposition to Form Such a League Made.

A movement is on foot to organize a Baseball League, to be known as the "Kawartha League." Bobcaygeon baseball fans are the prime movers in this agitation, and letters have been sent to teams in other towns asking them to attend a meeting to be held in Lindsay in the near future, when it is hoped to get such a League formed.

The T.A.S. Club has been invited to unite with the organization, and Omemee, Lindsay and Bobcaygeon will also probably contribute teams.

This will not be in opposition to the Midland League, but will serve rather as a feeder to it, for the players constituting the teams in the Kawartha League will be for the most part junior men.

Such a League should prove a success, and no doubt the local clubs will consider favourably a proposition to enter.

BASEBALL.

The I.C.B.A. baseball team of the Don Valley Senior League, has written the secretary of the Peterborough Baseball Club, asking for a game here on May 24th or July 1st.

THE NEW DR. JAMESON

HERO OF FAMOUS RAID BECOMES PREMIER OF CAPE COLONY.

A Triumph for British Imperialism—Cape Colony Will Now Be Dominated by a Man Who Set Cecil Rhodes, the Empire Builder, as His Model—His Love for the Empire.

"If I had been successful I should have been forgiven," said Dr. Jameson, bitterly, after he had been sentenced to 15 months' imprisonment for his famous raid. Long ago the gallant doctor was forgiven, even those whose duty it was to punish him for a desperate deed admired the courage and resolution which had prompted it. As for success, that too has come to Dr. Jameson in many forms. He never was anything but a successful man, even when in Holloway Jail. To-day comes the news of his triumph in the announcement that he has become Premier of Cape Colony, succeeding in that high office Sir John Gordon Sprigg. No one can doubt the significance of this sudden change in the leadership of the chief South African colony. It means that Imperialism is triumphant, that the affairs of the colony will be administered by a man who set Cecil Rhodes, the great Empire-builder, as a model, and by one who is worthy to follow the great Imperialist, says The Mail and Empire. Premier Jameson may lack the profound sagacity and the almost poetic richness of imagination which made of Rhodes one of the first men of his generation, but in his love for the British Empire and in his hope for South Africa he does not suffer by comparison.

Progressivists Triumph.

Dr. Jameson's triumph is a triumph for the Progressive party in Cape Colony, and the defeat of the party, which, under Sauer, and later under Sir Gordon Sprigg, has dominated the country for many years. The Progressivists are chiefly Anglo-Saxons, the class which ten years ago would have been called Uitlanders in the Transvaal. Their political opponents represent the Boer element, as well as a considerable number of Britishers. When Sauer, suspected of aiding his Boer friends in the Transvaal, was thrust out of office, there was no change in party, but a mere shifting of leaders. His successor, Sir John Gordon Sprigg, seems to have failed, at least in the riding of two spirited horses. The people have come to the conclusion that he was showing too much favor to the Dutch, who for years had had things pretty much their own way, thanks to a gerrymander which permitted the party in the minority to have a majority in the Legislature. Since the war the trouble has been settled, and at last the Progressivists are in charge. Sir Gordon, the veteran politician of the Cape, deserted at a critical moment by his Cabinet, has been forced to succumb to Jameson, who has been a member of the House which he now leads only three years. Thus "the old order changeth." From the new we are justified in expecting much.

Jameson, the Doctor.

Leander Starr Jameson, C.B., the new Premier, was born in Edinburgh 51 years ago. After a brilliant medical university course, in which he won a scholarship and a gold medal, he heard of an opening in Kimberley, and for that distant city he set forth. Those who have regarded him as an irresponsible adventurer, fit only to be the tool of abler men, do an injustice to his professional eminence. For years he was regarded as about the most skilful doctor in South Africa. President Kruger, of the Transvaal, was one of his patients. President Brand, of the Orange Free State, was another, and a third was Lobengula, the famous Matabele, not to mention Cecil Rhodes, who admired the doctor before he began his friendship with him. When, largely through friendship for Cecil Rhodes, he finally gave up his practice, he was earning about $25,000 a year.

Missions to Matabeleland.

Dr. Jameson had met Lobengula and successfuly treated him for some savage disorder, when Rhodes found his plans for the opening up of Mashonaland balked by the obstinacy and hostility of the Matabele chief. In his difficulty he turned to Jameson, who gave up his practice and started into the bush to reason with Lobengula. His mission was successful, so he returned and resumed his professional duties. Not long after this, Lobengula again became difficult to deal with, and blocked Rhodes' great colonization scheme south of the Zambesi. Once more Jameson laid aside his work, and, at the call of Empire, journeyed forth into Matabeleland. His influence over the bloodthirsty old chief again won the day for Rhodes. On his return he finally cast in his fortunes with the British South Africa Company, at the head of which was Cecil Rhodes, and soon distinguished himself by a successful race to Gazaland. Portugal was about to establish a protectorate over this important district, and had received Lord Salisbury's consent to the move; but the British South Africa Company, feeling that Britain was giving away something she did not know the value of, despatched Jameson to the Gazaland chief. The doctor covered 600 miles of jungle and swamp in 43 days, arriving in time to win the chief to his side, so that when the Portuguese representative reached the scene a few days later he found himself forestalled.

The Jameson Raid.

The famous Jameson Raid is so fresh in the public mind that it need only be very briefly reviewed. The Anglo-Saxon population of the Transvaal, which paid nine-tenths of the State's revenues, had for years been the victim of Boer oppression and extortion. In a score of ways the operations of the British were hampered, their rights infringed. In response to a monster petition which they presented to the Volksraad, the bearded burghers laughed and jeered. After submitting to injustice for years, those in Johannesburg resolved to strike a blow for liberty. Representative citizens, among them Cecil Rhodes' brother, invited Jameson to assist by appearing at the proper moment with a body of Bechuanaland police. This was the excuse of the ill-fated expedition. It set out in the last week of December, 1895, and on Jan. 2nd surrendered to an over-whelming force of Boers. The expected reinforcements from Johannesburg had not arrived, and thus ended ingloriously the famous Jameson Raid. The leaders were sentenced to death, but later were surrendered to the British Government. After a great trial, Jameson was sentenced to fifteen months' imprisonment. After serving about half his term, his health became so feeble that he was released, and returned to South Africa in time to serve through the war. When peace was declared Dr. Jameson entered the Cape Parliament as member for Kimberley. To-day he is powerful and respected in a land where once there was a price upon his head.

THE THOUGHTS OF GOD.

Sir William Ramsay's High Ideal for the Student.

It is often said that in these days science is becoming materialistic. A passage from a recent lecture by Sir Wm. Ramsay, the great chemist, on radium, shows that this is certainly not true of that distinguished investigator. Sir William in closing said: Medical men have been experimenting with radium as a possible cure for ulcers of various kinds on the human body. I am not an authority on this subject, but I am told that in certain cases of rodent ulcer—a very terrible disease—the effect of the beta rays of radium has been to produce a cure. People ask whether cancer can be cured. I suppose I am right in saying that it has not been cured, but I am told that great strides have been made within the last few months by one of the professors at the Royal College of Surgeons. Putting aside the absolute use to human needs of radium, might I suggest that one of the most important uses is with regard to the objects around us? If we can explain them and their method of working, we shall have made great advances. We scientific men have faith in the laws of nature and the constancy of its action. We have hope that we shall live to discover much yet and gain a greater insight into thinking the thoughts of God. I have mentioned faith and hope; but the apostle names another important virtue, charity, and I think you will agree that, fascinating as the exercise of faith and hope is in science, still more important is the exercise of charity.

Herbert Spencer's Note Noir.

Details have been published of the will of the late Mr. Herbert Spencer. Revoking a former will, it is dated Jan. 19, 1900, and has attached a lengthy codicil dated June 19, 1903. The new document, says The Sussex Daily News, which prints it, is equivalent in length to about three newspaper columns. The will contains most precise and detailed directions for the disposal of the testator's property of all descriptions, and begins with elaborate instructions for the disposal of his remains.

In the codicil Mr. Spencer has set forth his objections to the metric system in the following provision:

"If, and when, within ten years after my death, a bill shall be introduced into Parliament for the compulsory adoption of the metric system of weights and measures, I desire that my pamphlet, entitled 'Against the Metric System,' shall be reprinted from the stereotyped plates which were cast in February, 1901, and are now in the custody of Messrs Harrison & Sons, with such corrections as are indicated in a copy of the pamphlet which I have deposited in my safe, and that such reprinted pamphlet shall be distributed gratis, and at the expense of my estate, among members of both Houses of Parliament, and shall be put on sale by my publishers at a nominal price."

Sound Sense From a Sexton.

As some ladies were busily engaged in decorating the church in an Essex village, says The Essex Weekly News, news was brought them that a goat was making a meal off a "peace on earth, good-will toward men" design in yew leaves, which was standing ready for removal into the building. The sexton, who was assisting, immediately rushed to the rescue, but the goat, resenting the interruption, repelled the attack in the most approved goatly style. "Make haste, Johnson, and get up," said the vicar's wife from a place of safety. "It's starting to eat again." "Let him eat, then, ma'am," gasped the sexton. "I'm agoin' to wait till 'e's got some good-will to man inside 'im."

How An Immigrant Should Seek Work When Arriving Here.

James Johnston, a farmer residing near Woodstock, was recently interviewed on a live topic. Discussing the agitation about farm help being scarce and reports from other sources about the trouble applicants have of securing work on farms in Ontario, he said:

"One real serious fault with these immigrants that come here to work on farms is that they don't know how to go about securing work, and unless they are met at the station and offered a position many of them seem helpless. We farmers need help, and especially during the harvest, but at the time it is most urgently required we are too busy to leave the farm to go looking for men.

"Here is an instance of what a man can do who will exercise a little common sense. A young fellow landed at Currie, five miles from my place, one morning. He had a wife and a child, and just $2. He went to the village inn, left his wife and child, and paid the $2 in advance. Then he started walking out the road, inquiring at each farm house he came to if a man was needed. Before noon he had been directed to my place and to several others. I needed a man and the wife could draw wages, too, if she was strong.

"We struck a bargain. I sent my wagon in and that night the hired man was helping feed and was fixed for the summer. He knew his business, and when I was through with him there was a nearby farmer who could use him for the winter. How many of these new-comers will show this much common sense and nerve? This young man was a Scotchman, and came here to work.

Women Needed More Than Money.

"May the Lord deliver me from the highly developed lady board member," said Rev. Dr. W. S. Rainsford, of St. George's Church, New York, formerly of St. James' Cathedral, Toronto, in a stirring, outspoken address delivered at the annual meeting of the Young Women's Christian Association.

"Money is not so much needed as women," he asserted, "not women's names and presence, but women's work, true and sympathetic."

Dr. Rainsford arraigned fashionable society for its self-indulgence and its indifference and the wealthy churches for moving up town and leaving the work of caring for the great masses of people in downtown tenements, boarding-houses, and hotels to missions, or with nothing in the way of spiritual ministration.

"Since the church at Forty-second street and Madison avenue moved up town 300,000 people have come in. There is no place on the face of the earth where girls are so sorely pressed as right here in New York. Girls working at $7 a week, which is a good average wage, can hardly live here and be honest. With nothing to go home to but a cold, gloomy hall room, it is small wonder that they find life a grind. Then watch out for them. They must have pleasure. It's as necessary as clean water. When a girl reaches this point she needs help, and the women of this city must give it to her.

"Give up your theatres, operas and your society functions. Money is not so much needed as women. The sixteen-year-old girl goes out in the world to earn her living, and she is told to have a good time. She keeps on having a good time until by the time she is twenty-five she is not fit to be a good wife. It degrades them all. I know what I am talking about. If you want to help them bring them here.

"I know of a woman that has been married five years and hasn't had a child until now. And she hasn't seen that baby, her first-born, for a fortnight.

"We don't want the board member. We don't want the woman that talks. We want the woman that works."

Afterward Dr. Rainsford said he wanted to emphasize the need of the working girl for more joy in her life, places where she can dance and sing, hear lectures and enjoy life. "If that is not provided for her," he said, "she will find pleasures in another way."

A Warning to Cyclists.

An Irishman one day was given a signboard to put up, on which were the words, "To cyclists. This hill is dangerous." Away went Paddy with the signboard, and placed it at the bottom of a very steep hill. A few days later Mr. H. Whitfield went to see how the board was put up, and finding it at the bottom of the hill went to Paddy. "You great idiot," he said, "Why didn't you put that signboard in the right place?" "Shure, and it is, yer honor," said Paddy, "for don't all the accidents 'appen at the bottom."

SEPARATION.

An Essay on the Horse.

The following remarkable essay on the horse is said to be from the pen of an Indian student: "The horse is a very noble quadruped, but when he is angry he will not do so. He is ridden on the spinal cord by the bridle, and sadly the driver places his foots on the stirrups and divides his lower limbs across the saddle and drives his animal to the meadow. He has four legs; two are on the front side and two are afterward. These are the weapons on which he runs. He also defends himself by extending these in the rear in a parallel direction toward his foe, but this he does only when he is in an aggravating mood. There is no animal like the horse. No sooner they see their guardian or master than they always cry for food, but it is always at the morning time. They have got tails, but not so long as the cow and such other like animals."

Brother to a Novelist.

Mr. George E. Braeme, an old music teacher, who died in a Toronto hospital a few weeks ago, was a brother of Charlotte M. Braeme, perhaps the most prolific novelist of the nineteenth century. She first commenced to write for The Family Herald, the popular British periodical, over the initials "B.M.C.," a reversal of her own. An American pirate publisher took her novels, and published them in book form, conferring on the unknown writer the name Bertha M. Clay, which was considered a stroke of piratical genius. Miss Braeme then revealed her identity, and signed her own name to her work thereafter. The late Mr. Braeme, who was a man of individual views, had a great affection for his sister, but took no pride in her literary achievements.

Badly Disfigured By Violent Eczema.

A Chronic Case Which Defied Doctor's Skill was Permanently Cured Seven Years Ago by

Dr. Chase's Ointment.

Once eczema becomes chronic it is most difficult to cure, and many people after doctoring for a time give up in despair.

It is to the discouraged ones especially that we would introduce Dr. Chase's Ointment, knowing from experience with hundreds of severe cases that it will positively effect a lasting cure.

Mr. Oakley W. Beamer, Boyle, Ont., states:—"For two years prior to 1897 I suffered from Eczema in a violent form. I was perfectly disfigured about the face and head, and was in great misery day and night. Though I tried many remedies and the best doctors, I steadily became worse, and was finally prevailed upon by friends to use Dr. Chase's Ointment.

"Five boxes of this golden remedy perfectly cured me. I shall always recommend this Ointment, and often think that if I was a "Carnegie" my first move would be to purchase a million boxes of Dr. Chase's Ointment and send it free to the afflicted all over the land. It is six years since I was cured, and the cure is therefore a permanent one."

Dr. Chase's Ointment has a record of cures unparalleled in the history of medicine; 60 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

To protect you against imitations the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, are on every box. 6

The real reason for the instant success of Gold Seal Lager is the fact that it is different to others — and the points of difference are all good points.

CHAPTER XLVII.

Morris had served out his time as surgeon in the army, had added to it an extra six months, and he his humanity, his skill, and Christian kindness, made for himself a name which would be long remembered by the living to whom he had ministered so carefully, while many a dying soldier had blessed him for pointing out the way which leadeth to life everlasting, and in many a mourning family his name was a household word, for the good he had done to a dying son and brother. But Morris's hospital work was over. He had gone a little too far, and incurred too much risk, until his own strength had failed, and now in the month of June, when Linwood was bright with the early summer blossoms, he was coming back with health greatly impaired, and a dark cloud before his vision, so that he could not see how beautiful his home was looking or gaze into the faces of those who waited so anxiously to welcome their beloved physician. Blind some said he was, but the few lines sent to Helen, announcing the day of his arrival, contradicted that report. His eyes were very much diseased, his amanuensis wrote, but he trusted that the pure air of his native hills, and the influence of old scenes and associations would soon effect a cure. "If not too much trouble," he added, "please see that the house is made comfortable, and have John meet me on Friday at the station."

Helen was glad Morris was coming home, for he always did her good, he could comfort her better than any one else, unless it were Katy, whose loving, gentle words of hope were very soothing to her.

"Poor Morris," she sighed, as she finished his letter, and then took it to the family, who were sitting upon the pleasant piazza, which, at Katy's expense and her own, had been added to the house, and overlooked Fairy Pond and the pleasant Hills beyond.

"Morris is coming home," she said. "He will be here on Friday, and he wishes us to see that all things are in order at Linwood for his reception. His eyes are badly diseased, but he hopes that coming back to us will cure him," she added, glancing at Katy who sat upon a step of the piazza, her hands folded together upon her lap, and her blue eyes looking far off into the fading sunset.

Katy had never been prettier than she was now, in her mature womanhood, and to the poor and sorrowful whose homes she cheered so often, she was an angel of goodness.

They would miss her at the farmhouse now more than they did when she first went away, for she made the sunshine of their home, filling Helen's place when she was in New York, and when she came back proving to her a stay and comforter. Indeed, but for Katy's presence, Helen often felt that she could not endure the sickening suspense and doubt which hung so darkly over her husband's fate.

"He is alive, he will come back," Katy always said, and from her perfect faith, Helen, too, caught a glimpse of hope.

If Katy thought of Morris she never spoke of him when she could help it. It was a morbid fancy to which she clung, that duty to Wilford's memory required her to avoid the man who had so innocently come between them; and when she heard he was coming home she felt more pain than pleasure, though for an instant the blood throbbed through her veins as she thought of Morris at Linwood, just as he used to be.

The day of his return was balmy and beautiful, and at an early hour Helen went over to Linwood to see that everything was in order for his arrival, while Katy followed her at a later hour, wondering if Wilford would object if he knew she was going to welcome Morris; who might misconstrue her motives if she staid away.

"He will be tired," she said. "He will lie down after dinner," and she laid a few sweet English violets upon his pillow, thinking their perfume might be grateful to him after the pent-up air of the hospital and cars. "He will think Helen put them there, or Mrs. Hull," she thought, as she stole softly out and shut the door behind her, glancing next at the clock, and feeling a little impatient that a whole hour must elapse before they could expect him.

Poor Morris! he did not dream how anxiously he was waited for at home, nor to the crowd assembled at the depot to welcome back the loved physician, whose name they had so often heard coupled with praise as a true hero, even though his post was not in the front of the battle.

"I smell the pond lilies; we must be near Silverton," he said, and a sigh escaped him as he thought of coming home and not being able to see it or the woods and fields around it. "Thy will be done," he had said many times since the fear first crept into his heart that for him the light had faded.

Just then the long train stopped at Silverton, and, led by his attendant, he stepped feebly into the crowd, which sent up deafening cheers for Dr. Grant come home again. At the sight of his helplessness, however, a feeling of awe came over them, and whispering to each other, "I did not suppose he was so bad," they pressed around him, offering their hands and inquiring anxiously how he was.

It was very pleasant that afternoon, and Morris enjoyed the drive so much, assuring Uncle Ephraim that he was growing better every moment. He did not seem stronger when the carriage stopped at Linwood, and he went up the steps, where Helen, Katy and Mrs. Hull were waiting for him. He could not by sight distinguish one from the other, but without the aid of her voice, he would have known when Katy's hand was put in his. She forgot Wilford in her excitement. Pity was the strongest feeling of which she was conscious, and it manifested itself in various ways.

"Let me lead you, Cousin Morris," she said, as she saw him groping his way to his room, and without waiting for his reply, she held his hand again in hers, and led him to his room, where the English violets were.

"I used to lead you," Morris said, as he took his seat by the window, "and I little thought then that you would one day return the compliment. It is very hard to be blind."

The tone of his voice was inexpressible sad, but his smile was as cheerful as ever as his face turned towards Katy who could not answer for her tears.

Towards the middle of July, Helen, whose health was suffering from the anxiety concerning Mark, was taken by Mrs. Banker to Nahant, where Mark's sister, Mrs. Ernst, was spending the summer, and thus on Katy fell the duty of paying to Morris those acts of sisterly attention such as no other member of the family knew how to pay. In the room where he lay so helpless Katy was not afraid of him, nor did she deem herself faithless to Wilford's memory, because each day seen her at Linwood, sometimes bathing Morris's inflamed eyes, sometimes bringing him the cooling drink, and again reading to him by the hour, until, soothed by the music of her voice, he would fall away to sleep and dream he heard the angels sing.

"My eyes are getting better," he said to her one day towards the latter part of August, when she came as usual to his room. "I knew last night that Mrs. Hull's dress was blue, and I saw the sun shine through the shutters. Very soon I hope to see you Katy, and know if you have changed."

She was standing close by him, and as he talked he raised his hand to rest it on her head, but, with a sudden movement, Katy eluded the touch, and stepped a little farther from him.

When next she went to Linwood, there was in her manner a shade of dignity, which both amused and interested Morris.

In his great pity for Katy when she was first a widow, Morris had scarcely remembered that she was free, or if it did flash upon his mind, he thrust the thought aside as injustice to the dead, but as the months and the year went by, and he heard constantly from Helen of Katy's increasing cheerfulness, it was not in his nature never to think of what might be, and more than once he had prayed, that if consistent with his Father's will, the woman he had loved so well, should yet be his. If not, he could go on his way alone, just as he had always done, knowing that it was right.

Such was the state of Morris's mind when he returned from Washington, but now it was somewhat different. I cannot lose her now," was the thought constantly in Morris's mind as he experienced more and more how desolate were the days which did not bring her to him. "It is twenty months since Wilford died," he said to himself one wet October afternoon, when he sat listening dreamily to the patter of the rain falling upon the windows, and looking occasionally across the fields to the farm-house, in the hope of spying in the distance the little airy form, which, in its waterproof and cloud, had braved worse storms than this at the time he was so ill.

"Surely, she would some day be his own," and leaning his head upon the cane he carried, he prayed earnestly for the good he coveted, keeping his head down so long that, until it had left the strip of woods and emerged into the open fields, he did not see the figure wrapped in waterproof and hood, with a huge umbrella over its head, and a basket upon its arm, which came picking its way daintily toward the house stepping occasionally, and lifting up the little high-heeled Balmoral, which the mud was ruining so completely. Katy was coming to Linwood. It had been baking day at the farmhouse, and remembering how much Morris used to love her custards, Aunt Betsy had prepared him some and asked Katy to take them over, so he could have them for tea.

"The rain won't hurt you an atom," she said as Katy began to demur, and glance at the lowering sky. You can wear your waterproof boots and my shaker, if you like, and I do so want Morris to have them to-night."

Katy made no reply, and walked away, while Aunt Betsy went back to the coat she was patching for her brother, saying to herself:

"I'm bound to fetch that round. It's a shame for two young folks, just fitted to each other, to live apart when they might be so happy, with Hannah, and Lucy, and me, close by the see to 'em, and allus make their soap and see to the butcherin', besides savin' penoryle and catnip for the children, if there was any."

Aunt Betsy had turned matchmaker in her old age, and day and night she planned how to bring about the match between Morris and Katy. With no suspicion whatever of the good dame's intentions, Katy picked her way to Linwood, and leaving her damp garments in the hall, went at once into the library, where Morris was sitting near to a large chair kept sacred for her, his face looking unusually cheerful, and the room unusually pleasant, with the bright wood fire on the hearth.

"I have been so lonely, with no company but the rain," he said, pushing the chair a little towards her, and bidding her sit near the fire, where she could dry her feet.

Morris had done well to wait if he could win her now. Perhaps he thought so, too, and this was why his spirits became so gay as he kept talking to her, suggesting at last that she should stay to tea. The rain was falling in torrents when he made the proposition. She could not go then, even had she wished it, and though it was earlier than his usual time, Morris rang for Mrs. Hull, and ordered that tea be served as soon as possible.

"I ought not to stay. It is not proper," Katy kept thinking, as she fidgeted in her chair, and watched the girl setting the table for two, and occasionally deferring some debatable point to her as if she were mistress there.

"You can go now, Reckie," Morris said, when the boiling water was poured into the silver kettle, and tea was on the table. "If we need you we will ring."

With a vague wonder as to who would toast the doctor's bread and butter it, Reckie departed, and the two were left together. It was Katy who toasted the bread, kneeling upon the hearth, burning her face and scorching the bread in her nervousness at the novel position in which she so unexpectedly found herself. It was Katy, too, who prepared Morris's tea, and tried to eat, but could not. She was not hungry, she said, and the custard was the only thing she tasted, besides the toast, which she sipped at frequent intervals as to make Morris think she was eating more than she was. But Morris was not deceived nor disheartened. Perhaps she suspected his intention, and if so, the sooner he reached the point the better. So when the tea equipage was put away, and she began to speak of going home, he said:

"No, Katy, you can't go yet, till I have said what is in my mind to say," and laying his hand upon her shoulder, he made her sit down beside him and listen while he told her of the love he had borne for her long before she had known the meaning of that word as she knew it now—of the struggle to keep that love in bounds after its indulgence was a sin; of his temptations and victories, of his sincere regret for Wilford, and of his deep respect for her grief, which had made her for a time as a sister to him. But that time had passed. She was not his sister now, nor ever could be again. She was Katy, dearer, more precious, more desired even than before another called her wife, and he asked her to be his, to come up there to Linwood and live with him, making the rainy days brighter, balmier, than the sunniest had ever been, and helping him in his work of caring for the poor and sick around them.

"Will Katy come? Will she be the wife of Cousin Morris?"

There was a world of pathos and pleading in the voice which asked this question, just as there was a world of tenderness in the manner with which Morris caressed and fondled the bowed head resting on the chair arm.

"It cannot be—oh, Morris, it cannot be," she sobbed, when he pressed her for an answer. "Don't ask me why—don't ever mention it again, for I tell you it cannot be. My answer is final, it cannot be. I am sorry for you, so sorry! I wish you had never loved me, for it cannot be."

She writhed herself from his arms which tried to detain her, and rising to her feet, left the room suddenly, and throwing on her wrappings, quitted the house without another word, leaving basket and umbrella behind, and never knowing she had left them, or how the rain was pouring down upon her unsheltered person, until, as she entered the narrow strip of woodland, she was met by Aunt Betsy, who exclaimed at seeing her, and asked:

"What has become of your umberell? Your silk one, too. It's hopeful you haven't lost it. What has happened you?" and coming closer to Katy, Aunt Betsy looked searchingly in her face. It was not so dark, that she could not see the traces of recent tears, and instinctively suspecting their nature she continued, "Catherine, have you gin Morris the mitten?"

"Aunt Betsy, is it possible that you and Morris contrived this plan?" Katy asked, half indignantly as she began in part to understand her aunt's great anxiety for her to visit Linwood that afternoon.

"Morris had nothing to do with it," Aunt Betsy replied. "It was my doin's wholly, and this is the thanks I git. You quarrel with him and git mad at me, who thought only of your good. Catherine, you know you like Morris Grant, and if he asked you to have him why don't you?"

"I can't, Aunt Betsy. I can't, after all that has passed. It would be unjust to Wilford."

"Unjust to Wilford—fiddlesticks!" was Aunt Betsy's expressive reply, as she started toward Linwood, saying, "she was going after the umberell before it got lost, with nobody there to tend to things as they should be tended to. Have you any word to send?" she asked, hoping Katy had relented.

But Katy had not, and with a toss of her head, which shook the raindrops from her capeless shaker Aunt Betsy went on her way, and was soon confronting Morris, sitting just where Katy had left him, and looking very pale and sad.

"I met Catherine," Aunt Betsy began, "and mistrusted at once that something was to pay, for a girl don't leave her umberell in such a rain and g cryin' home for nothin'."

Morris colored, resenting for an instant this interference by a third party, but Aunt Betsy was so honest and simple-hearted, that he could not be angry long, and he listened calmly, while she continued—

"I have not lived sixty odd years for nothing, and I know the signs pretty well. I've been through the mill myself."

Morris laughed a loud, hearty laugh, which emboldened his visitor to say more than she had intended saying.

"You just ask her agin. Once ain't nothing at all, and she'll come to. She likes you; 'taint that which made her say no. It's ome foolish idea about faithfulness to Wilford, as if he deserved that she should be faithful. They never orto have had one another—never; and now that he's well in heaven, as I do suppose he is, it ain't I who hanker for him to come back. Neither does Katy, and all she needs is a little urging, to tell you yes. So ask her again, will you!"

"I think it very doubtful. Katy knew what she was doing, and meant what she said," Morris replied; and with the consoling remark that if young folks would be fools it was none of her business to bother with them, Aunt Betsy pinned her shawl across her chest, and hunting up both basket and umbrella, bade Morris good night, and went back across the fields to the farm-house, hearing from Mrs. Lennox that Katy had gone to bed with a racking headache.

WHAT AND WHY.

Why should substitutes for Scott's Emulsion be refused?

Because they do not begin to offer the equivalent of food-value contained in Scott's Emulsion.

Why should special care be taken to avoid so-called wines, cordials and extracts of cod liver oil?

Because they contain a large percentage of alcohol and afford only temporary stimulation.

Does not Scott's Emulsion also stimulate the body?

Yes, but it is stimulation through nourishment.

What vital food principle is involved in the action of Scott's Emulsion?

Direct and perfect nourishment without tax on the stomach.

She says: "It affords me great pleasure to speak about what your Heart and Nerve Pills have done for me. About a year ago I was taken ill with heart trouble and got so bad that I was unable to do any work for four or five months. I got so weak and miserable that my friends thought I was going to die. The doctor attended me for some time but I continued to grow worse. At last I decided to try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, and after taking two boxes they made me well and strong again. I cannot praise them too highly to those suffering from nervous weakness and heart troubles."

In the good old days the sexton announced a death in the community by a stroke on the church bell for every year of the life that was gone. People expected, then, to live to old age, and speculation at the first tap of the bell took a narrow range including only those who had lived the allotted time. There is no reason why people should not have the same expectancy of age to-day, except for the neglect and abuse of the one organ on which all the other organs depend—the stomach.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery enables men and women to be strong and healthy, by curing diseases of the stomach (and other organs of digestion and nutrition), which prevent the proper nourishment of the body.

"I had been sick for two years with indigestion and nervous debility, and had taken medicine from my family doctor for a long time without much benefit," writes Mrs W H Peebles, of Lucknow, S. C. "Was induced by my husband to consult Dr Pierce by letter. You advised me to take 'Golden Medical Discovery' and 'Favorite Prescription' which I did, and to my great surprise after taking six bottles I was cured."

BOTH ROUTES TO BE SURVEYED.

Minister of Railways and Canals Has Stated that Port Hope and Trenton Routes Will Be Surveyed.

The Port Hope Guide says:—

"A message from Robert Beath, M. P., to Dr. Powers, President of the Port Hope Canal Association, states that he has had an interview with the Hon. Mr. Emmerson, Minister of Railways and Canals, and that an independent thorough survey of the Port Hope and Trenton routes will be made, also that Sir William Mulock and the Minister of Railways and Canals, himself, will visit Port Hope this summer and go over the route."

This statement would seem to indicate that the Government has decided to proceed with the speedy completion of the Canal, which, whether it goes by Port Hope or Trenton, will greatly benefit the whole country, and, although, in the opinion of a great many practical men, if the outlet of the waterway is at Port Hope, the usefulness of the canal will to a great extent be impaired, what everyone wants is the completion of the work by the most feasible route.

Messrs. McMillan & Maguire, Hunter street, received the following from their New York Agents at noon to-day:—

N. Y., April 22.—Sentiment was reported decidedly more bullish on the floor this morning. Conservative quarters are advising their clients that they consider the standard issues a purchase for a turn. London was a buyer of our stocks, and it is stated that it is decidedly bullish on Readings. Word was received from the floor that Manning covered short stocks freely and the raid on Steel pfd was for no other purpose than to help short covering elsewhere. Investment buying reported in Manhattan and the street is generally bullish on the Tractions. We are informed that there are some further favorable developments pending in the coalers, and Harriman people are bullish on D & H and advise its purchase under 175. Conditions favour steady market for rest of week with some slight advance throughout.

J. W. GORDON HAS BEEN APPOINTED.

The New Provincial License Inspector.

To Succeed the Late J. L. Stewart—A Prominent Temperance Worker A Practising Barrister in Brighton for Twenty Years.

Mr. Jas. Wilmot Gordon, barrister, of Brighton, has been appointed Provincial Inspector of Licenses to succeed the late Mr. J. K. Stewart. Mr. Gordon's appointment is regarded by those who favour the full enforcement of the license law as a wise selection. He has always been well-known as an earnest advocate of the temperance cause, and has been a prominent member of the Methodist church, at Brighton, where he practised his profession for nearly twenty years. The salary is $2,000 a year.—Globe.

'ALL OF YE OLDEN TYME'

MR. JUSTICE MACMAHON AND HIS CHARACTERISTICS.

Courteous on the Bench and in Private Life—Studious and a Widely Read Student—A Keen But Kindly Art Critic—How He Was Called to Become a Judge.

She was a young lady, an impressionable young lady, and when His Lordship Mr. Justice MacMahon took his place on the bench in the western court room of Osgoode Hall, with a quiet dignity that only some of our judges possess, she whispered to her clerical escort, who was only half as interested in the case being heard as she was:

"Doesn't Judge MacMahon seem to have slipped out of an old family portrait, catalogued 'A gentleman of the eighteenth century?'"

The young lady's dilletante penchant for lawsuits and family portraits did not affect her feminine judgment.

One is not surprised when told that Judge MacMahon's ancestors held prominent positions in Ireland during the troublous times of the last of the reigning Stuarts, that Colonel Art Oge MacMahon was James II's Lord Lieutenant of Monaghan and Hugh MacMahon was lieutenant-colonel of Gordon O'Neil's Chartremont regiment in the famous Irish Brigade that, in the service of France, became renowned throughout Europe and redeemed the day at Fontenoy. The Celt is naturally a gentleman, and probably Mr. Justice MacMahon owes as much to his race as to his family. An Irish gentleman or a Highland gentleman means more than the phrase an English gentleman.

It possibly requires a woman or the keenness of feeling of a fellow-Celt to understand the distinction, but it exists. Beyond the fact that Hugh MacMahon was a Nisi Prius lawyer of repute, this to some extent explains his call to the Superior Court bench by his old-time political opponent, Sir John A. Macdonald. A Highlander, dominant as his nature may be, never rules feudally. His dominance is patriarchal, and the story goes that when Hugh MacMahon, tired possibly of the monotony of practice in a Provincial town, with its only occasional opportunities, had left London and was to some extent obscured in the wild rush of Western settlement in the early days of the Winnipeg boom, the old-time Conservative chief asked a Western man:

"How about Hugh MacMahon?"

When the answer came, Sir John ejaculated: "Imagine Hugh MacMahon playing the game of life in a Western land boom! Ridiculous!" and he sat down in his generous petulance and immediately wired.

"Will you accept a Superior Court judgeship?"

And the Province of Ontario has a judge that not only brings to the Canadian bench an atmosphere of the courtliness of other days, but a sound lawyer and a man distinguished by humane common sense. An old-time courtliness and a high sense of dignity are not inconsistent with modern conditions. When Mr. Justice MacMahon was conducting the trial of Birchall and the little court room of Woodstock was crowded to suffocation, and the whole English-speaking world was to some extent interested in one of the most sensational murder trials in Canada's history, it was found that there was insufficient accommodation for the army of people that took intense human interest in the progress of the case. Judge MacMahon's permission was obtained, and telephone transmitters were so arranged that the testimony of witnesses, the addresses of counsel, and the charge of the judge to the jury could be heard in near-by rooms. There are very few judges who can retain their dignity and address a jury on a question of life and death with a telephone in close proximity in active operation on his desk, and there are still fewer who would be as considerate.

"No trial at any English assizes," said a representative Canadian journal, "could have been conducted with a more admirable temper than that at Woodstock."

Judge MacMahon was born at Guelph, Ont., March 6, 1836. Critics of our Public school system might possibly find in Judge MacMahon's charm of manner and literary and artistic tastes an example of what the education of the schools can never give, but whether it is due to the natural disposition of young MacMahon or the careful tutelage of a scholarly father, the result has been that Judge MacMahon is not only one of the broadest and widest read members of the Canadian bench, but also one of the keenest, if kindliest, of art critics. After a short service as a lad on an engineering survey of the proposed Ottawa Ship Canal and the Chats Rapids, he entered upon the study of the law, and was called to the Ontario bar in 1864. For five years he successfully practiced in Brantford, when he removed to London, Ont., and built up the largest practice in Western Ontario. In 1876 he was made a Q. C. by the Ontario Government, and in 1885 by the Dominion. In 1877 he represented the Dominion Government in the arbitration on what was called the Ontario boundary question, and, with D'Alton McCarthy and Christopher Robinson, was counsel for the Dominion when the matter came before the Privy Council in England. As counsel for the prisoners in what was known as the Biddulph tragedy he had an opportunity of showing his high gifts as a Nisi Prius and criminal lawyer, and secured an acquittal of his clients. A strong Liberal, Judge MacMahon was never a bitter partisan, and unsuccessfully contested London and Kent in his party's interests.

It may be that Judge MacMahon will not be remembered as a judge who derived keen intellectual enjoyment from hair-splitting rulings on points of abstract law. It may be that he will be remembered not so much from the fact that his judgments are seldom set aside, and that lawyers and litigants never cavil and object to their cases being set down to be heard by him. But there is no doubt, says The Toronto Star, Hugh MacMahon will long be remembered as the judge of the Superior Court of Ontario with sound common sense and a kindly, gentle heart, "a gentleman all of ye olden tyme."

PASSING OF THE HEARTH.

A Tribute to the Old Time Fireplace of Pioneer Ontario.

Many a pioneer who is passing the evening of his life in this part of Ontario, once a country of great maples, elms and beech and giant pines, feels something like an elderly woman in our great Northwest—who was a young wife in the young West—who pays a hearty tribute to the hearth as she knew it sixty years ago.

The coming of the cooking stove marked the beginning of a new epoch in the lives of our grandmothers. "Oh," exclaims this survivor, "the good cheer the fireplace brought to the children! No corn was quite so good as the ears roasted before the fire. No potatoes so good as those roasted in the ashes in the winter. No apples equal to frozen apples, boiled; then we would melt maple sugar and sugar off again on the snow." And she says in conclusion: "With the passing of the fireplace has passed the word 'fireside' and the word 'hearth.' It was around the fireside we gathered for family prayer, around the fireside we gathered to read, to chat, to visit. Gone with the fireside and the hearth are most of my dear ones, with whom I knelt every day."

There were no coal, wood or gas ranges in those days, but there was a fireplace, with a wide, deep hearth—and a chimney that would draw built large enough for the sweep to pass through.

The fireplace would take a log four or five feet long and a foot and a half through. This was piled on andirons and as there were no matches in those days one of the greatest anxieties of the careful housewife was to prevent the fire from going out. If it did go out she had to go to one of the neighbors, perhaps a quarter of a mile away, for a shovelful of live coals.

One of the signs of neatness in a housekeeper in those days was the way she kept the hearth cleaned, using the broom and wing, and a few of her many duties were to dip candles, put down pork and beef by the barrel, make sausage for the year, put down lard by the jar, preserved fruits by the gallon, apple sauce by the quantity, boiled cider by the keg, to provide dried beef and smoked hum, to spin all the yarn for the men's clothes, to weave it into cloth, and to send it to the dyers to be dyed, fulled and pressed.

God bless the pioneer.

Anecdote of Erastus Wiman.

An anecdote of Erastus Wiman, which illustrates his impetuous and sometime meddlesome temperament, is recorded by the biographer of Sir John Macdonald. It appears that he had information of a supposed dark plot to wrest Manitoba from the British Crown, by an armed insurrection, and heard that Mr. Blake and Sir Richard Cartwright were promoting it. He wrote to the Canadian Premier about it. Sir John replied to Mr. Wiman as follows:

"Riviere du Loup, Sept. 11, 1884.

"My Dear Mr. Wiman:

"Thanks for yours of the 6th instant. I can quite understand ——'s mode of action. He goes to Washington, and exaggerates the state of feeling in Manitoba. Most probably the gentleinen he sees receive him politely, and say they will be very glad if Canada can be induced to join the Union. With this statement he proceeds to Winnipeg, and pursues the same course of exaggeration. I don't believe a word of his statement about Mr. Blake and Sir Richard Cartwright. The latter has expressed his belief in the future independence of Canada, but that is all. Neither of them would countenance for a moment anything like a rising in arms. I shall look forward with interest to your promised communication after visiting Washington. I shall be at Ottawa after this week. I need not say how much obliged I am to you for the interest you take in this matter.

"Believe me, yours faithfully,

"JOHN A. MACDONALD."

"Erastus Wiman, Esq., 314 Broadway, New York City."

Sir John, after writing the letter, said to his secretary, smiling: "This is a new role for me, defending Blake and Cartwright." "Wiman," he continued, "wants to ingratiate himself with me, and he thinks this statement, with which he has been stuffed, will be acceptable to me, because it reflects upon my opponents."

"OLD BLEACH" LINENS

SOLE MANUFACTURERS:

The Old Bleach Linen Co., Ltd.
Randalstown, Ireland.

We take pleasure in announcing to the people of Peterborough that we have received and placed on sale a large assortment of the above famed "Old Bleach" Linens, embracing Huck Towels and Towellings.

Compare the beautiful silky lustre of these Goods with any other makes. Here is what the manufacturers say about the famous products of their mills:—

"Reasons Why Linens Now-a-days Wear Out So Quickly."

"In the good old-fashioned days Linen was spun, woven and bleached by the ladies of the house.

"Naturally great care was bestowed on its production, but more especially on the bleaching.

"This was effected by boiling it with mild soap, and then spreading it on the grass to be whitened by the rays of the powerful, yet kindly sun.

"And their carefulness was rewarded, for Linens bleached in this way had a beautiful silky appearance, and gave endless wear; being looked upon as heirlooms, and handed down to succeeding generations.

"In "Old Bleach" Linen the greatest care has always been exercised in their manufacture. The highest class yarns only are made use of, thus ensuring a perfect texture.

"The safe, old-fashioned system of bleaching on the grass is strictly adhered to, and to this is mainly due the undoubted wearing properties and lustrous silky appearance for which the "Old Bleach" Linen specialties are celebrated all the world over. Every Towel and every yard of their Linen Huck bear the trade mark 'OLD BLEACH.'"

We invite you to call and inspect these beautiful products of Linens.

The Old Bleach Linen Co. say:—"Their wearing properties will be appreciated long after the price is forgotten."

ANOTHER MINE IN THE HARBOUR.

Twenty-One Russians Killed by Explosion at Port Arthur.

ALEXIEFF REPORTS MISHAP.

Japaneses Wins Smart Skirmish — Russians Lost Eighteen in Killed and Wounded—An Alleged Attempt to Assassinate General Kuropatkin—Japanese Concentrated Around Wiju in Force with Material.

St. Petersburg, April 23.—The Emperor has received the following telegram from Viceroy Alexieff, bearing yesterday's date:

"I respectfully report to Your Majesty that to-day, during the placing of mines by some steam launches, Lieut. Pell and twenty men were killed through a mine exploding prematurely under the stern of one of the launches."

Japs Win Skirmish.

St. Petersburg, April 23.—An official telegram received here says that Russian scouting parties report that the Japanese are concentrated in considerable force with war material and pontoons at and around Wiju. Shots were exchanged south of the River Pomakua, where a Russian detachment of two officers and thirty-two men were lost, three men killed, and two officers and thirteen men wounded. The Russian force regained the Russian side of the river under the protection of two guns.

Alexieff Holding Back.

St. Petersburg, April 23.—The following telegram from Viceroy Alexieff has been received by the Emperor:

"Quite a series of reconnaisances carried out on the Yalu have shown that the Japs are concentrating in considerable force. It is believed they have about one division to the north of Wiju. They are also beginning to concentrate troops in Wiju, from which place they have moved the Corean population.

"Information has reached me that quantities of material, apparently parts of pontoon bridges, are being collected opposite the Island of Maikhie.

"Our scouts have killed two Japanese scouts, one of whom appeared to be an officer.

"On our right flank our scouts executed daring reconnaisances, extending over several days on the left bank of the Yalu, as the result of which it has been ascertained that there are only a few troops south of the River Pomakua, but that the Japanese there are occupied in preparing boats.

"A Russian detachment of two officers and thirty-two men proceeded thither in three boats. The detachment was, however, discovered by the enemy and shots were exchanged, three of our riflemen being killed. Staff-Capt. Smeizin and eleven riflemen were severely, and Lieut. Pushkin and four men slightly, wounded. The detachment returned to our bank of the river under the cover of two of our guns."

Japs Cross Yalu.

London, April 23.—Rumors of severe fighting on the Yalu are repeated in various forms and from various points. For instance, the Shanghai correspondent of The Morning Post says he hears that the first Japanese army crossed the Yalu almost without opposition; and The Daily Chronicle correspondent at Seoul says that heavy fighting has occurred, but that for strategic reasons it is impossible to send particulars.

Tried to Kill Kuropatkin.

St. Petersburg, April 23.—Rumors are in circulation that two beggars attempted the assassination of Gen. Kuropatkin when he was in Newchwang a few days ago. It is said the beggars succeeded in approaching the general and were talking to him when a guard noticed that one of them put his hand inside his robe. The men were seized and searched and knives were found upon them. It is said that the men were Japanese. The rumor cannot be verified.

Newchwang Bombarded.

New York, April 23.—A cablegram to The World from St. Petersburg says: The Japanese are reported to have bombarded Newchwang.

Jap Spies Arrested.

Archangel, Russia, April 23.—Two suspected Japanese have been arrested on the railroad near Vologada (in Northeastern Russia, 302 miles from Moscow), with plans in their possession of Archangel and the famous monastery on the Island of Solovetsky, in the White Sea.

Very Monotony.

Liaoyang, Manchuria, April 23.—Occasional skirmishes with the Japanese along the line of the Yalu River and unimportant tussles with small bands of Chinese and Chinese bandits vary the monotony of the perpetual movement of troops to the seat of war.

Siege State Extended.

St. Petersburg, April 23.—The state of siege has been extended to all towns adjacent to the Siberian Railroad.

Jap Column Destroyed.

London, April 23.—A despatch to The Central News from Port Arthur says news has been received there of the complete destruction of a Japanese column on the Yalu River. No details, it is added, were obtainable.

What Kuropatkin Thinks.

Liaoyang, April 23.—Gen. Kuropatkin is expecting that the Japanese will soon attempt to cross the Yalu. The concentration of the enemy's forces at Wiju has progressed rapidly. Information brought by scouts and others shows that there is more than one division there and that pontoons are being brought up. There was a skirmish Thursday on an island opposite Wiju, which the Japanese occupied in order to pave the way for laying pontoons. A Russian troop in boats was attacked and driven back. Capt. Smeizin, commanding the troops, was wounded by four bullets.

THE SOO GUARANTEE

Bill Passed the House With Usual Majority of Three.

THE ASSEMBLY TO PROROGUE

Several Other Bills Passed—Objections to the James' Bay Railway Guarantee—A Record Session of Sixty-Nine Working Days, the Longest Session on Record—Mr. Shields Makes Prompt Denial.

Toronto, April 23.—The Legislature will probably prorogue this afternoon, having put in sixty-nine working days, the longest session on record.

The "Soo" bill passed the third reading yesterday by the usual Government majority of three. The votes of Messrs. Conmee and Bowman were challenged, but the House decided that they were entitled to vote. In this connection the Speaker gave an important decision, establishing a precedent separately, and not coupled together.

A Prompt Denial.

During the debate on the "Soo" bill on Thursday night Mr. Whitney read from a Halifax paper to the effect that Mr. Shields, the General Manager of the "Soo" companies, had no confidence in the future of them, and was negotating with another company. Mr. C. N. Smith of Sault Ste. Marie, wired the report to Mr. Shields and received the following answer yesterday: "Statement attributed to me that enterprises of Consolidated Lake Superior under Warren would prove unsuccessful is absolutely without foundation. My position in connection with reorganization is that I am to have absolute charge of all operations.—C. Shields."

Rapid Progress Made.

When the "Soo" bill was disposed of rapid progress was made with the order paper, and finally the supplementary estimates were presented. The bill guaranteeing the bonds of the James Bay Railway was put through Committee of the Whole. On the third reading to-day Mr. Hoyle will move that a clause be inserted empowering the Lieut.-Governor in Council to from time to time fix the passenger and freight rates, while Mr. Whitney will endeavor to have the guarantee limited to that portion of the road north of Mara Township, thus excluding the extension to Toronto from Provincial assistance.

The Temiskaming Railway.

The Assembly voted down a motion by Dr. Pyne, that the Government operate the Temiskaming Railway for ten years.

The House went into committee on the bill respecting aid to the Huntsville and Lake of Bays Railway and the Grand Trunk Pacific. No amendments were made, and the third reading was declared carried.

The Premier's Railway Taxation Bill was amended in committee. The Premier said there were two railways, the Kingston and Pembroke and the Canada Central, which were not in a strong financial condition. They were slightly over 100 miles in length, and he desired to include them in the class that will pay a tax of $15 a mile. He moved to substitute 150 miles for 100 miles, so as to take in these roads. In reply to Col. Matheson, he said the bill will bring in a revenue of slightly under $200,000, an increase of $164,000 over the old act.

Mr. Macdiarmid secured the Attorney-General's consent to an amendment to the Election Act, providing that no person who has been reported for corrupt practices in an election shall be competent to act as an election official.

Passed Committee Stage.

The bill respecting aid to the James Bay Railway passed the committee stage in the Legislature yesterday, after the second reading had been declared carried on division without discussion. The bill will get its final reading this morning.

Mr. Graham moved an amendment to the Municipal Act to the effect that cumulative voting be given a further trial. The motion was carried on a vote of 43 to 39.

Hon. Mr. Stratton's charity act amendment went through.

Hon. Mr. Harcourt's bill to enable Separate School trustees to establish a second school in a section was read a second time.

Mr. Gamey secured an order for a return of correspondence regarding the establishment of a model, training or normal school on Manitoulin Island, or in Algoma. Hon. Mr. Harcourt announced that he had sympathy with the request.

A number of motions for returns were consented to by the Government without discussion.

Supplies Voted.

The House went into supply and passed a large number of items. Mr. Whitney wished it understood that the Opposition objected to a large number of items, but with the desire to expedite business would not call for a vote. The Premier promised that the failure of the Opposition to challenge the items, to which objection could be made, would not be taken advantage of when the Government goes out looking for votes.

SUPPLEMENTARY ESTIMATES

Brought Down by Premier Call for $307,796.81.

The supplementary estimates were laid on the table by Premier Ross last night. The total amount called for is $307,796.81. In the item of civil government the amount, largely for salaries, is $1215. Under the head of legislation, provision is made for an assistant archivist (French), at a salary of $800, and increase for the law clerk and assistant of $200 each. Administration of justice requires $2825. For education the government asks for $11,987.81, the largest item being $4000 for the mining school at Kingston.

For public institutions maintenance the total is $27,806, principally for increases in salary.

The following items appear under the head of agriculture: Encouragement of forestry, $2500; expenses smallpox at agricultural college, $2000; special dairy instruction, $5000; fruit, honey and flower show, $1000; additional grant to agricultural societies, $1460; winter fair building, Ottawa, $6000; London dairy building, agricultural exhibition, $10,000; grants towards Port Arthur and Fort William agricultural exhibition, $1500; for special damages to orchards, re San José scale, $5000. The O.A.C. physician secures $850 for services during the smallpox outbreak.

A grant of $10,000 is made for the new industrial school building at Mimico, new Blantyre home, industrial school building, $75,000; Salvation Army prison gate works, $250; Infants' home and infirmary, $200.

Public buildings require $87,978. Some of the principal expenditures are: Refitting kitchen and laundry, O.A.C., $5000; furnishing Massey Hall, Guelph, $1400; additional equipment School of Practical Science, $10,000; alterations to Penetang asylum, $13,000; purchase Trinity medical school building, $12,000; additional storey to dairy school, Kingston, $9000.

The expenditures for public works figure up to $23,600.

The sum of $3000 is provided towards the expense of the proposed railway commission. Other items are: Expenses select committee on assessment and public utilities (additional vote), $1200; insurance School of Practical Science, $1500; insurance on Osgoode Hall, $1300; memorial South African veterans, $5000; Army and Navy Veterans, $200; R.M.C. Rifle Association, $100; importation of game birds, $1400; Canadian mining Institute, grant, $800; Ministerial Association, Rat Portage (prosecutions), $400; enforcing Liquor License Act, $4000.

The gratuities, including $200 for the Toronto firemen, are: Retiring officers public institutions, $5000; gratuity to Peter Wrewers, 46 years' engineer Toronto Asylum, $840; gratuity to John Glen, late tailor London Asylum, $400; allowance to James Guan, stoker, Orillia Asylum, $200; allowance to A. Gormley, messenger, Orillia Asylum, $150; gratuity to Thomas Fitzpatrick, guard and bandmaster, Reformatory for Boys, Penetanguishene, $500; night watchman, honorarium re fire parliament buildings, $100; re-printing statutes, etc., on account of fire, $5000.

Commons Legalizes Picketing.

London, April 23.—The House of Commons yesterday passed the second reading by 238 to 299 votes of the Trades Union Bill, legalizing peaceful picketing and amending the law of conspiracy in connection with trade disputes and protecting trades union funds against legal process for damage caused by the action of members of such unions. Premier Balfour opposed the bill.

MRS. MORROW'S PUPILS' RECITAL.

Held in the Y. M. C. A. Hall Last Night was Successful.

The Event Proved to be a Very Pleasant One—Mrs. Morrow's Chorus Class Begins Next Wednesday.

The recital given by Mrs. Morrow's pupils in the Y.M.C.A. Hall last night, was a great success and in every way proved to be a very pleasant musical event. The singing was in all instances good, but some showed much natural talent, while all showed the effects of good vocal training. The pupils who made their bows last night were all well received, and undoubtedly many would have been encored had not Mrs. Morrow asked the audience to refrain from recalling the deserving ones as the programme was a rather lengthy one. Mrs. Morrow explained with regret that Mr. A. L. Davis, Mrs. McAllister and Mr. R. N. Jolliffe were unable to sing owing to indisposition. Last night some of the pupils showed nervousness, but the main object of these musical events is to make the pupil learn to feel entirely composed when singing before a large audience. During the evening Mrs. Morrow remarked that it was absolutely necessary for her pupils to practice. To go from lesson to lesson without practising in between would be useless. To become a musician one must practice incessantly. The following is the programme which was given last night:—

PROGRAMME

Vocal Solo, "Good Night, Little Girl." ... Miss Blomfield
Vocal solo, "Lake of Love." ... ... Miss Montgomery (Lakefield)
Vocal Solo, "Life's Lullaby." ... ... Miss Dot. Hackett.
Piano solo, "2nd Waise" ... ...Godard Miss Stella Mims (Toronto)
Vocal solo, "Mamy" ... ... Mrs. Hopwood, (Toronto.)
Vocal solo, "Staccatta Polka," Miss Myrtle Cline (Lakefield)
Vocal solo, "The Minstrel Boy" ... . Miss King
Vocal solo, "A Son of the Desert and I" Mr. G. W. Allen
Vocal solo, "Patti Waise Song ... . Mrs. Callender (Norwood)
Vocal solo, "In the Heart of the Mighty deep." Mr. Brundrette.
Vocal solo, "Voices of the Woods" ... ... Miss Josephine Sproule
Vocal solo, "For All Eternity." ... ... "Tic Tack Too." ... ... Mr. Joseph Legg.
Vocal solo, "A May Morning." ... ... Miss Dawson
Vocal solo, " So Robin Sang," ... ... Miss Florence Miller

Mrs. Morrow is to be congratulated on the success with which her pupils met last night. Another recital will be held in three weeks time.

Mrs. Morrow will begin the chorus class on Wednesday evening at 8.30 o'clock in the Y.M.C.A. Hall. The object of the class is to teach the members to read music at sight and to train their voices for choir singing. Mrs. Morrow should be encouraged in this work for which their is neither fees for the pupils nor for the public.

—Splendid papers were read by L. Brace, Stan. Madill and Stan. Fife, on "A Boy's Battle," at the boys' meeting at the Y.M.C.A. yesterday.

THE PARTY AND ITS LEADER.

There is proof, outside of other records, in the present condition of the Conservative party that Sir John Macdonald and Sir John Thompson are dead. Mr. Borden is a leader who does not lead, nor show ability to keep the party together, or keep down family squabbles. Perhaps it would be more correct as it is more charitable to say that Mr. Borden has very rebellious and refractory material to deal with in the more prominent of his party subordinates. Hon. Mr. Tarte, an apparently unaccredited attache of the Conservative party, not content with sidetracking Mr. Monk, is flourishing his knife in the vicinity of the political vitals of Sir Mackenzie Bowell, and the Brantford Expositor has the following as to the relation of other prominent members of the Conservative party which Mr. Borden finds so hard to manage:—"Then Mr. Clarke, of Toronto, and Dr. Sproule, two handlights of Orangeism, are on unfriendly terms; whilst Mr. Haggart along with Mr. George E. Foster, is still lying under the wrath of the ex-Grand Master, Sir Mackenzie, who adheres to the belief that he was driven from the premiership by a "nest of traitors." Mr. W. F. Maclean sides with Dr. Sproule as against Mr. Clarke, but attacks both when the humour seizes him; in fact, is the "enfant terrible" of the whole Conservative party. In Ontario the real leader is Mr. E. B. Osler; in Quebec, Mr. Hugh Graham of the Montreal Star: and as neither is popular with the rank-and-file the Tory cause is not making headway in those provinces. In Nova Scotia and New Brunswick the party has virtually ceased to exist. In the west it was Mr. Roblin and Mr. McBride, but they show no disposition to vacate their local offices and join Mr. Borden.

"Under the circumstances, what can Mr. Borden do? He used to be a strong Liberal, and is said to be opposed at heart to the demand for an all-round increase of the tariff, especially at a period like this, when Canadian factories are making more money than they ever did before. Mr. Tarte was thrust on them by Mr. Graham, who apparently did not know that, like Hannibal's elephants, Mr. Tarte is more dangerous to his friends than to his foes; and since then the party has been committed beyond recall to the policy of higher taxation, which might serve well enough in hard times, when quack nostrums of all sorts are in demand, but is not acceptable when the body politic is enjoying buoyant health and prosperity. In the House Mr. Borden is left to fight the battle almost single-handed, and the strain is more than he can bear. In caucus, the brethren are always, as Mr. Sam Hughes would say, "scrapping" amongst themselves, and there is no one to act as peace-maker, not even Sam himself, who, to quote him again, "carries a razor" for several fellow-Conservatives that have voted him a nuisance and prayed for his defeat and that of Mr. George Taylor."

Under such circumstances, Mr. Borden is deserving of a great deal of sympathy. If he had more support from the leading men of his following; if they would show less self-seeking, more party loyalty and work harmoniously for a common end, their return to power. This consummation, so devoutly wished, from their point of view, would be a more possible prospect.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

In this age of self-seeking, and—for it is also the age of slang—"graft," it is pleasing to note an exception. At the adjourned vestry meeting of St. Peter's church, Toronto, the rector, Rev. William Carey Ward, refused an increase of stipend, till the finances of the church were placed upon a more satisfactory basis. Premier Tweedie has introduced a Bill in the New Brunswick Legislature to increase the indemnity of legislators. It is quite safe wagering that the good members will for the moment drop their party bitterness, and vote with lamb-like unanimity for the increase in their "pay."

Reports say that Sunday is observed in Dawson City with, as the ponderous Dr. Samuel Johnson would say, religious scrupulosity, not only in regard to liquor selling, but in regard also to labour. Whether it is a case of post hoc propter hoc, reports also state that in Dawson City, under the shadow of the North Pole, there is beautiful spring weather—a temperature of 50 degrees—while we in Ontario, a thousand and more miles nearer the equator, are in the grip of frost and ice, and buffeted by rude boreal blasts. It has been urged by some that the conditions in Ontario may be due to the province permitting breakfast food mills to keep up steam on Sundays, and sugar beet factories to crystallize on the Sabbath day, has been compensated by chilly spring weather. But the Scriptures assure us that the people on whom the tower of Babel fell were not the worst sinners in the country. Towers are liable to fall alike, as the rain, on the just and the unjust, and the cold of this spring makes both saint and sinner shiver.

ONTARIO OPPOSITION'S DESPERATE TACTICS.

To Win Temporary and Trumpery Party Advantage.

Challenge Right of Members to Vote—Far-Fetched Pleas.

(Special to the Examiner.)

Toronto, April 23rd.—The Soo Guarantee debate in the Legislature practically reached its close on Thursday night, the Premier and the Opposition leader making brief speeches in conclusion. Throughout the debate the Opposition leader and members have made desperate attempts to discredit the proposition that the Government simply guarantee or endorse a loan for two millions to be raised by those connected with the reorganization of the Soo Companies to promote the re-establishment of these industries on a sound basis, with, as the Attorney-General showed, an ample working capital. The Opposition have resorted to every possible argument and assertion, which they thought would strengthen their cause, even going so far in their partizan zeal as to decry the value of our resources in New Ontario, and to declare the worthless character and insignificance of the industries at the "Soo," established at a cost of over twenty-eight millions of dollars, and giving employment when they closed down last autumn, to 3,500 persons.

RIGHT TO VOTE CHALLENGED.

On Thursday night, a vote was reached, on an Opposition motion for the three months' "hoist," this being defeated by a vote of 49 to 15.

Thereupon, Mr. Whitney, leader of the Opposition, moved that the votes of James Conmee and C. M. Bowman be disallowed, "they having a direct pecuniary interest in the said bill." He said he proposed to follow it up with another motion to disallow the vote of Hon. Mr. Stratton "on the ground that he is a shareholder in the bank which is a creditor."

This absurd and far-fetched attempt to make party capital was received with derisive exclamations.

On Friday morning (when the House sat) the debate brought out the absurdity of the contention represented by the motion of Mr. Whitney, especially in regard to Hon. Mr. Stratton. It will be remembered that on the collapse of the "Soo," industries last fall the Ontario Government came to the help of the employees by procuring payment of the unpaid wages, amounting to about $250,000. Arrangements were made with the three banks then doing business at the "Soo," the Commerce, the Imperial and the Traders, to advance the money to pay the wages due, the Government of Ontario guaranteeing the repayment of the moneys advanced. Hon. Mr. Stratton, as a director of the Traders Bank, being Vice-President, has no direct nor indirect personal pecuniary interest in the passage of the Soo Guarantee Bill, and to contend that he should therefore be debarred from voting upon the measure was a far-fetched, fine spun and strained position to urge, and one which has no authority or parliamentary precedent, Imperial or Canadian, justifying a demand that he be debarred from voting upon the Soo Guarantee Bill, whose passage will in no way improve the position of the Traders or any other of the banks concerned in relation to the repayment of the money advanced by them. The guarantee of the advance by the province as as good security as any bank could want.

In the House on Friday morning the motion of Mr. Whitney was spoken to by Mr. Hanna of West Lambton, who advanced numerous alleged precedents and citations from rulings to attempt to show that British Parliamentary practice applied here, excluded Messrs. Conmee and Bowman from voting on the "Soo" bill.

These gentlemen have a claim under contract against the Algoma Central Railway for some $40,000. This is secured by a first lien on the railway, a lien which holds good in advance of any other claim, and for which no further, or better, security can be required. They are sure of their pay, if the claim is a valid one, whether the Soo Guarantee Bill becomes law, either with or without their votes.

Attorney-General Gibson, in reply to Mr. Hanna, showed the absurdity of the contention that these gentlemen had a direct or even the most faintly indirect interest in the passage of the Bill, and he further showed that there was no precedent on record in Imperial Parliamentary practice to debar members from voting upon a public or Government bill—the precedents aplied to direct votes of public money to private individuals or corporations. He pointed out that the Soo guarantee bill was a public or Government bill, not providing for a direct grant of money to the extent of a single cent, but simply guaranteeing a loan of two million dollars upon the most ample security, with not the remotest possibility that the Province would even be called upon to contribute a dollar. Messrs. Conmee and Bowman had no direct nor indirect pecuniary interest in the passage of the bill. They had the same interest that every public spirited citizen had in seeing that the great industries at the Soo were revived and placed upon a sound going basis.

The Opposition seem to be inclined, in political matters, to be thankful for small mercies. They have during the session when they thought Liberal members would be absent tried to snip two or three votes. In this, they were foiled, and on Friday, they tried something similar for the paltry sake of being able to make a childish boast that the Government's majority had been reduced. According to parliamentary rules when a member's right to vote is being discussed or votes upon he is required to retire from the Chamber. On this occasion, on Friday afternoon, just before the vote took place on the third reading, Mr. Whitney moved, seconded by Mr. Hanna, that Mr. Conmee's vote be objected to. The motion was defeated by a vote of 43 to 45. Afterwards Mr. Whitney moved, seconded by Mr. Hanna again, that Mr. Bowman's vote be excluded, on similar grounds. This was also rejected on the same division, 43 to 45. The matter of the objection to the right of Mr. Stratton, the Provincial Secretary, to vote was not urged beyond the province of debate, no formal motion having been made.

The motion for the third reading of the bill was adopted and it became law by a majority of 48 to 45.

George Dawson Dead.

Niagara Falls, April 22.—George Dawson, the widely known contractor, of St. Catharines, died suddenly here shortly after noon yesterday in his office at the Canadian Niagara Power Company's works. Mr. Dawson was talking to his son-in-law, Charles Tilden, when he pitched forward, gasped twice and was dead. He was born in England in 1838. He was married twice, his first wife being a Canadian, while his second, who survives him, with his two sons, George and John, is an Ohio lady. Mr. Dawson was associated with the late H. C. Symes of this city in a number of large contracts. Some of the more prominent were the Poughkeepsie bridge in New York State over the Hudson River, the cantilever bridge across the Niagara gorge, section 12 of the Welland Canal and the Grand Trunk tunnel, Northern Pacific Junction Railway of Canada, the Nova Scotia Ship Railway and many others. He went into partnership with John Riley and taken the million and a quarter dollar contract of the Niagara Power Company.

Russian Influence Waning.

St. Petersburg, April 23.—A telegrams from Tiflis says: "Advices received here from Persia state that Ala ed Dauleh, the Governor-General of the Province of Fars, has been removed from his post because, on the occasion of Lord Curzon's recent tour in the Persian Gulf, he did not go on board the Viceroy's ship.

"The Persian Government has notified the British Government of the dismissal of Ala ed Dauleh. He is an experienced administrative official, who has tendered particular service by introducing tea-growing into Persia."

The most interesting feature of the above news is that it shows how completely Russian influence at Teheran is waning.

Burned to Death.

Berlin, April 23.—Thursday evening, while a little daughter of Alex. Wildfong, about 3 years of age, with some other children, was playing in the yard, one of them got hold of some matches and tried to have a bonfire. The grass and debris soon took into flame and almost instantly the little girl's clothes caught fire. Before her father arrived, which was in a few minutes, she was enveloped in flames. The child was brought to the house, and everything that skill could do was done for her, but she died within a short time. Her body was burned from foot to head.

Found Dead.

New Glasgow, N.S., April 23.—The body of Reuben Dunbar, aged 31, was found near the back mines at Stellarton yesterday. He has been missing for a week and it is supposed fell into an old excavation and drowned. He leaves a widow and two children.

Mrs. Nation Gets $300 a Week.

Chicago, April 23.—Mrs. Carrie Nation, the saloon smasher, arrived in Chicago yesterday, and will on next Monday commence an engagement at a dime museum. This is her first appearance in such a capacity. Her salary is $300 a week.

Chicago's Triple Hanging.

Chicago, April 23.—Peter Neidermeier, Gustave Marx and Harvey Van Dine, the notorious car barn bandits and confessed murderers of eight men, were hanged here yesterday.

Joy at the Soo.

Sault Ste. Marie, April 23.—The passage of the Soo Guarantee Bill by the Ontario Legislature was the impetus which gave the Soo over to joyous celebration last night.

Shredded Whole Wheat Biscuit contains the fourteen elements found in the human body and in exactly the same proportions

Why not eat the food that Nature has produced to nourish these elements? You eat to live. You sit down to your meals to build up the elements in your body which mental and physical labor has worn out.

If you eat foods containing a greater proportion of phosphatic properties you are feeding the brain and neglecting your physical condition. Nitrogenous foods build muscle to the detriment of brain power, while foods of a carbonaceous character supply the body with heat and fat alone. But if you eat

SHREDDED WHOLE WHEAT BISCUIT AND TRISCUIT

The Natural Foods

you feed every element in the body. You then get just the proper proportion of brain- bone- muscle- heat- and flesh-forming food the body requires.

Nature has placed every element found in the human body in a grain of wheat. We neither add to nor take away a single element from this perfect whole. Shredded Whole Wheat Biscuit is Nature's true food served in the most easily digestible, most palatable form.

Triscuit, the only cracker that contains all the nourishing elements of wheat and does not contain yeast, fats or chemicals, and makes ideal toast.

Sealed tenders addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for Port Colborne Breakwater," will be received at this office until Friday, May 6, 1904, inclusively, for the construction of a breakwater at Port Colborne, Welland County, Ontario, according to two sets of plans to be seen at the offices of Louis Coste, Esq., Resident Engineer at Port Colborne, Ont.; H. A. Gray, Esq., Engineer in charge of Harbour Works, Ontario, Confederation Life Building, Toronto; Charles Desjardins, Esq., Clerk of Works, Post Office Building, Montreal, and at the Department of Public Works, Ottawa.

Two forms of tenderers will be furnished but the contractors are at liberty to tender for one or both schemes.

Tenders will not be considered unless made on the form supplied and signed with the actual signature of tenderers.

An accepted cheque on a chartered bank, payable to the order of the Honourable the Minister of Public Works, for twenty-two thousand dollars must accompany each tender. In the case of parties tendering for both schemes only one cheque will be required. The cheque will be forfeited if the party tendering decline the contract or fail to complete the work contracted for, and will be returned in case of non-acceptance of tender.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

By order,

FRED. GELINAS,
Secretary.

Department of Public Works,
Ottawa, April 11, 1904.

A MARITIME NATION

Canada Waking Up to Fuller Appreciation of Her Position.

TO LICENSE WHALE FISHING

Minister of Marine Introduces a Bill For This Purpose—Several Other Bills Introduced in Parliament — The House in Committee of Supply—Salaries For Customs Inside Service Voted.

Ottawa, April 23.—After the flood of talk to which the walls of the Chamber have echoed for several weeks past, the proceedings in the House yesterday were comparatively tame and uninteresting. The Minister of Marine, by the introduction of a bill to license whale fishing, gave another indication that Canada is awakening to a fuller appreciation of her position as a Maritime nation. Several Government bills were advanced a stage, and the remainder of the sitting was spent in supply, the net result of six hours' discussion being a vote of $62,000 for salaries in the custom inside service, a rate of progress which does not augur well for an early prorogation.

Private Bills.

Mr. Lennox introduced a bill to amend the Railway Act, giving railway companies power to provide insurance for their employees.

Hon. Mr. Prefontaine introduced a bill to amend the fisheries act by providing for the licensing of whale fishing. The idea, he explained, was taken from the legislation of Newfoundland.

Mr. Cowan introduced a bill to amend the act respecting the incorporation of joint stock companies by letters patent. It provides authority for companies to restore by by-law the par value of stock to $100, when it has been reduced below that, the authority not previously existing.

Mr. Wade introduced a bill to amend the criminal code by throwing the onus of proving they came by it honestly upon persons found in possession of gold or amalgam or gold-bearing quartz.

In reply to a statement quoted by Mr. Cowan, that the Essex Fusiliers would represent the Canadian militia at the St. Louis Exhibition, Sir Frederick Borden said no regiment had so far been selected for that honor.

Mr. Kaulback, Lunenburg, called attention to the fact that while ships' cables were admitted to Canada free of duty, cables for fishing craft were subject to duty. He urged that they be made free also.

"It is a pleasure to hear from hon. gentlemen opposite a request for something to come in free," responded Hon. Mr. Fielding, cheerily; "we will give it our most careful consideration."

The order for the second reading of the Transcontinental Railway bill was deferred until Tuesday, as the bill had not been distributed.

Government Bills.

Hon. Mr. Fitzpatrick's bill, making a slight amendment to the petition of right act, was read a second time, passed through committee and given its third reading.

A second reading was also given Mr. Fitzpatrick's bill to amend the Yukon Territory act, by giving the Commissioner in Council authority to divide the Territory into districts for the election of the five elected Councillors and to define the qualifications of the voters.

A second reading was also given Mr. Fitzpatrick's bill to amend the Exchequer Court act, by giving the right of appeal to the Crown absolutely in all cases. Formerly the Judge was allowed certain powers of discretion.

In Committee of Supply.

The House, having finished preliminary business, went into supply shortly before 4 o'clock, taking up the customs estimates under Civil Government.

In the Senate.

Ottawa, April 23.—Senator Domville questioned the Secretary of State in the Upper House yesterday as to the amount of assessment policies of the Mutual Reserve Fund Life Association that exist in Canada at present. He also wanted to know how many policies of the old life business now being adopted are in force, and for what amount; also what funds are held by the Government for each system of insurance in Canada.

Senator Scott replied that in the assessment business issued prior to Aug. 11, 1899, there were 4,644 policies to the value of $9,342,550; of business since that date, on the level reserve basis there were 566 policies to the value of $1,412,820. The amount in the hands of the Receiver-General on the old business was $258,000.

Senator Domville was informed that a bill to amend the Insurance Act had been prepared by Angus McMurchy and approved by the Finance Department. The Department had not prepared any bill.

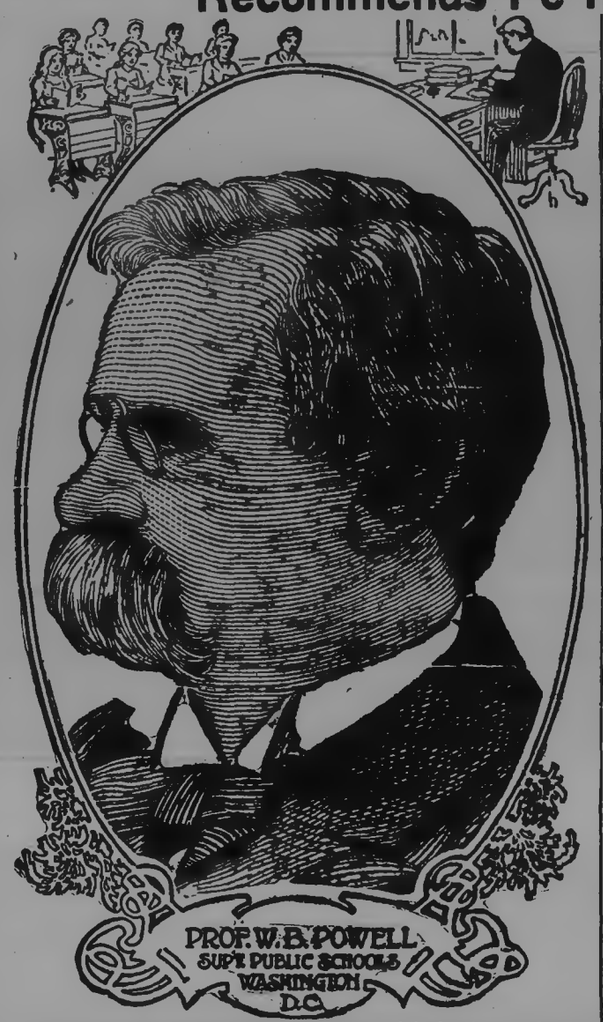
SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS FOR FIFTEEN YEARS.

Professor Powell, of Washington, D. C., Recommends Pe-ru-na.



Prof. W. B. Powell, of Washington, D. C., is one of the best known educators in the country. For fifteen years he has been Superintendent of the Public Schools of Washington, which is considered the best school system in the United States. Professor Powell is the author of a number of school books which are used throughout the United States.

This well known gentleman does not hesitate to recommend Peruna to his countless friends and acquaintances all over the United States. In a recent letter from 1410 N street, N. W., Washington, D.C., to Dr. Hartman, he says:

"Persuaded by a friend I have used Peruna as a tonic, and I take pleasure in recommending your remedy. Peruna is indeed a good medicine and should be in every household."—W. B. POWELL.

Such straightforward evidence cannot be overlooked. What the common people say carries weight, but when a man of national prominence says "Peruna should be used in every household," it is a significant fact to the increasing prominence and undoubted efficacy of Peruna.

Peruna is of national fame as a catarrh remedy. It is the only internal systemic catarrh remedy known to the medical profession. It makes diseased mucous membranes healthy, whether it is the mucous membrane lining the nose, throat, lungs, stomach, kidneys or pelvic organs. It cures various diseases of all these organs, because two-thirds of the ills of mankind are due to catarrh. With healthy mucous membranes climatic diseases lose their terror, the system is enabled to throw off contagion, and health follows inevitably.

Mr. A. T. Wood, Mt. Sterling, Ky., writes:

"For many years I have been a sufferer from catarrh, and have spent time and money with physicians and used many kinds of remedies which were 'guaranteed sure cures', but in every case it was money thrown away.

"I reaped no benefit whatever from them. In my seemingly vain search for relief I purchased a bottle of Peruna, having no confidence in it whatever at the time. This was about one year ago, and I began to improve and was able to attend to my business without being constantly hampered by every kind of pain known to a human being. My hearing, which was almost entirely gone is as keen, gulworry much better. The medicine not only seems to cure, but to prevent disease.

"This winter when every one was suffering from la grippe, I stood like a stone wall, absolutely proof against it. I am not a believer in 'patent medicines,' having found the majority of them fakes, but I do not hesitate to recommend Peruna as the best medicine for catarrh the world has ever seen. I keep a bottle of it at home constantly and shall continue to do so, because I believe it to be the best medicine on earth. I never leave home that I don't put a bottle of it in my grip." A. T. WOOD.

Mr. Evan D. Bowen, Dodge City, Kan., Conductor on the A. T. & S. F. R. R., writes: "I have had catarrh of the stomach for seven years, and I began to think that I never was going to be cured. At the time I began taking Peruna, I was unable to make more than one or two trips on the road at a time, not being able to keep anything on my stomach. I then weighed 168 pounds. I have been taking Peruna since that time and have never lost a trip, and now weigh 220 pounds." —Evan D. Bowen.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio.

ST. GEORGE'S DAY'S SUCCESSFUL CLOSE.

Delightful Entertainment Given by St. Andrew's Guard.

Mr Owen Smiley was Assisted by Local Talent—The Affair was One Thoroughly Enjoyed.

St. George's Day closed very pleasantly for several hundred persons at least in Peterborough. The members of St. Andrew's Guard gave their annual St. George's concert in the Guild Hall, and the event was one thoroughly enjoyed by those who participated in it. The hall was well filled, and the programme presented was fully up to the high standard set by this organization in the past.

Mr. Owen Smiley was the only outside artist on the programme, and the popular entertainer has appeared before Peterborough audiences so many times, and each time with an increased pleasure to his hearers, that he no longer seems a stranger.

The hall was very prettily decorated for the occasion, and, as was natural on St. George's Day, the flag of "old England" predominated in the decorations.

The programme, which was of a high order of merit, opened with a piano solo given by Mrs. P. A. Kerr and Miss Ethel Tully, with which the audience showed its distinct approval.

Rev. J. G. Potter, the pastor of the church, as chairman, gave a brief opening address, in the course of which he remarked that there were three circumstances which contributed to the success of the evening's entertainment: The first was the fact that it was given on St. George's Day, the second that it was given under the auspices of the St. Andrew's Guards, and the third that the programme was being largely contributed to by Mr. Smiley, who is a prime favourite with Peterborough audiences. It was a great pleasure to introduce Mr. Smiley again to an audience in an entertainment given under St. Andrew's auspices.

Mr. Smiley, who was given a splendid reception, as usual, gave as his first number, his original sketch, "Friend or Foe," a patriotic poem founded on an incident of the late Boer war, in the rendition of which Mrs. Kerr assisted by a piano accompaniment to "Home Sweet Home." On being recalled Mr. Smiley gave a touching poem written by Dr. Drummond, "The Red Canoe," the author of which Mr. Smiley characterized as being one of the most deservedly popular of the Canadian poets.

Mr. Alf. E. Young, who is rapidly becoming a popular vocalist with Peterborough audiences, was next heard in a solo, "The Longshoreman," which the audience received enthusiastically. "An Irish Courtship," was Mr. Smiley's next selection, in which the characteristic Irish humour was very truthfully portrayed. In this number, as in all given by Mr. Smiley, he was heartily applauded, and had to respond with an encore.

The next number was a vocal solo, "Past and Future," rendered by Mr. Sidney Glass, who in the short length of time that he has been in Peterborough, has ingratiated himself with the music loving public. In this selection his tenor voice was heard to good advantage, and he was enthusiastically received. A laughable sketch, "An Examination in Music," by Mr. Smiley, was next given, to which he responded with a couple of Irish sketches.

"Barney O'Brien" was sung by Mr. Young in his usual musicianly manner. An exceedingly realistically given selection entitled a "Missouri Steamboat Race," was Mr. Smiley's next number, which was followed by a second solo, "You," by Mr. Glass.

Lord Tennyson's poem, "The Revenge," was the last number on the programme, and in its rendition Mr. Smiley gave evidence of his ability in this line. As an encore he gave a most amusing schoolboy sketch, which pleased immensely the younger portion of the audience.

Mrs. Kerr acted as accompanist for the vocal numbers in a most acceptable manner.

The Guards of St. Andrew's, under whose auspices the entertainment was held, and by whom the entire arrangements were made, is to be congratulated upon the complete success of the affair.

NEW STORE WINS POPULAR FAVOUR.

Ladies' and Children's Ready-to-Wear Store of Mr. T. H. Adams.

The Opening Days were Crowded with Buyers—The Best of Goods at the Proper Price.

That the ladies of Peterborough and vicinity appreciate the efforts of Mr T. H. Adams in establishing a store devoted to ladies' and children's wearing apparel and ready to wear clothing, is amply evidenced by the fact that since the store was opened on Thursday, it has been crowded with buyers, and Mr. Adams states that he is more than satisfied with the opening sales, and certainly he has managed to anticipate the wants of the ladies in a remarkable way. His store is one which without a doubt will soon win its way into popular favour with the ladies, not only because of the fact that the very best classes of goods are kept, but also because the prices are right.

The store has been fitted up especially for the class of goods to be kept, and the prospects for building up a successful business are bright. Glass cases have been placed on the south side of the store in which the more delicate goods are kept. In it were seen some beautiful infants' christening robes, and silk dresses. These are dainty enough to send the mother of the child into raptures over the beauty of the garments. Children's whitewear and dresses form an important part of the store's stock, and a splendid range of different styles are shown. On the north side of the room, the haberdashery department holds sway, and everything in this line for ladies is kept, and the prices and quality are bound to be right.

Considerable space in this beautifully fitted store is devoted to the ready-to-wear department, in which a splendid range of ready-to-wear cloaks, costumes, suits, rain-coats, blouses, etc., is to be seen. One or two suits chosen at random out of the large stock were seen, and, it would be hard to imagine anything more desirable in the line of tailor-made goods. A navy blue voile suit, beautifully trimmed with silk braid and buttons, and lined with taffeta silk, looked particularly fetching, while in black a handsome tailor-made skirt of black voile, with faggoting yoke with taffeta strappings and taffeta silk drop-skirt is a beautiful garment. All these goods are the best tailor-made, and the fit and workmanship are guaranteed.

Silk waists are shown in almost endless variety, in all the very newest styles and colours.

One of the most valuable assets of Mr. Adams in his new business is the staff of obliging salesladies which he has been fortunate enough to secure. Each one is thoroughly conversant with her duties, and it is a pleasure to purchase in this store.

On the second floor, convenient ladies' fitting rooms have been arranged and a ladies' toilet room.

The window displays are executed in exquisite taste, and the windows are large and well lighted, giving good opportunities for the proper display of goods.

That Mr. Adams is meeting with such success in his new venture, is certainly most gratifying, but it is only the reward which his years of training have meritted. In the opening days the store has been taxed to its utmost to handle the trade, and every customer was thoroughly satisfied with the goods purchased and the price paid.

BICYCLE AGAIN TO BE POPULAR.

Local Dealers Say Their Sales this Year are Largely in Excess of 1903.

From present indications it appears that the age of the bicycle is again to be ushered in. Local dealers state that the sales of wheels to date are far in excess of those of last year up to a corresponding date. Not only are the sales larger, but in almost every case a high grade wheel is purchased, one dealer, the largest in town, stating that he had sold only three low grade wheels this spring. Another pleasing feature is that all the purchasers of wheels pay cash for them, an evidence of the general prosperity of the town.

The conditions here are evidently fully equalled by those in other places for Mr. F. R. J. MacPherson informed the Examiner that the Canada Cycle and Motor Co., had advised him that their sales to date this spring were 50 per cent in excess of those to the same date last year.

The best wheels this year are those with hygonic cushion frames and coaster brakes. The chainless wheel has apparently had its brief spell of popularity, for very few wheels so equipped are sold these days.

AFTERMATH OF THE ARMSTRONG CASE.

The Evidence Taken after Luncheon Yesterday.

Armstrong Advised Applicant to Study Electrical, Steam and Hydraulic Machinery by Reading a Text Book on Natural Philosophy.

The after-luncheon proceedings in the case against Wm. E. Armstrong for obtaining money under false pretences, which was ventilated in the Police Court yesterday, began at 2 o'clock and occupied nearly three hours of the afternoon, after which period the prisoner was committed for trial at the next Court of Competent Jurisdiction. As was reported in yesterday's Examiner, Armstrong was charged with fraudulently obtaining $5 from one Thos. Hodgson, through the means of a bogus advertisement.

The first witness called was Thos. Hodgson, who deposed seeing Armstrong's advertisement in the Toronto Mail and Empire. He forwarded the required $5 and that was the last he saw of his money or heard of the promised employment.

Arthur Lemieux, of 462 St. Patrick street, Ottawa, was next sworn. He said he saw the "ad." in the Ottawa Citizen of March 23rd. He answered it the following day, but did not send any money, asking for some more particulars. Armstrong answered his communication and referred him to Mr. W. T. Douglas of the Mail and Empire, and the Ottawa Citizen. Witness applied at the Citizen office and learned that the matter had been placed in the hands of the Dominion Police, who were investigating the suspicious affair. He then stopped communicating with Armstrong.

E. F. Caud, business manager of the Ottawa Citizen, was the third witness called and said that he believed the advertisement had appeared in that newspaper on March 23rd, 24th and 25.

Deputy Postmaster Corkery when sworn said that the first time he saw prisoner he cashed a $5 postal note, and got a registered letter from Thos. Hodgson, of Toronto. That was the day prisoner was arrested.

Mr. Wood asked—Where many letters received at box 848?

Mr. Corkery—We have now some 217 ordinary and 5 registered letters addressed to Armstrong at that box, awaiting and have received a parcel for F. H. Bradley, and two for J. S. Steele from Lindsay.

Postmaster Rogers when sworn said he first saw prisoner on March 19th, when he came to rent a P.O. box. Witness rented him No. 848, and asked him his employment. He said he was opening an employment agency and would have considerable correspondence. The next time the saw him was on Monday, March 28th when he delivered to him a registered letter. Detective Parkinson had arrived the previous day and was looking for him. He (Parkinson) was in the post office at the time and followed Armstrong out.

Deputy Postmaster Albert Palen, of Lindsay, had seen the prisoner in Lindsay last fall, about September. He presented himself as J. S. Steele and wanted a P.O. box. Witness went on to say that mail addressed to one F. H. Bradley also came to that box. Later on in the year "Steele" went away and wrote asking that all mail matter for himself and "his chum" be forwarded to some lumber camp. However he came back in March and hired a box for year as "J. S. Steele."

David LeMay, the manager of a commercial exchange (employment agency) in Toronto, also gave evidence regarding some business between the prisoner and himself.

A. McKenna was another of the fish who bit at Armstrong's baited hook, and sent him $5. In reply to his application he received the following letter, the reading of which created roars of laughter:—

Dear Sir,—Yours of the 21st enclosing $5 duly received.

Many of the American and Canadian manufacturers of machinery, furniture, launches, etc., have decided to leave no stone unturned to reach the public by means of literature devoted to the different exhibits and for this purpose they intend placing young men in some positions and young ladies in others. You will simply see that the apartment to which you will be assigned is kept neat and answer all questions to those interested and give the literature to all who desire.

If any wish to write letters you will allow them to do so and supply them with paper, envelopes etc., of the firm and drop in the box and mail them later on.

You would do well between now and April 15th to acquire what knowledge you can of electrical, steam, pneumatic and hydraulic machinery. Any schoolbook of Natural Philosophy will give you a good insight including electricity and magnetism. I will call at Ottawa April 14th or 15th and will notify you for the 16th where to meet me. Your number is 17

Yours sincerely,
W. G. ARMSTRONG,
Box 848, Peterborough.

P. S.—If you write me again just sign your number (17.) I have your name and address and it will save time by using your number instead of your name.

Mr. McKenna went on to say that on reading the communication through he thought Armstrong was a fraud, he did not take any action in the matter.

Mr. T. Cavanagh, the proprietor of the Cavanagh House, said that he hired the prisoner in the fall to go to MacArthur's lumber camp near Beaverstone, on the Georgian Bay. At that time the prisoner asked him what kind of a place was Peterborough, and asked if a machinist could get work easily. Mr. Cavanagh told him that he would find plenty of employment in this town. Prisoner came to Peterborough on March 15, and stayed at the Cavanagh House, as F. H. Bradley, until arrested.

This concluded the case.

As a Convalescent Food

To Restore Vigor, Energy and Vitality to a Run-down System There is No Rival to Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Though the whole country has been shocked by the enormous death rate of the past winter there is not even a means of estimating the hosts of cases in which people have survived severe attacks of la grippe, pneumonia and other debilitating diseases only to find that they are unable to regain health and strength.

At times your hopes have been built up for a day or two, but you are subject to spells of weakness and dizziness and attacks of headache, indigestion and discouragement which almost make you wonder if life is worth living.

As a result of the run-down condition of the system your nerves are weak and exhausted, and you are easily irritated and worried by things which should have no influence on you.

You have doubtless heard about Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, but possibly you have failed to realize how admirably it is suited to your requirements. Composed, as it is, of the most potent reconstructive agents known to the medical profession, it is bound to be of benefit to you in restoring energy and vigor to the nervous system and in overcoming the ills and weaknesses which arise from low vitality.

This great food is entirely different to the stimulants used by many people under these conditions. While gradual and natural in its work of revitalizing and building up the system it acts in accordance with nature's laws and each dose is certain to be of some benefit to you.

By noting your increase in weight while using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food you can prove positively that new, firm flesh and tissue is being added to the body.

Mr. R. B. Popham, 29 Edward Street, Toronto, states:—"As a result of a severe attack of la grippe I was left in a weak and run-down condition. My digestion was bad, my nerves were all unstrung, and I had frequent spells of dizziness and nervous headache. By using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food regularly for some time I have succeeded in building up my system, and can now say that my digestion is good, the headaches and dizzy spells do not trouble me any more, and my nerves are steadied and restored. I consider this medicine a splendid blood and nerve tonic."

Mrs. Tobin, 355 Wellington Street, Montreal, Que., states:—"As a result of a severe and prolonged cold my system got very much run down, I was nervous, had no energy, and at times suffered a good deal from headaches. Since I began using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, about eight weeks ago, I have gradually grown stronger and healthier, my nerves have been toned up, and the headaches do not bother me. I can heartily endorse Dr. Chase's Nerve Food because I have been so much benefited by it."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food

Is sold by all dealers at the advertised price, 50 cents a box, 6 boxes for $2.50, or mailed postpaid on receipt of price by Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

☞ To protect you against imitations the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous Receipt Book author, are on every box of his remedies.

WOMAN EMPIRE MAKER.

Miss Violet Brooke-Hunt and Her Extraordinary Career.—Established Soldiers' Institutes in South Africa.

While a few Canadians may ask: Who is Miss Violet Brooke-Hunt? I know full well that many officers and soldiers throughout Canada will not require to be told who she is, writes Lally Bernard, in The Toronto Globe.

A pretty girlish figure, a face literally radiating kindliness, the brightest brown eyes, full of laughter and intelligence, and you have the very model of splendid English womanhood that Tennyson loved to draw. Miss Brooke-Hunt was kind enough to give me a pleasant hour in her little "den" in the flat at Albert Gate Court, where she lives with her mother and sisters, and there I found her surrounded by pictures and books, and a thousand and one relics of the eventful years into which she has crowded more action and thought than that of the average woman who reaches the sign-post of three score years and ten. Now what is the secret of the youthful buoyancy and yet mature wisdom of this young empire-maker? First of all, a happy, healthy, childhood and girlhood in the country, where she resided under the roof of her grandfather, W. P. Price, M.P., in Gloucestershire, and where she was the companion of her brother in many of his sports and pastimes.

Before she was fifteen Miss Brooke-Hunt had been encouraged by her grand-parent to start a boys' club in connection with the institutes and libraries on he estate and she constantly listened to the discussions of the old squire on economic questions, which found practical exemplification in the work done in this miniature world. Later on she spent a short period at Cheltenham College, where the head mistress found her bent so clearly indicated that she allowed her to take up political and social economics, history and literature, in which subjects she won high distinction. Later came a move to Gloucester, and the result was the founding of a branch of the university extension lecture work by one girl. It is needless to say that the lectures were on history, economics and sociology, and that the lecturer, bringing her youthful enthusiasm into the work, scored a huge success. This girl of eighteen managed to bring boys and men of the artisan class into intense sympathy with the work and from this movement grew the club known as the "Gordon Wanderers," where, under the auspices of the Home Arts and Industries, technical instruction was given the lads, who supported the institution by their savings. Albert Court Gate was close to the Knightsbridge Barracks, and when fate brought Miss Brooke-Hunt and her family to London, she found that many of the young privates in the Guards were boys from her old institutes, who had from time to time enlisted and left their native country.

Realizing that soldiers have more than human enemies to fight when on active service, Miss Brooke-Hunt managed, in spite of many difficulties, to find her way to South Africa and there to establish soldiers' institutes. She went out on a troopship, and found plenty of work for her active mind on the voyage, as there were all sorts of entertainments, etc., to be devised for the men. The experiences in South Africa of this intrepid leader of men are embodied in her book, "A Woman's Memories of the War," written with the spirit of a true sportswoman.

A "Life of Lord Roberts for Boys," and "A Story of Westminster Abbey for Boys and Girls" are two of Miss Brooke-Hunt's most recent contributions to literature.

To-day finds this enthusiastic young Imperialist busy as the Organizing Secretary of the woman's branch of the Tariff Reform League, and I had the pleasure of listening to her speech at the initial meeting of the league at the house of Lord Glenesk, in Piccadilly. That speech was a revelation to me of what a woman's grasp of the subject might mean. I was immensely struck with the manner and matter of the speech.

The Union Huck Club, for soldiers and sailors, to be established close to Waterloo Station, is a project in which Miss Brooke-Hunt is greatly interested. The committee has already nearly thirty thousand pounds in hand, but rquire fifty thousand, and this Miss Brooke-Hunt is inclined to think is soon forthcoming.

Several medals have been bestowed upon the young Imperialist at different times. One, the Order of St. John of Jerusalem, Canadians know of in connection with ambulance and nursing work. Then comes the Order of Our Lady of Grace, next the South African war medal, and last, but not least, by reason of the story attached to it, is the Coronation medal, which was presented to Miss Brooke-Hunt by the King at the great colonial review in 1902. It was presented to her in the presence of so many of the men she had worked for during those three months of high festival, as a result of their direct communication with the King, whom they asked as a personal favor to allow their friend and comrade to share the honor done them.

The pretty little sunlit drawing-room at Albert Court is full of souvenirs of colonial gratitude. From every part of the Empire have come presents of jewellery or plate in recognition of the kindness shown the officers and men of the various regiments. A handsome silver bowl and a massive pair of silver candlesticks testify to the gratitude of Canadian soldiers, while Ceylon sent a beautiful silver bowl resting on the backs of three carved elephants. South Africa sent jewels and a magnificent ostrich feather fan, and Cape Colony a handsome silver inkstand. In the very best sense Miss Brooke-Hunt is a "man's woman," with a wonderful insight and understanding of the needs, and possibly at the same time the weaknesses, of the class in which she is most interested.

Tortured with Pain.

Too Weak to Work.

ULCERS, BOILS AND PIMPLES ALL OVER HER BODY

Such was the condition of Mrs. Samuel Deitz, Zurich, Ont.

She happily found relief from her terrible suffering by using

Burdock Blood Bitters.

A remedy without a rival for the cure of all diseases and troubles arising from bad blood. A record extending over a quarter of a century and thousands of testimonials will prove this. Mrs. Deitz writes: "Too weak to work, tortured with the pain of ulcers, boils and pimples all over my body, especially on my face. I had almost made up my mind to give up trying to have them cured. I was ashamed to have any person come to see me, my face was in such a terrible state. I tried everything I could think of but got worse and worse. I was then led to try Burdock Blood Bitters and was surprised at the wonderful change the first bottle made. Altogether I took seven bottles and am now completely cured and am in perfect health again. I feel that B.B.B. saved my life."

Comforting the Curate.

A very nervous young curate who as a rule always shaved himself once found himself compelled to patronize a barber, having while from home forgotten his shaving tackle.

"I hope you can shave me without cutting me. I am—er—I mean I have a very nervous—er—that is, sensitive skin," stammered the curate.

"Cut you, sir," repeated the juvenile looking operator reassuringly, flourishing his gleaming razor round the shrinking throat of the curate. "If I so much as nick you once I'll—I'll—I'll cut your 'ead off, sir, and my own arterwards. I can't say fairer'n that."—Liverpool Globe.

Playing Down to Him.

Young couple (who expect the visit of a very miserly relative, from whom they have expectations) are clearing the room of every sign of luxury. Wife (earnestly)—We must do all we can to make uncle feel at home. Husband (caustically)—Then we had better let the fire out.—Punch.

Hidden Tattoo Marks.

An escaped convict was on trial before a French court, and the question turned upon his identity with a prisoner known to have been tattooed. There was no appearance of colored marks upon his arm, and the question submitted to M. Leroy, the medico-legal expert, was whether the man had ever been tattooed. M. Leroy applied strong friction to the skin of the man's arm. This had the effect of bringing out white lines as cicatrices, with a slight bluish tint. By this means the word "Sophie" was plainly legible in white marks on the reddened skin. This proved the identity of the convict.

The Art of Naming Horses.

I was asked to give the name for a horse the other day. This is not near so easy as you might imagine. It is very seldom that the name of a horse is altogether appropriate or is entirely satisfactory to the owner. Striking examples of success may be found in the astronomer who drives a tandem and who christened his leader Apogee and his wheeler Peri-gee, and in the medical student with a similar team who called his leader Os Frontis. —London Graphic.

The Chophouse.

Gritty George—I wasn't always like dis, mum. Onct I used ter take my meals in a chophouse. The Lady—Well, I reckon a chophouse is a wood shed. You can take your dinner in mine if you cut some wood first.

THE CARPENTER'S SON.

Isn't this Joseph's son?"—Ay, it is He, Joseph, the carpenter: same trade as me; I thought as I'd find it; I knew it was here; But my sight's getting queer.

Can't know right where as His shed must ha' stood,

But often, as I've been a-plainin' my wood, I've took off my hat, just with thinking of He

At the same work as me.

He wasn't that set up that He couldn't stoop down

And work in the country for folks in the town;

And I'll warrant He felt a bit pride, like I've done,

At a good job begun,

The parson, he knows that I'll not make too free,

But on Sunday I feel as pleased as can be, When I wears my clean smock, and sits in a pew,

And has thoughts not a few.

I think of as how not the parson blessed, As is teacher and father and shepherd of men—

Not he knows as much of the Lord in that shed,

Where He earned His own bread.

And when I goes home to the missis, says she,

"Are you wanting your key?"

For she knows my queer ways, and my love for the shed

(We've been forty years wed).

So I comes right away by myself, with the Book,

And I turns the old pages and has a good look

For the text as I've found, as tells me as He

Were the same trade as me.

Why don't I mark it? Ah, many says so, But I think I'd as lief, with your leave, let it go.

It do seem that nice when I fall on it sudden—

Unexpected, yo know.

—Every Other Saturday.

SIGNS AND SIGNALS.

How the London Police Save Themselves Fruitless Journeys.

It may be a surprise to many people, says The Penny Magazine, to know that a unique system of signalling exists among policemen, and, indeed, one might be brought daily into contact with our guardians of the peace for many years and still know nothing of it. The reason is that the signs in use must, in the very nature of the case, be unobtrusive, and not easily detected by those not in the know. The signs appear to be quite ordinary movements of the arms and hands, and seem to the passer-by to be of no special significance. Sometimes a policeman may be seen to fold his arms in a perfectly natural manner, but if the observer watches closely he may see that the index finger of one or other of his hands is pointing to some person in the vicinity. This is his method of indicating to a comrade, or it may be to a plain-clothes detective, that a pickpocket or other suspected person is near and should be kept under observation. This signal is especially useful when the constable who gives it is engaged in controlling a crowd or in lining the route of a procession, for he can thus indicate to a detective the presence of anyone he suspects, and cause attention to be drawn to him. When on duty, constables give warning of the approach of the "governor" (inspector) or "skipper" (sergeant) in various ways. Touching the second button of the tunic with the right hand is a sign that the inspector is nearing the spot. The approach of the sergeant is indicated by placing a finger on the armlet. Drawing the hands slightly away from the side conveys to a constable as clearly as words, "I have not seen the inspector." Should a constable be some distance down a side street when the sergeant passes along the end of the thoroughfare, a slap on the thigh by the constable indicates "All's well!" and saves the time of the sergeant.

Botha's Dog.

Unusual interest is centered in a case heard in the Dublin Police Court yesterday, in which the leading figure was a bulldog that formerly belonged to General Philip Botha and went through a good portion of the South African war. Ernest Warmingham, canteen manager for the contractors, was summoned for cruelty to the animal, which has been stationed for some time past with the Royal Irish Rifles at Richmond Barracks.

The bulldog, which now belongs to Color Sergeant Edwards, Royal Irish Rifles, was accommodated with a seat in the witness box, from which point he seemed to take a languid interest in the proceedings. He was dressed in a coat with green facings and wore several South African medals with clasps. The animal's record is an eventful one. During the Boer war he was captured by the Second Royal Irish Rifles, Mounted Infantry, from Commandant Philip Botha's farm in the Doornberg, in September, 1900. From that time until the end of the war he trekked with the rifles' mounted force from Griqualand in the west to Basutoland in the east, and he still bears the scar of a wound received in action. Later he was with General French's column in Cape Colony. For his service the bulldog now wears the Queen's South African Medal with three clasps and the King's South African Medal with two clasps. Mr. Drury remarked, when the case was called, that this was the most distinguished dog in the country, as he had medals.—London Telegraph.

Staff College Commandant.

Col. Sir H. S. Rawlinson, Bart., C.B., who has been appointed Commandant of the Staff College, in succession to Col. H. S. G. Miles, C.B., who will shortly take over the command of the troops in Cape Colony, is a son of the translater of the cuneiform inscription, and has had an active military career. His first active service was in the Burmese war of 1886-7. In 1892 he exchanged from the King's Royal Rifles into the Coldstream Guards, and in 1898 was Deputy Assistant Adjutant-General to Lord Kitchener in the Soudan campaign, being present at the battles of Atbara and Khartoum. During the recent war in South Africa he took part in the defence of Ladysmith, and afterwards commanded a mobile column with much success, being mentioned no fewer than six times in despatches.

Rats In Patagonia.

A scientist exploring Patagonia says: "The impassability of Patagonia mud is proverbial. You cannot walk through it, and it takes a sturdy mule to carry you through. More often than not it is caused by the burrowing of a tailless rat known as the tucu tucu. Acres upon acres, amounting to square miles even, of otherwise sound and wholesome ground are undermined by this indefatigable little pest. He holds the country as nothing else holds it until the advent of sheep or cattle (which he hates) induces him to shift the scene of his nightly labors."

MEN'S HATS IN KOREA.

The Reason They Are Wide Brimmed, High and Fragile.

In a lecture on Korea, Burton Holmes, speaking of the men's hats, said:

"Though Korea and especially Seoul has many foreigners and the people have become accustomed to strangers, they adhere closely to their curious costumes, the hat being the most impressive part of the garb. The Korean gentleman never removes his hat in the presence of company, either in the house or outside. The hat must be worn constantly during waking hours.

"The hat consists of a wide brim and a crown high enough to contain the topknot. The hats are made of many materials and vary in price from $2 to $40. Their form dates back to a time, centuries ago, when a king who was fearful of plots and conspiracies devised the head wear as a protection against his noble enemies. If men could not get their heads together, he argued, they could not engage in a conspiracy, so he issued an edict compelling his courtiers to wear hats with gigantic brims. Then in order to prevent fighting on the street he ordered that these hats be made of a thin porcelain. In case of a fight the hat would certainly be broken. This would necessitate explanations from the nobleman, and street rows were thereby ended.

"Though the hats are no longer made of porcelain, they are sufficiently fragile to be broken if the wearers engage in any violent demonstrations."

The Way They Went.

There was no doubt of it—Mr. Hunter had lost the "field." He had searched for his companion fox hunters long, but vainly, and now he was reduced to asking the aid of a chubby little lad of three whom he met in a lane.

"Hello, Johnny! Which way did the hounds go?" he queried.

"Johnny" sucked a finger and dropped his gaze.

"Come," coaxed Mr Hunter, "do not be afraid. Here's a penny for you. Now tell me what way did the hounds go?"

The youngster took the coin and then fell upon all fours and "bow-wowed."

"Dat way," he said, shyly.—London Answers.

BLOOD POISON

On account of its terrible effects, blood disease is called the king of all diseases. It may be either hereditary or contracted; so while it may not be a crime to have the disease, it is a crime to permit it to remain in the system. It may manifest itself in the form of Scrofula, Eczema, rheumatic pains, stiff or swollen joints, itchiness of the skin, eruptions or blotches, ulcers in the mouth or on the tongue, sore throat, falling out of hair, disordered stomach, and a general depression of the system. If you have any of these symptoms don't neglect yourself. You have no time to lose. Beware of "old fogy" treatment—beware of mineral poisons—beware of Quacks and Fakirs. OUR NEW METHOD TREATMENT is guaranteed to cure this disease, never to return. Bank Bonds will protect you. Our treatment is not injurious in any way, but reaches the very root of the disease and eliminates all poison from the system. The symptoms of disease gradually disappear. The blood becomes pure and enriched, the whole system is cleansed and purified, and the patient feels prepared anew for the duties and the pleasures of life. CURES GUARANTEED OR NO PAY. 35 Years in Detroit. 250,000 Cured.

During the year of 1903, the policies issued and taken amounted to $4,278,850, an increase of $1,180,400, or 38 per cent over last year. The insurance in force showed an increase of $2,734,092, leaving our total business in force at the end of the year $18,023,639. The interest earned in 1903 amounted to $110,428, an increase of $25,752, or 30 per cent. over that of last year. The Surplus to Policyholders is now $473,963, or more than double the surplus at the end of the previous year.

All the Investments of the Company (outside of Debentures, principally deposited with the Dominion Government) are on the security of first mortgages on improved and rental bearing properties in the West, and on policies of the Company.

The amount of Death Claims was $80,542.76, again very much below the amount expected, and we are once more able to report that every death claim received was paid before the end of the year. We have included in the liabilities $1,000 to cover a claim that has not yet been received, but we have been advised of the reported death of the insured in a foreign country.

We have valued our insurance liability, as in previous years, on a more stringent basis than that required by the Insurance Act; and it now reaches the handsome sum of $1,601,217.

As may be plainly seen, the year has been a very prosperous one, and the results shown should enable all interested in the success of the Company to conscientiously continue to recommend intending insurers to give the Great-West the preference when placing their insurance.

at its heart, and Oxford Radiators dispensing healthful warmth throughout your home.

This boiler has been brought to such a high state of perfection that it utilizes all the heat generated, and the fire chamber is so built that no ashes can lodge around the grate, thus giving a most complete combustion and getting all the heating qualities out of the coal used.

This illustration is of one of the water sections and shows how water is circulated. The water post connecting the sections is cast solid on the section, thus absolutely preventing expansion cracks. Great care is also exercised in making efficient joints between the sections.

ROUGH BUSH SURGERY

CUTTING A MAN'S THROAT IN THE AUSTRALIAN BUSH.

A Thrilling Story of Rough and Ready Experience in the Isolation of the Woods—The Patient Recovered—Some of the Common Methods of Attempting to Circumvent Accidents—Danger Due to Distance.

Bush surgery has methods peculiarly its own. Simplicity is its keynote. For a snake bite you cut the ree out of your leg with your clasp-knife, and continue your journey, says an Australian writer. For a broken rib you tie a string round your waist. For toothache the treatment is to press a common knitting needle, heated white hot, against the exposed end of the nerve. The patient is usually held down by two strong men for this operation, and sometimes pursues the operator with a gun for the next two or three days, but provided the knitting needle is used firmly and fearlessly a cure is certain. For measles you sit down and smoke until you are well. I have myself nursed a whole family through the scarlet fever, though I knew nothing about the disease, and, indeed, know nothing about it now. For bronchitis you blister the sufferer and turn him out for a week. The theory is all wrong, but it works in practice. People live a long time up country; there aren't many doctors there. I don't say there is any connection, but both are facts.

Of course, there are occasionally "regrettable incidents." If you give cold mutton and apple dumpling to a man recovering from typhoid—why, he dies, that's all; and if a man tries to cut off his own arm with a handsaw, the chances are he makes a mess of it. Still, as a general thing, you "muddle through somehow."

I doubt if we do not know a little more than is good for us about microbes, blood-poisoning, anaesthetics and petty details of that sort. Then the bush itself supplies natural remedies—"pigweed," for instance, in Queensland, an excellent cure for scurvy—while rapid smoking will to a certain extent take the place of chloroform and deaden pain. Nicotine is good for centipede bites.

What I wish to lay stress on is the peculiar danger due to the enormous distances and the isolation of the bush. You cut a vein in an awkward place, and bleed to death because there is no one to tie it up. A slight fracture—even a sprain—prevents you reaching home and you die of exposure, thirst, gangrene, or a complication of all three. You may even be pinned down by a falling tree or an injured horse—though quite unharmed yourself—and never get up again. It is quite a custom for this reason for the stockman when on his rounds to keep a lookout for horses, cattle, or sheep "hung up" in the bush and liable to starve to death. Bush-felling is so dangerous an occupation that insurance companies do not care to "take the lives" of men about to engage in it.

"Bush madness" and kindred complaints, the accidents common to horse-breaking and bush-felling, snake bites (in places), and diseases with an alcoholic origin are the principal practice of an up-country doctor. His surgical experience is limited, and he, therefore, operates on any patient who gives him the slightest provocation to keep his hand in. Fortunately, the bushman is phlegmatic—I have known a shepherd who had to amputate his own finger with an axe, and give it to the dog at dinner-time to save meat. You will thus understand that things are rough and ready. A young doctor in Queensland not long ago spent sleepless nights for weeks in pulling a patient round, picked a quarrel with him during the convalescent stage, and shot him dead!

The above notes will partially explain how I came to assist in the cutting of my friend Mr. Johnson's throat. The scene was a shanty in a gully on the Australian coast, shaded by the customary eucalyptus and watered by the inevitable "creek." There were, three of us, all young cadets—Johnson, the hero of the incident, O'Shaughnessy, an Irish gentleman of somewhat reckless disposition, as shall be disclosed, and myself.

Johnson, to gain some private ends, got diphtheria. As we were at the fag-end of creation a doctor's fee would have been several hundred pounds by the time he got there, and Johnson would probably have been dead long before. My only medical knowledge was a slight acquaintance with the extraction of teeth, and this was of little use for diphtheria. O'Shaughnessy, however, had some experience of the disease, or said he had, and immediately proceeded to "do so."

So much so that one night Johnson was gasping for wind, and at the point of death.

"What's to be done?" I asked O'Shaughnessy, who had just come in.

"Tracheotomy!" he decided at once in an offhand manner. "Do you know anything about it?"

I had cut sheep's throats often enough, but that was in order to kill them. We wanted to keep Johnson alive; not turn him into butchers' meat. I offered to operate—at twenty-odd there are few things one does not offer to do—but did not recommend it.

"Then I'll do it myself," declared O'Shaughnessy.

All told, the surgical instruments in the shanty were—a handsaw, a penknife, brad-awl and a shepherd's knife (a large weapon commonly used for skinning sheep). O'Shaughnessy dragged them out and toyed with them in front of Johnson, who eyed them between his gasps with some anxiety. We rattled them over together noisily and soon decided on the penknife. O'Shaughnessy took it outside to the grindstone and sharpened it. Johnson listened to him, and knowing O'Shaughnessy's reckless disposition, began incoherent Protestations against the proposed operation. But he was now getting purple, and there was no time for calculating chances. O'Shaughnessy came back and put a final edge on the penknife. We propped Johnson against some rugs and turned a strong light on his throat.

It began to feel a little ghastly. The Southern Cross shone weirdly through the open window—at least I suppose it did, though I had lived several years at the Antipodes before I could make out the Southern Cross at all. I had never felt so creepy since I accepted the invitation of the sword-swallower at a circus to push the sword down his throat. I had killed hundreds of sheep and cattle in the ordinary way of business without a thought—an operation which sometimes caused the new chum to faint—but everything is a matter of custom. The most reckless rough-rider will be an abject coward in a gale at sea; the daredevil V. C. puts up the white flag and surrenders unconditionally when it comes to making an after-dinner speech or getting married.

"It's quite painless, you know, Johnson," I observed, not that I knew anything about it, but I thought it was the professional thing to say.

"Whereabouts do I go for him?" said O'Shaughnessy, brandishing the knife in front of Johnson, who groaned. "In here's quite safe, isn't it?"

"Hardly," I answered—"rather near the jugular!"

Here the patient whinnied again, but was quickly reduced to submission.

"Then in here?" pinking him under the gills among some of the more important arteries, in the playful way sometimes observed in barbers.

"Probably kill him," I suggested, and from his contortions I fancied the patient agreed with me. Shouldn't try it there if it was a horse"—for I know more about equine than human anatomy—"not a valuable horse."

"We shall be tried for manslaughter if it's a—a failure, won't we?"

"Ah! I hadn't thought of that," I said—the sufferer apparently had, for he gasped freely. "Law's a tricky thing."

"Ah, I remember now—just under the apple of the throat!" exclaimed O'Shaughnessy, recalling his one piece of knowledge about the operation.

The whole thing turned out simple enough in practice. I held my breath as O'Shaughnessy, after fumbling about with the knife as if he were going to carve a fowl, thrust it through the skin under the "Adam's apple," fished out the butt end of the severed larynx and covered it with a handkerchief with a vague idea of keeping out microbes, but in reality this did some good in protecting it from dust. The bleeding, I was surprised to see, was not more than a spoonful or two. But it was uncanny to watch the breathing going on through the neck instead of at the mouth.

Well, the agonizing suffocation ceased at once. How we should have avoided blood-poisoning or joined up the larynx eventually I had as little idea as C'Shaughnessy, and he hadn't much. By a thousand-to-one chance a doctor passed the shanty next day, and he finished the job.

Johnson recovered. He thanked us cordially for so kindly cutting his throat, although his manner led us to believe that he would never be operated on by an amateur again. But every deed of daring has its risks, and one can face them with so much calmer courage when the risks are taken by somebody else!

Duke of Cambridge's Wife.

The most romantic feature of the late Duke of Cambridge's life was his marriage, which was often incorrectly described as "morganatic," when, in fact, it was legally no marriage at all. Under the provisions of the Royal Marriage Act, no marriage of a member of the Royal Family is valid without the consent of the reigning sovereign, and this was never obtained by the Duke. Why it was not given has often been the subject of wonder, since several members of the Royal Family have since married persons not of royal birth.

The Duke's wife, who was known throughout the remainder of her life as Mrs. FitzGeorge, was an actress, a Miss Farebrother, daughter of a printer in Bow street. She was the reigning beauty of the Lyceum during the Keeley regime, and is still remembered as Abdullah, captain of the Forty Thieves, in one gorgeous extravaganza. The marriage took place at Arbornhill Church, attached to the barracks in Dublin, where Prince George was then quartered with his regiment. It was a quiet affair, and the happy couple proceeded at once to Montrelier House—a capital brick three-storeyed edifice hard by. His marriage was not recognized at Court, and is not referred to in the "Peerages." But the Duke and the actress were very happy, for she was a lady of great personal charm, amiable, and an excellent talker. There were three sons and one daughter, who were kindly treated by Her Late Majesty, and had the entree of the royal palaces, though their mother, the extravaganza actress, daughter of the printer, had not.

The sons are Col. George FitzGeorge, Rear-Admiral Adolphus FitzGeorge, and Col. Augustus Charles FitzGeorge.

Mrs. FitzGeorge, who was greatly esteemed by the members of the Royal Family, as well as by others who knew the Duke of Cambridge personally, died in January, 1888. The Duke's bereavement was severe. Other members of the family shared his regret. For a time he withdrew from public engagements, but in August of the same year responded to the invitation to unveil in the cemetery at Evere, Brussels, the fine monument erected to the memory of the British who fell in the campaign of Waterloo.

Correspondent Hales.

Mr. A. G. Hales, the war correspondent of The Daily News, is an Australian, and very proud of the fact. He was born at Adelaide, where most Australian reforms have also had their birthplace. His first short story was published when he was sixteen. He has been imbibing experience and exuding "copy" ever since. He earned a great reputation as a mining expert in Australia, where his reports have often killed the fair hopes of the company promoter.

Mr. Hales is also a practiced bushman, and can, by the signs of the wind and rain, find his way in the wild country better than through the streets of London. He has been in most countries of the world and learned much everywhere. To India he went to sell horses, to South Africa as war correspondent, and to Macedonia to witness the doings of the Turk. He has also engaged in the pearl-diving industry.

When Spencer Boarded.

Among the stories told of Herbert Spencer some time ago was one relating to his boarding house experiences. His doctor had advised him that solitary meals were not good for him, and he went to a boarding house, but did not stay. The "pleasant lady" who sat next to him and who was to engage him in light and cheerful talk was a sad disappointment. A friend asked her how she liked the boarding house. Could she recommend it? "Oh, yes, I think I can," she replied. "But there is a Mr. Spencer, who thinks he knows about science and philosophy. I have to correct him every night!" One of Spencer's peculiarities was to carry about two little plugs in his pocket, and whenever conversation around him became annoying he took them out and put them in his ears.—London Chronicle.

6 Sound Reasons

Why Bu-Ju has been so successful

1. Because Bu-Ju has merit and will do what is claimed for it—cure kidney troubles—and it is the only remedy that will do it.
2. Because Bu-Ju cures the disease and not the symptoms. They disappear when the cause is removed.
3. Because Bu-Ju is a tried and approved remedy, with thousands of testimonials back of it.
4. Because Bu-Ju is made by a thoroughly reliable, long-established house.
5. Because Bu-Ju does not claim to be a cure-all, but it does cure disordered kidneys and all troubles arising from them.
6. Because Bu-Ju's best friends are those who have used it and are constantly saying good words for it.

Kitchener's Thoroughness

Lord Kitchener is determined that the Indian army, while under his command, shall be in a condition to meet any emergency. When the details were submitted to him for the last manoeuvres at Attock, he approved of them generally, but strongly objected to one suggestion. It had been proposed that the troops to take part in the operations should be told off as usual, so that they might be in readiness to move when necessary "Why give them notice?" was Lord Kitchener's inquiry; "and why warn staff officers? It is surely all-important that the army of India should be ready to move anywhere at a few hours' notice. Let there be no published program and no issued orders; let the conditions of actual warfare be imitated as closely as possible." Nothing, therefore, was allowed to be known, beyond the fact that the manoeuvres were to take place in the country round Peshawur, the ground upon which there would be certain to be a mobilization of forces in the event of any trouble arising on the frontier.

Two Gentlemen.

The late Justice Maule of the English judiciary, while one time presiding at an Assize Court, was lecturing a prisoner previous to passing sentence on him, when he was annoyed by one of the officials of the court crossing beneath him between the bench and the prisoners' dock on business with the members of the bar.

"You ought to know," exclaimed the judge severely, addressing the offending officer, "that it is improper to pass between two gentlemen when one of them is addressing the other!"

He then proceeded to pass sentence of seven years' penal servitude on the other "gentleman."

AFTER DEATH.

Poem Which Was One of the Highest Achievements of Lord Lytton's Genius.

He who died at Azan sends
This to comfort faithful friends—
Faithful friends! it lies, I know,
Pale and white and cold as snow;
And ye say, "Abdallah's dead!"
Weeping at my feet and head.
I can see your falling tears,
I can hear your cries and prayers,
Yet I smile and whisper this:
"I am not that thing you kiss;
Cease your tears and let it lie;
It was mine, it is not I."

Sweet friends! what the women lave
For its last bed in the grave
Is a tent which I am quitting,
Is a garment no more fitting,
Is a cage from which at last
Like a hawk my soul hath passed.
Love the inmate, not the room;
The wearer, not the garb; the plume
Of the falcon, not the bars
Which kept him from the splendid stars.

Loving friends! be wise, and dry
Straightway every weeping eye.
What ye lift upon the bier
Is not worth a wistful tear.
'Tis an empty seashell, one
Out of which the pearl is gone.

The shell is broken, it lies there;
The pearl, the all the soul, is here.
'Tis an earthen jar whose lid
Allah sealed, the while it hid
That treasure of his treasury.
A mind which loved him; let it Me!
Let the shard be earth's once more,
Since the gold shines in his store!
Allah Mu'hid, Allah most good!
Now thy grace is understood.

Now the long, long darkness ends,
Yet ye wail, my foolish friends,
While the man whom ye call "dead,"
In unbroken bliss instead
Lives, and loves you; lost, 'tis true
By any light that shines for you;
But in light ye cannot see
Of unfulfilled felicity,
And enlarging Paradise,
Lives the life that never dies.

Farewell, friends! Yet not farewell;
Where I am ye, too, shall dwell.
I am gone before your face
A heart-beat's time, a grey ant's pace
When ye come where I have stepped,
Ye will marvel why ye wept;
Ye will know, by true love taught,
That here is all, and there is naught.

Weep awhile, if ye are fain—
Sunshine still must follow rain!
Only not at death, for death—
Now I see—is that first breath
Which our souls draw when we enter
Life, that is of all life centre.

Know ye Allah's law is love,
Viewed from Allah's throne above;
Be ye firm of trust, and come
Faithful onward to your home!
La Allah Illa Allah! Yea,
Mu'hid! Restorer! Sovereign!" Say!

He who died at Azan gave
This to those that made his grave.

Marlborough as Lord Lieutenant.

It is becoming notorious how desperately eager the Duke of Marlborough is to obtain the expensive post of Lord Lieutenant of Ireland. It would be expensive, indeed, if he were to emulate his predecessors. Lord Cadogan and Lord Dudley each have spent far more than one hundred thousand out of their private funds over public functions and entertainments.

A reason against the success of the Duke of Marlborough as Lord Lieutenant—apart from the fact that he is a very poor speaker—is that the Duchess is not very able to act as a good hostess on a large scale. Personally, she is very kind, and most anxious to do all she can for her guests, but she has never sought London society on a broad basis, preferring her own American acquaintances and the personal friends of her husband. Unfortunately, a couple of years ago, she became afflicted with deafness, and has twice been to Vienna to undergo the painful treatment which partially consists in putting instruments into the ears to meet others put up the nostrils. Although she now hears an ordinary conversation, directly there is a buzz of talk she becomes quite unable to discern what is said. The regularity of a Dublin Court would also not suit her, for she has never acquired the repose of the British country aristocracy, and after having been two or three days in a place, loves to be off by train somewhere else.

CREATED A SENSATION IN GALT

The Whole Country Ringing with Praises of

PSYCHINE

(PRONOUNCED SI-KEEN)

Mr Weaver. Cured two years ago continues to spread the good news of his recovery from Grinder's

CONSUMPTION

Publicly corroborates the history of his restoration to health, as published recently by the daily press of Canada.

Doctors and specialists despaired of a cure and gave Mr. Weaver but three months to live.

MR. L. WEAVER, GALT.

Who desires to publicly confirm the history of his remarkable recovery, as published quite recently by the daily press of Canada. Mr. Weaver was as bad a case of Consumption as might well be imagined. He was employed for five years in the grinding room of James Warnock & Co's, better known as "The Axe Factory," in Galt. Here he contracted consumption from the steel-laden dust. He persisted with local physicians' treatment for over a year, also consulted a number of lung specialists. They all did their utmost to cure, but declared Mr. Weaver's an incurable case of grinder's consumption giving him but three months to live. Mr. Weaver himself, despaired of a permanent cure, as two of his brothers before him had already died of consumption.

It is but seldom that any remedy receives such strong endorsement as Psychine is receiving daily. Seldom indeed that the cured come forward voluntarily to state their case a second time so that all may be convinced of the truth. The instance herein reported from the busy town of Galt, Ont., is a typical instance of what is occurring in every city, town, hamlet and country-side in this broad Dominion. Scores of people living in Galt were long-ago conversant with the facts of this notable case: while to others the publication of it in the daily press came as a revelation.

Scores of people recently called upon Mr. Weaver to see if all that had been published was really true. Medical men evidenced a desire to see the good work wrought with Dr. Slocum's famous remedy, Psychine (Si-keen). Mr. Weaver has also been the recipient of hundreds of letters from all parts of the country enquiring as to his case.

Sad and sorrowful is the first chapter of the story told by the man whose case has excited the interest of Lung Specialists and of medical men and whose cure and complete restoration to health is the talk of Galt and the wonder of the medical profession. Such, in brief, are the opening remarks of the case of Mr. Weaver, of Galt, whose portrait appears above.

Mr. Weaver is to-day a splendid specimen of manhood and the picture of robust health. His lungs give him no more trouble. He is strong and healthy, eats and sleeps well, and feels better than he has for ten years.

Mr. Weaver's Case as given to the press, January 30th, 1904.

Dr. T. A. Slocum:—For five years I worked as a grinder in the James Warnock, better known as the Axe Factory, here. The dust from the grinding did for me what it has done for many others. It gave me 'grinder's consumption.' I was compelled, of course, to quit work. I persisted with two local physicians, and also consulted a number of lung specialists. Their diagnoses were all alike:—"You have Grinder's Consumption, and may possibly live three months, but you are liable to drop off at any time." This was over two years ago.

I then almost abandoned myself to what seemed my fate, my two brothers having died of consumption a few years previous. I was in an advanced stage of the disease. I was thin and weak, had night sweats, chills and fever, and a terrible cough.

I saw your advertisement of "Psychine," and I determined to try it. Through the kind advice and assistance of REV. MR. KETTLEWELL, Methodist minister in charge here at that time, I procured your treatment. The very first bottle gave me great relief, and after taking six bottles I could walk down town and even work occasionally. Have since then entirely regained my health, and work hard every day. I can eat and sleep well. I feel better to-day than I have for years. I owe my life to Psychine.

Yours truly,
LEVI WEAVER.

Mr. Weaver's second statement after the above was published.

GALT, ONT.

Dr T. A. Slocum:—The publication of the history of my case in Toronto and Galt papers has caused quite a sensation in this town. There have been scores of people ask me if such were really the case. I have also received by mail numbers of like enquiries. Some people hardly think it possible that I was so near death's door. But I can say for certain that Psychine saved my life and I bless the day I saw Psychine advertised and became convinced of its merits enough to try it. I have spread the good news in three counties, and shall ever continue to praise Psychine. Every word, as published January 30th, is true to the facts of the case.

Yours truly,
LEVI WEAVER.

New Lacrosse League Was Organized—Annual Meeting of Midland Baseball League—Other Sporting Notes.

TRENT VALLEY LACROSSE LEAGUE

A New Sporting Organization Formed To-day.

There Will Possibly be Nine Clubs in the League—The Officers Elected.

A meeting was held in the Oriental Hotel parlours this morning for the purpose of organizing a Trent Valley Lacrosse League. The meeting was called at the instance of the Havelock Lacrosse Club, the members of which were the first to agitate for the formation of such a league. Those present at the meeting were:—Messrs. Lancaster, Dineen, Havelock; Scriver, Coughlan, Hastings; Lockington, McLean, Port Hope; Hayes, Crowley, Peterborough; E. S. Huycke, Tweed.

Mr. T. P. Lancaster, of Havelock was appointed chairman of the meeting and in opening explained the object which was to institute a Lacrosse League for the Trent Valley District. He had received assurances from a number of clubs signifying their intention to enter such a league if it were formed. He believed the League could start with 9 teams.

Mr. Crowley, representing the T. A.S. Club, stated that the club he represented would be quite willing to enter the League. The C.L.A. had not been entirely satisfactory to this Club, and he thought the scheme to organize a League a good one.

Mr. Huycke, of Tweed followed along the same line, stating that if a district could be formed in the east his club would be glad to enter.

Mr. Lockington, of Port Hope, said that his Club was in favour of entering the League if a suitable district could be arranged.

Some discussion ensued as to the formation of the districts.

It was then decided that a league, to be known as the Trent Valley Lacrosse League be formed.

THE OFFICERS.

The officers elected were as follows:—

Hon. President—R. R. Hall.
President—Wm. Crowley.
1st Vice-President—F. H. Curtis, Port Hope.
2nd Vice-President—E. S. Huycke, Tweed.
Secretary-Treasurer—T. P. Lancaster, Havelock.

Executive Committee—It was decided that the Executive Committee should consist of one member from each club, who shall be chosen by the clubs.

The following towns will probably enter teams in the League: Peterborough T.A.S., Lindsay, Port Hope, Millbrook, Hastings, Havelock, Tweed Marmora, Madoc and Belleville.

It was decided that an executive meeting would be held on May 13 in Peterborough, when the districts will be arranged and schedules drawn up.

A residence rule was discussed but this too will be decided at the next meeting.

PETERBOROUGH CLUB WAS WELL TREATED.

Admitted to Midland Base Ball League without Opposition.

Mr. C. G. Graham Elected to the Executive Committee—Annual Meeting Held in Port Hope.

Mr. Fred Whitcroft returned last last night from Port Hope, where he went to attend the annual meeting of the Midland Baseball League. Mr. Whitcroft expresses himself as being highly pleased with the results to his club, of the meeting. It was admitted without opposition to the League. The president, supported by Mr. Whitcroft, was elected. The schedule of games was all that could be desired from Peterborough's standpoint, and consequently Mr. Whitcroft is feeling jubilant.

The Port Hope Guide, reporting the meeting, says:

The meeting of the Midland League representatives was held in the Queen's Hotel last Thursday evening, and it took within a few minutes of four hours, before matters could be settled, there being a great deal of unnecessary discussion.

The following representatives were present:

Lindsay—Messrs. Cinnamon and Parkin.
Peterborough—Messrs. Whitcroft and Bennett.
Port Hope—Messrs. Orton and Crawford.
Cobourg—Messrs. Mulhall and McGuire.
Bowmanville—Messrs. Pethick and Saunders.
Oshawa—Messrs. Galbraith and Hamley.

Mr. S. Lockington was appointed secretary pro tem, and a motion to admit Lindsay and Peterborough to the League was unanimously carried.

The election of officers came next and the presidency was the first on the list, and it took nearly an hour to decide this question.

It was moved by Mr. Hamly of Oshawa, seconded by Mr. Whitcroft, of Peterborough, that Mr. Blake Crawford, of Port Hope, be appointed.

Moved in amendment, by Mr. McGuire, of Cobourg, seconded by Mr. Saunders of Bowmanville, that Mr. Pethick, of Bowmanville, fill the office.

Ballots were passed around and the vote resulted in a tie—6 all. Then came the discussion, neither gentlemen were willing to withdraw and how was the deadlock to be broken? We expected every minute that Mr. Cinnamon, the Lindsay delegate would have a plan solved out, but it proved too much for him. Then the candidates for the office addressed the meeting, stating why they desired remaining in the field, and promising bright futures to the clubs, if elected. The oratorical powers of the candidates were about even, and consequently the next ballot that was taken resulted in another tie—6 all. Then there was another wait and a whole lot of talk. Finally up jumped Mr Mulhall of Cobourg, and just to set the thing so he said, nominated Mr. Hargraft, of Cobourg, as a third candidate. Mr. Orton took great pleasure in seconding the motion, and so another lot of ballots was passed around. The gathering then thought that the matter would be settled but, on counting the ballots, it was found just the same, Crawford, 6, Pethick, 6, Hargraft 0, not even the nominators supporting their proposal. Things began to look serious and who could tell but what the ballot box would be stuffed next. Then came wait No. 3. Mr. McGuire of Cobourg, proposed to place six names in the hat, one representative from the town interested, and allow the President to draw, the first drawn to be elected president. Up jumped another, an Oshawa man this time, and suggested to put two names in the hat, Messrs. Crawford and Pethick, and allow the president to draw. A vote was taken as to which of these proposals should be adopted and it resulted in a tie. Then they wanted ex-President O'Neil to name the president, but this didn't suit "Tip." Finally the nominees, Messrs. Crawford and Pethick, agreed to have their names placed in the hat and for Mr. O'Neil to draw. This was done and through "Tip's" good judgment he drew Mr. Crawford's name. Here endeth the presidency.

The other officers were elected in short order, and the list is now as follows:

President—B. Crawford, Port Hope.
Vice-President—E. Hargraft, Cobourg.
Secretary—A. Orton, Port Hope.
Treasurer—McGuire, Cobourg.
Executive Committee—Messrs. Hamly, Oshawa; Weeks, Bowmanville; Mulhall, Cobourg; C. Graham, Peterborough; W. Cinnamon, Lindsay; S. Lockington, Port Hope.

It was moved, seconded and carried, that each team put up a marked deposit of $25.00 with the treasurer of the league as a guarantee that they finish the season.

The schedule was arranged as follows:

May 24—Oshawa at Cobourg.
May 24—Port Hope at Bowmanville.
May 24—Peterborough at Lindsay.
June 11—Cobourg at Port Hope.
June 11—Bowmanville at Peterborough.
June 11—Lindsay at Oshawa.
June 25—Oshawa at Lindsay.
June 25—Peterborough at Bowmanville
June 25—Port Hope at Cobourg.
July 1—Bowmanville at Port Hope.
July 1—Lindsay at Peterborough.
July 1—Cobourg at Oshawa.
July 16 Oshawa at Bowmanville.
July 16—Peterborough at Cobourg.
July 23—Port Hope at Oshawa.
July 23—Bowmanville at Lindsay
July 23—Cobourg at Peterborough.
July 30—Lindsay at Cobourg.
Aug. 6—Bowmanville at Oshawa.
Aug. 10—Peterborough at Port Hope.
Aug. 12—(Civic Holiday) Cobourg at Lindsay.
Aug. 20—Oshawa at Peterborough.
Aug. 20—Lindsay at Port Hope.
Aug. 20—Cobourg at Bowmanville.
August 27—Peterborough at Oshawa.
Sept. 5—Port Hope at Lindsay.
Sept. 5—Bowmanville at Cobourg.
Sept. 10—Lindsay at Bowmanville.
Sept. 10—Oshawa at Port Hope.
Sept. 17—Port Hope at Peterborough.

A PUBLIC SCHOOL BASE BALL LEAGUE.

A Deserving Sporting Organization in Connection with the Schools.

A proposition fathered by Mr. T. J. Wallace, of the teaching staff of the Central Public School to organize a Public School Baseball League was brought to a successful issue yesterday afternoon, when a meeting of the teachers, called by Mr. D. Walker, was held in the Y.M.C.A. for the purpose of organizing such a body. There were present at the meeting, Messrs. McCleary, Walkey, Stacey, Kerr and Wallace. A League consisting of senior and junior series was formed, known as the Peterborough Public School Baseball League, for which the following officers were elected:—

LEMON SOCIAL WAS A SUCCESS.

Junior Branch of All Saints W. A. Give Entertainment.

A very enjoyable evening was spent last night at the school room of All Saints' church, when the Junior Branch of the Woman's Auxiliary gave a "Lemon Social." A splendidly rendered programme of music, recitations, etc., was given, after which dainty refreshments were served to the large number of guests present. The programme, which was contributed to by the members of the Branch and was a very creditable one indeed. The event was a complete success from every standpoint, including the financial.

The school room was very tastily decorated by the members for the occasion and presented a handsome appearance.

In Toronto Fire.

The Canadian Fire Insurance Co., feel gratified in writing to their agents, Lindsay and Might, Peterborough, that through careful and conservative underwriting their losses were only $63,600, which would be soon adjusted and be paid from the company's profits. This would satisfy all claims and leave a large amount remaining besides Government reserve and paid up capital. 2t

SCHOOL HOURS.

Inspector James A. Hughes' Interesting Contribution to the Recent Congress of Provincial Health Board.

At the recent congress of the Provincial Board of Health, held in Toronto, [illegible] paper was read by Inspector Hughes on the question "Are school hours [illegible] for children's classes to [illegible] room space and teaching staff and to [illegible] maximum [illegible] and physical [illegible] of both teachers and pupils." He asserted that it was a fallacy to hold that progress in education depends on the time spent. Knowledge was more rapidly acquired before school days than after them. Education [illegible] too soon with the natural development of the child's intelligence. Enquiry was natural to a child, but it was repressed in school. There was more to be learned by propounding problems than by solving them. And by the prevalent school system children lost their independence and power of initiative. There should be greater variety of work in the junior classes. With shorter hours junior children would learn more. All children had not the ideal home conditions, and it was therefore necessary to provide a proper environment in the school. He offered the following conclusions as a solution of the problem:

1. The first period of a child's growth is a period of rapid development of power, when its body and mind should have the best conditions for growth.

2. The development of the vital organs of the body is impaired by confinement under restraint.

3. The development of mental alertness and breadth and executive ability are arrested by interfering with the self-activity of the child.

4. Confining the child to formal and abstract work during the early years of school life arrests his intellectual development.

5. The child should have as much variety as possible in his daily work.

6. The child should have the privilege of discovering as well as solving problems in order that his true intellectual growth may continue, and that he may not be robbed of the highest joy of intellectual work.

7. The child should not sit long in the same position.

8. The child will make more progress in intellectual development and in the acquisition of knowledge in early years if only part of his school time is given to formal study.

9. The state owes it to every child to see that he is placed in the best conditions for his complete development.

10. Few homes can provide the best condition for a child's development, and few mothers have time to devote to the best training of their children.

11. Nearly all city homes must in the nature of things be lacking in proper opportunities for the true intellectual and physical development of children.

12. The children of cities need much better facilities for free play and for free constructive work, with materials adapted to their tastes and powers.

13. The schools should be responsible not merely for the instruction of children, but for their full and well balanced development.

14. The best remedy for the evils resulting from long school hours and unnatural intellectual work, especially in cities, is not to set the children free on the streets, but to provide materials for constructive work with their hands, to afford facilities for their practical study of nature and her growth processes, and to make it possible for them to enjoy vigorous free play under the direction and protection of their teachers.

In the discussion which ensued Inspector Hughes was warmly and generally commended and a suggestion made that it should be printed and circulated. The Deputy Minister of Education in expressing his approval observed that many people identified knowledge with education. It was not so. There was a necessity for greater variety of subject. A young child required his attention to be directed in more ways than an elder pupil. He recommended greater attention to elementary science and nature studies as in line with the child's own development, and that the standard be that applicable to the mass of the people and not that of the professions. Shorter hours were advisable and excessive home lessons were an evil that should be eradicated. They were detrimental to the child's physical and mental development. He thought the congress should not close without recording its views on the subjects brought before it. The Education Department could only move in accordance with public opinion, and to enlist public opinion in support of these proposals would be of great service.

The Club Man

As home from the Club he wanders late
He gently smiles at the wiles of fate
For he knows the effect of wine and malt
Is quickly banished by Abbey's Salt

A night at the club—an unusually elaborate banquet—even a "bird and a bottle"—ought to be followed by a foaming glass of ABBEY'S SALT, next morning.

It cleans the stomach and bowels—stirs up the liver—clears the head—gives snap and vim to the whole system—and sends a man to business as "bright as a dollar."

It makes the clubman, the epicure, forget he has a liver.

Abbey's Effervescent Salt Is "the Joy of Living."

Preserving Scenic Beauty.

As far as practicable the material taken from the power company excavations is being used in developing the park surface and in extending and reclaiming portions of the foreshore in Niagara Falls Park, according to the 18th annual report of the Commissioners, presented to the Legislature recently. At the Dufferin Islands a series of cascades are being formed in the channels dividing the islands and a group of small islands is being added. The Commissioners are also arranging for the removal of the high steel railway bridges, as well as the single-way carriage suspension bridges and the substitution of stone and cement arch structures. The commissioners state that when the works are completed the scenic characteristics of all this portion of the park will be vastly improved and the whole environment on the Canadian side will be rendered ten-fold more interesting and instructive to visitors.

Victory That Killed

A young Hungarian yokel named Gagane recently made a bet at Temesvar to eat two and a quarter pounds of bacon, twenty sausages and five and a half pounds of bread at one sitting. He won his bet, but fell down dead the next moment.

Why Burton Committed Suicide.

Burton, the vivacious author of "The Anatomy of Melancholy," who had the reputation of being able to raise laughter in any company, however "mute and mopish," was in reality constitutionally depressed, and it is believed that he was at last so overcome by his malady that he ended his life in a fit of melancholy.

A Cold Cold.

"I understand that prima donna failed to give her farewell concert because she had a cold."

"Yes," answered the manager.

"How did she contract it?"

"Well, it wasn't an ordinary cold. It is what is technically known as a box office chill."

Relatively.

Maud—Do you like Mr. Dinwiddie? Ethel—Oh, yes; I like him, relatively speaking. Maud—Relatively speaking? What do you mean by that? Ethel—You see I promised to be a sister to him.

Disproved.

"You can't eat your cake and have it, too," remarked the cheerful man.

"You can't, eh?" groaned the dyspeptic as he swallowed a couple of tablets. "That's all you know about it."

The man who can be nothing but serious or nothing but merry is but half a man.—Hunt.

A New Brunswick Leader.

The Hon. Robert Young, who died recently at Caraquet, formerly played a very important part in New Brunswick politics, down to the abolition of the Legislative Council. When Mr. Blair was beginning his career in the Legislature, Young was at the height of his influence. He was president of the Executive Council from 1872 until the defeat of the Government by Mr. Blair in 1883. He sat in the Legislative Council from 1867 until that body voted itself out of existence. He had then been in public life over thirty years. He was first elected to represent Gloucester county in the House of Assembly in 1861, and in 1867 was appointed to the Legislative Council. Being thus for the greater portion of his political career a member of the Upper House, he had no part in the stirring debates in the popular Chamber, but he could not but help formulate the policy over which the battle were waged, and it was well known that his counsel was highly valued by his colleagues. He was a clever debater, diplomatic, and a keen student of men as well as of measures.

A BEAUTIFUL LIFE.

She's only a working girl, busy each day
In gaining her portion of bread;
Her mother is old and infirm, so they say,
Her father, they tell me, is dead.
And there, at her window, I see her employed,
And think that without her the earth would be void
Of much of its beauty and light.

She's only a working girl, it is decreed
She must dwell with the lowly of earth;
And yet she's as rare in thought and in deed
As the queeniest princess of earth.
And I would that she might know that her beautiful life,
Tho shadowed with want and with care,
Has been, in the midst of my toil and my strife,
A hope and a song and a prayer.

EXPERIENCED MOTHERS.

Experienced mothers know that most of the troubles that afflict young children are due to some derangement of the stomach or bowels, and that if the cause is removed the little one will be plump, rosy and happy. For such troubles as indigestion, colic, constipation, diarrhoea, simple fevers and teething troubles, there is no medicine in the world can equal Baby's Own Tablets. The action of the Tablets is speedy, and above all things safe, as they contain not one particle of opiate or harmful drug. Ask any mother who has used the Tablets and she will say that the yare the best medicine in the world. Mrs. John Gill, Cranberry, Que., says: "After having thoroughly tested Baby's Own Tablets I can say that they are the best remedy for the ailments of little ones I have ever used. No mother should be without them in the house. You can get the Tablets from any druggist or they will be sent by mail at 25 cents a box by writing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

ANIMAL LANGUAGE.

Sounds and Gestures That Take the Place of Speech.

A sound or gesture made by an animal under any mental or emotional impression and calling out a similar one in another animal is an element of language. When the rabbit quickly beats the ground, its fellow rabbits know that there is danger somewhere, and they take action accordingly. That is rabbit language. When the hunter imitates the rabbit and thus conveys the same ideas, he is "speaking" the rabbit language for the time being. Many animals use signs, which of course are understood through the eyes. The ants converse by touching antennæ and feet. Many insects rub the elytra. This is animal language in its simplest form. It expresses but few ideas. But there are animals which are capable of modulating their "voices."

Even the common rabbits, which seem to be mute, are constantly making sounds, which a little observation will soon discover to be ever changing in volume, modulation, etc. Much of this method of communication changes when the animal is brought into civilization from the wild state. The wild dog, for instance, barks very little when in freedom. How the household dog barks and is able to express himself is well known.

The Blue Gnu.

It would be hard to imagine a more fantastic looking animal than the blue gnu, which ranges in South Africa from the Orange river north to Victoria Nyanza. It suggests to one coming unexpectedly upon it and seeing it for the first time a sort of impossible dream creature, a cross perhaps between a buffalo and a nightmare. To the buffalo belong the neck and horns, but the tail and the hind quarters are those of a horse. The legs are a deer's legs, but the head resembles that of no other living animal. There seems to be no doubt that the wild grotesqueness of the appearance of the gnu is a provision of nature to protect the animal. When frightened or disturbed these remarkable antelopes go through a series of strange evolutions and extraordinary postures in order to enhance as much as possible the oddity and hideousness of their appearance and to frighten away intruders.

ARE VOICES DEGENERATING.

A Recognized Authority Expresses the Opinion That They Are.

Lady Greville complains bitterly in her weekly column in The London Graphic that English women's voices are "no longer low and sweet," and that they are either "loud and shrill" or "deep and gruff," and is disposed to ascribe this decline of the English woman's voice to American influence. What Lady Greville says about the deterioration of women's voices is perfectly true. The fact of the matter is that people nowadays no longer pay as much attention as they used to do to the cultivation of a good voice—excepting among the reigning houses. With the latter Scotch nurses are in great demand. Indeed, there is scarcely a prince or princess of the blood in Europe who has not spent the years of childhood beneath the care of a dame hailing from the north of the Tweed. This is due to the fact that the sweetest voice in the world is that of the Scotch woman. It is simply irresistible; for the sounds of the vowels are absolutely unhampered. The sound may be high or low, but there is no discordance anywhere, and the harmony of the well-pitched organ is soothing in the extreme, so much so, of a truth, that it seems created on purpose for lulling a baby to sleep with its melodiously soft cadence.

It is a valuable gift—a really fine-toned voice. It has been responsible for more than half the success of Sarah Bernhardt, and was also one of the most remarkable characteristics of Yvette Guilbert.

The voice should be educated like any other of our faculties, and that not alone to the view of singing, but also for the purpose of developing its beauties in ordinary conversation. It is an instrument, and one of the most exquisite and delicate of instruments. So why should we not take as much trouble in that direction as we do to teach our children piano, harp, guitar or violin? An unmelodious voice spoils the loveliness of any woman, be she as perfect of form and face as Venus herself, whereas a musical voice renders the homeliest woman attractive. No voice which has an affected ring in it, however, will ever be really fine. Affectation is sufficient to mar the beauty of any organ. One feels the effort of enunciation, the forced lowness, and it hurts one's love of the truly and naturally beautiful.

One of the most perfect of voices was that of the late Queen Victoria. It would be difficult to find one which possessed more power and charm. Without the slightest effort she was wont to pitch it in such a way that when talking in public her farthermost listeners could hear her perfectly, and moreover there was a peculiar intonation there which made one think of the sound of a silver horn mellowed by distance. At times she was wont to give the tones of the voice a persuasive, gentle, echoing harmony which entranced everyone, and that without the slightest affectation.

King Edward's voice is likewise well trained, and, while it has not the silvery sweetness of tone of that of his mother, yet it is remarkable for the clearness of its enunciation and for its capacity to be at all times of the most winning softness, while at other moments he can send it forth ringing like a clarion. He has it under perfect control.

Earthquakes in England.

The last earthquake of any considerable violence in England occurred on March 8, 1750. Such disturbances are not so infrequent in the British Isles as many suppose; but it must be admitted they are generally very slight. Even in that notoriously mobile district about Comrie, in Perthshire—when during the winter 1839-40 they had a hundred and forty earthquakes, being at the rate of about a shock a day at an average—they seldom do much harm.

The year 1750 is the year par excellence of English earthquakes. It opened with most unseasonable weather, the heat being, according to Walpole, "beyond what was ever known in any other country;" and on the 8th of February a pretty smart shock was experienced, followed exactly a month later by a second and severer one. The excitment in London was intense. "Following the example of Bishops Secker and Sherlock, the clergy showered down sermons and exhortations, and a country quack sold pills 'as good against an earthquake.'"

FOR ENERGY AND STRENGTH-- ANTI-PILL

Prevalent conditions that go to make people look old and fasten age marks before their time are described in the following letter from a woman who received immediate relief from a sample of ANTI-PILL.

"I would wake in the morning feeling tired. My feet and ankles would swell. I had a horrible dragged sensation. My head ached as though it would burst. My bowels were never regular. I had a disagreeable feeling of overfulness after eating. Food would not digest, and caused great distress. Was nervous. I was treated for dyspepsia and constipation with little or no relief. A sample of Dr. Leonhardt's ANTI-PILL did me so much good I followed up its use, and two boxes has entirely cured me."

ANTI-PILL is sold by druggists, 50 cents, or mailed by addressing WILSON-FYLE CO., Niagara Falls, Ont. Free sample mailed to any address.

Purified by Suffering

BY MARY J. HOLMES.

CHAPTER XLVIII.

"Are you of the same mind still?" Helen asked, when three weeks later she returned from New York, and at the hour of retiring, sat in her chamber watching Katy as she brushed her hair occasionally curling a tress around her fingers and letting it fall upon her snowy night-dress.

They had been talking of Morris, whom Katy had seen but once since that rainy night, and that at church, where he had been the previous Sunday. Katy had written an account of the transaction to her sister who had chosen to reply by word of mouth rather than by letter, and so the first moment they were alone she seized the opportunity to ask if Katy was of the same mind still as when she refused the doctor.

"Yes, why shouldn't I be?" Katy replied. "You better than any one else know what passed between Wilford—"

"Do you love Morris?" Helen asked, abruptly, without waiting for Katy to finish her sentence.

For an instant the hands stopped in their work and Katy's eyes filled with tears, which dropped into her lap as she replied:

"More than I wish I did, seeing I must always tell him no. It's strange, too, how the love for him keeps coming, in spite of all I can do. I have not been there since, nor spoken with him until last Sunday, but I knew the moment he entered the church, and when in the first chant I heard his voice, my fingers trembled so that I could hardly play, while all the time my heart goes out after the rest I always find with him. But it cannot be. Oh, Helen! I wish Wilford had never known that Morris loved me."

She was sobbing now, with her head in Helen's lap, and Helen, smoothing her bright hair, said gently:

"You do not reason correctly. It is right for you to answer Morris yes, and Wilford would say so, too. When I received your letter I read it to Bell, who then told what Wilford said before he died. You must have forgotten it, darling. He referred to a time when you would cease to be his widow, and he said he was willing said so to her, and you Do You remember it, Katy?"

"I do now, but I had forgotten. I was so stunned then, so bewildered, that it made no impression. I did not think he meant Morris?" and lifting up her face, Katy looked at her sister with a wistfulness which told how anxiously she waited for the answer.

"I know that he meant Morris," Helen replied. "Both Bell and her father think so, and they bade me tell you to marry Dr Grant, with whom you will be so happy."

"I cannot. It is too late. I told him no, and Helen, I told him a falsehood, too, which I wish I might take back," she added. "I said I was sorry he ever loved me, when I was not, for the knowing that he had made me very happy. My conscience has smitten me cruelly for that falsehood, told not intentionally, for I did not consider what I said."

Here was an idea which Helen caught at once, and the next morning she went to Linwood and brought Morris home with her. He had been there two or three times since his return from Washington, not since Katy's refusal, and her cheeks were scarlet as she met him in the parlor and tried to be natural. He did not look unhappy. He was not taking his rejection very hard, after all, she thought, and the little lady felt a very little piqued to find him so cheerful, when she had scarcely known a moment's quiet since the day she carried him the custards and forgot to bring away her umbrella. As it had rained that day, so it did now, a decided, energetic rain, which set in after Morris came, and precluded the possibility of his coming home that night.

"He would catch his death of cold," Aunt Betsy said, while Helen, too, joined her entreaties, until Morris consented, and the carriage which came round for him at dark returned to Linwood with the message that the doctor would pass the night at Deacon Barlow's.

During the evening he did not often address Katy directly, but he knew each time she moved, and watched every expression of her face, feeling a kind of pity for her, when, without appearing to do so intentionally, the family, one by one, stole from the room—Uncle Ephraim and Aunt Hannah without any excuse; Aunt Betsy to mix the cakes for breakfast, Mrs. Lennox to wind the clock, and Helen to find a book for which Morris had asked.

Katy might not have thought strange of their departure, were it not that neither one came back again, and after the lapse of ten minutes or more she felt convinced that she had purposely been left alone with Morris.

The weather and the family had conspired against her, but after one throb of fear she resolved to brave the difficulty, and meet whatever might happen as became a woman of twenty-three, and a widow. She knew Morris was regarding her intently as she fashioned into shape the coarse wool sock intended for some soldier, and she could almost hear her heart beat in the silence which fell between them ere Morris said to her, in a tone which reassured her:

"And so you told me a falsehood the other day, and your conscience has troubled you ever since?"

"Yes, Morris, yes, that is, I told you I was sorry that you ever loved me, which was not exactly true, for, after I knew you did, I was happier than before."

"You knew it, then, before I told you?"

"From Wilford—yes," Katy faltered.

"I understand now why you have been so shy of me," Morris said; "but, Katy, must this shyness continue always? Think, now, and say if you did not tell more than one falsehood the other night—as you count falsehoods?"

Katy looked wonderingly at him, and he continued:

"You said you could not be my wife. Was that true? Can't you take it back, and give me a different answer?"

Katy's cheeks were scarlet, and her hands had ceased to flutter about the knitting which lay upon her lap.

"I meant what I said," she whispered; "for, knowing how Wilford felt, it would not be right for me to be so happy."

"Then it's nothing personal? If there were no harrowing memories of Wilford, you could be happy with me. Is that it, Katy?" Morris asked, coming close to her now, and imprisoning her hands, which she did not try to take away, but let them lie in his as he continued: "Wilford was willing at the last. Have you forgotten that?"

"I had, until Helen reminded me," Katy replied. "But Morris, the talking of this brings Wilford's death back so vividly, making it seem but yesterday since I held his dying head."

She was beginning to relent, Morris knew, and bending nearer to her he said:

"It was not yesterday. It will be two years in February; and this, you know, is November. I need you, Katy. I want you so much. I have wanted you all your life. Before it was wrong to do so, I used each day to pray that God would give you to me, and now I feel just as sure that he has opened the way for you to come to me as I am sure that Wilford is in heaven. He is happy there, and shall a morbid fancy keep you from being happy here? Tell me, then, Katy, will you be my wife?"

He was kissing her cold hands, and as he did so he felt her tears dropping on his hair.

"If I say yes, Morris, you will not think that I never loved Wilford, for I did, oh, yes! I did. Not exactly as I might have loved you, had you asked me first, but I loved him, and I was happy with him, for if there were little clouds, his dying swept them all away."

It was very late that night when Katy went up to bed, and Helen, who was not asleep, knew by the face on which the lamplight fell that Morris had not sued in vain. Aunt Betsy knew it, too, next morning, by the same look on Katy's face when she came down stairs, but this did not prevent her saying abruptly, as Katy stood by the sink:

"Be you two engaged?"

"We are," was Katy's frank reply, which brought back all Aunt Betsy's visions of roasted fowls and frosted cake, and maybe a dance in the kitchen, to say nothing of the feather bed which she had not dared to offer Katy Cameron, but which she thought would come in play for "Miss Dr. Grant."

CHAPTER XLIX.

Many of the captives were coming home, and all along the Northern lines loving hearts were waiting, and friendly hands outstretched to welcome them back to "God's land," as the poor, suffering creatures termed the soil over which waved the stars and stripes, for which they had fought so bravely. Wistfully thousands of eyes ran over the long columns of names of those returned, each eye seeking for its own, and growing dim with tears as it failed to find it, or lighting up with untold joy when it was found.

"Lieut. Robert Reynolds," and "Thomas Tubbs," Helen read among the list of those just arrived at Annapolis, but "Captain Mark Ray" was not there, and with a sickening feeling of disappointment, she passed the paper to her mother-in-law, and hastened away, to weep and pray that what she so greatly feared might not come upon her.

It was after Katy's betrothal, and Helen was in New York, hoping to hear news from Mark, and perhaps to see him ere long, for as nearly as she could trace him from reports of others, he was last at Andersonville. But there was no mention made of him, no sign by which she could tell whether he still lived; or had long since been relieved from suffering.

Early next day she heard that Mattie Tubbs had received a telegram from Tom, who would soon be at home, while later in the day Bell Cameron came round to say that Bob was living, but had lost his right arm, and was otherwise badly crippled. It never occurred to Helen to ask if this would make a difference. She only kissed Bell fondly, rejoicing at her good fortune, and then sent her back to the home where there were hot discussions regarding the propriety of receiving into the family a maimed and crippled member.

"It was preposterous to suppose Bob would expect it," Juno said, while the mother admitted that it was a most unfortunate affair, as indeed the whole war had proved. For her part she sometimes wished the North had let the South go quietly, as they wanted to, and so saved thousands of lives, and prevented the country from being flooded with cripples and negroes, and calls for more men and money. On the whole, she doubted the propriety of prolonging the war; and she certainly doubted the propriety of giving her daughter to a cripple. There was Arthur Grey who had lately been so attentive; he was a wealthier man than Lieutenant Bob, and if Bell had any discretion she would take him in preference to a disfigured soldier.

Such was the purport of Mrs. Cameron's remarks, to which her husband listened, his eyes blazing with passion, which, the moment she finished, burst forth in a storm of oaths and invectives against what, with his pet adjective, he called her "Copperhead principles," denouncing her as a traitor, reproaching her for the cruelty which would separate her daughter from Robert Reynolds, because he had lost an arm in the service of his country; and then turning fiercely to Bell with the words:

"But it isn't for you to say whether he shall or shall not have Bell. She is of age. Let her speak for herself."

And she did speak, the noble heroic girl, who had listened with bitter scorn, to what her mother and sister said, and who now, with quivering nostrils, and voice hoarse with emotion, answered slowly and impressively:

"I would marry Lieutenant Reynolds if he had only his ears left to hear me tell him how much I love and honor him! Arthur Grey! Don't talk to me of him! the craven coward, who swore he was fifty to avoid the draft."

After this no more was said to Bell, who, the moment she heard Bob was at home, went to his father's house and asked to see him.

He was sleeping when she entered his room; and pushing back the heavy curtain, so that the light would fall more directly upon him, Mrs. Reynolds went out and left her there alone.

With a beating heart she stood looking at his hollow eyes, his sunken cheek, his short, dry hair, and thick gray skin, but did not think of his arm, until she glanced at the wall, where hung a large-sized photograph, taken in full uniform, the last time he was at home, and in which his well-developed figure showed to good advantage. Could it be that the wreck before her had ever been as full of life and vigor as the picture would indicate, and was that arm which held the sword severed from the body, and left a token of the murderous war?"

"Poor Bob! how much he must have suffered," she whispered, and kneeling down beside him she hid her face in her hands, weeping bitter tears for her armless hero.

The motion awakened Robert, who gazed for a moment in surprise at the kneeling, sobbing maiden; then when sure it was she, raised himself in bed, and ere Bell could look up, two arms, one quite as strong as the other, were wound around her neck, and her head was pillowed upon the breast, which heaved with strong emotions as the soldier said:

"My darling Bell, you don't know how much good this meeting does me!"

He kissed her many times, and Bell did not prevent it, but gave him kiss after kiss, then, still doubting the evidence of her eyes, she unclasped his clinging arms, and holding both his poor hands in hers, gave vent to a second gush of tears as she said:

"I am so glad—oh, so glad!"

Then, as it occurred to her that he might perhaps misjudge her, and put a wrong construction upon her joy, she added:

"I did not care for myself, Robert. Don't think I cared for myself, or was ever sorry a bit on my own account."

Bob looked a little bewildered as he replied: "Never were sorry and never cared!—I can scarcely credit that, for surely your tears and present emotions belie your words."

Bell knew he had not understood her, and she said:

"Your arm, Robert, your arm. We heard that it was cut off, and that you were otherwise mutilated."

"Oh, that's it, then!" and something like his old mischievous smile glimmered about Bob's mouth as he added: "They spared my arms, Bell," and he tried to look very solemn, "suppose I tell you that they hacked off both my legs, and if you marry me, you must walk all your life by the side of wooden pins and crutches!"

BABY SALE

There are a great many hungry hearted women who would attend a baby sale if babies were ever offered for sale, because there are a great many wives who love children and have been told by physicians that they can never hope to nurse a child of their own.

Some of these women who have used Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for the cure of womanly ills have been made happy mothers as a result of the cure of womanly disease and the building up of the general health.

Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription makes weak women strong and sick women well. It establishes regularity, dries weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness.

"I wrote to you some time ago to get information about my case," says Mrs Mary Lee Planary, of Dryden, Va. "I was troubled with female weakness and pains. Received answer from you, advising me to take Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription and Golden Medical Discovery. I took two bottles of Favorite Prescription and found it did me good. I had been married four years and had no children, now I can say that our house is blessed with a little baby boy, born July 15th, by the help of God and your medicine. I praise your medicine highly.

"You can publish this letter if you wish."

FREE, Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of customs and mailing only. Send 21 one-cent stamps for the book in paper covers, or 50 stamps for the cloth-bound volume. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

When Medicine Fails, Try Liquozone—We'll Pay for it

Medicine must fail in a germ trouble, because medicine never kills inside germs. Any germ-killing drug is a poison to you, and it cannot be taken internally.

Liquozone is the only way known to kill germs in the body without killing the tissues, too. It does in a germ trouble what no drugs, no skill in the world, can accomplish without it. To prove this—if you need it—we will gladly pay for a bottle and give it to you to try.

Acts Like Oxygen

Liquozone is the result of a process which, for more than 20 years, has been the constant subject of scientific and chemical research. Its virtues are derived solely from gas, made in large part from the best oxygen producers. By a process requiring immense apparatus and 14 days' time, these gases are made part of the liquid product.

The result is a product that does what oxygen does. Oxygen gas, as you know, is the very source of vitality. Liquozone is a vitalizer with which no other known product can compare. But germs are vegetables; and Liquozone—like an excess of oxygen—is deadly to vegetal matter. Yet this wonderful product which no germ can resist, is, to the human body, the most essential element of life.

We Paid $100,000

For the American rights to Liquozone—the highest price ever paid for similar rights on any scientific discovery. We did this after testing the product for two years, through physicians and hospitals, in this country and others.

That price was paid because Liquozone does in germ troubles what all the drugs, all the skill in the world, cannot accomplish without it. It carries into the blood a powerful yet harmless germicide, to destroy at once and forever the cause of any germ disease. And no man knows another way to do it. Liquozone is so certain that we publish on every bottle an offer of $1,000 for a disease germ that it cannot kill.

Germ Diseases

These are the known germ diseases. All that medicine can do for these troubles is to help Nature overcome the germs, and such results are indirect and uncertain. Liquozone kills the germs, wherever they are, and the results are inevitable. By destroying the cause of the trouble, it invariably ends the disease, and forever.

FEDERAL UNION ENDORSES BY-LAW.

Sugar Company By Law Receives Support of Union Men.

At a meeting held last evening in the Sons of England Hall the following resolution was unanimously carried: Moved by J. Gibson, seconded by A. Jones: That we the members of the Peterborough Federal Union No. 24, of the Trades and Labour Congress of Canada, assembled this 22nd day of April, express our hearty approval of the action of the Peterborough Town Council in submitting a bylaw to the property owners of the town for the guaranteeing by the corporation of the Peterborough Sugar Company's bonds to the amount of $100,000, and taking as security a first mortgage on the Sugar Company's lands, buildings and machinery, costing not less than $300,000. We further affirm that in our judgment the council has amply safeguarded the town, that the property owners will never have a cent to pay for securing this magnificent factory, and that it will largely benefit not only the workingmen of Peterborough but every other citizen.

Bicyclists Beware.

Chief Roszel has asked the Examiner to publish a warning from him to all bicyclists, both gentlemen and ladies alike. The law regarding ringing a bell at every crossing and slackening speed at such points is ignored. Every bicycle shall carry a bell. If the above is not complied with offenders will be summoned to appear in the police court.

GENERALLY SPEAKING

A FEW DAYS AGO the Examiner printed a paragraph, showing the electricity for lighting purposes was cheaper in Peterborough than elsewhere in the province. It needs little argument to justify attributing this condition to the competition brought about by the establishment of the Otonabee Power Company. We all well remember the abuse that was heaped upon those persons who were instrumental in procuring the water power privileges to develop electric energy in the interests of the people. Mr. Stratton was especially sought for abuse, and the worst motives imputed, though he had no personal interest in the matter — no interest beyond the benefit which would accrue to the citizens and industries of Peterborough. The result has amply justified the position he assumed. The citizens are now getting the benefit of the fight he put up, getting it in the form of the cheapest electric light and power in the country. Under the circumstances an apology is due—though it cannot be expected—from those who so maliciously misrepresented the motives of those instrumental in bringing about this desirable state of things in the public interest. It is to be hoped that such results will tend to allay the bickering spirit, which for political or other reasons, seeks to create domestic friction at the expense of the general interests of the town. In the matter of the material prosperity and advancement of the town, all citizens should harmoniously cooperate. No considerations of personal or political advantage should be allowed to militate against the advancement of the interests of the town.

LATIN FOR TEACHERS, is the policy of the Ontario Educational Association, and a very commendable policy it is. Because a teacher should be required to know Latin, it does not follow that he teach it. It is to be regarded as an indispensable part of his equipment for his profession. He should know much more than he is required to teach, else he is little more than an animated text book, and a text book is by no means an end in educational matters, only a means to an end, which has practically no end. The text book is to be used by the teacher, and should serve only as a basis of instruction, in like manner as the preacher uses the text of Holy Scripture for the teaching involved in his sermon. Therefore the better equipped a teacher is in a literary sense the better tools he possesses to do his work; the wider his linguistic knowledge the better able is he to explain to his pupils what requires elucidation. In the use of a language so rich in Latin elements as the English language, a knowledge of it gives a most important advantage. Culture, not cram should represent the educational equipment of a teacher, as well as the results of his teaching. It is no hardship to require a teacher to gain a knowledge of Latin. An authority states that four-fifths of the words in ordinary use in the English language, are derived from Latin—directly or through the French. A knowledge of Latin will broaden and illuminate a teacher's knowledge of his own language, and if he has learned it unwillingly, he will soon come to recognize its usefulness, not only from a personal point of view, but as an important addition to his qualifications for teaching.

APRIL WEDDING.

Miss Eliza Edwards Married to Mr. James Bailey.

An interesting event was that of the wedding at 16 College street, the Edwards' home, on Wednesday last, when Miss Eliza Edwards, eldest daughter, became the bride of Mr. James Bailey. Rev. Mr. Holah performed the ceremony. The winsome bride was charmingly gowned in white organdie with trimmings of point d'esprit lace, appliqué and insertion, carrying a shower bouquet of cream roses. The bridesmaid, Miss Birdie Stacy, of Toronto, wore cream crepe de Chene with pink carnations. Mr. Chas. Bailey, brother of the groom, was best man. Intimate friends of the family filled the drawing room. The presents were varied, rich and handsome. The dining room was filled with tables heavily laden with delicacies which received ample attention immediately following the ceremony. The bride's going away suit was of blue basket cloth with cream lace trimmings and hat to match. Miss Edwards was favourably known at the Collegiate Institute, and as a teacher in the public schools.

Mr. and Mrs. Bailey departed by early evening train for their very comfortable home at Mr. Bailey's farm near Marmora.

"Joy serious and sublime,
Such as doth nerve the energies of prayer
Should swell the bosom when a maiden's hand,
Filled with life's dewy flowerets, gordeth on
That Harness which the ministry of death
Alone unlooseth; but whose mystic power
May stamp the sentence of eternity."

ECZEMA ON LITTLE GIRL

Sleepless Nights for Mother and Awful Suffering of Child.

CURED BY CUTICURA

Had Given up All Hope of Ever Making Any Cure.

"My little girl has been suffering for two years or more from eczema, and during that time I could not get a night's sleep, as her ailment was very severe.

"I had tried so many remedies and spent much money, deriving no benefit, I had absolutely given up all hope of making any cure. But as a last resort I was persuaded to try a set of the Cuticura remedies, and to my great delight a marked change was manifested from the first application. I gave the child a bath with Cuticura Soap, using a soft piece of muslin cloth. This I did twice a day, each time following with the Cuticura Ointment, and at the same time gave the Resolvent, according to directions. One box of the Ointment and two bottles of the Resolvent, together with the Soap, effected a permanent cure. I submit this for publication if you desire, hoping it will add to your success and assist so many thousands of sufferers in curing themselves." MRS. I. B. JONES, ADDINGTON, IND. T.

The first step in the treatment of the chronic forms is to remove the scales and crusts and soften the skin, by warm baths with Cuticura Soap. The scalp, ears, elbows, hands, ankles and feet will require frequently a thorough soaking in order to penetrate the thickened skin and crusts with which these parts are often covered. Dry carefully, and apply Cuticura Ointment, lightly at first, and where advisable spread it on pieces of soft cloth and bind in place. Take the Resolvent, pills or liquid, in medium doses. Do not use cold water in bathing, and avoid cold, raw winds.

Cuticura Resolvent, liquid and in the form of Chocolate Coated Pills, Cuticura Ointment and Cuticura Soap are sold throughout the world. Depots: London, 27 Charterhouse Sq.; Paris, 5 Rue de la Paix; Australia, R. Towns & Co., Sydney; Boston, 137 Columbus Ave. Potter Drug & Chemical Corp., Sole Proprietors.

LEGISLATURE OVER

Lieut.-Governor's Assent Alone Is Required.

JENISON BILL WAS PASSED

Sunday Legislation Re-Enacted—The James Bay Railway Bill Passed By a Vote of 48 to 20—The Government Printing Contract Renewed For Five Years—Third Readings Rushed Through.

Toronto, April 25.—The Legislature sat till nearly 6 o'clock on Saturday and disposed of considerable business.

As an amendment to the Statute Law Amendment Act, Mr. Gibson introduced a clause re-enacting the legislation formerly in force against running street cars on Sunday in Ontario.

The Premier moved to extend the printing contract for five years at the present rates, with the exception of increase in the price for composition from 45 to 50 cents per 1,000 ems.

It will be possible in future in large districts to establish a second separate school, where a majority of the ratepayers concur. Similar legislation had been adopted in the case of public schools some time ago.

The third reading of the James Bay Railway Bill was passed on a vote of 48 to 20.

After two hours discussion the bill to enable Edward Spencer Jenison to develop water power on the Kaministiquia River was passed its third reading.

Third readings were given the Statute Law Amendment Act bills, 1903 and 1901, a bill respecting county councils, a bill respecting the encouragement of the sugar-beet industry, one amending the Supplementary Revenue Act, 1899, one amending the election law, and respecting certain aid towards the construction of the James Bay Railway.

The report of the Select Committee on the bill to amend the Assessment Act was concured in, as was also the report of the Committee in Supply.

The House adjourned till Tuesday at 3 o'clock when it will meet to have the Lieut.-Governor give assent to the bills passed during the session.

SWALLOWED A MOUSE.

Peculiar Experience of a Grocery Messenger—Suffered Agony But Now Well.

London, April 25.—A singular misadventure has just occurred to a young man named Arthur Pilgrim, employed by the Leighton Buzzard Co-operative Society. Pilgrim was engaged in delivering groceries, which were placed in a number of boxes, and put in a cart.

As he was in the act of lifting one of these boxes he heaved a deep breath," and while so doing a mouse jumped from the box right down his throat. For a time the man suffered a terrible choking sensation, and he could hardly see. He drove to a doctor's surgery, where a strong emetic was given him, but without effect.

He returned to the Co-operative Store, where a further emetic was administered, but to no purpose. For several hours the man suffered considerable discomfort, but he is now well again. The doctor who attended him thinks the mouse must have died almost immediately after being swallowed.

RUSSIAN SANK A JAP BARGE

Details of Friday's Engagement Show It Unimportant.

VICEROY ALEXIEFF MUST REMAIN.

The Neutrality Laws Prevent Russian Black Sea Fleet From Going to the Pacific—Russia Purchases Large Vessels from German Steamship Company—Correspondent Arrested.

St. Petersburg, April 25.—Official despatches regarding the fight south of the River Pomakua, reported Friday last, in which a Russian despatch had three men killed and two officers and thirteen men wounded, say that a Japanese troop-laden barge and other boats emerged from the mouth of the Pomakua and attempted to cut off the Russian retreat. The barge was sunk by the Russian guns.

Further details concerning the skirmish say that in following up the general plan to harrass and impede the Japanese crossing the Yalu, the Russian outposts on the river sent a detachment of volunteers in boats on the night of April 20 for the purpose of setting fire to the Japanese pontoon and other bridge materials.

The position of the boats was highly critical, owing to the appearance of a number of light barges filled with Japanese, coming out from a small tributary stream called the Pomakua, which is unmarked even on the maps of the Russian general staff.

The intention of the barges was to cut off the retreat of the Russians. This was noticed from the other bank, two miles distant, and a couple of field guns opened fire. A lucky shot sank one of the barges and the other withdrew.

Tried to Assassinate Kuropatkin.

St. Petersburg, April 25.—The story that an attempt was made on Gen. Kuropatkin's life by two disguised Japanese, while the Commander-in-Chief was in Newchwang a few days ago, is confirmed. The wouldbe assassins impersonated Chinese beggars. They wore false queus. On? of them reached for a dagger, but was felled to the ground by one or two Cossacks who always accompany the general.

Alexieff Will Remain.

Paris, April 25.—The St. Petersburg correspondent of The Echo de Paris says that the rumor that Viceroy Alexieff has resigned is incorrect, though he may do so when Vice-Admiral Skrydloff arrives at Port Arthur. The Viceroy requested by telegraph to be relieved of his post when he heard that Vice-Admiral Skrydloff, instead of his nominee, had been appointed to command the fleet, thinking himself in disgrace. His Majesty thereupon wired the Viceroy: "This is not the time to make changes; all should unite to repulse the enemy," and order Alexieff to remain at Port Arthur. The latter conformed to the Emperor's wishes, saying he would do all that patriotism required.

Rumor of Mediation.

St. Petersburg, April 25.—The Russian capital is agog with reports of possible negotiations between Russia and Japan, through King Edward, as a result of His Majesty's visit to Copenhagen, though not only in official quarters, but everywhere, the Russians seems to be of one mind, that no proffer of mediation can be entertained while the Empire is smarting under the sting of defeat.

Enrolling Technical Students.

St. Petersburg, April 25.—The Emperor has accepted the offer of the senior class of the Electro-Technic School to serve as volunteer telegraphers in Manchuria. These volunteers will have charge of the wires along the Manchuria line.

All the sappers, pontoonists and military engineers will be armed with carbines, instead of with revolvers and swords.

By Imperial order there have been organized at Port Arthur one battalion of miners, one battalion of military telegraphers, four battalions of sappers, each to include two pontoon and one telegraph detachment, and one pontoon battalion for the construction of a 100-fathom brigade.

Neutrality Laws Hamper Russia.

St. Petersburg, April 25.—Rear-Admiral Wirenius has just returned from his unsuccessful attempt to reinforce the Port Arthur fleet with his squadron, consisting of the battleship Oslabia, the cruisers Aurora and Dmitri Donskoi, eleven torpedo boats and two transports.

In an interview the admiral complained of the stringency of the neutrality at Suez and Port Said. The British authorities would not allow the vessels to remain more than twenty-four hours, and permitted them to take on only a meagre allowance of coal. The admiral said: "We met the cruisers Kasuga and Nisshin, the warships purchased by Japan from Argentina and now with Vice-Admiral Togo's fleet, at Port Said, but we had not the slightest desire to attack them. They had all the appearance of merchantmen, and the crews dangled their legs over the sides of the vessels. My ships have returned safely after a voyage longer than that to Port Arthur."

Correspondent Arrested By Russians.

Port Arthur, April 25.—The Chicago Daily News despatch boat, which was approved Friday night last, was boarded by Russian officers. The correspondent was arrested but was liberated on condition that he avoided Kwantung Peninsula in future. All is quiet and there is no change in the situation here.

Russia Buys German Ships.

Berlin, April 25.—It is stated here that the Hamburg-American Line steamers Columbia, Bengalia and Belgia have been sold to the Russian Government.

Boers Secretly Conspire.

London, April 25.—England is not free from the anxieties of Empire. The Thibetan expedition is a hazardous adventure and the condition of South Africa is far from satisfactory. Protests against the demand of the Crown colony agents for exclusive control of the purchase of supplies for the Transvaal and the Orange River Colonies can easily be met by official compromises, but there are many signs of discontent and dangerous unrest in South Africa. One is the circumstantial evidence of the formation of a Boer secret conspiracy in the Lydenburg District, with concealed supplies of arms and ammunition. Another is the widespread disappointment over the continuance of hard times and the prostration of mining interests.

Zionist Colony Founded.

London, April 25.—The Foreign Office has come to a definite agreement with the Zionists as to the situation and extent of the colony it is ready to give them in East Africa. This is to consist of 5,000 square miles of land northeast of Victoria Nyanza. It includes the Nandi plateau and is very ferile, well watered and well forested.

An important point in the concession is that the land is only five miles distant from the Uganda Railway and a thirty hours' railway journey from the coast. There will be no Zionist Congress but in its stead the Greater Action Committee has just met at Vienna and indorsed the sending of a committee to inquire into the suitability of the site for Hebrew colonization.

To Control Hudson Bay.

Ottawa, April 25.—By the bill to amend the Fisheries Act, which has received its first reading in the Commons, the machinery is provided for asserting jurisdiction over the whale fishery in Hudson Bay, where for years the industry has been prosecutd by Americans without hindrance. By the new bill, however, the Minister of Marine is given power to exact a license fee from all vessels prosecuting the whale fishing in Canadian territorial waters.

KAISER CHANGES PLANS.

Leaves Mediterranean It Is Rumored on Account of Ill Health.

Berlin, April 25. A good deal of mystery is connected with Emperor William's recent movements about the Mediterranean. His original plan was to cruise in Italian and Greek waters until May 5, and then go to Carlsruhe, Wiesbaden and Alsac-Lorraine. A visit to Corfu was projected and an extension of it to Athens was contemplated if time permitted.

Suddenly, although the Greek Prime Minister in Corfu and several Greek warships were awaiting His Majesty, the trip thither was abandoned. The Emperor telegraphed to his sister's father-in-law, the King of Greece, that he was sorry he could not visit Athens, and he is hurrying home.

Explanations are numerous.

First, there are persistent rumors about his health, and a story of two eminent throat specialists who hurried down the Mediterranean to examine the Emperor.

Then there is a story that his general health is not good, that he is suffering from lassitude, thinks the climate enervating and is anxious to get back to his native North.

Another explanation is that the visit to Italy of President Loubet of France is sending the Emperor home earlier than he intended to come. It is said that it would not be in keeping with the Emperor's dignity to be cruising around Italy in his yacht when the head of the Kingdom of Italy was royally entertaining the head of another state not on the best terms with Germany.

Four Wives the Limit.

Bombay, April 25.—Loud wailing echoes through the harems of the rich of Afghanistan. Innumerable wives are tearing their luxuriant hair; tears dim their lovely eyes; sobs choke their dulcet voices. The Ameer has again promulgated his order that no one of his subjects, however wealthy, shall have more than four wives to cheer his comparative solitude. Last year Habibullah, who at the age of 32 is suspected of being a woman hater, so commanded. But the wives proved more powerful than the Ameer, and the royal edict was disobeyed. Now it is repeated, direst punishment is threatened to him who does not separate himself from all but a quartette of helpmeets.

Faking Divorce Evidence.

London, April 25.—Lawyers here were fully prepared for the sequel to the degrading Pollard divorce suit, in which a detective agency and a firm of well known solicitors were charged by the King's Proctor with instigating vice and procuring false evidence. The head of the detective agency has been arrested, and the solicitors' case is likely to go before the Law Society if the courts do not discipline them. Sir Edward Carson has greatly distinguished himself in exposing the disgraceful traffic in divorce practice and shown all the resources of another Sir Charles Russell in cross-examination.

Pierpont Morgan Has a Guard.

London, April 25.—J. P. Morgan's town house in London, 13 Prince's Gate, is watched day and night now by a policeman regularly stationed on the outside, while at night two former detectives stand guard within. An elaborate system of electric alarms and tell-tale clocks has been put in to stimulate their vigilance. When Mr. Morgan was here on his last visit a man was found hiding in an outhouse at his suburban residence, Dover House, Richmond Park. Although the circumstances were suspicious, the prisoner was discharged with a caution.

A special meeting of the county Council will be held on Wednesday.

Miss Babbage was married in Rochester to Mr. Wm. Louis Smyth.

Sheriff Hall has consented to give "An Evening with the Poets," in short time for the benefit of the Children's Aid Society.

Thomas Webster may run for the office of County Councillor for the district made vacant by the death of ex-warden Crowe.

The funeral of the late William Breckenridge took place yesterday afternoon and was largely attended.

The Peterborough Baseball Club had their first practice on Saturday afternoon, when Manager Whitcroft had a long list of players in uniform.

The people of Sault Ste. Marie went almost wild with delight when the word was received that the Algoma Central Guarantee Bill had passed.

A new sporting organization, the Trent Valley Lacrosse League, has been formed, and the prospects for its success are good. A short summary of a number of the teams is presented in to-day's issue.

The Sports Committee of the T.A.S. has arranged for a programme of sporting events for Victoria Day, May 24th. A cup, to be known as the "T.A.S. Trophy" will probably be given by the society for annual competition.

Rev. Dr. Abraham of Toronto, was in town yesterday, and preached in the George street church in the morning, and in St. Andrew's in the evening. He will address a meeting to-morrow night in the interests of temperance.

Chicago's Daily Murder.

Chicago, April 25.—In a fight between watchmen and thieves in the stock yards Saturday night, Arthur Clemons, watchman, was instantly killed; Peter McGee, watchman, shot twice in the right side and once in the back, will die; George Walsh, burglar, aged 20, shot once in side and once in abdomen, may recover.

The watchmen discovered two men in a smoke house stealing hams. Clemons seized Walsh and the latter pressed a revolver against the watchman's breast and killed him at the first shot.

Sunday Players Arrested.

Jersey City, April 25.—During the third inning of an exhibition baseball game between the Jersey City Eastern League and the Philadelphia American League at Bayonne yesterday, the police arrested President Howard Griffith, Pitcher Eason and Catcher Vandegrift of the Jersey City Club for violating the Sunday law. A complaint was made by the Bayonne Ministers' Association.

Eleven of Fourteen Rescued.

Madrid, April 25.—Eleven of the fourteen men who were buried under falling earth at Cerro Plata quarter of the city have been rescued. Three of them are severely injured.

—The country roads are in very good shape, and many bicyclists took a tour into the surrounding districts yesterday.

Most people eat too heartily of a good many things just because they enjoy them.

It's a big satisfaction to me that greatly as people like "FORCE" they can't eat too much of it.

A WRONG DEDUCTION.

The Opposition in the Legislature have been seeking and continue to seek to make a great deal of party capital out of the fact that two Liberal members of the Legislature are creditors of the Algoma Central Railway on account of contract work, and the charge is made that to protect these members and to secure their claim, the Government proposed to guarantee a loan for the completion of the railway. This is simply ridiculous. As a matter of fact they hold a lien which takes priority over the mortgage of Speyer & Co., or any other claim. Their security will not be in the slightest sense improved by the guaranty of the loan. They are just as certain of their claim being met before any mention of the guarantee was made, as they are now that the bill has become law.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Mr. J. M McEvoy, of London, having to choose between Mr. Gamey and Mr. Wright, Conservative organizer, as defendant in his suit for damages for slander, will proceed against Gamey and leave action against Wright.

In the last five years of Conservative rule Canada got only 113,984 immigrants, an average of 22,796. Last year we got 139,357, or 25,373 more than in all the five Conservative years together. And 50,141 were from Great Britain, 51,207 from the States, and only 38,009 from continental Europe. There has been a gratifying improvement in quality as well as quantity.

THE "SOO" SHOWS ITS JUBILATION.

At the Final Passing of the Algoma Central Guarantee Bill.

Procession was Held and Prominent Citizens Went Wild with Delight The Band Played and Steam Boat Whistles Blew.

That the action of the Ontario Government in passing the Algoma Central Guarantee Bill is meeting with public favour in Sault Ste. Marie is evidenced by the following item from the Sault News:

"The Soo went almost wild last evening following the receipt of the news that the Soo loan guarantee bill had been passed by the Ontario Legislature. It was the close of a long period of suspense that was having its effect on the people of the town and the enthusiasm that broke out when the news came in that the vote had been favourable was indicative of the great interest everywhere manifested in the outcome of the measure. That it meant much to the town was everywhere evident and when the success was all over the people or at least the great majority of them threw dignity and the ordinary affairs of life to the winds and joined in the impromptu celebration.

"When word was received on Thursday evening that a vote was expected at any time the people began to congregate about the bulletin boards to await the coming of the news and in the meantime discuss the various features of the situation. Many remained up town until long after midnight when word came that the legislature had adjourned without a vote.

"Yesterday after the hour for the legislature to begin its business the crowds again began to gather about the news centres. They remained there all day waiting and talking and increasing in numbers until evening. The progress of affairs at Toronto was bulletined every fifteen minutes and as each bulletin showed the success of the Government in this measure so the coming nearer the enthusiasm of the crowds grew with leaps and bounds. When definite word finally did arrive it was received by a cheering multitude. Men of all classes mingled together and in congratulation took each other by the hand and expressed delight even to the extent of cheering loudly. In some instances the more prominent townsmen who were present were called upon for speeches which were given with a will and which were in every case expressive of the utmost confidence that the Soo was once more about to enter upon a period of prosperity that while it might not be as much like a boom as that which has passed would be more substantial and result in a continued growth that in the end would be a great deal more satisfactory all round."

WHAT'S HAPPENING AROUND THE DISTRICT.

Interesting Items and Live News of the Great Trent Valley Region.

CORDOVA.

The Marmora Herald ridicules the statements made by Mr. Arthur Reed to the Lindsay Watchman-Warder and says:—"Mr. Arthur Reed has been giving the Watchman-Warder of Lindsay some expert opinions on Cordova and Deloro Mines. Arthur does not seem to bother himself greatly as to facts as long as the story "sounds" well, as youngsters say in criticizing English. He says we can blast out rock ten times faster by tunnelling around the ore. Two miles had not done tunnelling enough and the company as Spain(?) closed it down until the manager went to Europe."

APSLEY.

The past winter has been a very dry one for cattle, such deep snow, combined with such steady, severe cold, probably never having been experienced here before for the simple reason that though there may have been as deep snow and sharp weather many years ago, the country was then much better timbered than now, and the cold wind had not such power. From every side we hear that it has taken more food to bring the stock through than usual and quite a number have been lost, as feed has been very scarce for a month past.—Lakefield News.

BROCKVILLE.

According to the Brockville Times there is a honey famine in sight owing to the heavy mortality among bees the past severe winter. Last summer was a poor season for bees. It was for a time too dry, then for a long time it was too wet. The bees did not get a chance to work. The result was that in the fall they not only did not have enough honey made to yield their owners a supply, but in many cases they did not have enough stored to last themselves through the winter. In order to try and pull them through most beekeepers had not only to leave the honey that was in the hives, but to feed the bees with sugar. Despite these efforts most of the bees have died.

MINDEN.

Mr. Page, a prosperous farmer in the Township of Minden, has lost several head of young cattle recently, although he has plenty of feed for them, but one after another died from some cause that neither he nor his neighbours could understand, so Mr. Page sent for a veterinary surgeon, Dr. Mason, of Fenelon Falls, whom he understand pronounces the trouble as caused by a poisonous weed that had grown among, the wild grass. Should this be so everybody who feeds beaver hay should become acquainted with the fact which might save them the serious loss, Mr. Page has undergone from this cause. —Minden Echo.

COBOURG.

The dailies are publishing what purports to be a Russian despatch, stating that the Russian Admiralty has placed a large order for war canoes, with a Peterborough, Ontario, firm. This step is said to be the natural sequel to the gradual extermination of the Russian fleet at Port Russian. The Russian admiralty, it states, find it impossible to build new warships in time to take part in the present war, but is of the opinion that if the Port Arthur squadron were reinforced by a large fleet of the Canadian built war canoes the naval crisis might be relieved. But it is surely a canard gotten up by some "ancient history man," who has confounded the name Peterborough*ski, a town north of us*, with some of those eastern jaw-wrestlers. Anyhow, we canard-ly believe the rumour.

SOUTH HARVEY.

Mr. Jas. McGuire had a party the other evening, and everything passed off pleasantly for the guests, (after they got there.) One young gentleman had rather a trying experience. He and his best girl were journeying along pleasantly enough when they came to a pond; when about the centre of the pond the cutter struck a stone and stopped suddenly, but the horse went on to the stable without paying any attention to the driver. However, after an interval of shouting the attention of the dancers was attracted and the young couple brought off on a raft, none the worse for their adventure. It will be a warning to those who need it not to drive with one hand any more.—Independent.

BOBCAYGEON.

Mr. R. M. Thurston met with a heavy loss last week. Three of his cows were out in the yard on Thursday, and somehow managed to get into the chop room, and filled themselves with chop. The two bossy ones took the meat chop bin that was filled with very strong food; and the weaker cow took a tub of straight oat chop, which was not so strong, but was quite strong enough. They were used to chop, in fact one of them had been heavily fed on chop since Christmas for beef, and would have been given to the butcher in another ten days. For this reason Mr. Thurston hoped that they would pull through the consequences of their gluttony, but the hopes were unfounded. Sunday evening the most bossy cow died, and on Monday morning the next one died. The cow that had taken the oat chop lived until Tuesday evening and then died. They were valuable animals as one was ready for beef, and the other two would shortly have been in full flow of milk.—Independent.

FENELON FALLS.

For some time past a very large hawk has been hovering over the village, and he has twice been seen flying down the river with a pigeon in his talons. There will not be many of these birds left in the village if he is not killed or frightened away, and he looks big enough to be able to carry off hens when he has eaten all the pigeons. A few years ago a hawk, apparently of the same species, located himself somewhere near the Falls and committed many murders before he was put an end to, and the present visitor ought to be shot as soon as possible.—Gazette.

LINDSAY.

Those Lindsay aldermen are the biggest "scrappers" you ever saw. The other night they spent some hours "chewing" about whether a "Fox" or an "Underwood" typewriter should be purchased by the town. The Watchman-Warder says: "It must be said that these gentlemen's opinions on fine mechanisms are worth something. Ald. Storer has driven a locomotive, and even if what he took to be the governor balls of the steam roller turned out to be the headlight, he is pretty well posted. Ald. McCrae is familiar with threshing machine cylinders, and not long ago called the bluff on Ald. Storer in council by taking his $5 bet that lowering a shelf behind would not raise it in front. Ald. Maunder lives among the intricate mechanisms of a flour mill. Ald. McWatters manipulates a bread mixer with ease, and Ald. Robinson has mastered the machinery of that new Yankee windmill out at his farm, even if he is afraid to go up and oil it. Mayor Sootheran, what does he know? It is doubtful if he ever handled any machine but a hoe and a typewriter. Why should he set his opinion up against the cumulative sagacity of his machine-skilled colleagues. It was preposterous—and with a touch of the patrician air, they voted to buy the typewriter of their choice."

GANANOQUE.

The merchants of Gananoque have organized an association to protect themselves against "dead beats" and people of doubtful pay. Once a month they will have printed on a sheet of paper a list of those who run accounts and refuse to pay them. A copy will be furnished every member, and a part of the agreement is that no one whose name appears on the list shall receive credit.

CHURCH UNION ALREADY STARTED.

Presbyterians and Methodists Endorse the Proposal.

Rev Dr. Abraham, of Toronto, who is in Peterborough in the interests of the temperance movement, preached two sermons yesterday. In the morning he occupied the pulpit in the George street Methodist church, and preached a strong temperance sermon. In introducing the speaker, the pastor referred to the fact that he was a Presbyterian minister, and stated that it was a pleasure to him to welcome Dr. Abraham to his church and pulpit. It was an evidence of the fact that the union of the churches was bound to come, when the preachers of the different denominations were found in each other's pulpits. The Presbyterians, he said, had been a mighty force in building up strong characters in our nation, as had also the Methodist church. It now remained to be seen what the two churches combined would do, and he believed that the contemplated union would be only a matter of a short time before it would be consummated.

Rev Dr. Abraham's sermon was on the subject, "A Strong Nation," and he spoke of Canada as the coming nation. Nature had endowed her with many blessings, and in many respects we were favoured above those others. This was not because God observed it, but because God in His mercy had seen fit to bestow these blessings upon us. One of the essentials to a strong nation is the intelligence of its citizens. Intelligence, as differentiated from knowledge, for while knowledge is what one knows, intelligence is the faculty by which we know, and is therefore of the greater importance. Another essential is that the laws of the land should conform to those laid down by God.

He characterized the liquor traffic as being the greatest evil in the land, and called upon all church members to work for its banishment.

Rev Dr. Abraham preached in St. Andrew's church in the evening.

Big Strike Averted.

New York, April 25.—The general executive committee of the United Garment Workers of America Saturday ordered a strike to go into effect to-day, affecting indirectly 250,000 workers. When the employers heard of it they induced the union leaders to rescind the order and to permit conferences to be held. The action was taken because the National Association of Clothiers decided to adopt the "open shop," and to supply employers with non-union hands.

A Nest of Corruption.

Pueblo, Col., April 25.—Mayor B B. Brown was indicted by the grand jury Saturday on four counts, three charging false pretences and one forgery, all growing out of the pay rolls in the city departments. Ald. Thomas Flynn was arrested on twenty-three indictments, charging false pretences, fifty-two true bills were returned, but the other names have not been made public.

A Wonderful Book.

As a work for family reference there was probably never compiled a more useful book than Dr. Chase's Receipt Book. Besides containing the symptoms of disease, their cause and cure and the great prescriptions gathered during half a century of medical practice, this book is replete with receipts for cooking and has a complete department devoted to the care of farm stock, bees, domestic animals, etc. For full particulars write Edmanson, Bates & Co, Toronto.

Labor Rules Australia.

Melbourne, April 25.—In consequence of the defeat of the ministry on Thursday on a labor party amendment making the provision for the arbitration of labor disputes applicable to state employes, the governor has summoned Mr. Watson, the leader of the labor party, to form a ministry. Mr. Watson has consented and is to report the result of his negotiations on Wednesday next.

LIBERALS HOPEFUL

The Party in England Well Provided With Funds.

£32,000 IN THE TREASURY

London Times Correspondent Declares Canadian Insurance Risks Are "Notoriously Unprofitable"—Lord Alverstone Talks Strongly in Support of Union With the Colonies—Salvage Charges.

London, April 25.—(C.A.P.)—The executive committee's report to the National Liberal Federation, holding its meeting at Manchester on May 12, says there was never a time when the Liberal party in England and Wales was in better array for the battle. Thirty-two thousand pounds was subscribed during the past year to prepare for the general elections. The report says the Unionist party is thoroughly disintegrated as a result of the resistance of influential Unionists to the protection policy. A resolution will be submitted to the council, which calls upon Premier Balfour to submit himself to the judgment of the country, in spite of his reluctance to commit patriotic suicide.

Conflagration Risks Justified.

London, April 25.—(C.A.P.)—The Times' insurance correspondent says the Toronto fire will give an impetus to the movement to charge a conflagration risk premium of 1 per cent. The conditions of Canadian towns fully justified it, though it would be a serious burden on Canadian industries. The fire insurance of Canada was seven times higher than in Britain, yet it was notoriously unprofitable.

Alverstone Talks Union.

London, April 25. (C.A.P.)—Lord Alverstone, presiding at the St. George's banquet at the Cecil Hotel, said the history of the last few years brought out in the strongest possible relief the absolute duty of neglecting nothing which could bind closer the various parts of the Empire. They must not wait for some great emergency. Speaking of the glories of the Empire, the loyalty of the colonies expressed it. Cablegrams were received from Montreal, Ottawa and Hamilton, and 150 Crimean veterans. A telegram was sent to the King, assuring him of their devotion and attachment to the throne. The King sent a message of thanks.

A New Cryptogram.

London, April 25.—(C.A.P.)—Sir Edward Clarke, addressing the Savage Club on Shakespeare day, humorously quoted from the 46th psalm, the 46th word from the beginning being "shake" and the 46th word from the end "spear," which was conclusive proof that Shakespeare wrote the psalms.

Expects Higher Duties.

London, April 25.—(C.A.P.)—The Daily Chronicle says that a responsible Canadian correspondent states that after the next election the present Dominion Government will be compelled by public opinion to have no preferential duties on woollens less than 30 per cent., and this rule will soon apply to all English goods.

Australia's Labor Premier.

London, April 25.—(C. A. P.)—Mr. Watson, the Australian labor leader, is forming a Government and wires The Daily Chronicle asking British trades unionists to suspend judgment in regard to the labor party and its future Ministry. He knows nothing of the colonial offer, but will give courteous and general consideration to any concrete preferential proposal.

If Chamberlain Wins.

London, April 25.—(C.A.P.)—Count Okuma declares that if Chamberlain wins Japan will be obliged to raise her import duties.

Salvage Is Costly.

London, April 25.—(C. A. P.)—The German steamer Excelsior, for towing the Ontarian 900 miles to Queenstown, has made a salvage claim of £18,000.

Soldiers Shoot Socialists.

Buda-Pesth, April 25.—A serious clash is reported to have taken place at the market town of Elsed, near Gross-Wardein, resulting from a collision between meetings of the Socialist and independent parties. While order was being restored by the gendarmes a Socialist fired a revolver, killing the commander. The gendarmes thereupon fired a volley, killing 23 of the rioters and severely wounding 40. The military were summoned from Gross-Wardein.

Medical Act Upheld.

Woodstock, April 25.—Police Magistrate Ball rendered judgment Saturday morning in the cases brought against Mrs. William Leburtis, by Detective Chas. Rose, representing the Ontario Medical Council, for alleged violation of the Medical Act. The defendant was fined $25 and costs on each of the five charges. His Worship finding that there had been a violation of the act and he imposed the lowest penalty provided.

Yukon Birds Contain Diamonds.

Dawson, April 25.—Wilson Foster has made one of the most remarkable discoveries ever made in this country. He has discovered what he declares are diamonds, rubies and sapphire, in the ptarmigan and grouse of the Klondike, and has found thousands of fine crystals of every description, color and form in the gizzards of these birds, many of which are as pure and clear as a drop of distilled water.

Election Protests.

Toronto, April 25.—The trials of election protests will take place in September.

Died Over 90 Years of Age.

Belleville, April 25.—The oldest resident of Belleville passed away Saturday morning, in the person of John Grant Ross, who was born in this city over ninety years ago and has since resided here. He was a veteran of the rebellion of 1837, and of U. E. Loyalist descent. A second stroke of paralysis was the cause of death.

Not a minute should be lost when a child shows symptoms of croup. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy given as soon as the child becomes hoarse, or even after the croupy cough appears will prevent the attack. It never fails, and is pleasant and safe to take.

SUNDAY OBSERVANCE.

Views of Archbishop of Canterbury Favor Personal Liberty.

London, April 25.—A Yorkshire correspondent who wrote to the Archbishop of Canterbury, calling attention to a report that Mr. Balfour played golf on the Sabbath, has received the following letter from the Primate's Private Secretary:

"The Archbishop of Canterbury directs me to thank you. Detailed rules to be adopted by any conscientious Christian man with regard to the observance of Sunday are, in the Archbishop's judgment, a matter for his own conscience, as it is certain that the Christian church has never laid down detailed directions affecting the action of individuals in this matter.

"Each of them is responsible to God for so using the Lord's Day as to fit him best for the working days that follow."

BRIEFS FROM THE WIRES.

The population of St. Thomas increased 212 last year.

John Fanshir, 36 years old, threw himself in front of a train at Rochester Sunday and was cut in two.

Fire destroyed Robert Parr's livery stable and meat market and W. H. Roan's residence at Brigden Saturday.

John Whitman, living within half a mile of Albert College, Belleville, is suffering from a severe attack of smallpox.

Fun May End Fatally.

Hamilton, April 25.—Edward Wickham, a young fellow, 22 years of age, whose home is at 55 East Wood street, was the victim of what will probably prove a fatal accident Saturday night. He boarded a T. H. & B. train with several companions and out of a spirit of mischief, rode on the "bumpers," between the blind baggage and the engine. Near Clarksville the engine broke away from the baggage car, and Wickham fell under the car, which ran over his arm. When he was picked up the limb was hanging by only a few shreds of flesh, and Dr. Balfe had to amputate it close to the shoulder joint. One leg was also broken. By the time the unfortunate young man was got back to the city he was weak from the loss of blood, and his chances of recovery are slight. He was one of a party on the way to a cock fight that was held near Brantford.

Sealed tenders addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for Port Colborne Breakwater," will be received at this office until Friday, May 6, 1904, inclusively, for the construction of a breakwater at Port Colborne, Welland County, Ontario, according to two sets of plans to be seen at the offices of Louis Coste, Esq., Resident Engineer at Port Colborne, Ont.; H. A. Gray, Esq., Engineer in charge of Harbour Works, Ontario, Confederation Life Building, Toronto; Charles Desjardins, Esq., Clerk of Works, Post Office Building, Montreal, and at the Department of Public Works, Ottawa.

Two forms of tenderers will be furnished but the contractors are at liberty to tender for one or both schemes.

Tenders will not be considered unless made on the form supplied and signed with the actual signature of tenderers.

An accepted cheque on a chartered bank, payable to the order of the Honourable the Minister of Public Works, for twenty-two thousand dollars must accompany each tender. In the case of parties tendering for both schemes only one cheque will be required. The cheque will be forfeited if the party tendering decline the contract or fail to complete the work contracted for, and will be returned in case of non-acceptance of tender.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

By order,

FRED. GELINAS, Secretary.

Department of Public Works, Ottawa, April 11, 1904.

Newspapers inserting this advertisement without authority from the Department will not be paid for it.

TENDERS FOR ISLANDS.

DOMINION RIFLE ASSOCIATION.

Lord Dundonald Says He Is Not Altogether Satisfied With Situation.

Ottawa, April 23.—The annual meeting of the Dominion Rifle Association was held here yesterday, when Col. Hughes, M.P., presided.

The Earl of Dundonald, in replying to a vote of thanks, said that it was the duty of the general officer commanding to encourage rifle shooting, and unfortunately the means to further rifle shooting in Canada were ridiculously inadequate. "You have 10,000 members in a population of 6,000,000," he said. "It is impossible for me to say, as officer commanding, that I am satisfied, but I congratulate your association on its work. If it were not for you there would be no rifle shooting in Canada."

With reference to the cavalry and the rifle, he recognized that this arm must take a greater part in the defence of the Dominion in the future than in the past. He had supplied a drill book to the cavalry, outlining his ideas in this connection, and had just finished writing a similar drill book for the infantry. He had assimilated the terms of the two branches so that the soldier of either could exchange, each understanding the other's drill and terms.

Sir Frederick Borden, in answer to a resolution of congratulation, said that it was essential that politics should not enter into the military affairs of Canada. The Government was spending about $100,000 a year in building ranges throughout Canada. The militia were being taught to shoot, for if they could not shoot, there would be no use sending them to war.

Sir Frederick Borden was elected honorary president, and Col. J. M. Gibson re-elected president.

Clearing Away the Debris.

Toronto, April 23.—The dynamiting of walls continued all yesterday and was a source of interest to still curious thousands of spectators. The scenes inside the fire lines were of a busy kind, and several hundred men were at work clearing away debris, attacking still unopened vaults, and engaged in other labors looking to reconstruction. Men experienced in insurance affairs consider that the augmented rates will mean to Toronto an increased premium payment of from $250,000 to $300,000. Merchants are angry, and say the schedule is preposterous. Architect Lennox says outside competition will prevent a "hold-up" by the builders.

Blamed For His Mistake.

Guelph, April 23.—The coroner's jury on the G.T.R. wreck returned a verdict that the accident occurred through the mistake of Operator McKinley, and while not exonerating him from blame, the weather was such that he might have mistaken the figure 4 for 3, and that he tried to find the order slip, and failing, enquired of the next station, showing due anxiety. The system of order slips at present in use was condemned. Were conductors required to stop and register the accident would not have occurred. The meagreness of the station accommodation was also condemned.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one readed disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer one hundred dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Take Hall's Family Pills for Constipation.

The Trial Postponed.

Montreal, April 23.—The cause celebre of Cooke and Blackley, replete with sensational episodes, had a strange denouement yesterday. Justice Wurtele is probably a dying man. His Lordship has had several more hemorrhages and Dr. Roddick, M.P., considers the case a very serious one, especially when the patient has reached his 76th year. At noon the Chief Justice, Sir Alexander Lacoste, took his seat on the bench and discharged the jury which had been hearing the famous libel case. When the twelve men had been discharged they went to the accused Mr. Blackley and told him they had been unanimous for acquittal. It is needless to say that the event is the talk of the city, and the impression prevails that the case will never be re-tried. Col. Cooke, no doubt, will retire, and a new Crown prosecutor will be appointed.

Muddy Complexion.

Pale, sallow, yellow skin tells of a torpid, sluggish liver and impurities in the blood which will be entirely removed when Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are used. This great medicine awakens the action of the liver, invigorates the kidneys and regulates the bowels. As a result digestion is improved, bodily pains disappear and the health is benefitted in every way.

Served Year's Sentence.

St. Thomas, April 23.—William Charles King, the murderer of James William Freeman, the adopted son of W. D. Freeman of Aldborough, was yesterday released from jail, having served the year's sentence imposed by Justice Street. King, says Jailor Moore, has been an exemplary prisoner and a hard worker.

Re White Pigue.

Ottawa, April 23.—Dominion aid towards the establishment in each province of a sanitarium for the treatment of patients suffering from tuberculosis was asked for yesterday from the Prime Minister by an influential deputation of the medical profession, who were accompanied by many Senators and members of Parliament. Sir Wilfrid, in reply, said that the object they had in view was a most worthy one, but no matter how much he might be disposed to philanthropy he was restricted by the restrictions of the British North America Act. Hospitals were one of those things which were to be administered by the Province. However, he would report the matter to his colleagues, and obtain the opinion of the Minister of Justice.

REAL LIVE WAKE.

Latest Insurance Fraud Story Comes From Dublin, Ireland.

An amusing case was recently heard in the Dublin Police Court. A middle-aged woman, named Mary O'Neil, was charged with having obtained £8 by false pretences from the British Legal Life Assurance and Loan Company, (Limited). From the statement of Mr. Brady, prosecuting solicitor, it appeared that the accused induced a Mrs. Bridget Connell, who had an insurance policy with the company, to pretend she was dead. She was "laid out," with candles at the head and feet, and a "wake" was held. Mary O'Neil then went out, obtained a death certificate from a doctor, went to the Insurance Company, and was paid the £8 as next-of-kin of Bridget Connell. Subsequently, Bridget Connell, receiving none of the money, and hearing that Mary O'Neil was having "a high old time of it, driving about in a cab with a soldier and a coal-porter," got up, and went down to the Insurance Company, to ask them why they had paid her policy. She surprised the local manager of the company by saying, "I'm Bridget Connell, and not dead at all." On being put into the the witness-box, Mrs. Connell said she remembered being "laid out," but did not pretend to be dead.

Mr. Brady—There was a real live wake and a real live corpse, and there was plenty of porter?—Yes. They got in porter, and they got in another candle, and put it in a bottle. They were all dancing and "lepping" about the boards (laughter).

Did you get any of the porter?—Yes; I got a sup (laughter.)

Accused at this point exclaimed, "When we went to wash and lay her out she came to life again, and we all rushed out (laughter).

According to Detective Officer McCabe's statement, when he arrested Mrs. O'Neill she admitted that she got the money, and added, "My aunt was dead from seven o'clock in the morning (laughter). Mrs. Nolan then went to wash her, and she woke up (laughter), and we all got a great fright and ran out. 'Oh aunt,' I said, 'I received your Socity money, and I am going back with it.' She called me and told me to give it to her, as she was in debt. I then gave her the money—£7 17s. During the day she gave me 30s. for two shawls. She said she would buy an ass and cart with the remainder" (laughter.)

Perfect Handcuffs.

Scotland Yard detectives have for years been trying to get a really secure handcuff that would baffle even themselves or experts like Houdini to open without a key. It is well known that the Government regulation handcuff can be opened by most policemen and all habitual criminals by means of a trick. Mr. Nathaniel Hart, a Birmingham blacksmith has spent five years of night and day toil in making a pair of handcuffs that "no mortal man can escape from." In his early days Mr. Hart was employed in the manufacture of handcuffs. At the age of 30 he set up in business for himself as a blacksmith, but handcuffs, and how to manacle without a defect, have always had a fascination for him. Five years of his spare time has been devoted to the invention of a perfect handcuff. The great difficulty the maker of a handcuff has to contend with is that there is so little room in which a really powerful lock can be placed. Knowing this, Mr. Hart, after countless trials, has at length succeeded in constructing a lock which, when placed within the handcuff, even violent blows with a sledge-hammer can only bend; but cannot break asunder. This particular cuff is in the shape of a figure 8, with what may be roughly described as part of a rifle barrel attached. The lock is made of the finest steel, and is "a lock within a lock." It cannot be picked. The inventor cannot do it himself, and the key took him over a week to make.

Prices of Curios.

At a recent sale at Christie's, in London, of antique furniture, porcelains, etc., some of the prices were as follows: A Louis VI., carved and gilt sofa and four fauteuils, the seats, backs and arms covered with old tapestry worked into fables, in pink borders wreathed with flowers, $840; a Chippendale mahogany cabinet, with glazed folding doors, having carved interlaced beadings, enclosing shelves and small doors beneath, $750; a pair of Regence entre-deux commodes, inlaid tulip and king wood, with two doors, shaped fronts and splayed ends, mounted with winged caryatid figures at the corners and foliage borders of chased ormoulu, surmounted by veined red marble slabs, $685; an old Worcester oviform vase and cover, painted with flowers in Oriental taste on a dark blue ground, standing 10 inches, $100; an old Dresden vase and cover and a pair of beakers painted with Watteau figures on a gold ground and encrusted with trailing branches of forget-me-not blossom, the base being a la Louis XV., $215; and a complete Crown Derby dessert service, resplendent in gilt and beautiful blue, painted with groups of birds, $310.

How Russia Got Left.

It is related in London that Lord Selborne, first lord of the Admiralty, heard at a dinner party in London at the eleventh hour of the Russian intention to buy two Chilean warships. His Lordship went home by way of the Chilean Embassy and offered a few thousands more than the price named. The sale was effected then and there. So it happened that whereas Japan got two cruisers via the South American power Russia got none.

The Hippopotamus.

When first the Sudan was opened up it was thought desirable to impose a tax on any one killing a "hippo," but experience has shown that the "hippo" is unworthy of the care taken of him. He is most destructive. A bull hippopotamus will upset a small boat. The natives have a curious manner of killing a hippopotamus. They attack him with spears when he is in a sleepy condition in the river, and attached to the spear is a rope with a huge float at the end of it. This float hampers the movements of the unwieldy animal, and after several spears have been driven into him he is easily drawn to the bank and dispatched.—London Globe.

Living for years is well, but living each year well is better

Old age requires no pity when it is accompanied by good health. Eat proper food and you will not only live long but enjoy every year you live. It stands to reason that if you give the proper food in Nature's exact proportions to each element in your body they will always be healthy and vigorous. Now the whole wheat grain contains every element the body requires to build it up. The only foods in which you can get the whole of the wheat are

SHREDDED WHOLE WHEAT BISCUIT AND TRISCUIT

The Natural Foods

Shredded Whole Wheat Biscuit is easy of digestion, being light and porous, offering great surface for the action of the digestive fluids, thus shortening the time of digestion and resting the digestive organs.

Triscuit is the perfect substitute for imperfect white flour bread and crackers. It makes ideal toast.

EXCISEMAN BURNS.

The Way an Old Woman Outwitted the Scotch Poet.

A story is told about Burns in his capacity of exciseman. Old Jean Davidson kept a small whisky shop and was suspected of putting more fresh water into her liquor than was needful or lawful. Burns accordingly came with his apparatus and at once detected the irregularity. "Now, Jean, ma woman," he said, "I canna tak this to Dumfries this night; 'tis ower late. But I'll seal it wi' the king's seal and return to lift it in the mornin'." When he had gone to his lodging Jean fetched the village cooper, who removed a hoop from the barrel and bored a hole, through which the adulterated liquor was drawn off and stuff of regulation strength put in. Then the hoop was refixed, and Jean, with a brave heart, awaited the gauger. In the morning up came Burns to claim the keg. "One minute, Mr. Burns," said Jean sweetly. "Ye might jest test that whisky to convince me, since I canna see how I could have been makin' sic a mistake." "It means breaking the king's seal," said Burns, "but I'll just fix on another." So the sample was taken and tested and of course found to be all right. Burns was bewildered. "Was there aught wrang wi' me, Jean, last nicht?" he asked. "Weel, Mr. Burns, 'tis na for me to say. Weel, I just thocht ye were fully smert wi' your wee tester."

TORTOISE SHELL.

In Working It Gentle Heat and Pressure Are Mainly Used.

A tortoise shell is harder and more brittle than ordinary horn. Heat and pressure are practically the only means which can be employed in working it, and it is impossible to work tortoise shell at a great heat, since the coloring pigment easily liquefies and obscures the shell, thereby greatly lessening its value. Heavy pressure is also impossible owing to its brittle character.

The plates of the carapace, or back shell, are first separated from the skeleton by the application of gentle heat and then flattened by a similar process. The superficial irregularities are next rasped off, and the material is polished, ready for molding into any desired shape.

Larger or thicker plates are produced by a process which requires great care and attention. Two surfaces are first rasped and cleaned and are then gently heated and pressed together. The heat liquefies them, and the pressure effects a perfect union, making an invisible joint.

Tortoise shell combs are cut by the highly ingenious twinning machine, so called because two combs are cut from the same plate, so that the teeth of one dovetail into the spaces of the other, avoiding all waste.

Bells and Thunderstorms.

An instance of the absurdity of some of the notions held by our ancestors was the notion that the ringing of the church bells had a counteracting effect in a thunderstorm. It was supposed that the vibration of the air caused by the movement of the bells resulted in the dissipation of the electric fluid in the air. The belief was so common at one time that the bells were rung as soon as signs of an approaching thunderstorm were seen. Science now holds a contrary opinion. Not only does the sound have no possible effect on the air, but the vibration caused by the sound of a bell upon a cloud charged with electricity may cause it to discharge its contents upon the ringer of the bell in the church tower.

A Clergyman's Prayer.

An old clergyman in Maine in a dry season exchanged with a brother from the seacoast. The congregation was made up of men, half farmers and half fishermen, and the soil was sandy and poor, while his in the interior was fertile and rich. He opened his prayer as follows: "O Lord, I have been asked to pray for rain, and I do so, but thou knowest, O Lord, what this soil needs is dressing."

Sleeping in Japan.

The Japanese never sleep with the head to the north. This is because the dead in Japan are always buried with the head in that position. In the sleeping rooms of many of the private houses and of hotels a diagram of the points of the compass is posted upon the ceiling for the convenience of guests.

Enjoyed the Evening.

"Did you enjoy the evening of grand opera?"

"Did I!" answered Mr. Cumrox enthusiastically. "It was great. I sent mother and the girls there, dismissed all the servants and then went down and smoked a cigar right in the parlor."

FUNERAL OF LATE WM. BRECKENRIDGE.

A Respected Citizen was Honoured in Death by Many Friends.

The funeral of the late William Breckenridge, whose death occurred last Thursday, took place yesterday afternoon, when many hundreds of his friends gathered at the late home of the deceased to pay their respects to the departed. The funeral was a very large one, a testimony to the universal esteem in which the deceased was held during his 31 years residence in Peterborough.

The service at the house was conducted by Rev. J. G. Potter, of St. Andrew's church, of which the deceased was a consistent member. The speaker referred to the exemplary character of the departed member.

All the family were in attendance at the funeral, two sons, John and David of British Columbia, arriving Saturday night at midnight to learn for the first time that their father was dead.

The pall bearers were four sons, John, David, Matthew and William, and two nephews, Thomas Breckenridge, of Indian River, and Matthew, of Westwood.

The remains were interred in the Little Lake Cemetery, whither they were followed by a large number of the sorrowing friends.

FUNERAL OF THE LATE GEO. LIPSETT.

Held Sunday Afternoon to the Little Lake Cemetery.

The funeral of the late George Lipsett, who died on Friday last, was held yesterday afternoon at three o'clock. The cortege was a lengthy one and extended some blocks. The interment took place in the Little Lake Cemetery, and the burial service was conducted by Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, the deceased during his lifetime being a member of St. Luke's church. The funeral took place from the late residence of the deceased, the Maple Leaf Hotel, fifth ward. The pall bearers were W. Quinn, R. Sheridan, Wm. Scott, John Kylo, H. Morgan and W. Fitzgerald.

DEATH OCCURRED IN CONSTANTINE.

Mrs. Rice Record Whose Husband is Well Known Here, Deceased.

"Items," of Constantine, Mich., contains the following report of the death of Mrs. Rice Record, whose husband at one time lived in Ashburnham, and whose father now resides there:—

"Sarah McKee was born at Sumner, Clarion county, Pa., on June 8, 1849. She came to Michigan with her parents when quite young, when settled in Kent county. Later she came to Constantine, which was her home for a number of years. On January 12, 1879, she was united in marriage with Rice Record. They went to Caledonia, Kent county, Mich., which was thereafter her home.

"She was a good woman and practiced the greatest of all virtues — kindness, benevolence and helpfulness. During the year and a half preceding her death she was a great sufferer, but bore all with great fortitude. Her end was peaceful. Those who knew her best loved her most, and her friends were many.

"She left to mourn her loss a devoted husband, a loving daughter, three brothers and unnumbered friends.

"The funeral services were conducted at the home of her brother, Wm. McKee in Constantine, Wednesday afternoon, the Rev. B. F. Grenoble officiating. Interment was in the Constantine cemetery."

THE RESULT OF BREAKING A LAMP.

Boys in the Police Court this Morning Heavily Fined

Boys of all sizes invaded the police court this morning, as some of their number were in trouble. Ernest Lefevre, Jos. Vinnett, Wesley Flanery and Chas. Welsh were charged with breaking an electric light globe, the property of the Peterborough Light and Power Co., the offense being committed on April 15th. The lamp in question is near Auburn. All the boys pleaded guilty except Jos. Vinett, who was defended by Mr. R. F. McWilliams.

It was proved that Lefevre and Flanery broke the globe with stones on the date charged, while Welsh broke a part of it on the previous day. Vinette's innocence was established, and the charge against him was dismissed. Lefevre and Flanery were fined five dollars and costs, and were given ten days within which to pay the fine.

KICKED BY A HORSE: SHOULDER BLADE BROKEN.

An Accident to Mr. Murphy, Hostler at the Clunan House.

Mr. Murphy, hostler at the Clunan House, was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital on Saturday evening suffering from a compound injury of the shoulder. While in the act of feeding one of the horses in the hotel stable, the animal plunged out with his rear legs. One of the hoofs hit Murphy on the shoulder causing the injuries. Dr. McNulty was called and immediately ordered the injured man to be taken to the hospital for treatment. This afternoon Murphy was doing well and resting comfortably.

DANGER OF GAS WORKS.

A Resident of the Vicinity Writes Making a Complaint.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—I wish to call the attention of the Mayor and Aldermen to the danger to life and property in the present situation of the gas works—scarcely a stone's throw from the heart of the town. On Sunday morning a fire broke out in the works and it is not hard to imagine what would have been the result if it had not been discovered in time. Now this nuisance as well as menace has been borne long enough by those living in the neighbourhood of it. If the gentlemen who make up the next deputation to go abroad to see wherein our town may be improved will note the situation of the gas works, I venture to say that in no city in Canada nor in any other country will they be found in the centre of the town. Something should be done to remove the existing danger. Hoping that an investigation will be made and the grievance rectified, I remain,

ONE IN THE VICINITY.

CHURCH CHIMES.

ALL SAINTS' CHURCH.

Notwithstanding the rainy weather of the morning and threatening aspect in the evening, each service yesterday was fully attended and the attendants treated to an excellent sermon on each occasion. The preacher, Rev. W. Major, took as his morning text, 21 chapter St. John, 18th and 19th verses; and in the evening, 16th chapter St. Luke, 8th verse. During the offertory at evening service the choir rendered the Anthem, "Break Forth into Joy," the tenor and bass solos being taken by Mr. Allen and Rev. Mr. Major, respectively.

SPECIAL MEETING COUNTY COUNCIL.

Will be Held on Wednesday to Receive Auditors' Report.

A special meeting of the County Council has been called for Wednesday, to receive the report of the special committee appointed to audit the books. It is understood that the report which will be presented will show several discrepancies. It is also expected that the date for the election of a successor to the late Mr. Crowe for the county district including Dummer, Douro and Lakefield will be set.

WERE WEDDED IN ROCHESTER.

Miss Babbage Became Wife of Mr. Wm. Louis Smyth.

The marriage of Miss Ettie Jane Babbage and Mr. William Louis Smyth, was solemnized on Thursday evening, April 21st, at Rochester, N. Y. The bride was attended by Miss Nellie G. Stottle, Miss Muriel W. Handy, and Miss Elma M. Handy, the two latter being cousins of the bride.

The groom was attended by his brother, Mr. George H. Smyth, of Peterborough, Ont., the groom's former home.

The bride was gowned in white silk voile over white silk and carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses.

The bridesmaids wore white dotted maul and carried a shower bouquet of pink roses. The children, Muriel and Elma, gowned in Persian lawn with pink sashes and hair ribbons, each carried baskets of pink and white. The ceremony took place in the parlour, in front of a bank of palms, with white altar, decorated with smilax. Supper was served at nine o'clock. The bride's table, laid for fourteen, was decorated in pink and white. Several smaller tables were set for friends and relatives.

The presents were many and very costly. Friends and relatives from out of town were well represented.

After the first of May they will be at home at No. 12 Bloss street, Rochester, which has been furnished very beautifully. The music was supplied by the best musicians in the city, Prof. Fisher, and Shank, violinist.

THOS. WEBSTER FOR COUNTY COUNCIL.

He Will Contest the Vacancy Made by Death of Ex Warden Crowe.

Mr. Thos. Webster of South Dummer, has signified his intention of contesting the vacancy made at the contesting the vacancy made in the late ex-warden Richard Crowe. Mr. Webster is a popular man, and the general opinion seems to be that he will be elected by acclamation. His experience in municipal matters is a long one, and he has been a member of the Dummer township council for seventeen years. In politics Mr. Webster is a Liberal.

Other names however are spoken of and there may be a contest.

TO ESTABLISH A PETERBOROUGH COT.

As an Adjunct to the Children's Shelter.

Sheriff Hall has kindly consented to give "An Evening with the Poets," for the benefit of the Children's Aid society at a near date in the future. The Society intends to establish a fund for the endowment of a Peterborough Cot in the Sick Children's Hospital, Toronto. A cot in some hospital where children who are in need of medical attention, is very badly needed, as an adjunct to the Shelter. There is a little boy who will have to remain in the Shelter for about 8 months before he can be operated upon, and if this Peterborough Cot were already in existence he could be sent there for treatment. In this way those in charge of the Shelter would be relieved a cause of great worry and anxiety. The Shelter was never intended to be used for this purpose, and no doubt the public will be glad to assist in the establishment of a fund for this worthy object, the expense of which will, after all, not be very great, and the benefits will be many.

The Y.M.C.A. has kindly offered the use of their hall and the Sheriff who will be assisted by local musical talent, will no doubt provide an evening of enjoyment.

MME. CURIE AT HOME.

Sketch of the Womanly Woman Who Discovered Radium—The Right Sort of a Helpmate.

Seldom has anything more touching been written than the account of the man who first interviewed M. and Mme. Curie. Every woman, worthy the name of woman, must feel a throb of pride at the part one of her sex has played in the discovery of radium, whose properties seem to encroach upon the wonderland of miracles.

Mme. Curie, then Mlle. Sklodowska, came to Paris, from Warsaw, for she is a Pole, to study chemistry. She was too poor to matriculate at the school of the faculty and went to learn at a municipal working class institute where M. Curie directed the laboratory. He, struck by her ability, offered her a position, without salary, as assistant. Later she may be said to have continued the position as his wife, and they now have one little daughter, who, if heredity counts, should be heard of later. The interviewer found them in a tumble-down laboratory, in an out-of-the-way, slummy district. M. Curie, a mild, meek, middle-aged man, took a guileless pride in relating the share his wife had in the discovery of radium. "It was she who struck that vein. She jumped to the conclusion, on being shown a morsel of uranium, that it contained another rarer metal or metals."

To carry on their researches they denied themselves all but the barest necessaries of life. M. Curie remarking, in a melancholy tone, "I spent another 5,000 francs in researches." This implied a tremendous sacrifice for the couple, a sacrifice of which Mme. Curie approved, saying: "Sincere work like ours was never yet thrown away." The right sort of help-mate! She is described as utterly without social ambition, "a thoughtful, sterling and quietly determined person, untainted by vanity or blue-stockingism. Her complexion is that of the dingy blonde, who has long known privations, and has often not been able to dine according to her appetite or warm herself at a good fire." One hopes that the evil days are past and that this gifted couple may be enabled to continue their work unhampered by want of funds.

New Lacrosse League Was Organized—Annual Meeting of Midland Baseball League—Other Sporting Notes.

PETERBOROUGH HAD THEIR FIRST PRACTICE.

Team this Year will be a Fast Aggregation.

A Good Bunch of Players Has Been Gathered by Manager Whiteroft Competition for Places on the Team.

That the Peterborough Baseball Team will be strong this year, no one who saw their work on Saturday afternoon in their initial practice will doubt. Eighteen men were on the diamond, and a good practice was held. Manager Whiteroft is immensely pleased with the form shown by all the players, and the good sized crowd of fans who witnessed the practice game are enthusiastic already with the prospects for fast ball this season.

Flaherty, who will remain with the Peterboroughs this season, pitched for one of the teams on Saturday, and his arm has lost none of its cunning. He will be the star twirler of the league this year, as he was the best in the district last year.

For the first practice the men did remarkable work, and when the season opens they will be in the pink of condition to give good accounts of themselves.

Manager Whiteroft was on the ground superintending the work of the men, and anticipates some difficulty in choosing his team as the men are all showing up so well.

He has enough men on his list to fill each position twice over, and there will be some warm competition for the places on the team.

Probably give the Toronto University nine a game on June 4th here. This team is making a tour of Canada and the United States, and the game if it is arranged, will be a fast one.

FOOTBALL.

If anyone is skeptical enough to doubt the popularity of football, the fact that nearly 70,000 spectators witnessed the semi-final ties on Saturday and paid £2,786 for the pleasure, ought surely to convert him. Some equally convincing figures were published a few months ago in connection with the Christmas matches, when Sheffield United reaped £2,434 from the 84,632 people who visited the Bramall Lane grounds. Manchester City drew 77,000 spectators, and a gate of £2,030, and Sunderland and Bury together entertained 66,600 visitors, and added £2,196 to their exchequers." The figures show conclusively what an eventually popular game football has become, without appealing to the final matches, which within the last seven years have drawn crowds ranging from 66,000 to 115,000 persons to the Crystal Palace. And yet only 32 years ago the North British Mail, describing an international match played at Partrick declared that it was played "in the presence of the largest assemblage ever at any football match in Scotland, there being close on 4,000 spectators, including a number of ladies."—Westminster Gazette.

SILVER CUP FOR T. A. S. WINNER.

Arrangements for Annual Field Day of Sports on May 24th.

The Sports Committee of the T.A.S met Saturday night to complete arrangements for the Field Day of Sports on May 24th. A programme of 12 events was drawn up, and from present indications the day's sport will be a most successful one. Silver medals will be given the winners of the different events.

The Committee will recommend to the Society that a cup, to be known as the "T. A. S. Trophy" be procured and given annually to the member of the society making the highest number of points at the annual Field Day. This is done with the object of encouraging all-round sport among the members of the organization.

It is probable that a lacrosse match between Hastings and the T. A.S. teams will be played during the afternoon. This will practically open the lacrosse season in Peterborough, and doubtless the game will create considerable interest in view of the fact that both teams have designs on the Trent Valley League championship.

The programme of events as arranged are as follows:—

Running, hop, step and jump.
Vaulting with pole.
100 yards' dash.
Running high jump.
220 yards' dash.
Running broad jump.
Standing high jump.
100 yards' dash—Junior T.A.S.
200 yards' dash—Junior T.A.S.
100 yards' hurdle race.
Putting shot.
Throwing hammer.

Messrs. John O'Brien and T. J. Begley have been elected chairman and secretary, respectively, of the Committee in charge of the Field Day.

A Mother's Recommendation.

I have used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for a number of years, and have no hesitancy in saying that it is the best remdy for coughs, colds, and croup that I have ever used in my family. AN IMPOSING SPECTACLE.

The Opening of the Supreme Court of the United States.

As the hands of the clock point to 12 the crier of the supreme court of the United States raps with his gavel, the murmur of conversation ceases, and attorneys, court officials and visitors rise while the crier slowly announces. "The honorable the chief justice and the associate justices of the supreme court of the United States." Robed in black silk gowns, they walk with slow and dignified steps toward the bench, and as the chief justice appears at the entrance at the rear they slowly proceed to their seats. As they do the crier cries: "Oyez, oyez, oyez! All persons having business before the honorable the chief justice and the associate justices of the supreme court of the United States are admonished to draw near and give their attention, for the court is now sitting. God save the government of the United States and this honorable court."

It is an imposing and inspiring spectacle, the mere witnessing of which increases the red corpuscles of one's patriotism. No man entering that dome-like courtroom may wear his overcoat. No member of its bar may appear before it in a coat of any color other than black. Such is the dignity and impressiveness of that tribunal that men to whom embarrassment has long been a stranger evidence the renewal of their acquaintance with it by a stammering speech, a quickened breath, a nervous manner, when addressing the court.

WHAT MICROBES ARE.

How They Multiply and How Nature Keeps Them Within Bounds.

Since Pasteur demonstrated the fact that many human diseases are due to minute living things which grow and multiply in our bodies there has been a tendency to call all microscopic organisms, whether harmful or not, "germs" or "microbes" or "bacteria" indiscriminately. This confusion may be cleared by the statement that protozoa are the lowest known forms of animals and that bacteria are the lowest known forms of plants, while "germs" and "microbes" may apply to the disease causing forms in either group.

In our laboratories, under suitable conditions of food and warmth, a bacillus splits in half an hour into two parts, each of which splits again in half an hour, and so on, and it has been estimated that a single bacillus, if given similar conditions in nature, would within a week give rise to progeny numerous enough to fill the Atlantic ocean. Such overbalancing is largely prevented by the protozoa, which feed upon the bacteria, increasing as they increase and decreasing as this food supply gives out. The protozoa in turn are eaten by animals like the worms and shellfish, these by others, and so on, the balance of nature being so delicate that no form increases disproportionately for any length of time, although, like the locust plague or the California fruit tree scale or the gypsy moth, some forms may occasionally predominate.—Gary N. RIGHT FOOTED PERSONS.

A Shoe Dealer Says They Are In the Vast Majority.

"Did you ever notice that people are right footed?" asked the proprietor of a shoe store. "Watch my clerks, and you will see that invariably customers will put out their right foot when going to be fitted. Now watch that corpulent woman going to sit down over there."

The woman with great weight of body took a seat, lifted her curtain of black veiling, and, as the clerk approached her, she poked her right foot from beneath an expanse of skirt.

"It's always the case, and I don't believe I ever knew it to fail. The shoe manufacturers evidently are wise to this fact, as in the cartons the right shoe is always packed on top. Once I had a lot of shoes come to me with the left shoe on top, and it caused me such annoyance that I wrote to the manufacturer, calling his attention to the matter so that it wouldn't happen again. The majority of people are right handed, yet a left handed person has the right foot habit. The right hand is larger than the left, as it is used more and consequently develops the muscles to a greater extent. On the other hand, the left foot is larger than the right in most persons. The difference is so slight that we seldom have trouble in fitting shoes, however. It is the left shoe that wears out before the right, and probably for this reason."—Shoe Retailer.

Why Stammerers Are Able to Sing.

Stammering depends on a want of harmony between the action of the muscles (chiefly abdominal) which expel air through the larynx and that of the muscles which guard the orifice by which it escapes with that of those which modulate the sound to the form of speech. Over either of the groups of muscles by itself a stammerer may have as much power as other people, but he cannot harmoniously arrange their conjoint action. Nervousness is a frequent cause of stammering. It is possible that the defect in some instances may result from malformation of the parts about the back of the mouth. The fact that stammering people are able to sing their words better than to speak them has been usually explained on the supposition that in singing the glottis is kept open so that there is less liability to spasmodic action.

THE KAISER ALMOST HIMSELF.

His Keen Appreciation of the Character of American Tuft Hunters.

The swing around the Mediterranean circle taken by the Kaiser seems to have had the desired results in bringing back his usual health and vigor. He was so pleased with the trip and the way it was managed by the North German Lloyd Steamship Company that he sent a telegram from Naples to the manager of the company at Berlin, expressing his thanks. As a mark of His Majesty's appreciation of the comfort and service on board the Koenig Albert the Emperor decorated members of the crew, and in recognition of the arrangement of the company he conferred the order of the Red Eagle of the second class upon Dr. Wiegand, general manager of the company, and President Plato of the North German Lloyd Company. As a further evidence that the Kaiser is himself again it is said that on leaving the steamship at Naples he asked if his state cabins would be left as he had occupied them. On the captain answering his question in the negative Emperor William said:

"Oh, that is a great mistake. I am sure lots of Americans would pay any sum to live in the cabins occupied by me."

A VAST CATHEDRAL.

State's Modern Palace Which Will Adorn the British Seaport City of Liverpool. Its Magnificent Proportions.

From the first moment of its existence as a separate province Liverpool has grown at a rapid rate, and the increase of population and wealth has kept pace with the growth of the port. Liverpool, which stands [illegible] Street and Canada Dock [illegible] one duty for the diocese as [illegible] although it has some [illegible] population of a new cathedral was brought forward and discussed. For reasons which were many and [illegible] however, nothing definite was arrived at until about two years and a half ago, when a public meeting of the diocese was held in the Liverpool Town Hall, at which a resolution was passed recommending the Lord Bishop to adopt the site of St. James' Mount for the erection of a suitable cathedral church, and a representative committee, with Lord Derby as chairman, was appointed to give effect to the resolution.

As the result of negotiation with the City Corporation, the whole of St. James' Mount and gardens and St. James' Walk—a space 1,020 feet in length and 248 feet in its greatest width—was purchased for the sum of £11,300, and designs for the edifice were advertised for. A number of well-known architects submitted drawings, and in the end Mr. Bodley, R. A., and Mr. G. Gilbert Scott were appointed joint architects to the scheme.

The ground occupied by the cathedral, with chapter house and mourning chapel of the cathedral, will be 581 feet long. The nave up to the "crossing" of the transepts, measured internally, will be 192 feet long, or up to the entrance of the choir 240 feet. The width of the nave between the centres of the piers will be 53 feet 6 inches. The towers will be 65 feet square, rising to 260 feet above floor level, or 275 feet above St. James' road. Perhaps the most remarkable and striking feature of the cathedral will be the height of the vaulting of the nave and choir—measured to the barrel vaulting, 116 feet, and into the high transepts, 110 feet—which cannot fail to produce a very magnificent effect.

No cathedral in the country approaches this height. The cathedral will afford seat room in the portion to be first completed—the choir and central space—for about 3,500 persons, and the entire building could, when finished, accommodate 8,000. The most striking and original architectural features of the elevation are the high transepts, which are carried up to the full height of the nave and choir; these break up the length of the building, and impart to it a massiveness so often absent in buildings of Gothic character.

When completed, the cathedral, standing 155 feet above the river, will form a striking landmark for all vessels approaching the mouth of the Mersey, and its two great towers; by far the highest objects in the city, will rear their lofty heads 415 feet above the level of the sea. Both by the magnificence of its proportions and the excellence and originality of the design selected, the sacred edifice will rank amongst the great cathedrals of England, while its vast height and lofty cross transepts will mark it as one of the most imposing buildings in Europe.

Two Gladstone Stories.

Sir Horace Rumbold has brought out another volume based on his entertaining diaries, entitled "Further Recollections of a Diplomatist." His relation begins with the year 1873, when he went as Minister to Chili and had charge of the Tacna affairs, and comes down to 1885. Some of the best stories in the volume he got from Lady Marian Alford, who seems to have taken pleasure in placing Gladstone in a ridiculous light. Thus she tells how on one occasion she met the Gladstones at Ford Castle, and went on with Mrs. Gladstone to her country estate. The tenants were on the lookout for her, and made affectionate demonstrations as she drove by, whereat, unconscious, Mrs. Gladstone exclaimed: "They think William is in the carriage." The rest of the story is connected with Count Hubner, the Austrian diplomatist, and goes back to the time when Gladstone had made himself very unpopular at Vienna by his "Hands off, Austria," speech.

During this same tour Lady Marian had met Hubner, who was on his way to Raby Castle like herself, and traveled with him as far as Darlington, where they had to wait a couple of hours before continuing their journey. They went to an inn in the town for lunch, and thence back to the station in the hotel omnibus. There were other passengers in this "bus," one of whom, after gazing intently on Hubner, said: "I believe I have the privilege of being seated in the same conveyance with Mr. Gladstone!" to which Hubner replied by a contemptuous grunt and shrug, and, letting down the glass behind him, thrust his elbow out, and deliberately looked out of the window till the station was reached. "What did you do that for?" asked Lady Marian as they got out. "Well," he replied, "I hope I have succeeded in making Mr. Gladstone thoroughly unpopular in Darlington!"

A Typical English Girl.

Richard le Gallienne has no great love for the typical English girl. In his picturesque, vivid way he described her one night at the Lambs Club in New York. Finally he said:

"I was walking down an English lane with an English girl on an August afternoon. The sun shone through a soft haze, and in the green fields many white lambs played.

"'Is it any wonder,' I said, 'that poets from time immemorial have made the lamb the emblem of innocence?'

The young girl smiled radiantly.

"'Lambs,' she said, 'are indeed delightful animals, especially with mint sauce.'"

Some Old Style Hats.

The gold laced cocked hat was largely used in 1778 not only on account of its military look, but because it probably protected the wearer from seizure by the press gangs, which were at that time more than usually active. The flat, folding, crescent shaped beaver known as the cocked hat was still to be seen as late as 1818.

Sunlight Soap is recommended, by those who have investigated the different kind of soaps, as being the best and purest on the market. Those who have gone still farther and tried the different methods state that the Sunlight way of washing is greatly superior to ordinary methods because it requires much less work and makes the clothes whiter and cleaner. Because Sunlight Soap is quite pure and free from adulteration it will not injure delicate fabrics or the user's hands.

PHARAOH'S LAND

Britain's New Deal for a Free Hand in Egypt—Last French Pretention Is Now Extinguished.

Egypt has just entered a new phase of its long history. By the Anglo-French settlement the last French pretension over Egypt has been extinguished. Great Britain has now a free hand in the land of the buried Pharaohs, the eternal pyramids and the silent sphinxes. This means to Egypt property, and to British interests security.

There never was a country that occupied such an extraordinary position as Egypt has done for years. Its complications are almost bewildering. The country is a vassal State of the Sultan of Turkey. Its obligation to Turkey consists of an annual payment of about $3,500,000. The Khedive of Egypt is hemmed in as is no other sovereign in the world. He cannot negotiate a loan without the consent of Turkey. He cannot negotiate a treaty that conflicts with Turkish interests. He is not allowed to build an ironclad, and his army is restricted to 18,000 in times of peace. His Majesty has a distinguished visitor, the British Agent, whose advice he must follow in all public matters. Lord Cromer sits at the right hand of the Khedive and tells him what to do. Failure to obey would mean prompt dethronement. Up till a few days ago Great Britain could not advise any public work, and could not add a new charge to the revenues without the consent of France. Thus the nominal ruler of Egypt is a nominal vassal of a sovereign, while Great Britain is the practical administrator of the country.

All this has come about in a gradual and natural manner. With the story of the financial embarrassment of Egypt the world is quite familiar. There had been a carnival of extravagance under Ismail Pasha. In twelve or thirteen years a debt of $16,000,000 had been increased to $500,000,000. Much of the money had been recklessly squandered. A great deal of it had never found its way into the public treasury. Enormous rates of interest were paid. The burden was greater than the country could bear. Interest on the bonds was not paid.

England and France were appointed receivers for the bankrupt country. They sent representatives, who endeavored to restore order in the financial chaos. But their work was not appreciated by the Egyptians. A rebellion was started by Arabi Pasha. When hostilities began France declined to take up arms and fight for the dual control. England then told France to stand aside while it cleared the decks for action. The bombardment of Alexandria and the capture of Tel-el-Kebir decided for British supremacy. After the rebellion was over the dual control was at an end, and England did not ask France to resume the position it had voluntarily surrendered.

France still retained, however, a financial veto. Any new expenditure, such as the construction of a new canal, or an extension of the system of irrigation, must have the approval of France before it can be made a charge upon the revenues. This has proven the chief embarrassment of the British control. It took three years to get the consent of France to the abolition of forced labor by the Egyptian peasants on public works. An ancient law entitled the Khedive to compel the fellah to work on any public undertaking. This was nothing less than slavery. To abolish the system and substitute free labor meant an outlay of $2,000,000 a year. But England insisted, and after much delay France consented. At every opportunity France has insisted upon the British evacuation of Egypt. It has been drilled into the Egyptians that if they were free France would be their all-sufficient ally. And the French people have been taught to believe that Egypt with its storied wealth has been filched from them by "Perfidious Albion." So Egypt has been a lasting grievance. Yet Great Britain shows no disposition to release her grip. When the country first passed under British control only a temporary occupation was contemplated. But responsibilities have grown up.

All the world concedes that British rule has worked wonders for Egypt. It has, in the first place, restored national credit. Egypt is no longer a defaulter. Its obligations are regularly met, and its Government possesses ample funds. Another effect of British rule has been the suppression to a very large extent of official corruption. Under previous regimes nothing was done without a bribe. Justice was bought and sold. Criminals purchased their acquittal. Government officials levied blackmail on merchants. Corruption was rampant. In twenty years Lord Cromer has given Egypt a condition of administration worthy of any European State, and superior to that of many. This has not been accomplished without great firmness and splendid executive ability. The master British Agent has had to compel the Khedive in spite of himself to dismiss unworthy Ministers. He has had to run the risk of assassination on the part of those whose perquisites he has abolished. Many have been the plots to kill Lord Cromer, but they have been so invariably frustrated that it is now currently believed that he bears a charmed life. To-day he can walk the streets of Cairo as safely as those of London.

But the greatest work of Great Britain has been the restoration of prosperity to the masses of the people. Freed from oppression, relieved of taxation, and assisted in their undertakings, the Egyptians are now contented. The Nile has been brought under control, so that there is a regular supply of water for the purpose of irrigation. Egypt has been won back from the encroaching desert. Even France has been convinced that British rule in Pharaoh's Land is a thing to be tolerated. And what does England gain by all this sacrifice? It has at best secured entrance to a market which it has now thrown open to all the world.

BLOWING HOT AND COLD.

How Iron and Steel In Losing Heat Rise In Temperature.

The phenomenon of a substance rising in temperture while losing heat, known as "recalescence," which was first observed by Professor Barrett and investigated by Dr. Hopkinson, has been noticed in the case of iron at a high temperature. A piece of iron was heated to about 800 degrees C. and then allowed to cool slowly. At this temperature it is bright red, but on cooling to about 785 degrees C. a sudden disengagement of heat takes place, the iron rises in temperature and glows with a brighter red.

This phenomenon was investigated more accurately by Hopkinson in the case of steel. Round a bar of this metal he wound a coil of copper wire insulated with asbestus and jacketed with layers of asbestus paper. The temperature of the wire was followed during the experiment by connecting the coil to a Wheatstone's bridge to find the variation in its resistance and from this the variation in temperature. The steel bar was then heated bright red in a furnace and allowed to cool. The temperature fell regularly to 680 degrees C., then rose to 712 degrees C., when it again diminished.

COAL TAR PRODUCTS.

Some of the Things We Get From This One Time Nuisance.

When coal gas was first introduced as an illuminant for large towns the tar which is condensed from the gas was looked upon as a nuisance. However, chemists discovered that coal tar was an exceedingly complicated compound and lent itself admirably to the production of a great number of useful chemicals. So we find today that all the various brilliant and beautiful dyes employed for coloring various kinds of fabrics are produced from this substance.

Coal tar also furnishes the basis for several kinds of medicines, such as trional, sulphonal and so on. Saccharine, which is a substitute for sugar, is also made from coal tar. Carbolic acid (phenol), the most important and best known antiseptic and disinfectant, is a product of coal tar. Benzol, a clear and colorless liquid resembling alcohol to some extent, is another distillate which is employed for removing grease spots.

Then we have naphthalene, a substance which to some extent resembles camphor and is employed, like camphor, to protect woolen fabrics from moths.

BANNS OF MARRIAGE.

A Custom That Dates Back to the Primitive Christian Church.

The custom of publishing the banns of marriage dates back to the primitive church, for Tertullian, who died A. D. 240, states that warning of intended marriages was given among the early Christians.

It appears that the publication of banns was habitual in many places long before there was any general law on the subject, since Gregory IV. (1198-1216) speaks of the banns (from Latin bannum, a proclamation; Anglo-Saxon, ban) being given out in church, according to custom. The practice was introduced into France about the ninth century and in 1176 was enforced in the diocese of Paris.

The earliest enactment on the subject in England was an order made in the synod of Westminster in 1200 to the effect that no marriage should be celebrated till the banns had been published in the church on three several Sundays or feast days. This rule was made obligatory throughout the church by the fourth Lateran council held in Rome in 1215. By act of parliament banns must now be given out in England on three Sundays.—London Answers.

THE MAGNOLIA.

In the Himalayas Are Found the Most Magnificent Specimens.

The magnolia, so called from Pierre Magnol, professor of botany at Montpellier in the seventeenth century, is a genus embracing fourteen species of remarkably handsome shrubs deliciously scented and far more hardy than is commonly supposed. They are very widely distributed in China, Japan and the Himalayas and in Mexico and the United States.

The old world species seem to have been the earliest cultivated, the Chinese preserving the buds as well as using them medicinally and to season their rice. The purple flowered Japanese plant was discovered by Kœmpfer in 1600 and introduced into England in 1709. The Himalayas possess three varieties, among them the most magnificent of all, Magnolia Campbelli, a conspicuous object in the scenery of Darjeeling, eighty feet high, twelve feet in girth, with flowers ten inches across.

North America has given many distinct varieties, among them the cucumber or umbrella tree, the beaver tree and the favorite Magnolia grandiflora.

Britain's Railway Men

The railway companies of England and Wales employ between them 312,000 men. The Scotch and Irish companies employ 40,000 men. The railways of the world give employment to something like 6,600,000 persons.

Badly Disfigured By Violent Eczema.

A Chronic Case Which Defied Doctor's Skill was Permanently Cured Seven Years Ago by

Dr. Chase's Ointment.

Once eczema becomes chronic it is most difficult to cure, and many people after doctoring for a time give up in despair.

It is to the discouraged ones especially that we would introduce Dr. Chase's Ointment, knowing from experience with hundreds of severe cases that it will positively effect a lasting cure.

Mr. Oakley W. Beamer, Boyle, Ont., states:—"For two years prior to 1897 I suffered from Eczema in a violent form. I was perfectly disfigured about the face and head, and was in great misery day and night. Though I tried many remedies and the best doctors, I steadily became worse, and was finally prevailed upon by friends to use Dr. Chase's Ointment.

"Five boxes of this golden remedy perfectly cured me. I shall always recommend this Ointment, and often think that if I was a "Carnegie" my first move would be to purchase a million boxes of Dr. Chase's Ointment and send it free to the afflicted all over the land. It is six years since I was cured, and the cure is therefore a permanent one."

Dr. Chase's Ointment has a record of cures unparalleled in the history of medicine; 60 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

To protect you against imitations the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, are on every box. 6

Purified by Suffering

BY MARY J. HOLMES.

Bell knew by the curl of his lip that he was teasing her, and she answered laughingly:

"Wooden pins and crutches will be all the fashion when the war is over—badges of honor of which any woman might be proud."

"Well, Bell," he replied, "I am afraid there is no such honor in store for my wife, for if I ever get back my strength and the flesh upon my bones, she must take me with legs and arms included. Not even a scratch or wound of any kind with which to awaken sympathy."

He appeared very bright and cheerful, but when after a moment Bell asked for Mark Ray, there came a shadow over his face, and with quivering lips he told a tale which blanched Bell's cheek, and made her shiver with pain and dread as she thought of Helen—for Mark was dead—shot down as he attempted to escape from the train which took them from one prison to another. He was always devising means of escape, succeeding several times, but was immediately captured and brought back or sent to some closer quarter, Robert said; but his courage never deserted him, or his spirits either. He was the life of them all, and by his presence kept many a poor fellow from dying of homesickness and despair. But he was dead: there could be no mistake, for Robert saw him when he jumped, heard the ball which went whizzing after him, saw him as he fell on the open field, saw a man from a rude dwelling near by go hurriedly towards him, firing his own revolver, as if to make the death deed doubly sure. Then as the train slacked its speed, with a view, perhaps, to take the body on board, he heard the man who had reached Mark, and was bending over him, call out "Go on, I'll tend to him, the bullet went right through here," and he turned the dead man's face towards the tram, so all could see the blood pouring from the temple which the finger of the ruffian touched.

"Oh, Helen! poor Helen! how can I tell her, when she loved him so much!" Bell sobbed.

"You will do it better than any one else," Bob said. "You will be very tender with her; and, Bell, tell her, as some consolation, that he did not break with the treatment, as most of us wretches did; he kept up wonderfully—said he was perfectly well—and, indeed, he looked so. Tom Tubbs, who was his shadow, clinging to him with wonderful fidelity, will corroborate what I have said. He was with us; he saw him, and only animal force prevented him from leaping from the car and going to him where he fell. I shall never forget his shriek of agony at the sight of that blood-stained face, turned an instant towards us."

"Don't, don't!" Bell cried again; "I can't endure it!" and as Mrs. Reynolds came in she left her lover and started for Mrs. Banker's, meeting on the steps Tom Tubbs himself, who had come on an errand similar to her own.

"Sit here in the hall a moment," she said to him, as the servant admitted them both. "I must see Mrs. Ray first."

Helen was reading to her mother-in-law, but she laid down her book and came to welcome Bell, detecting at once the agitation in her manner, and asking if she had bad news from Robert.

"No, Robert is at home: I have just come from there, and he told me—oh! Helen, can you bear it?—Mark is dead—shot twice as he jumped from the train taking him to another prison. Robert saw it and knew that he was dead."

Bell could get no further, for Helen, who had never fainted in her life, did so now, lying senseless so long that the physician began to think it would be a mercy if she never came back to life, for her reason, he fancied, had fled. But Helen did come back to life, with reason unimpaired, and insisted upon hearing every detail of the dreadful story, both from Bell and Tom. The latter confirmed all Lieutenant Reynolds had said, besides adding many items of his own. Mark was dead, there could be no doubt of it, but with the tenacity of a strong hopeful nature, the mother clung to the illusion that possibly the ball stunned, instead of killing—that he would yet come back; and many a time as the days went by, that mother started at the step upon the walk, or ring of the bell which she fancied might be his, hearing him sometimes calling in the night storm for her to let him in, and hurrying down to the door only to be disappointed, and go back to her lonely room to weep the dark night through.

With Helen there were no such illusions. After talking calmly and rationally with both Robert and Tom, she knew her husband was dead, and never watched and waited for him as his mother did. She had heard from Mark's companions in suffering all they had to tell, of his captivity and his love for her which manifested itself in so many different ways. Passionately she had wept over the tress of faded hair which Tom Tubbs brought to her, saying: "He cut it from his head just before we left the prison, and told me if he never got home and I did, to give the lock to you, and say that all was well between him and God—that your prayers had saved him. He wanted you to know that, because, he said, it would comfort you most of all."

And it did comfort her when she looked up at the clear wintry heavens and thought that her lost one was there. It was her first real trial, and it crushed her with its magnitude, so that she could not submit at once, and many a cry of desolate agony broke the silence of her room, where the whole night through she sat musing of the past, and raining kisses upon the little lock of hair which from the Southern prison had come to her, sole relic of the husband so dearly loved and truly mourned. How faded it was from the rich brown she remembered so well, and Helen gazing at it could realize in part the suffering and want which had worn so many precious lives away. It was strange she never dreamed of him. She often prayed that she might, so as to drive from her mind, if possible, the picture of the prostrate form upon the low, damp field, and the blood-stained face turned in its mortal agony towards the southern sky and the pitiless foe above it. So she always saw him, shuddering as she wondered if the foe had buried him decently or left his bones to bleach upon the open plain.

CHAPTER L.

Those first warm days of March, 1865, when spring and summer seemed to kiss each other and join hands for a brief space of time, how balmy, how still, how pleasant they were, and how bright the farm-house looked, where preparations for Katy's second bridal were going rapidly forward. Aunt Betsy was in her element, for now had come the reality of the vision she had seen so long, of house turned upside down in one grand onslaught of suds and sand. Then, righted again by magic power, and smelling very sweet and clean from its recent ablutions—of turkeys dying in the barn, of chickens in the shed, of loaves of frosted cake, with cards and cards of snowy biscuit piled upon the pantry shelf—of jellies, tarts, and chicken salad—of home-made wine, and home-brewed beer, with tea and coffee portioned out and ready for the evening.

In the dining room the table was set with the new China ware and silver, a joint Christmas gift from Helen and Katy to their good Aunt Hannah, as real mistress of the house.

"Not plated ware, but the genuine article," Aunt Betsy had explained at least twenty times to those who came to see the silver, and she handled it proudly now as she took it from the flannel bags in which Mrs. Deacon Bannister said it must be kept, and placed it on a side table.

The coffee-urn was Katy's, so was the tea-kettle and the massive pitcher, but the rest was "ours," Aunt Betsy complacently reflected as she contemplated the glittering array, and then hurried off to see what was burning on the stove, stumbling over Morris as she went, and telling him "he had come too soon—it was not fittin' for him to be there under foot until he was wanted."

Without replying directly to Aunt Betsy, Morris knocked with a vast amount of assurance at a side-door, which opened directly, and Katy's glowing face looked out, and Katy's voice was heard, saying joyfully:

"Oh, Morris, it's you. I'm so glad you've come, for I wanted ——"

But what she wanted was lost to Aunt Betsy by the closing of the door, and Morris and Katy were alone in the little sewing room where latterly they had passed so many quiet hours together, and where lay the bridal dress with its chaste and simple decorations. Katy had clung tenaciously to her mourning robe, asking if she might wear black, as ladies sometimes did. But Morris had promptly answered no. His bride, if she came to him willingly, must not come clad in widow's weeds, for when she became his wife would cease to be a widow.

And so black was laid aside, and Katy, in soft tinted colors, with her bright hair curling on her neck, looked as girlish and beautiful as if in Greenwood there were no pretentious monument, with Wilford's name upon it, nor any little grave in Silverton where Baby Cameron slept. She had been both wife and mother, but she was quite as dear to Morris as if she had never borne other name than Katy Lennox, and as he held her for a moment to his heart he thanked God who had at last given him the idol of his boyhood and the love of his later years. Across their pathway no shadow was lying, except when they remembered Helen, on whom the mantle of widowhood had fallen just as Katy was throwing it off.

Poor Helen! the tears always crept to Katy's eyes when she thought of her, and now, as she saw her steal across the road and strike into the winding path which led to the pasture where the pines and hemlock grew, she nestled closer to Morris, and whispered:

"Sometimes I think it wrong to be so happy when Helen is so sad. I pity her so much to-day."

And Helen was to be pitied, for her heart was aching to its very core. She had tried to keep up through the preparations for Katy's bridal, tried to seem interested and even cheerful, while all the time a hidden agony was tugging at her heart, and life seemed a heavier burden than she could bear.

All her portion of the work was finished now, and in the balmy brightness of that warm April afternoon she went into the fields where she could be alone beneath the soft summer-like sky, and pour out her pent-up anguish into the ear if Him who had so often soothed and comforted her when other aids had failed. Last night, for the first time since she had heard the dreadful news, she had dreamed of Mark, and when she awoke she still felt the pressure of his lips upon her brow, the touch of his arm upon her waist, and the thrilling clasp of his warm hand as it pressed and held her own. But that was a dream, a cruel delusion, and its memory made the more dark and dreary as she went slowly up the beaten path, pausing once beneath a chestnut tree and leaning her throbbing head against the shaggy bark as she heard in the distance the shrill whistle of the downward train from Albany, and thought as she always did when she heard that whistle: "Oh, if that heralded Mark's return, how happy I should be." But many sounds like that had echoed across the Silverton hills, bringing no hope to her, and now as it again died away in the Cedar Swamp, she pursued her way up the path till she reached a long white ledge of rocks—"The lovers' Rock," some called it, for village boys and maidens knew the place, repairing to it often, and whispering their vows beneath the overhanging pines, which whispered back again, and told the winds the story which though so old is always new to her who listens and to him who tells.

Just underneath the pine there was a large flat stone, and there Helen sat down, gazing sadly upon the valley below, and the clear waters of Fairy Pond gleaming in the April sunshine which lay so warmly on the grassy hills and flashed so brightly from the cupola at Linwood where the national flag was flying. For a time Helen watched the banner as it shook its folds to the breeze, then as she remembered with what a fearful price that flag had been saved from dishonor, she hid her face in her hands and sobbed bitterly.

"God help me not to think I paid too dearly for my country's rights. Oh, Mark, my husband, I may be wrong but you were dearer to me than many, many countries, and it is hard to give you up—hard to know that the notes of peace which float up from the South will not waken you in that grave which I can never see. Oh, Mark, my darling, my darling, I love you so much, I miss you so much, I want you so much. God help me to bear. God help to say: 'Thy will be done.'"

THE SPANISH NOVIO.

A Gallant Who Rarely Weds the Maiden He Attends.

A Spanish maiden who is in the least attractive is always attended by a young man. He is called her novio, and it is his privilege to accompany her on her walks, though of course always with either her mother or a maid to play propriety. His courtship seldom ends in his becoming engaged to the young lady, but while it lasts she has to be obedient and loyal to him.

If he should transfer his affections to another fair damsel, the slighted one has no redress, for he is quite at liberty to do so, their friendship never being regarded in the light of a formal engagement. Marriages are settled by the heads of the two families chiefly concerned, and until such an arrangement is made the young Spaniard may be novio to as many girls as he likes, one after another. This custom has certainly more advantages for the men than it has for the maidens, but yet few Spanish girls would care to be without a novio, however fickle he might be.

One or the Other.

Mrs. Smithers—I called on Mrs. Blumpter yesterday, and she returned the call today. Must think a great deal of me, don't you think? Mr. Smithers—Well, either that or she's one of these wise ones who relieve the mind by performing a disagreeable duty as soon as possible.

Thousands of Reasons.

"I really cannot see what she finds attractive about him."

"Why, there are thousands of reasons for her loving him."

"What are they?"

"Dollars."

THE FIRST BANKS.

They Were Established in Italy in the Ninth Century.

The first banks of which we have record were established in Italy so far back as 806 by the Lombard Jews, who had benches, or counters, erected in the market places for the exchange of money and bills. It is from their banco, or bench, that banks have taken their name.

The earliest bankers were also goldsmiths and dealers in precious stones, but with the advance of civilization banking became a distinct business. Merchants had deposited their cash in the mint in the Tower of London until Charles I. laid hands upon the money in 1640. In 1645 traders agreed to lodge their money with the goldsmiths of Lombard street, who had strong chests for their own valuables, and this was the origin of banking in Britain.

The chief banks in Europe were established as follows: Venice, 1171; Genoa, 1345; Hamburg, 1619; Holland, 1635; Bank of England, 1694; Scotland, 1695; Ireland, 1783; France, 1803; United States, 1816.

Handwriting on Iron.

It was an accident that led to the discovery of the method of transferring handwriting to iron. An iron founder while experimenting with molten iron under different conditions accidentally dropped a ticket into a mold. He presently found that the type of the ticket was transferred to the iron in distinct characters. Following up the idea which this fact suggested, he procured a heatproof ink, with which he wrote invertedly on ordinary white paper. This paper was introduced into the mold before the molten iron was poured in. When the mold cooled the paper had been consumed by the heat, but the ink, which had remained intact, had left a clear impression on the iron.

Ungainly, but King of Soaring Birds.

No one would be likely to imagine, for example, that so heavy and, in fact, apparently ungainly a bird as a pelican is a king among soaring birds. After much flopping when these great birds have acquired headway the broad wings are spread, and in majestic circles they mount skyward, with only an occasional flap of the wing, often passing beyond the range of one's vision.—Country Life In America.

A Modest Petition.

Little Johnnie had been taught to ask a blessing at the table. One morning there was company present to breakfast, and Johnnie, being a little embarrassed, made the following brief petition, "O Lord, forgive us for this food."

Boarding House Amenities.

First Landlady (pointedly)—Well, thank heaven I haven't got no skeletons in my cupboards. Second Landlady (sweetly)—Nobody thought for a minute that you kept your boarders there.

Never pose as an angel until you are sure that your wings have sprouted a good crop of pin feathers.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

Could Not Lie On Her Left Side.

WAS TROUBLED WITH PAIN IN HER HEART FOR SIX YEARS.

Expected Her Friends Would Find Her Dead.

Mrs. C. Bondreau, Campbellton, N.B., was completely cured by MILBURN'S Heart and Nerve Pills.

She tells of her experience in the following letter: "I was troubled with a pain in my heart and weakness for six years. Most of the time I could not lie on my left side. I consulted a doctor but got no relief and was completely discouraged. I did not think I would live long and expected my friends would find me dead. A friend brought me a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills and I took them to please her, not thinking they would do me any good. I had not used half the box when I commenced to feel myself getting better and by the time I had taken two boxes I was completely cured and can recommend them to all sufferers from heart trouble."

There is no specific for consumption. The nearest approach to a cure is right living and Scott's Emulsion. No matter what the treatment may be Scott's Emulsion will prove a valuable addition. It has often turned the scale of health the right way. Because Scott's Emulsion contains the pure cod liver oil it furnishes heat and fat. The hypophosphites provide tissue-food, blood-food and marrow-food. The combination of the two represents a wonderful form of nourishment and one that can be readily taken and retained at any stage of the disease. Scott's Emulsion gives best results when used most regularly. Made a part of the consumptive's regular diet it will invariably afford relief. Occasional use of Scott's Emulsion is a test unfair to the Emulsion and the patient.

QUOTATIONS ON THE WALL STREET MARKET.

The Fluctuations of the Leading Stocks

The stock market this morning was a featureless affair although right after the opening short covering was reported in steel preferred. Shortly after the stock was sold down again, thought to be for western interests principally. London was no factor at all. Toward noon the market became very dull and a slight reaction set in. The only news of consequence is the report of some additional gold engagement total of 6,000,000 for to-morrow. The sentiment in conservative quarters remains bullish on Standard railroad stocks, advice being to buy them on all declines. IRT is still being hulled for higher prices.

The following are the principal quotations on the New York stock market, as received by Messrs. McMillan & Maguire, Hunter street:

Weather map shows very heavy rains in Kansas to-day and heavy rains there Saturday and Sunday. Heavy rain in Missouri, Iowa, Illinois and Ohio Valley. Rain in Oklahoma and Texas south-west has had a drenching for three days. About seasonable elsewhere. Clearing in North-west.—McMillan & Maguire.

San Francisco, Cal., Apr. 25.—It is reported here that Harriman and Ripley entered into an agreement to divide all traffic originating in northern California. Atchinson and UP will have joint interest in California north-west and north shore railroads.—McMillan & Maguire.

Mr. Fish is giving a tip to sell UnPac for 78 and buy sugar.

Chicago.—After Break of last week what looks as if it ought to do to buy for a turn.—Koch 11.00 a. m.

To McMillan & Maguire.—

Chicago, April 25th. Opening in corn strong. Best demand comes from Saturday's sellers; no large trade as yet; offering very small. Too much rain in corn belt.

Provisions—Scattered selling in provisions caused an easier opening. Local packers sold lard and pit traders had pork for sale. Market is affected by hog situation and 5 to 5-1-4 lower at yards.

To McMillan & Maguire.—

New York, April 25th.—Opening quiet but fairly firm with pressure confined to a few specialties. Professional sentiment mixed but mostly bearish. Penna showed some strength in continuation of what looks like a pool movement against shorts. Con Gas lower on Ortcutt's utterance, implying probability of veto for Remsen bill. Large gold engagements for export were an early influence and tended to limit business; traders, however, were not very much concerned in view of great plentitude of call money.—D. J.

HOW TO TALK WELL.

You Can Acquire the Art by Study, Care and Practice.

The art of talking well—that is, with ease and intelligently—interesting those who listen and, rarest gift of all, leading them to talk their best in reply, is a natural gift. There is no doubt of this. The gift goes with what we call "personal magnetism." Yet one who has not this can learn to talk pleasantly, fluently and agreeably. First let him talk much to himself, not audibly, but forcing himself to formulate his ideas. What a man thinks clearly he should be able to put into words.

Next let him study what will please those with whom he talks rather than what interests himself. Please note that I say "talks with" and not "to." There is a great—an essential—difference, all the difference between conversing and lecturing.

"You never heard me preach, I believe?" said Coleridge to Charles Lamb. "I never heard you d-do anything else!" stammered the wit.

When you meet a man for the first time say something you think would draw him out. A fool can babble at length. Wisdom and courtesy are required to tempt others to speak with ease to themselves.

There is no royal road to becoming a good talker. Practice of the few simple rules I have indicated will help you on step by step.

Ancient Worship of Animals.

The figures of the gods in ancient Egypt were represented on the monuments for ages in animal form. The organization of the local population ran on totem lines. Each city had different beast gods. In the royal genealogies beasts are named as ancestors, showing that the early Egyptians actually considered themselves descendants of animals. The primitive element in the early Greek religion has been preserved in the "sacred chapters," fragments of which have been given us by Herodotus, Pausanias and others, proving that the oldest images of the Grecian gods were represented in animal form and that the different royal houses claimed descent from animals, as do the savages of America and Australia. Mr. J. McLennan in his papers on "The Worship of Plants and Animals" calls our attention to many evidences that the early Romans as well as the Greeks worshiped totems.

Club Land in Japan.

Japan is the ideal club land. In this country the club world has a good many class and other limitations. But in Japan the system has flourished from time immemorial and enters into the daily life of all sorts and conditions of men. It is no uncommon thing for people of means to belong to from ten to a hundred different clubs, benevolent or social, all of which exist mainly to give the members an opportunity for one festive gathering the more. In Tokyo there are 5,000 different societies, from the Red Cross to the Mustaches and the Pockmarked, which explain themselves.

Extremes of Climate.

The oldest place on earth inhabited by man is Verkhoyanski, above the Arctic Circle, in Northeastern Siberia. The thermometer there drops to 90 degrees below zero in January, but sometimes rises to 86 degrees above zero in the shade in July, dropping, however, to the freezing point on the warmest summer nights. The hottest place in the world is the interior of the great Sahara Desert, in Africa, where the thermometer rises to 122 degrees. The wettest place is Greytown, Nicaragua, where the mean annual rainfall is 260 inches. The place of least rain is Port Nolloth, in South Africa, where less than an inch sometimes falls in a year.

THE TRENT VALLEY LACROSSE LEAGUE.

A New Sporting Organization and Its Excellent Prospects for Success.

As the Trent Valley Lacrosse League has been organized, and is now a "sure thing," it might be interesting to the public to know how some of the teams that have joined this new sporting organization are situated, and the names of the officers and members of the different clubs that were represented at Saturday's meeting.

A glance at the respective line up of some of the teams will about convince the reader that the quality of lacrosse to be exhibited in the Trent Trent Valley Lacrosse League, will be almost up to the standard set by clubs comprising the intermediate series of the C.L.A.

The officers elected on Saturday to conduct the affairs of the T.V.L.L. for the coming season are all of them "old sports," and have had considerable experience in nearly every line of sport.

Mr. W. F. Crowley, the president, is well known to the people of Peterborough, and the surrounding towns and villages. He has been identified with one or another of the several sporting organizations in Peterborough ever since he was old enough, holding positions of trust and honour, and has always been regarded as a gentleman on the field of sport and otherwise. He was a vice-president of the Treat Valley Hockey League a year ago, and at its annual organization meeting last fall was elected president. He is a Rugby player of the "first water," and helped to bring the O.R.F.U. Intermediate championship to Peterborough the year the town boys won. He is an enthusiastic lacrosse player and is a runner of no mean ability. His executive abilities are well recognized, and no doubt the League under his guiding eye, will prosper.

The first vice-president, Mr. F. C. Curtis, of Port Hope, is also well known to the sporting public. He has been identified with the different sports in the lakeport town for several years, being manager of the Port Hope Hockey Club during the past two years, and has also been on the executive committee of the "Ontario" Lacrosse Team for several years, taking an active interest in its management.

Mr. W. B. Huycke, the second vice-president, is an old Tweed boy, and is very popular in his town and throughout the surrounding district. He has always taken an active interest in all legitimate sports, and is an acknowledged authority on such. He is an old lacrosse player, of rare ability, and played the game when the "drop on goal" system was in its prime. His presence on the management of the League will be sure to strengthen its executive ability.

The secretary-treasurer, Mr. T. P. Lancaster, is deserving of the greatest praise for his energetic enterprise in forming the Trent Valley Lacrosse League. He has left no stone unturned to arouse the interest of the towns and villages in this district in the formation of the League, which is now a fact of history, and no doubt with the executive ability which he has shown himself capable of, put forth in the interests of the League, the organization will rapidly forge ahead, and be a dominating influence in the sporting interests of the province. He is editor and proprietor of the Havelock Standard, and a football player of some ability. As a lacrosse player he used to be a "star."

The following will give the reader a pretty good idea of the strength of the teams that were represented at the organization meeting on Saturday and which an Examiner representative was successful in gathering. The other teams that will likely join the league are Madoc, Belleville, Marmora, Campbellford and Millbrook, while Stirling is also expected to be in the running. All of these towns are old in the game of lacrosse, and no doubt good teams will represent them.

TWEED.

The Tweed Lacrosse Club was organized some three weeks ago, when the following officers were elected:

Hon. President—D. B. Taylor.
President—A. Morton.
Vice-President—Wm. Gaitley.
Secretary—Geo. Clark.
Treasurer—J. F. McGowan.
Captain—A. Countryman.
Manager—Zed Lafountaine.
Executive Committee—Geo. Davis, D. Reid, Geo. Macdonald, W. B. Huucke, and E. L. Brown.

The town is situated east on the C.P.R., and has been identified in lacrosse and other sports during the past thirty years. The inhabitants are fully aroused and will no doubt give the lacrosse team good support in their enterprise. The team will be strong as a lot of new material has been secured, and it will take a first class team to beat them. The following names of some of the players will no doubt interest the public: Zed. Lafountaine, J. McGowan, A. Countryman, J. Beatty, G. Hardie, D. Reid, Fred and Charlie Leal, J. Nolan, W. Simmons, T. Ruff.

With the above and about thirty very promising young players to choose from the team will be capable of holding its own with the best of them. The agricultural grounds north-east of the C.P.R. station have been secured, and will be used for the games to be participated in.

ONTARIOS, OF PORT HOPE

Port Hope is placing a strong twelve in the league, and will be a decided factor in the distribution of honours during the season. Port Hope has always had the reputation of being a good lacrosse town, so much so that last year a team was placed in the senior series of the C.L.A. As many of the players were imported, the fall of the snow last autumn saw most of them out of the town. The undertaking was not a success financially, but otherwise the team was considered as good as the best. This year things are different, and with the remaining players, along with the pick of the town league, a club has been organized which has taken the name "Ontario," which has ever been the choice name for Port Hope's best. The team just organized were known as the "Victorias" last year, and were in the Junior C.L.A. in the district with the T.A.S., but defaulted owing to lack of funds to run the team. This year the town is going to support a pure "home-brew" bunch and enthusiasm is now at fever heat. Such players as J. Gawley, W. Pennington, H. McLean, T. Burt, J. Friar, P. Rowden, T. Dann, A. Olcott, J. McLean, W. McLean, E. Hawley, W. Strickland, C. A. Roach, Jack Henderson, and a lot of other "good ones," will be on hand to help the team out when needed.

The officers of the team are:—

President—Col. McLean.
Vice-President—J. G. Jackson.
Secretary—W. McLean.
Treasurer—S. George.
Manager—S. Lockington.
Trainer—A. Reynolds.
Executive Committee — W. Laurenceson, B. George, J. G. Jackson, S. Lockington.

HASTINGS.

Hastings has always been a good lacrosse town. In the 80's the old Ironclad Lacrosse Team was considered among the best, and ever since there has been a tendency among the younger generation to play lacrosse—like their dads. Lacrosse has been the sport of the village ever since 1885, when the Ironclads were organized. Many of the old lacrosse players of Peterborough will remember the days when the Hastings bunch could keep score with the best in the province. It was in 1898 that Hastings got within range of a provincial championship. They were runners-up for the championship of the Junior C.L.A. series, Stouffville beating them in Lindsay by a very narrow margin. Since then the players comprising the team of that year have been picked up by outside towns and have held their own with the best. The few of them that are left have tried to keep up the town's name and have succeeded in no small measure in doing so. Mr. T. E. Scriver, editor and proprietor of the Hastings Star, is the club's secretary, and he has been the prime mover in lacrosse circles in the village for the past five years, and the success of the club is due in no small measure to his energetic enterprise and executive ability. W. Clapper, F. Dodds and H. Scriver are three other players who played in the '98 team and are capable of holding their own in the best of company. These, with a lot of new material which has been gathered together, will form a team which will be quite capable of being in "at the finish." The names of some of the players available are as follows: — T. A. Coughlan, Jas. Welsh, Jno. Welsh, Geo. Carey, Jack Walsh, Joe Powers, W. Brown, C. Prest and H. Lamzette. The town has a lot of juniors who will no doubt show themselves to be equal to the occasion and participate in holding up the town's honour.

The officers of the club for 1904 are:—

Hon. President—H. A. Wilson.
President—A. W. Bailey.
Vice-Presidents—A. B. Spellman, S. Parks, A. Wilson and L. F. Clarry.
Secretary—T. E. Scriver.
Treasurer—Jno. Welsh.
Captain—Jas. Welsh.
Manager—Geo. Hormel.

The grounds south of the station are to be fitted up and will be in good shape when the season opens.

HAVELOCK.

The lacrosse team to represent Havelock in the Trent Valley League will be composed of players who, most of them, have reputations. The C.P.R. round house and works have tempted not a few good ones to locate in the place, and the consequence is that with the aid of other business places, enough material has been secured to place a strong line-up in the league. The town is not as old as some of the others in the league, and experience in lacrosse is a new undertaking. The town is thoroughly aroused and prospects for a good, successful season are very bright. Everybody is talking lacrosse, and it is said, every kid has a stick. The club has elected a good set of officers and with their wide knowledge of sport in general should make a good showing in the League. The officers for 1904 are as follows:—

Hon. President—E. S. Malloy.
President—W. Webster.
1st Vice-President—W. Patterson.
2nd Vice-President—Dr. Holdcroft.
Secretary—T. P. Lancaster.
Treasurer—T. Dineen.
Manager—H. Andrews.
Executive Committee—T. P. Lancaster, A. McGuire, A. Irwin and D. Forde.

The Park and Pleasure Grounds, situated north-east of the C. P. R. station, have been secured and will be used by the club for their games and practices.

Such players as Charlie Powers, E. Sullivan, A. Stibbs, Brantford; Ferguson, Smiths Falls; Geo. Easterbrook, Tweed; Joe Muldoon, of last year's T.A.S. team; Nickerson, Jackson and F. Graydon, of last year's Toronto Junction team; Alex. Irwin, Port Hope; Jack Mein, an old Peterborough boy; Alf McGuire, H. Andrews, and several others, will compose the team.

PETERBOROUGH T.A.S.

The T. A. S. is placing a team in the Trent Valley League this year and intend to be in at the finish. The team will be composed of most of last year's players with some others, who have signified their intention of joining the club. The boys are very enthusiastic over the season's prospects and will endeavour to hold up the town's honour as in days gone by. The experience gained last year in the C.L.A. will help them a lot in the games to be participated in this season. Most of the boys have had experience of two and three years on the field and will be better than ever. All of last year's players, who are consistent members of the Society, with the exception of one or two, who have left town, are available, and they, along with the score or more of promising juniors, will be able to hold their own with the best in the game. The Murray street grounds are being fitted up and the grandstand finished, so that by the time the season opens the T.A.S. will be in fine shape to do business with one and all.

Rev. Dr. O'Brien is taking a deep interest in the team this year and none but T.A.S. men will be allowed to participate in the games to be played under the Club's name. The idea is to put forward the interests of pure amateurism and also the advantages to be gained by being identified with a society such as the T.A.S. The object is one deserving of the greatest credit and no doubt success will crown the efforts of the society.

Some of the players available are F. Derocher, J. O'Brien, W. Meagher, Jno. McCabe, F. McCoy, E. McNichol, W. F. Crowley, F. McGrath, W. Donevan, Geo. Morris, O. O'Neil, Jack Primeau, J. Mulligan, Jack McDonough, Ed. Mahoney, J. Gorham, W. McCormack, and a lot of others.

The club has organized and a list of the officers will give the public a good idea as to the chances of the team's success. The following are the names of those elected and the offices they hold:—

Hon. President—Rev. Dr. O'Brien.
President—W. Crowley.
1st Vice-President—John Hayes.
2nd Vice-President—W. E. Grady.
Secretary-Treasurer — Fred McFadden.
Manager—Jno. McCabe.

THE YELLOW PERIL

Mr. Chamberlain's Principle In Chinese Problems.

LIFE TITLE OF HONORABLE

King Decides Upon Its Being Granted to the Members of the First Federal Parliament of Australia—Supplies For the Traesvaal Must Be Purchased Through Crown Agents.

London, April 26.—(C.A.P.)—Right Hon. Joseph Chamberlain has written a letter on the Chinese question, stating that when Colonial Secretary he laid down the principle that the Imperial Government should offer no objection to the employment of Asiatic labor if it was desired by the great majority of white inhabitants in the two colonies. He assumed that the Government was satisfied in this case that Chinese labor would pave the way for a greater number of British workmen.

All Honorable Men.

London, April 26.—(C.A.P.)—Premier Deakin of Australia has received intimation that the King has decided that every member of the first Federal Parliament shall enjoy the life title of honorable. The Colonial Office opposed the idea.

Through Crown Agents.

London, April 26.—(C.A.P.)—Right Hon. Alfred Lyttelton, Colonial Secretary, stated in the House of Commons that he intends to abide by the instructions that all departmental supplies for the Transvaal must be purchased through the Crown agents for the colonies on the ground that it best secures the interests of the colonial taxpayers, obviates middlemen and best serves the British manufacturer.

Speaker Will Decide.

London, April 26.—(C.A.P.)—The Speaker of the Victorian Parliament will decide whether ex-Premier Deakin or Mr. Reid, leader of the Opposition party, is entitled to sit on the Opposition benches.

Canada Discourages.

London, April 26.—(C.A.P.)—Sir Charles Dilke, in introducing his amendment on the Aliens Bill, said the Board of Trade figures for alien immigration represent the increase of alien settlers in Britain. The enormous transmigration of aliens for the United States was carried mainly by the Beaver Line route. The Canadian Legislature proposed to discourage a large portion of this shipping trade.

Municipal Cattle Breeding.

London, April 26.—The committee controlling the irrigation farm at Tunbridge Wells have recommended the Town Council to abandon the practice of raising cattle for competition at the local shows. It is stated that the farmers complain that they have no chance when competing with a wealthy corporation. Moreover, the fattening of the cattle costs the ratepayers a great deal of money, and the prizes are taken by the farm bailiffs.

Temiskaming Railway Progress.

Toronto, April 26.—The Commissioners of the Temiskaming Railway may be called upon the early part of next month to advertise for tenders for the construction of the Government road from New Liskeard to Lake Abittibi. More than thirty miles north from New Liskeard have been accurately surveyed and the route located, whilst the try lines for an additional 15 miles have been laid out.

RUSSIANS SPRANG A BIG SURPRISE.

Vladivostock Squadron Appears at Gensan.

RUSSIANS SINK A STEAMER.

A Japanese Merchantman Falls a Prey to the Russian Fleet—Japs Busy Near Wiju—Small Parties on Foot and Mounted Soldiery—Baltic Squadron will Start on Aug. 11.

London, April 26.—The Japanese legation yesterday afternoon gave out the following despatch yesterday from Tokio:

"The Japanese Consul at Wonsan (Gensan), Corea, reports under today's date that two Russian torpedo boats entered that port and sank a small Japanese steamer, the Goyo Maru. Her gross tonnage was 600, and she was built in 1884. The Russians immediately left."

This despatch is taken at the legation here to mean that the Vladivostock fleet is active.

Jap Merchantman Sunk.

Tokio, April 26.—The Russian Vladivostock squadron, after a long period of inactivity, suddenly appeared off Gensan on the coast of Corea yesterday morning and sank the Goyo Maru, a Japanese merchant steamer of 600 tons.

A brief telegram received from Gensan yesterday says three Russian cruisers had entered the harbor, and that they were still there when the telegram was sent. Their arrival created consternation in the unprotected Japanese colony at Gensan.

It is thought in Tokio that this Russian naval movement was made in the hope of intercepting some unprotected Japanese troop ships. It is not believed the squadron will remain at Gensen long.

The Vladivostock squadron consists of the cruisers Rossia, Gromboi, Rurik and Bogatyr. The last is a protected cruiser and the others are armored cruisers, the four being among the most powerful in the Russian navy.

Gensan is about 350 miles southwest of Vladivostock.

The Russian cruisers Rossia and Gromoboi, a third cruiser not identified, and two torpedo boats participated in the attack on Gensan. The ships entered the harbor, ordered the crew of the steamer Goyo ashore, and then sank her. A detachment of marines was landed but was recalled, and the warships steamed outside of the harbor. The Japanese and many Coreans fled when the Russians approached. Late telegrams say that the Russian squadron remains off the harbor of Gensan.

Kuropatkin Doing Things.

St. Petersburg, April 26.—General Kuropatkin has played a strong card in the game of strategy. A large portion of Gen. Rennenkampff's Cossack cavalry division has been thrown across the upper reaches of the Yalu, and a considerable force of cavalry, which crossed the Tumen some time ago, is moving down to the southwest to effect a juncture with it. Together with this force, which it is believed total 2,000 men, he will threaten Lieut. Inouye's flank when the Japanese are ready to cross lower down on the Yalu. Being composed of cavalry, with a few mountain guards, Rennenkampff's force is very mobile. Unless it is dislodged it will compel the Japanese to leave a very strong army to guard the communications, whereas if a Japanese force was sent to drive it out it would have to move directly away from the main army, while the Russian army, if compelled to fall back, can re-cross in the direction of the Russian troops concentrated in Manchuria.

Skrydloff For Patience.

St. Petersburg, April 26.—Captain Glado, Vice-Admiral Skrydloff's chief of staff, says Skrydloff, like General Kuropatkin, counsels patience and coolness. "Russia's strength is on shore," said the captain.

Japs Busy Near Wiju.

St. Petersburg, April 26.—A despatch from Port Arthur denies a report that 20,000 Japanese have landed at Dalny. The despatch states there is no change in the situation on the Liaotung Peninsula.

The Emperor has received the following telegram from Gen. Kuropatkin:

"Gen. Sassulitch reports, under date of April 24, that during recent days the Japanese have been observed landing pontoon material and collecting boats in preparation for the construction of bridges in the neighborhood of Wiju, and also near the village of Sigou, ten miles farther up the river.

"April 23 a Japanese detachment, consisting of two companies of infantry and a small body of cavalry, crossed the Yalu, ten miles below Siaopoussikhe. Gen. Sassulitch immediately reinforced the cordons on our front. Small parties of the enemy were seen preparing to cross elsewhere in that vicinity. All is quiet south of the Yalu."

Baltic Squadron.

Paris, April 26.—The St. Petersburg correspondent of The Echo de Paris says that the Baltic squadron will start for the Far East Aug. 11. The correspondent also says that Vice-Admiral Chouaknin, commander of the Naval Academy and director of the Naval School at St. Petersburg, has been appointed to the command of the Black Sea fleet.

Third Jap Army.

Berlin, April 26.—The Tokio correspondent of The Tageblatt announces the mobilization of a third Japanese army. He says it is now disclosed that a reserve brigade corresponding to each division of the active army has been mobilized therewith, and that consequently each army embraces nearly 100,000 men, instead of being the strength previously assumed.

Chink Warship Ashore.

London, April 26.—A special despatch from Shanghai says the Chinese warship Hai Tien has gone ashore on the Elliott rocks, and is a wreck.

No Mediation.

St. Petersburg, April 26.—The Associated Press is enabled to announce authoritatively that the talk of mediation in the Russo-Japanese war was founded upon the personal desires of King Edward and King Christian of Denmark to avoid further bloodshed and end the conflict, but that the steps initiated have utterly failed.

Death of Prominent Cattle Dealer.

Toronto, April 26.—A cablegram was received yesterday morning from Liverpool, announcing the death of Thomas Peers, one of the best known of Canadian cattle dealers. Mr. Peers was born in the vicinity of Weston, and for many years was actively engaged in the live stock trade on the Toronto market. Mr. Peers, in connection with Joseph Wilson, shipped the first consignment of cattle from Portage la Prairie, Manitoba, in the year 1886.

CANADA WOOLLEN MILLS CO. ASSIGNS.

Creditors Have Claims for Over $400,000.

The Shareholders will Lose One Million Dollars but Creditors will be Paid in Full.

Special to the Examiner.

Toronto, April 26. — Judge McMahon to-day granted an order to wind up the Canada Woollen Mills Company. There were creditors' claims presented to the court amounting to over four hundred thousand dollars, including a claim by the Dominion Bank for a quarter of a million. The company recently decided to sell their plants at Hespeler, Carleton Place, Lambton, etc. They claim to have been doing business at a loss for several years owing to the British preference. W. R. Brock, M.P., is president. One of the directors said all creditors will be paid in full, but the shareholders will get nothing, losing one million dollars. George Davidson, secretary of the company, was appointed liquidator.

Ontario's Death Rate.

Toronto, April 26.—Dr. Hodgetts gave out the returns from 700 divisions registrars for the month of March as 2,415 deaths from all causes in a reported population of 1,917,081, or 80 per cent. of the province, which makes the death rate 15.1 per 1,000, the highest recorded for any month since the bulletin was first issued about seven years ago. In February the rate was 14.49.

Montreal Golden Wedding.

Montreal, April 26.—The golden wedding of Mr. and Mrs. F. B. MacNamee took place at St. Patrick's Church yesterday amid great eclat. The Government was represented by the Minister of Justice, while Archbishop Bruchesi officiated. The ceremony, which was the first of the kind ever held in St. Patrick's, was very imposing.

Arrested Band of Strikers.

Salt Lake, Utah, April 26.—A wholesale capture of striking miners in Carbon County is reported from Price, Utah. Sheriff Wilcox and forty deputies armed with Winchesters marched upon the camp of the strikers in the canyon, took them by surprise and arrested 120 Italians.

Pastor's Narrow Escape.

Brantford, April 26.—While making an inspection of the Y.M.C.A. building here yesterday, Rev. E. E. Scott, a Methodist minister from Galt, fell down a dark stairway, sustaining rather serious injuries. The reverend gentleman's thigh was slightly fractured, his side bruised and arm and wrist sprained. His athletic training and presence of mind saved him from a worse accident.

Progress in Quebec.

Montreal, April 26.—A special from Quebec says Mr. Chicoyne, M.P.P., has a plan to get rid of the Legislative Council. He has given notice in the House of Assembly that this week he will move for the election of members to future vacancies.

Canadian Woollens Assigns.

Toronto, April 26.—A statement was current last night that the Canada Woollen Mills Company, Limited, assigned during yesterday. While this statement could not be verified through any of the officials of the company, credence was lent to the assertion by the fact that a writ was issued against the company yesterday by the executors of the late E. T. Carter for some $29,000. This is the second one this month.

NEWS OF TO-DAY.

An Index to Prominent Paragraphs in this Issue.

A good crowd of footballers turned out last night for practice.

A magazine containing dynamite exploded near Port Arthur, Ont.

Nearly 2,000 workmen are engaged in rebuilding operations in Toronto.

Mr. T. J. Hooper, a late uncle of Mr. W. H. Meldrum died recently in England.

The Russians sprung a surprise on the Japs by firing upon and sinking a small steamer.

It is reported in Toronto that the Canada Woollen Mills Company has made an assignment.

St. John's Young Men's Guild last night elected officers to two vacancies made by resignations.

The Buckhorn dam, according to a resident of that section, who was in town to-day, is in good condition.

The City Council of Toronto has sent a resolution thanking the Town of Peterborough for assistance rendered at the recent fire.

The Quarterly meeting of the Deacons and Pastors of the Peterborough Association is being held in Port Hope to-day and to-morrow. Local Baptist ministers are in attendance.

Rev. Father Galvin delivered a most instructive lecture at the T.A.S. Hall last night on "The Morality of Shakspere." The lecture was one thoroughly enjoyed by the large audience.

At last night's Council meeting the estimates for the year were submitted and the rate of taxation struck. The general rate will be 18 1-2 mills, with 1-2 a mill extra for those served by street watering. The town's financial condition was found to be satisfactory.

In the month of March 2,415 deaths occurred in Ontario, which is 15.1 per 1,000 of the population. This is the highest rate since the first issue of the bulletin seven years ago.

Toronto's Rebuilding Operations.

Toronto, April 26.—Nearly two thousand workmen are engaged at present on the ruins, and when all the firms who have decided to rebuild, commence there will easily be upwards of three thousand laborers and mechanics within the area. The firms who intend to establish themselves in new premises on the same sites as before are as yet difficult to ascertain, due to the fact that many did not own the building in which they were and that many of the properties are changing hands. These uncertain conditions are likely to last for some time.

Mrs. Fairbanks tells how neglect of warning symptoms will soon prostrate a woman. She thinks woman's safeguard is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—Ignorance and neglect are the cause of untold female suffering, not only with the laws of health but with the chance of a cure. I did not heed the warnings of headaches, organic pains, and general weariness, until I was well nigh prostrated. I knew I had to do something. Happily I did the right thing. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound faithfully, according to directions, and was rewarded in a few weeks to find that my aches and pains disappeared, and I again felt the glow of health through my body. Since I have been well I have been more careful, I have also advised a number of my sick friends to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and they have never had reason to be sorry. Yours very truly, MRS. MAY FAIRBANKS, 216 South 7th St., Minneapolis, Minn." RUSSIA AND JAPAN.

There are many persons who sympathize with Russia in her efforts to keep out of the way of the plucky Japanese. It is difficult to understand why they do so. Russia in her governmental methods—if barbarous tyranny can be called government—represents the conditions that marked the darkest days of the dark ages. Such a thing as freedom of the subject, or rather slave, is unknown in Russia. Her method is to crush out all independent sentiment by brute force. Great Britain has colonized half a world and has made her colonies independent and free nations, yet bound to the Empire by ties of simple and loyal affection, "stronger than hooks of steel." A striking example is presented in Canada. When Britain won Lower Canada from France, the Colonists were given a wide degree of liberty—they were permitted the exercise of their religion, the retention of their language and natural customs, and with the most gratifying results. Thus Great Britain by giving her dependencies the highest degree of freedom has reaped the happy results indicated. Russia has pursued a policy of crushing tyranny and oppression applied to mind, body and spirit of the hapless people who come under the baleful influence of her brute force. The methods of Russia cannot be appreciated by people who enjoy the freedom we do in Canada. An incident in which Paderewski, the greatest pianist of the century figures, illustrates this. Russia has been using the argument of force to crush out all national spirit among the Poles, but that brave people may be subdued as to the body, but their splendid spirit still defies the Russian knout and Siberian exile. Not long ago the great Paderewski played before the Czar, and His Majesty was gracious enough to be pleased, and went the condescending length of telling "Paddy" that he was delighted that a Russian should play so well. The artist had the courage to say to the Emperor, "I am a Pole," doubtless in so doing realizing the risk he ran in refusing to deny his nationality, for nothing could have been more irritating to the Czar than a bold avowal, indicating the failure of his policy of crushing the Polish natural spirit. It is not surprising that the Russian method of ordering him to leave the country was adopted, thus making Paderewski a martyr, and rekindling the fires of patriotism in the Polish people, and adding another reason for discontent and resentment. Japan would do nothing as bad as that. It would carry the spirit of western civilization, which it has absorbed and assimilated to so remarkable a degree to a conquered people.

Till Dodd's Kidney Pills had Cured his Kidney Disease.

Well known Prince Edward County Farmer Tells of Quick Relief After Years of Suffering.

Consecon, Ont., April 25.—(Special.)—Few men in Prince Edward County are better known or more highly respected than David Rowe, who resides on his farm about three miles from Consecon. And Mr. Rowe is always ready to tell what Dodd's Kidney Pills did for him.

"I had severe pains in my back for upwards of two years," Mr. Rowe says "The pain in the small of my back was almost unbearable. It made me go bent over, and I could not straighten up to save my life.

"It gave me great pain to urinate, and you may imagine a man suffering as I did was not able to do much. Cures I read of in the newspapers led me to give Dodd's Kidney Pills a trial.

"Before I had finished the first box I began to feel a change for the better. I took in all ten boxes, and they have completely cured me."

Good kidneys mean good blood and good health. Dodd's Kidney Pills ensure good kidneys.

Miraculous Escape.

St. Thomas, April 26.—Mrs. Ross Cook, whose husband had a narrow escape from being killed yesterday morning, was walking across the C. P.R. track on Talbot street, when she was struck by an outgoing C. P.R. express train and thrown about twenty-five yards over a fence into a pool of water. She received a bad scalp wound, a bad wound on the right leg at the instep, her knee and elbow were hurt and the muscles of her back injured. How she escaped being killed is a miracle.

Object to Orientals.

Ottawa, April 26.—Owing to objections on the part of the Australian Government to Orientals working on vessels plying the Suez, the Canadian Australian mails may in future be conveyed by a new line on the Pacific or an increase in the number of vessels in the present lines. Sir William Mulock has asked the present contractors to dispense with Orientals, but they demur, and a new arrangement may be necessary.

NORTH RENFREW CASE.

Liberals Made An Endeavor to Expedite the Hearing.

Toronto, April 26.—Mr. R. A. Grant, for the Liberals, yesterday morning made an application in the Court of Appeal with a view to expediting the hearing of the North Renfrew election case. Shortly after the election of Mr. E. A. Dunlop, the Liberals filed a petition against it. The Conservatives endeavored to have the petition set aside on technical grounds, but failed, Chief Justice Moss, in Chambers, deciding that the petition was good. The Conservatives then appealed to the full Court of Appeal from the Chief Justice's decision, but have not done anything to bring the matter into court.

The Liberals' motion yesterday was to ask the court to set a day for the hearing of the appeal. Mr. I. F. Hellmuth, for the Conservatives, had no excuses to offer, and the court promised to fix a time for the hearing.

Swift Flight.

Flying, from the figures available, may be considered the easiest of all methods of progression, calling for less power than any other. As a proof of this, take, for example, the case of the storks, which, in their annual migrations, make a flight between Buda Pesth, in Hungary, and Lahore, in India. This, in an air line, is, perhaps, 2,800 or 2,400 miles, and the distance is accomplished in about twenty-four hours without a rest. Six hundred miles in a week is near the limit of a man in heel and toe walking. One thousand two hundred miles is approaching the record of the "go-as-you-please gait." Among wild animals 100 miles is about as much as can be found in the records for twenty-four hours, but the bird weighing anywhere, perhaps, up to twenty pounds makes the 2,500 miles in twenty-four hours with ease and certainly twice in a year.

THE SCOTTISH CAPITAL

POSSESSES PICTURESQUE VIEW AND WEALTH OF HISTORIC MEMORIES.

Its Annals Deal With All the Principal Events That Have Occurred From a Remote Era Down to Quite Latter Days—Holyrood Palace—Greyfriars' Graveyard a Solemn Link With Olden Times.

It would be difficult to name any European city of more picturesque views and possessing a greater wealth of historic associations than Edinburgh, Scotland.

A feature in the history of the capital of Scotland is that its annals deal with all the principal events that have occurred from a remote era down to quite latter days. It has been called the "modern Athens," partly from its situation on hills near the sea and its fame in the 18th century for a great outgrowth of purely intellectual work, the writings of Adam Smith, David Hume, Robertson, the historian, and others, culminating in the noble genius of Walter Scott. It was that fine poet and romantic novelist who, as with a magician's wand, recalled to Scotsmen the pride and glory of their ancient city.

GREYFRIARS, EDINBURGH.

The city has numerous edifices alike interesting from historical association and architectural impressiveness. Holyrood Palace and Abbey carry the mind back to the Scottish monarchy; and equally full of interest to the student of history are the older portions of the Castle; perched like an eagle on a rock; St. Gile's Church, the old parish church of the city, the old Parliament House, erected in 1633, now utilized as the "Outer House" of the Supreme Courts; and John Knox's house, occupied by that sincere, but severe, ecclesiastical reformer whilst an Edinburgh minister. A very fine sample of 17th century architecture will be found in Heriot's Hospital, now used as a technical school. In certain quarters of the older Edinburgh will yet be found some strange, quaint, and vast edifices, each storey forming one or more dwellings, all accessible by a single spiral staircase, locally called a "turnpike stair." The eye of the antiquary soon detects houses once inhabited by nobility and clergy. Here stands a building formerly owned by Lord Balmerino; the former mint of Scotland, and in later years tenanted by the Duchess of Gordon.

Nothing begets more interest than the ancient Palace of Holyrood, one shapely and fascinating figure dominating all historic memories—"Mary, fairest, saddest" of the Queens, bending above melodious Rizzio, stabbed and torn," mother of James I. of England, who was born in the Royal residence. At Holyrood are a series of portraits of Scottish Kings hung on the walls of the picture gallery, 150 feet in length.

One curious and solemn link with olden times in Edinburgh is the graveyard of Greyfriars, first thrown open for public view by Queen Mary Stuart. This old cemetery abounds in slopes, terraces, grotesque tombstones, and all kinds of monuments showing "the mason's art in death" during centuries. Here and there in this strange "Golgotha" one gets wonderful glimpses of the picturesque city which every denizen will apostrophise "mine own, romantic town."

The University of Edinburgh was an outcome of the Reformation. From Queen Mary the town council obtained in the middle of the 16th century a grant of the ruins of the Kirk of Field, an old collegiate church; and gradually the possessions for a foundation of learning developed.

Edinburgh University possesses a noble roll of men of genius and learning, including Scott, Broughan, Carlyle, and Robert Louis Stevenson.

A Wonderful Canyon.

In preparing for the construction of a tunnel to irrigate the Uncompahgre Valley in Western Colorado, it became necessary to make a topographic survey of the bottom of the grand canyon of the Gunnison River for a distance of about 1,500 feet. But the walls of this canyon, approximately 2,000 feet in height, are sheer precipices, and it is impossible to go through in boats. A descent to the bottom was effected by means of a narrow fissure eroded in the granite cliffs, but in order to reach the opposite side of the river, with the aid of a similar fissure, the surveying party had to make a detour of about 150 miles. In all, four extremely perilous descents were made to the bottom of the canyon. In places it was necessary to let the men down over cliffs several hundred feet by means of ropes.

The Name Lily.

The name of the lily comes from the Celtic word "lli," signifying white, this flower having always been regarded as an emblem of purity.

Sealed tenders addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for Port Colborne Breakwater," will be received at this office until Friday, May 6, 1904, inclusively, for the construction of a breakwater at Port Colborne, Welland County, Ontario, according to two sets of plans to be seen at the offices of Louis Coste, Esq., Resident Engineer at Port Colborne, Ont.; H. A. Gray, Esq., Engineer in charge of Harbour Works, Ontario, Confederation Life Building, Toronto; Charles Desjardins, Esq., Clerk of Works, Post Office Building, Montreal, and at the Department of Public Works, Ottawa.

Two forms of tenderers will be furnished but the contractors are at liberty to tender for one or both schemes.

Tenders will not be considered unless made on the form supplied and signed with the actual signature of tenderers.

An accepted cheque on a chartered bank, payable to the order of the Honourable the Minister of Public Works, for twenty-two thousand dollars must accompany each tender. In the case of parties tendering for both schemes only one cheque will be required. The cheque will be forfeited if the party tendering decline the contract or fail to complete the work contracted for, and will be returned in case of non-acceptance of tender.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

By order,
FRED. GELINAS,
Secretary.

Department of Public Works,
Ottawa, April 11, 1904.

MOUNTAIN REDUCED

By Hon. William Paterson to Proverbial Mousely Proportions.

MR. BAIN'S TABLES USED

But They Were Prepared For the Minister's Use Mr. Bain's Connection With Campaign Literature—Lively Exchange of Compliments Militia Equipment to Be Made in Canada—The Estimates.

Ottawa, April 26.—The House enjoyed one of the stormiest days of the session yesterday, the fight being renewed over the alleged writing of political literature by Mr. John Bain, the Private Secretary of the Minister of Customs. Mr. Fowler of King's, N. B., opened fire with an insinuation which Hon. Wm. Paterson quickly resented, and for three hours the speaking was fast and furious. Mr. Paterson gave a clear and satisfactory explanation of the basis of the charge, stating that some statistical tables, which Mr. Bain had prepared for him and which he had used in the House and elsewhere, had found their way into the Liberal pamphlets. This was supplemented by Mr. Alex. Johnston of Cape Breton, one of the committee of publication, who gave his word that Mr. Bain was not responsible for any of the comments in the pamphlets. Mr. Paterson and Mr. Fowler exchanged compliments, the Minister averring that Mr. Bain if turned adrift in the world would do better than the Opposition critic, while the latter referred to Mr. Paterson as a "Ministerial megaphone," and suggested employment for him in announcing the attractions of a circus tent. Earlier in the day Sir Frederick Borden informed the House of the policy of the Militia Department in the future to have their equipment made in Canada. Mr. Paterson announced last night that steps would be taken to overcome the long-standing evil which follows the undervaluation of American goods sent to Canada.

Industries in Canada.

In reply to Mr. Kemp, it was stated that according to the census of 1901 there were 14,650 industrial establishments in Canada, having a total fixed capital of $209,378,638, and a working capital of $237,537,849, employing 313,544 hands on wages and 14,403 on salary, the total amount of wages paid in the year being $89,537,201, in salaries $13,411,464; value of raw material $261,527,858; value of articles produced $481,053,375.

Mr. Clarke was informed that hogs are the only animals imported from the United States that are being slaughtered in Canada in bond.

Illegal Speculation.

Mr. Demers (St. John and Iberville), speaking in French, moved that it is opportune for the Government to immediately adopt energetic measures to put an end to the illegal speculations of the companies known as the "Compagnies de Credit" and other like enterprises. In support of the motion Mr. Demers said that one concern, the "Credit Hebdomadaire," with an authorized capital of $10,000, has weekly receipts of $60,000. The subscribers pay $1 weekly, and by lottery it is determined how many weekly payments they are required to make, the maximum number being 104. If he nets all his payments the subscriber receives back the whole of his deposit and 25 to 50 per cent. profit. If he drops out, however, he loses all he has paid in, and as the lapses are estimated to amount to from 25 to 30 per cent. of the subscribers it could easily be understood where the great profits came from.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier admitted that the companies apparently, although legally constituted, were going beyond what was intended when they received their charter. The difficulty, however, was that they held Dominion charters. He promised to call the attention of the Minister of Justice to the matter, and see what could be done to provide a remedy.

The House in Supply.

The order paper contained thirteen questions and thirty-six notices of motions by private members. Many of these were disposed of and a few allowed to stand over for various reasons, and shortly after 4 o'clock, all the business standing in the name of private members having been disposed of, the House went into Committee of Supply. The item taken up was $1,181,865 for salaries and contingent expenses of the several customs ports throughout the Dominion, an increase of $25,000. Hon. Mr. Paterson explained the items in detail, and then a long discussion ensued.

At 2.15 a.m. Sir William Mulock protested against the obstructive tactics of the Opposition, and said it was time for the House to seriously consider how best to economize the time of the House. A deadlock had arrived in their proceedings.

Senator Domville Continues.

Ottawa, April 26.—Senator Domville continued his series of attacks on the Mutual Reserve Fund Life Association in the Upper House yesterday. The matter stood over.

Sir Mackenzie Bowell moved for a return showing particulars of the business done by the Pacific cable since it opened.

Senator Scott replied that the cable could hardly be expected to pay the first year. Canada's share of the deficit was $125,000.

The Rodger divorce bill was read a third time and passed.

Died From Injuries.

Toronto, April 26.—Alexander Ross, the aged man struck by a car on Queen street on Friday, died in St. Michael's Hospital yesterday afternoon.

Muddy Complexion.

Pale, sallow, yellow skin tells of a torpid, sluggish liver and impurities in the blood which will be entirely removed when Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are used. This great medicine awakens the action of the liver, invigorates the kidneys and regulates the bowels. As a result digestion is improved, bodily pains disappear and the health is benefitted in every way.

What Tea Does to Rheumatics.

When you next take tea think of this.

Tea contains 175 grains of Uric Acid in every pound.

Meat contains only five to seven grains.

Rheumatism is Uric Acid in the blood.

Uric Acid accumulates from food when the digestive apparatus cannot create enough Alkaline elements (like soda) to neutralize it.

This Acid collects urea, or worn-out waste matter from the system.

That Urea enters the blood when Alkaline action has not previously dissolved it.

By and by the waste matter reaches the joints and muscles, through circulation of the blood.

There it gradually deposits in solid particles, like granulatted sugar.

These solid particles grind between the joints and muscles at every movement.

This grinding causes irritation and pain.

These in turn may develop inflammation and swelling. That inflammation bostirs Nature to help herself.

She proceeds to coat the hard Uric particles over with cushions of pulpy mucous, like the first healing strata of an outer sore.

This pulpy covering grows to the bones, as well as to the particles deposited. There it hardens like plaster or sealing wax. Then we have "bony joints," almost inflexible, and usually fixed in a bended position, from the pain and inflammation.

That is rheumatism at its worst.

It is bad enough before it gets that far.

There is but one sure way of curing Rheumatism. The first step is to neutralize the Uric Acid already in the system. Next, to dissolve, and carry away, the hard deposits that grind between the joints. Then get the digestive apparatus into such healthy condition that it will, unaided, produce less Uric Acid and more Alkalines.

This is what doctors generally have failed to do.

It is what I studied a lifetime to accomplish and achieved only after many failures and thousands of experiments.

At last I found in Germany, a Solvent which was not only effective, but absolutely safe to use.

Few agents powerful enough to be effective in Rheumatism are safe.

My discovery, now called "Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Cure," acts directly, but internally, upon Uric Acid in the joints and muscles.

It dissolves and carries off the painful deposits, producing an immediate Alkaline condition of the blood, and neutralizing the Acid in it which would have fed the Rheumatism and extended the disease.

It won't restore bony joints to flexibility and it can't undo, in a week, the damage caused by years of rheumatic condition.

But it will benefit every case, and it will entirely cure most cases of Rheumatism.

So sure am I of this that I will supply Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Cure, to any sick one who writes me for it, on a month's trial, at my risk.

If it succeeds, the cost to him is only $5.50 for the six bottle treatment.

If it fails, I bear the whole cost myself.

And,—he alone shall be the judge—shall decide who shall pay.

Surely you will not continue to suffer when you can thus get well, at my risk.

I have written an important treatise on Rheumatism, telling of its relief and cure.

It is free to Rheumatic people.

Write me a post card for it to-day. Address Dr. Shoop, Box 947, Racine, Wis.

P.S. Simple cases often yield to one bottle of Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Cure. (Druggists $1) But all druggists do not supply it on a month's trial. You must write to me for that. C. I. S.

MAGAZINE EXPLODED.

Demolished Three Buildings and Blew a Hole in the Ground of Forty Cubic Feet—Rare Presence of Mind.

Port Arthur, April 26.—An explosion of the Ontario Powder Company's magazine, about three miles from here, yesterday afternoon, shook the whole town and did considerable damage in Fort William, breaking plate glass in business places, and all the windows in the public school.

In the afternoon Wm. McFarland, who owns a farm near at hand, saw a fire approaching the building in which the dynamite was stored. He hurried over to the magazine and carried out forty cases and threw them in a hole filled with water and then hurried away, his family fleeing for shelter.

He had not gone far when there was a terrible explosion, and three powder buildings were demolished and a hole blown in the ground measuring forty cubic feet. The buildings later caught fire and were soon consumed. McFarland's residence, which is situated about 500 feet from the powder house, was badly wrecked, doors being blown off hinges and windows being blown out.

THE DANGER POINT.

Things Look Alarming in Hungary Owing to Labor Troubles.

Vienna, April 26.—The Hungarian situation here is regarded as alarming. The Socialists threaten to proclaim a general strike throughout the country, and if such an event it is stated in political circles, Count Tisza, the Hungarian Premier, will put the whole kingdom under martial law.

Popular excitement appears to be reaching a dangerous point, and the critical condition of affairs is further intensified by the near approach of Labor Day.

Following the tragic event at the market town of Elesd, near Gross-Wardein, Sunday, a general strike has broken out at Gross-Wardein. Even the schools are closed.

Five thousand teamsters at Budapest, 1,600 workmen at Debraczin, the chief town of the Haiduck district, and a large number at Szhegedin, the capital of the County of Czongrad, are now on strike.

A Good Word for Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

"In December, 1900, I had a severe cold and was so hoarse that I could not speak above a whisper," says Allan Davis of Frestone, N. Y. "I tried several remedies but got no relief until I used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, one bottle of which cured me. I will always speak a good word for that medicine." For sale by all druggists.

Don't Trust to Luck.

Even if there is such a thing as luck, you cannot afford to trust it in a case of sickness. You know by the experience of others that Dr. Chase's Nerve Food actually forms new blood and tissue and revitalizes the nerves, and by using it regularly you can be certain that your system is being built up and that weakness and disease are being overcome.

CLEANING HOUSE TIME

is near at hand. The question of what to do with your walls to have them sanitary, neat and attractive, has to be decided.

You will not want to use kalsomine, because after it has been on a short time it rubs off on everything that comes in contact with it; and then when you wish to do it over again comes the nasty mess of washing off the old coat, which costs as much as to put it on in the first place. Wall-paper with its mouldy paste is unsanitary, and stops wall respiration. The Doctor says, "Walls to be healthy must breathe."

THE BUCKHORN DAM.

No Danger Whatever from High Water at this Point.

A citizen who was at Buckhorn yesterday states that although there is a great head of water above the Buckhorn dam, there is no cause for anxiety, as to the safety of the structure. There are channels now through the ice, and unless a high wind comes and forces it down against the dam no trouble is anticipated at this point.

JAMES WILSON GIVEN ONE MONTH IN GAOL.

He Pleaded Hard for Liberty, but Got Time Instead

James Wilson, a well-known character about town faced Police Magistrate Dumble this morning on a charge of vagrance. Wilson has been going the pace that kills for some time, and has been sleeping in the cells at night, in fact, according to P. C. McGinty, he has occupied a cell on nearly a dozen occasions, and has been in a drunken condition around town and has made himself a nuisance.

Wilson appeared in the prisoners box in a rather delapidated condition, with a religious publication protruding from his pocket.

"Let me go this time," he sobbed bitterly, "and I will hire with a farmer."

"I will give you a month at hard labour," the Magistrate replied, "and if you are a good workman, I will probably give you six."

"Why not fine me. Your Honour, and I will pay it in half an hour."

The sentence, however, remained unchanged, and the prisoner was taken back to his cell.

RATE OF TAXATION WAS REDUCED BY HALF MILL

The General Rate for the Year 1904 Will Be 18½ Mills.

STREET WATERING EXTRA.

A Special Meeting of Town Council Last Night—Estimates for the Year Submitted — Public Works Get Reduced Appropriation.

Last night's meeting of the Council was one of the most important of the year, since at it the assessment rate for the year was struck, and the estimates of receipts and expenditures submitted by Ald. Adams, chairman of the Finance Committee.

It will be gratifying to all ratepayers to learn that for this year the general rate will be 18 1-2 mills, as compared with 19 in 1903. For those living inside the area served by the street watering contracts there will be an additional 1-2 mill on realty only. It will thus be seen that while more money will be expended this year than in 1903, the rate will be lower.

The appropriations for public works this year is $1,000 less than last year, which, with the addition of Ashburnham to the taxes, will mean that there will not be nearly as much new work undertaken this year in proportion to the population, as there was in 1903.

The hope was expressed by Ald. Adams that the Committees would not exceed their estimates of expenditures for the year. Last year two, at least, of the Committees had exceeded the estimates, and, while he believed the extra expenditure was necessary, he hoped that it would not occur in 1904.

$2,500 of the additional expenditure will be for school purposes. A total of $5,000 is being asked by the School Board, but $2,500 of this is for the Fifth Ward School, so that only half of the full amount is for extra expenditure.

A large number of bylaws were given their readings last night, and beyond this little business of importance was transacted. A letter from some of the town merchants, asking that town supplies be purchased in the town through local merchants, caused some discussion, and Ald. Edgcumbe, the Chairman of the Fire, Water and Light Committee explained his position with reference to the matters spoken of in the letter. It was pointed out that no goods were purchased out of town, which could have been bought through the local merchants with equal advantage to the town.

A special meeting of the town council was held last night, at which His Worship Mayor Roger presided, and the following aldermen were present: Messrs. Edgecumb, Rush, Mason, Adams, Batten, Best, McWilliams, Scott, Hicks and Morrison.

The minutes of the last meeting were taken as read and confirmed.

COMMUNICATIONS

From property owners, petitioning against the laying of cement sidewalks on the west side of Crescent or Lock streets, between Lake and Romaine streets.—Referred to the Board of Works.

From Mr. Burnham, saying that as he had been informed the council is unable to have the adjustment of the pavement on the corner of Brock and George streets restored to the satisfaction of parties concerned, proceedings will be taken according to law, both as to the pavement and payment of costs in case of further neglect by those severaly liable through negligence of duty.—Referred to Committee of the Whole Council.

From R. B. Rogers, asking that the grades on Stewart street and St. Luke's avenue be struck.—Referred to the Board of Works.

From Dan Foley, applying for a position on the police force should the town decide to increase said force.—Received.

From Israel Derocher, asking permission to erect a 51-2 foot verandah on the front of his dwelling, 260 and 262 Murray street.—Received.

From Thos. Kelly, asking permission to cut down four shade trees on Simcoe street and several on Downie street, for improvement purposes.—Referred to the Board of Works.

From Charles Delill, seeking the appointment as sanitary inspector. He adds that he thoroughly understands the requirements of such an office, having been in the business twenty years.—Received.

From J. J. Turner & Sons, expressing surprise that the Council is not willing to reduce or arrange their assessment.—Received.

From George Stevens, offering to sell the town seven dump carts for $200. The carts are in good working order, as used on canal, boxes and all complete.—Received.

From J. Mongraw, filing a statutory declaration that he had paid his dog tax for 1903 before moving into the Township of North Monaghan, and asking for remission of same.—Referred to the Court of Revision.

From J. J. Turner & Sons, R. McWhinnie and J. T. Stenson, protesting against the direct dealing of the Town Council with manufacturers for the various supplies of the town and claiming that the business should be done through Peterborough merchants who would then participate in a discount which corporations do not get.—Received.

Ald. Edgcumbe, in explaining the letter from the merchants asking that town supplies be purchased in town, said that in one case the goods referred to were not carried in stock by the local dealers, and in the other case, that of boots, a sample had been sent to the Fire Chief, who had pronounced them of no use for the men. The price asked was $3 while he considered they were worth $1.50. In the case of rubber coats, Ald. Edgcumbe said he understood they were not supplied to the local dealers. Rubber goods above all things should be fresh to be of good quality, and he thought the best interests of the town would be served by buying from the manufacturers. In the matter of the fire hose Mr. Turner had approached the chairman of the committee with a view of supplying it, but the sample furnished the town by his firm was totally unfit for the purpose, and Mr. Turner in explanation said that he thought the company was "guying" his firm.

REPORTS

Ald. Best presented the following report ,which was adopted.

Gentlemen,—Your Board of Works begs leave to report as follows:

1. We recommend that Mr. J. Coyle Brown be given permission to connect his house on Smith street with the George street sewer providing he builds the connection at his own expense and within 15 feet of the north line of Smith street.

2. We recommend that no action be taken on the petition of a number of ratepayers asking that the street watering should not be paid for by special rate.

3. Your board cannot recommend the sale of gravel from the Hilliard property as asked for by Mr. E. J. Hickey.

4. We recommend that no action be taken at the present time on the application of teamsters that the wages of teams working for the town be increased to $3.50 per day.

5. We recommend that Mrs. R. Stewart be given permission to connect her house on Wolfe street with the Aylmer street sewer providing she makes the connection at her own expense and within 15 feet of the north line of Wolfe street.

6. The letter received from Mr. Aubrey White, assistant Commissioner of Crown Lands, respecting the survey of the reserve along the river was referred by us to the Town Solicitor and left in his hands to deal with.

7. We recommend that the contracts for street watering be awarded to the lowest tenderers for each district, as follows: Southern district, Thos. Williams, $328; western district, George McClennan, $305; northern district, Zimri Blodgett, $343; and eastern district, Albert Valdis, $275.

8. We recommend that the request of Wm. Taylor & Co., asking for the use of that part of the Hilliard property purchased by the town south of Anson street, for a piling ground until it is required by the town, be granted.

FINANCE

The report of the Finance Committee, presented by Ald. Adams, was adopted:—

Your Finance Committee begs leave to report as follows:

1. The Mayor received a letter from Mr. Geo. L. Blatch, auditor, stating that he had exhausted the 30 days arranged for and that to complete a report on the sinking funds more time would be necessary and that the work would not cost more than $50. The Mayor consulted with the special committee and instructed Mr. Blatch to proceed with the work and your committee recommends that this action be approved.

2. We recommend that the payment of $1271,97 to the Bank of Commerce to pay the account of the Village of Ashburnham be confirmed.

3. Your committee has prepared the estimated receipts and expenditures for the current year and they will be submitted to you.

4. The sub-committee of this committee had a meeting with the water commissioners and the commissioners agreed to the following proposition: That the town be given 25 additional hydrants on existing mains and that these and the present hydrants be charged for at the rate of $30 per year, and that hydrants on new mains and extensions be charged for at the rate of $15 a year each, for the first five years after they are placed and thereafter at the rate of $30 each per year; and also that the Commissioners pay $200 a year toward office expenses.

5. Your committee considered applications for special grants and by-laws respecting them will be submitted to you.

SUPERVISION

Ald. Rush presented the following report, which was on motion adopted:—

Gentlemen: Your Supervision Committee begs leave to report and recommend as follows:

1. That with a view to increasing the efficiency of the police force telephones be ordered to be placed in the residences of Constables Adams and Stewart and that two bicycles be purchased for the police.

2. That during the time the policemen are having their holiday in the summer a supply be furnished.

3. That the contract for furnishing and caring for a refuse ground for the year beginning May 1st, 1904, be awarded to R. Penrose at $125 for the year, provided he furnishes satisfactory security.

BURNHAM'S PROPERTY SOLD

Ald. McWilliams submitted the following report, which was adopted:

Gentlemen,—Your Committee of the Whole Council beg leave to report that on April 15th your committee was informed that the Burnham property known as the Riverside Park, was about to be sold and we authorized the mayor to purchase it at the best price obtainable. Acting on this authority, the mayor offered $950.00 for the property, which be understood when he made it, would be accepted, but it was not accepted and the property was afterward sold to others.

LEGAL COMMITTEE

The following report of the Legal Committee was adopted:—

Your Legal Committee begs leave to report and recommend that the Town Solicitor be instructed to defend the action of Ormond & Walsh vs. Peterborough and to notify Ormond & Walsh that if the action is proceeded with the grating in the sidewalk for their window will be closed.

Mr. F. D. Kerr addressed the council on the question of the Trent Waterway, and called attention to the letter received by the council from Mr. D. Gilmour, of Trenton, in which he offered to supply the council with literature calculated to educate the public on the advantages of the Trent Waterway. This literature is very valuable and should be distributed throughout the country. He called particular attention to one pamphlet referring to the great benefit of the Erie Canal, which presented some very potent facts. Mr. Gilmour was anxious to have the council grant $200 for the purpose of disseminating the literature. He had been pleased on a recent trip to Ottawa to find the Members of Parliament were interested in the canal, although the knowledge possessed by them is in some cases very meagre. He hoped the council would see fit to make a grant for the purpose.

The matter was referred on the suggestion of the Mayor, to the Committee of the Whole to be dealt with.

BYLAWS.

Ald. Best moved the first reading of a bylaw providing for the watering of certain streets in the town and assess the expense for the same on the property affected, which was given its several readings and carried.

The streets to be watered this year are the same as those in the district last year. Should there be other residents who wish the street opposite their property watered this may be granted. The rate of assessment is one-half mill for this purpose. The amount of expense in connection with this work is $1,727,96, which covers the contract price, and allows a sum for wear and tear on the equipment.

Ald. Best also moved the first reading of a bylaw to let the street watering contracts for the year 1904, which was carried. The persons with whom the contracts were made have already been published.

Another bylaw was moved by Ald. Best for the purchase of Portland cement from the Lakefield Portland Cement Company was passed. This provides for the purchase of 3,000 barrels.

Bylaws providing for the construction of granolithic walks on streets already mentioned in the report of the Board of Works, were given their second readings, but the third reading will not be given until the Board of Works has had an opportunity of checking them.

A by-law presented by Ald. Rush providing for the supplying of a refuse ground for the town by R. Penrose, was given its several readings.

Ald. Adams moved the first reading of a bylaw providing for the payment of salaries of the town clerk and other officials. The town clerk is authorized to engage such assistence as he may require and pay for the same $250 per year. The Town Solicitor's salary is $700 per year, and that of the M.H.O., $375. The bylaw was passed.

A bylaw to authorize the payment of $500 to the 57th Regimental Band for the year 1904, and $75 to the Salvation Army Band, was passed. The grant to the Salvation Army was made conditionally upon them playing in the parks at the request of the Mayor. This bylaw also provides that $550 be paid to the Horticultural Society for the use of the public parks of the town.

A bylaw fixing the rate of assessment of the town for the year was given its several readings. In this bylaw the estimates for the year 1904 were given as follows:—

Estimated Revenue and Expenditure of the Town of Peterborough for the year 1904:

REVENUE

Auburn Power Co.	$ 160 00
Arrears of Taxes	125 00
Dog Tax	500 00
Licenses	5150 00

GREAT ACTIVITY IN THE LOCAL SHIP YARDS.

Preparations Being Made for a Busy Season.

The New Boat "Sovereign" Well Under Way A New Tug for Towing Purposes Other Boats Being Fitted Up.

A visit to the different shipyards at present shows that great activity prevails in marine circles, and that scores of men are busily employed building new craft and getting others in shipshape for the season's work.

At Point St. Charles Mr. Wm. Hickey, the veteran boat builder, is busily engaged on Mr. Jas. Snyder's new boat, "The Sovereign," which will probably be launched about the first week in June. This new steamer has already been referred to at length in these columns, and it promises to be a commodious craft when completed. The Bertram boiler and engine were placed in position a few days ago, and work is progressing satisfactorily, although the high water has interfered with the work somewhat.

Alongside "The Sovereign," can be seen another new craft of the alligator tug variety, upon which the finishing touches are being made. This tug is the property of Mr. Alf. McDonald, and will be used for towing purposes in connection with his lumbering operations. The craft is 45 x 10, and built of the best material obtainable. Mr. C. A. J. Duranceau installed the new boiler, which is on original ideas of his own. It is the biggest pipe boiler made in Peterborough, and the material used in its construction was secured by Mr. Duranceau in Chicago. The boiler is encased in a three inch asbestos casing, and the big steel dome is constructed of one half inch plate, double rivetted. The engine is the well known Petrie marine engine of 30 horse power. It is expected that steam will be up in a few days. A huge whistle as well as a five inch bell have also been placed in position.

The tug will be known as the "St. Charles," and it differs from the "alligator" in that the cable is wound from the stern. In shape it resembles the modern boat somewhat, its bow being spoon-shaped. The St. Charles will be propelled by a screw. It is understood the tug will be taken up the canal to the northern waters after the lift lock has been formally opened. Mr. Wm. Hickey also supervised the construction of this boat.

At the fifth ward ship yards the City of Peterborough and the Water Lily are being touched up in preparation for a brisk season's work.

The new barge which has been under construction at the fifth ward shipyard for some months is nearly completed, but Mr. Wm. Hickey, who is overseeing the work has been obliged to stop work owing to the non-delivery of the material for the flooring. The new barge, which is the property of Mr. H. Calcutt, will have a capacity of 100 tons.

GUILD ELECTS TO FILL THE VACANCIES.

Two New Officers in St. John's Young Men's Guild.

St. John's Guild, which met last night, had to consider the resignation of two of its most important officers. Mr. W. H. Cluxton, who for some time has very acceptably filled the office of president, on being elected as church warden, resigned from his office in the Guild. Mr. H. A. Littledale, the indefatigable secretary-treasurer, also placed his resignation before the meeting. Mr. Littledale's resignation was made necessary by his departure from town. Both resignations were accepted with regret by the Guild, and successors were elected. Mr. C. G. Graham was chosen as president, and Mr. John Petts as secretary-treasurer. These gentlemen accepted the positions and promised to work for the success of the Guild during the coming season. Great satisfaction was expressed by members on the wise choice of the Guild in their executive, which now consists of those elected last night with Mr. J. G. Bell, vice-president, and a bright future is in store for the Young Men's Guild. Plans for the work of the coming season were discussed, and it was decided to call a meeting for next Monday night, when the question of sports for the summer will be discussed. The Guild will again this year have charge of the arrangements for the Sunday School picnic, and will also conduct other social picnics for the young people of the church.

Rev. Mr. Davidson, who was present, expressed his appreciation of the work of the Guild and counselled the members to support the new officers.

The Band Concert.

The announcement that the 57th Regt. SCHOLARLY ADDRESS ON THE BARD OF AVON.

Rev. Father Galvin Delivered a Delightful Lecture in the T. A. S. Rooms.

A Large Audience Present – Good Programme Provided and a Clever Address Given.

Rev. Father Galvin established himself as a student of Shakspere last evening, when he lectured before a crowded hall in the T.A.S. Rooms, on the character and writings of the celebrated Bard of Avon.

The Reverend gentleman's address was a scholarly and eloquent one, was a beautiful tribute to the transcendent genius of the great dramatist, and without doubt one of the choicest literary treats the T.A.S. ever provided.

Mr. Frank Pope acted as chairman during the evening and presented a choice programme consisting of an instrumental duet by the Misses Dorris, vocal solo by Mr. Bert Scott, recitations by Miss Carrie White and Mr. George Lynch and step dancing by Mr. S. Houlihan.

Rev. Father Galvin, who was received with applause, began his address as follows:—

Dramas are representations by action and dialogue of interesting occurrences in life, or of eventful portions of the lives of communities of individuals. They are composed chiefly for presentation in the theatre, and it is to their success there that the author looks when writing them. However, if the dramatist be a consummate master of his art, he will, with his performance, do more than simply draw our attention, and awaken the sympathy of our passions. To attain excellence in this line of composition, a writer must possess a profound knowledge of us and our nature, and display it in his portrayals of character. That is, his characterization of human life must be consistent with the workings of nature. The play then as a whole, in which everything is true to nature, will be the development, of some great moral truth. Such being the case, a great dramatist must certainly exert a wholesome influence through his works by the moral lessons he teaches us.

Now, Shakespeare has always been acknowledged to have been a great master of the dramatic art. His works met with favourable regards from his contemporaries and posterity has placed him prominent among the greatest dramatists the world has ever produced. Being one of the world's greatest dramatists he must necessarily be one of the world's greatest moralists, as morality is one of the essential requisites of a great drama, and comes as the result of the dramatist's mastery of his art.

Anyone who has read the masterpieces of Shakespeare must have been impressed with the healthy moral tone that pervades them. Let just here let us note briefly the signification of the expression "moral tone," and let us remember that between a moral and moralizing spirit in a work, an important difference exists, a difference that is well illustrated by the plays of the great English master. To say that he was a great moralist does not mean that into the mouths of his characters he is continually thrusting moral reflection or some exhortance to the practice of virtue. His individual speeches and his soliloquies do often contain grand and noble lessons, it is true, but it is not to them that we are to look for the moral teachings that are attributed to him. His morality consists in the principles he enunciates and which he developes in the plot of his dramas. He never defies vice, but on the contrary he elicits our sympathy on the side of virtue, and always shows us that the truly noble characters, the characters he would hold up to us for imitation are also truly virtuous characters.

A short examination of three of his works will suffice to establish the truth of these remarks.

Looking first at the Merchant of Venice, we find a great moral lesson there taught us. This play is one of the author's efforts in the comic line, bordering a little, however, on the tragic. The scene is partly at Venice and partly at Belmont. Portia is a rich young lady. A death bed request of her father bars her the right of voluntarily choosing a husband for herself. In one of the three caskets her father has placed her picture, and has decreed that the first one of her suitors who shall choose the right casket shall have her as his bride. The suitors for her hand come thick and fast, and while the gate is shut upon one wooer another knocks at the door.

Three of them in particular claim our attention. The first is the Prince of Morocco, a man whose complexion is of a hue too dark to suit most ladies. He enters Portia's presence, and the following dialogue ensues between them: "Mislike me not," the prince says, "for my complexion," etc., Act II. sc. 7.

Dinner over, the hazard is made. The three caskets are shown the prince, and he begins to take his choice. "The first of gold," he says, "who this inscription bears, who chooseth me," etc. Act II. sc. 7.

The second suitor is the Prince of Arragon. From the following passage we learn his fate. "Behold," says Portia, etc. Act II. sc. 9.

The third suitor is Bassanio, the best deserving of a fair lady, and who from Portia's eyes had once received "fair speechless messages." This Bassanio, in order to enable him to hold a rival place among the "renowned suitors" that present themselves daily at her house, is obliged to borrow money. An appeal is made to a friend of his, a merchant at Venice, Antonio, by name. Unfortunately all of Antonio's money is invested in ventures at sea; but confident of their success, he has resource to a Jew for the amount required. The Jew is an enemy of Antonio's, and has often been insulted by him. Nevertheless he consents to the loan. He may by this be enabled to devise some plan for having revenge for all the wrong he suffered. "In merry jest," as it were, he has Antonio sign a bond whereby he may claim a pound of the merchant's flesh if the money be not paid by a certain day. Bassanio is now sufficiently supplied with money. He prosecutes his suit with success, and luckily chooses the right casket. Portia is delighted, for Bassanio, of all her suitors, pleased her best. While still at the house of his prospective bride, word comes to him of the failure of Antonio's ventures at sea, and of the Jew's obstinate determination to claim his pound of flesh. No time is lost; Portia starts Bassanio off, supplied with money to pay the Jew several times over, while she herself decides to do all in his power to free Antonio. Conscious of her own abilities she takes it into her head to go and plead personally on his behalf. She finally succeeds in setting Antonio free.

A continuation of the reverend gentleman's paper will be published tomorrow.

PRETTY WEDDING IN ST. JOHN'S CHURCH.

Miss Margaret Ida Elliott Married to Mr. W. G. Howden.

A quiet wedding was solemnized last night in St. John's church, at 8.30, when Miss Margaret Ida Elliott, second daughter of Thomas Elliott, was united in marriage to Mr. Wm. G. Howden, by the Rev. J. C. Davidson. Although the wedding was intended to be quiet a number of the friends of the contracting parties were in attendance at the church.

The bride, who was becomingly attired, was attended as bridesmaid by her sister, Miss Louise Elliott, while Mr. Jack Cocks acted as groomsman.

After the ceremony the bride and groom went immediately to the G. T.R. station where they took the 9.10 train for the south. On their return Mr. and Mrs. Howden will reside in town. They start out in their married life with the best wishes of their large circle of friends.

The bride was the recipient of a large number of very handsome and costly presents.

THE SOCIAL WORLD.

Interesting Personal Items Gathered by Reporters.

Mrs. John Jayes leaves this evening to visit friends in Toronto.

Mr. J. E. Hodgson of Toronto, Inspector of Collegiate Institutes, is in town to-day inspecting the local Institute.

Dr. Austin, principal of the Wm. Smith College, Geneva, N.Y., is spending a few days in town visiting his brother, Mr. W. C. Austin, Weller street.

Rev. A. H. Brace and Rev. J. Bastow, M.A., left for Port Hope at noon to-day, when they will deliver addresses at the Quarterly Conference of the Peterborough Association of Pastors and Deacons.

Mr. H. A. Littledale, who for about fifteen months has filled a position on the reportorial staff of the Examiner, left this morning for Winnipeg, where he has accepted a good position on the Winnipeg Tribune. Mr. Littledale was until his departure from town, secretary of the Old Country Wanderers' Football Club, and secretary of St. John's Young Men's Guild, both of which organizations will sustain a loss by his departure from town.

PUBLIC MEETING FOR TEMPERANCE.

Rev. Dr. Abraham will Address Meeting in Y. M. C. A. To-night.

The public meeting to-night in Y. M.C.A. Hall promises to be of great interest to this community at the present time. The Rev. Dr. R. H. Abraham, Field Secretary of the Dominion Alliance for the Suppression of the Liquor Traffic, will discuss the question of the voters' league as an important factor towards the abolition of the bar. Everybody is invited and the opportunity will be given for questions and discussion.

THE ACADEMY OF MUSIC

Manager Small of the Grand, Toronto will Visit Town.

Manager Small, of the Grand Opera House, Toronto, is expected in town any day to have a consultation with the promoters of the local Academy of Music. There seems to be no difficulty in raising the necessary stock for the building of the proposed structure, and the visit of Mr. Small to town, it is understood, is for the purpose of discussing with the directors, matters relating to the management of the play house, and the arranging of the details preparatory to beginning active operations.

THE MASTER PLUMBERS ASSOCIATION FORMED.

Local Plumbers Visited by Provincial President

Mr. W. Mansell, Provincial President of the Master Plumbers' Association was in town a few days ago and organized a branch of the above association. The object of this Association, it is understood, is to fix a standard price for all plumbing.

The following are the officers of the local Association:—

President—C. A. J. Duranceau.
Vice-President—R. J. Sutherland.
Secretary-Treasurer—R. Sturgeon.
Financial Secretary—E. M. Best.
Committee—Messrs. D. McGregor, R. J. Sutherland, R. Sturgeon, Dobbin & Adamson, Best and Duranceau.

THE WOOD QUESTION; AN IMPORTANT ONE.

The Local Wood Yards Deluged with Orders for Wood.

The scarcity of wood for the past few months has been a source of considerable dissatisfaction not only to the consumer, but also to the local wood merchants who have been unable to supply the large number of orders on their books.

Nor is the situation improving. Many are still using coal, and the wood yards are unable to state when the famine will end. A local wood dealer stated this morning that there is no wood in the district. While another has assured his customers that he will be able to partly meet the great demand for fuel as soon as the ice moves out of the back lakes, and navigation opens, as several hundred cords are at present standing on the shores of Stony Lake.

The Dickson Company is at present shipping mill wood to town from their mills at Lakefield, which is being disposed of at a surprising rate.

7 Sutherland Sisters Hair Grower

GREW THIS HAIR

Testimonial No. 422.

MISS NORA GASTAGER
2108 Centre Ave., Pittsburg, Pa.

When the scalp throws off either dandruff or a gummy substance, it is an evidence of scalp disease, and no time should be lost in correcting it. You certainly would not hesitate to take treatment were you to look at this matter through a magnifying glass. When highly magnified it resembles a working mass of insects. These creatures absorb the nutriment or life-sap of the scalp causing the scalp to become dry and feverish, resulting in the loss of hair and finally baldness. Seven Sutherland Sisters' Hair Grower and Scalp Cleaner works wonders in all such cases. It thoroughly eradicates all trace of scalp bacteria and makes the hair grow unusually long, strong and beautiful. One 50-cent bottle is enough to show you that it will do all this and even more. NOW at all druggists, two sizes, 50c. and $1.00 per bottle.

RUSSIA'S ROUGH RIDERS

THE CZAR'S FAMOUS COSSACKS AND THEIR FIGHTING QUALITIES.

Their Spirit and Training Not Conscripts, Although Their Service Is Really Obligatory—Mount Has No Superior for Its Purpose, and the Cossack Knows How to Ride From Infancy Devotion to the Czar.

Great things are expected by the Russians of their Cossack cavalry in the impending land conflicts in the Far East. In fact, it is on this arm of the service that the Czar places his greatest reliance. Russia's preponderance over Japan in the matter of cavalry is enormous, and the bulk of the Russian Cavalry is Cossack. It is doubtful if there is any other Russian Cavalry in Manchuria, Northern Corea and the Yalu Valley, where the first battle is likely to take place, are wild, and the distances are great, just the sort of country for the rough riders of the Russian steppes, while the Japanese horses are small and lacking in stamina.

COSSACK CHARGING.

It is understood that Japan's total mounted force is but 10,000, and the difficulties of transportation render it improbable that more than a small proportion of this force has been or will be introduced into the Hermit Kingdom. According to the latest official statistics, Russia has 150 regiments of Cossack Cavalry. Of course these are not all in Manchuria now, but there are enough of them there to make Japan's cavalry practically useless except for outpost duty.

In these days of fast carrying powder and magazine rifles cavalry has lost much of its old time importance, but the Russians have not abandoned their belief in the ability of the mounted Cossacks to more than hold their own against infantry.

There is nothing in the military establishment of any other power which can be compared with the Cossacks, except perhaps the bashi-bazouks of the Sultan. The Cossacks are not conscripts, though their service is really obligatory. Descendants of the wild hordes which once roamed eastern Russia and Siberia, free or subject in a mild degree to the great Khan of Tartary, they have been subjugated into a vast, unified and intensely loyal army. Soldiering is their whole life. In return for grants of land and exemption from taxes they are called upon to serve fifteen years in the Imperial forces, providing their own arms, horses and equipments.

So great is their military enthusiasm that for a Cossack to attempt to evade his duty is almost unknown. Even if he wanted to escape the call to arms he would not dare to try, for the women of his family would tear his eyes out if there were no male members of his household to execute punishment on him. The soldier may not sell the land which he receives as his pay for following the colors, but while he is away his family cultivates his holding. Until recently the Cossack lands were so productive that the soldiers had no difficulty in "finding themselves," but now it is reported that this part of their duty to the Czar has become a serious burden, especially in regard to the horses.

The Cossack's mount has no superior for the purpose for which it is intended, and the Cossack knows how to ride from infancy. At the age of three he is placed astride a horse in the courtyard of his father's dwelling, and at five he rides through the village street and exercises with his young comrades. At twelve he is part of the beast which carries him. At the age of nineteen he joins his regiment and takes the oath. Between that age and twenty-two his time is occupied with instruction and horse service. From twenty-two to thirty-four he serves in the second division of the army and is liable to service away from home, being a full fledged soldier. From thirty-four to thirty-nine he is in the reserve and remains at home on furlough, being called out only to fill gaps in the second division in the event of war. Mobilization of the Cossack forces not in active service is easily accomplished. A courier of the Czar dashes through the Cossack villages with a red flag in the daytime and a red lantern at night, as the Scotch clansman rode the mountains with the flaming cross, crying "The Emperor calls you—mobilization!" And every Cossack hurries at once to the nearest rendezvous, taking his horse and equipment with him.

The Cossack in his own wild way has the greatest devotion to the Czar. He is not bound by the rules of discipline which fetter the Russian line, but he possesses the same unquestioning spirit of obedience which characterizes the regulars. He fights more in the Asiatic than the European style, on the principle that "he who fights and runs away will live to fight another day," but he runs away merely to have a better chance to attack by and by. It is by harassing the enemy and tiring him out that he overcomes him. But put a band of Cossacks in a tight corner and they will fight with the ferocity of their barbarian ancestors till the last one is cut down. Cowardice in action meets with immediate vengeance from the coward's comrades. A story is told in Turkestan of a Cossack officer who was tortured to death by his men for trying to avoid a fight with a superior force of Turcomans during one of Skobeleff's campaigns.

Cossack military training comprises two chief branches, that of handling the horse and using either sword or gun with equal facility. The horse exercises prescribed by the regular code are hazardous in the extreme, but to these is added a series of "volunteer" exercises so dangerous that only the best riders are permitted to try them, and that as a great privilege. Among the commonplace exercises are hurdle racing on the part of men armed with sword and gun, shooting from every imaginable position, as turning backward in the saddle or using the horse as a bulwark. This "stunt" is particularly interesting. The Cossacks approach at a mad gallop, come to a sudden stop and jump from their horses, while the latter, as carefully trained as the men, lie down without a word and

The voluntary exercises would give flanks.

The voluntary exercises would give fame to a circus performer. The men jump from horse to horse as they gallop wildly along, jump from the horse to the ground and back again, pick up small objects from the ground in full career, stand upright in the saddle and throw the spear and stand on their heads on the horse's back while charging over the open field. In this last exercise the Cossack supports himself by pressing one shoulder against the saddle and holding to the stirrups with his hands. Frequent cases of broken necks do not diminish the number of candidates for these perilous exhibitions. The saddle used by the Cossacks is higher than that used by any one else, and the stirrups are hung on shorter straps, which would seem to be a handicap.

There are eleven divisions of Cossacks, the chief being the Cossacks of the Don, who are the most Russianized. It is from this division that the Cossacks of the guard are drawn. The personal escort of the Czar is composed of the Cossacks of the Kouban and the Terek. The Cossacks have rendered invaluable service to the crown in holding Siberia against the Asiatics, and it was the Cossacks who won Siberia for the Czar in the first place. Yermak, the great hero of the Don Cossacks, who entered the service of the Stroganoffs, a wealthy Russian family, in the sixteenth century, explored and conquered all western Siberia, meeting his death on the frontier at the hands of a Tartar chief. From that time the history of the Cossacks is closely connected with that of Russian progress eastward.

Besides the cavalry, there are eighteen battalions of infantry made up of Cossacks and 44 batteries.

LIFTING THE BURDEN

With a Gentle Hand—ANTI-PILL.

Woman's life is a battle with nerves that sap strength and energy. Shattered nerves aggravate and promote chronic troubles. There is no time in a woman's life Anti-Pill fails to do good.

When the sleep is restless, food causes distress, headache or dizziness, pains in the side or back, indigestion, palpitation, appetite poor, constipated, all tired out, depressed—just one trial of Dr. Leonhardt's ANTI-PILL will "lighten the burden" that is dragging you down. It begins its work in the stomach from which the blood is fed and the nerves controlled.

ANTI-PILL embraces a new principle. Its effects are different from anything else, and there is no mistaking its wonderful influence. Dr. Leonhardt has prepared the formula entirely free from the injurious ingredients common to present day Pills, etc. It is the ideal system treatment. Price, 50 cents per box of dealers, or by addressing WILSON-FYLE Co., Niagara Falls, Ontario, who will also mail free sample to any address.

A JAPANESE BABY.

Its Place Is Strapped to the Back of an Older Baby.

The babies of all except the richest Japanese are carried about on the back of an elder sister or brother from the time they are a few months old. The poorer the parents the sooner the baby is fastened on to the back of some elder member of the family, and it is not uncommon in the poorer quarters of a Japanese city to see a group of children six or eight years old playing in the streets, each of whom bears a tiny baby sister or brother fastened with a few straps to its back.

These straps are just sufficient to prevent the baby from falling to the ground, leaving the comfort of its posture entirely to its own exertions. As a result the Japanese baby early gains a surprising control of its muscles, and it is almost impossible to drop even a tiny child from your arms, so firmly does it cling on with both arms and legs.

The dressing of a Japanese baby is a simple matter. It wears nothing but miniature kimonos, the number varying with the condition of the weather. These garments are fitted one inside the other before they are put on. Then they are laid down on the floor, and baby is laid into them. They are long enough to cover the baby's feet, and the sleeves are also long enough to cover the hands. Practically there is only one garment, and the process of dressing a Japanese baby takes but two or three minutes of its mother's time.

AN INTERRUPTED SERMON.

Preaching Under Difficulties in an English Church.

In "A Preacher's Story of his Work," Dr. Rainsford tells of some strange interruptions he encountered while preaching one of his earliest sermons in the English cathedral town of Norwich.

Dr. Rainsford was in the middle of his sermon when he chanced to look down from the high pulpit to where the members of the choir were seated in a large boxlike pew, screened from the congregation by a curtain. Much to the preacher's surprise, one of the men in the choir put his arm around a girl, drew her head down on his shoulder and then looked up at Dr. Rainsford and winked.

The preacher stopped his sermon, walked down out of the pulpit and told the rector the members of the choir were acting outrageously. The rector walked up to the pew, drew down the curtain with a jerk and exposed the spooning couple to the view of the congregation.

Then Dr. Rainsford resumed his sermon. A minute later he chanced to look down the main aisle, and there, walking in solemn procession, were a hen and a dozen chicks. To crown it all, when the sexton tried to drive them out he was so drunk he fell right on top of the hen. And then from his place the old rector cried out:

"Let her alone, John; she is doing no harm!"

A Curious Ferry.

Captain Hambro, while traveling among the Kazaks of Turkestan, discovered a curious way of taking a heavily laden boat across a broad river. The method consisted in piling up the boat as full as it would hold without sinking of all the persons and all their baggage that it was desired to take across. Then the boat was launched. There were no oars and no sails. The motive power was supplied by the horses, the cattle, the sheep and the goats of the nomadic and pastoral people swimming in front and alongside and so by degrees that were far more slow than they were sure towing the boat to the other side. In one instance which Captain Hambro mentions the river that a party crossed in this manner was 200 yards wide.

Lack of Education.

One of the most pitiable tragedies in human life is that of strong young men and young women letting their powers go to waste for lack of education. Many of them lament their ignorance, but excuse it on the ground of "no chance" or opportunity. Such excuses in a land which teems with chances deceive no one but those who make them.—Success.

Public Spirited.

Little James (who has an inquiring mind)—Father, what do they mean when they call a man public spirited? Professor Broadley—Why, it usually means that he is very liberal in endeavoring to persuade other people to spend their money bountifully for the public good.

THE ESKIMO DOG.

He Never Knows the Luxury of a Shelter or a Bed.

The Eskimo dog from his birth to his death, which in many instances is a violent one, never knows the luxury of shelter or a bed. He spends his existence outdoors and appears to be far more comfortable in winter than in summer. The pups when hardly able to toddle instinctively show an ambition to run with sleighs (they never bark) and join with their treble squeals the enthusiastic chorus of howls with which the Eskimo dog invariably greets the first fall of snow. The ambition of the young dogs is soon taken advantage of by the Eskimos.

The little fellows are hitched to sleds in company with full grown dogs, and to prevent them from being run over they are tied by the neck to the towline, so that when the run starts out they are compelled to keep up or be dragged by the team. This simple though brutal method of training is very effective, and after one or two runs the young dog understands what is wanted of him. Even before he is full grown he is thoroughly conversant with his duties.

Little Bill's Luck.

It is not probable that superstition will ever receive its deathblow, but now and then it gets jogged a bit. Two cockneys met not long ago, says Good Words, in a London thoroughfare.

"I've just 'eard that your little Bill got run over," said one. "'Ow did it 'appen?"

"'E was picking up a 'orseshoe for luck," replied little Bill's father.

All Down.

Mrs. Newlywed—Doctor, that bottle of medicine you left for baby is all gone. Doctor—Impossible! I told you to give him a teaspoonful once an hour. Mrs. Newlywed—Yes, but John and I and mother and the nurse have each to take a teaspoonful, too, in order to induce baby to take it.—Puck.

Making Himself Safe First.

"What are you plunging back in the water for, Pat? You just swam ashore."

"Shure, Oi had to save meself first. Now Oi'm goin' back to fetch Moike."

If you will try to climb to the top of the ladder, be careful not to tumble off or make yourself ridiculous.

Lame Back for Four Months.

Was Unable to Turn in Bed Without Help.

Plasters and Liniments No Good.

This was the experience of Mr. Benjamin Stewart, Zionville, N.B.

TWO-THIRDS OF A BOX OF

Doan's Kidney Pills

CURED HIM.

He tells of his experience in the following words: "For four months I was troubled with a lame back and all this time was unable to turn in bed without help. I tried plasters and liniments of all kinds but with no effect. At last I was induced to try Doan's Kidney Pills, and by the time I had used two-thirds of a box my back was as well and as strong as ever and has kept so ever since."

Backache, Frequent Thirst, Scanty, Cloudy, Thick or Highly Colored Urine, Puffing under the Eyes, Swelling of the Feet and Ankles, are all symptoms of kidney trouble that Doan's Kidney Pills will cure.

Purified by Suffering

BY MARY J. HOLMES.

She was rocking to and fro in her grief, with her hands pressed over her face, and for a long time she sat thus, while the sun crept on farther towards the west and the freshened breeze shook the tasseled pine above her head and kissed the bands of rich brown hair, from which her hat had fallen. She did not heed the lapse of time, nor hear the footsteps coming up the pathway to the ledge where she was sitting, the footstep which paused at intervals, as if the comer were weary, or in quest of some one, but which at last came on with rapid bounds as an opening among the trees showed where Helen sat. It was a tall young man who came, a young man sun burned and scarred, with uniform soiled and worn, but with the fire in his brown eyes unquenched, the love in his true heart unchanged, save as it was deeper, more intense for the years of separation, and the long, cruel suspense, which was all over now. The grave had given up its dead, the captive was released, and through incredible suffering and danger had reached his Northern home, had sought and found his girl-wife of a few hours, for it was Mark Ray speeding up the path, and holding back his breath as he came close to the bowed form upon the rock, feeling a strange throb of awe when he saw the mourning dress, and knew it was worn for him. A moment more, and she lay in his arms, white and insensible, for with the sudden winding of his arms around her neck, the pressure of his lips upon her cheek, the calling of her name, and the knowing it was really her husband, she had uttered a wild, impassioned cry, half of terror, half of joy, and fainted entirely away, just as she did when told that he was dead! There was no water near, but with loving words and soft caresses Mark brought her back to life, raining both tears and kisses upon the dear face which had grown so white and thin since the Christmas eve when the wintry starlight had looked down upon their parting. For several moments neither could speak for the great choking joy which wholly precluded the utterance of a word. Helen was the first to rally. With her head lying in Mark's lap and pillowed on Mark's arm, she whispered:

"Let us thank God together. You, too, have learned to pray."

Reverently Mark bent his head to hers, and the pine boughs overhead heard, instead of mourning notes, a prayer of praise, as the reunited wife and husband fervently thanked God, who had brought them together again.

Not until nearly a half hour was gone, and Helen had begun to realize that the arm which held her so tightly was genuine flesh and blood, and not mere delusion, did she look up into the face, glowing with so much of happiness and love. Upon the forehead, and just beneath the hair, there was a savage scar, and the flesh about it was red and angry still, showing how sore and painful it must have been, and making Helen shudder as she touched it with her lips, and said:

"Poor, darling Mark! that's where the cruel ball entered; but where is the other scar—the one made by the man who went to you in the fields. I have tried so hard not to hate him for firing at a fallen foe."

"Rather pray for him, darling. Bless him as the saviour of your husband's life, the noble fellow but for whom I should not have been here now, for he was a Unionist, as true to the old flag as Abraham himself," Mark Ray replied; and then, as Helen looked wonderingly at him, he laid her head in an easier position upon his shoulder, and told her a story so strange in its details, that but for the frequent occurrence of similar incidents, it would be pronounced wholly unreal and false."

"Of what he suffered in the Southern prisons he did not speak, either then or ever after, but began with the day when, with a courage born of desperation, he jumped from the moving train and was shot down by the guard. Partially stunned, he still retained sense enough to know when a tall form bent over him, and to hear the rough but kindly voice which said:

"Play 'possum, Yank. Make b'lieve you're dead, and throw 'em off the scent."

This was the last he knew for many weeks, and when again he woke to consciousness he found himself on the upper floor of a dilapidated hut, which stood in the centre of a little wood, his bed a pile of straw, over which was spread a clean patch-work quilt, while seated at his side, and watching him intently, was the same man who had bent over him in the field, and shouted to the rebels that he was dead.

"I shall never forget my sensations then," Mark said, "for with the exception of this present hour, when I hold you in my arms, and know the danger is over, I never experienced a moment of greater happiness and rest than when, up in that squalid garret, I came back to life again, the pain in my head all gone, and nothing left save a delicious feeling of languor, which prompted me to lie quietly for several minutes, examining my surroundings, and speculating upon the chance which brought me there. That I was a prisoner I did not doubt, until the old man at my side said to me cheerily:

"Well, old chap, you've come through it like a major, though I was mighty dubus a spell about that pesky ball. But old Aunt Bab and me fished it out, and since then you've begun to mend."

"'Where am I? Who are you?' I asked, and he replied: 'Who be I? Why, I'm Jack Jennins, the rarinest, redhotedest Secesh there is in these yer parts, so the Rebs thinks; but 'twixt you and me, boy, I'm the tallest kind of a Union—got a piece of the old flag sewed inside of my boots, and every night before sleepin' I prays the Lord to gin Abe the victory, and raise Cain generally in t'other camp, and forgive Jack Jennins for tellin' so many lies, and makin' b'lieve he's one thing when you know and he knows he's t'other. If I've spared one Union chap, I'll bet I have a hundred, me and old Bab, a black woman who lives here and tends to the cases I fotch her, till we contrive to git 'em inter Tennessee, whar they hev to shift for themselves.'

"For three weeks longer I staid up in that loft, and in that time three more escaped prisoners were brought there, and one Union refugee from North Carolina. We left in company one wild, rainy night, when the storm and darkness must have been sent for special protection, and Jack Jennings cried like a little child when he bade me good-bye, promising, if he survived the war, to find his way to the North and visit me in New York.

"We found these Unionists everywhere, and especially among the mountains of Tennessee, where, but for their timely aid, we had surely been recaptured. With blistered feet and bruised limbs we reached the lines at last, when fever attacked me for the second time, and brought me near to death. Somebody wrote to you, but you never received it, and when I grew better I would not let them write again, as I wanted to surprise you. As soon as I was able I started North, my thoughts full of the joyful meeting in store—a meeting which I dreaded too, for I knew you must think me dead, and I felt so sorry for you, my darling, knowing, as I did, you would mourn for your soldier husband. That my darling has mourned is written on her face, and needs no words to tell it; but that is over now," Mark said, folding his wife closer to him, and kissing the pale lips, while he told her how, arriving at Albany, he had telegraphed to his mother asking where Helen was.

"In Silverton," was the reply, and so he came on in the morning train, meeting his mother in Springfield as he had half expected to do, knowing that she could leave New York in time to join him there.

Those were happy moments which they passed together upon that ledge of rocks, happy enough to atone for all the dreadful past, and when at last they rose and slowly retraced their steps to the farm-house, it seemed to Mark that Helen's cheeks were rounder than when he found her, while Helen knew that the arm on which she leaned was stronger than when it first encircled her an hour or two before.

CHAPTER LI.

In the same train with Mrs. Banker and Mark, Bell Cameron came with Bob, but father Cameron was not able to come, he would gladly have done so if he could, and he sent his blessing to Katy with the wish that she might be very happy in her second married life. This message Bell gave to Katy, and then tried to form some reasonable excuse for her mother's and Juno's absence, for she could not tell how haughtily both had declined the invitation. Juno finding fault because Katy had not waited longer than two years, and Mrs. Cameron blaming her for being so very vulgar as to be married at home, instead of in church. On this point Katy herself had been a little disquieted, feeling how much more appropriate it was that she be married in the church, but shrinking from standing again a bride at the same altar where she had once before been made a wife. She could not do it, she finally decided, there would be too many harrowing memories crowding upon her mind, and as Morris did not particularly care where the ceremony was performed, it was settled that it should be at the house, even though Mrs. Deacon Bannister did say that "she had supposed Dr. Grant too High Church to do anything so Presbyterianny as that."

Bell's arrival at the farm-house was timely; for the unexpected appearance in their midst of one whom they looked upon as surely dead had stunned and bewildered the family to such an extent that it needed the presence of just such a matter-of-fact, self-possessed woman as Bell, to bring things back to their original shape. It was wonderful how the city girl fitted into the vacant niches, seeing to everything which needed seeing to, and still finding time to steal away alone with Lieutenant Bob, who kept her in a painful state of blushing, by constantly wishing it was his bridal night as well as Dr. Grant's, and by inveighing against the weeks which must intervene, ere the day appointed for the grand ceremony, to take place in Grace Church, and which was to make Bell his wife.

* * *

"Come in here, Helen, I have something to show you," Mrs. Banker said, after she had again embraced and wept over her long lost son, whose return was not quite real yet; and leading her daughter-in-law to her bed room, she showed her the elegant white silk which had been made for her just after her marriage, two years before, and which, with careful forethought, she had brought with her, as more suitable now for the wedding than Helen's mourning weeds.

"I made the most of my time last night, after receiving Mark's telegram, and had it modernized somewhat," she said. "And I brought your jewels, for you will be most as much a bride as Katy, and I have a pride in seeing my son's wife appropriately dressed."

Softly the night shadows fell around the farm-house, and in the rooms below a rather mixed group was assembled—all the elite of the town, with many of Aunt Betsy's neighbors, and the doctor's patients, who had come to see their physician married, rejoicing in his happiness, and glad that the mistress of Linwood was not to be a stranger, but the young girl who had grown up in their midst, and who, by suffering and sorrow, had been moulded into a noble woman, worthy of Dr. Grant. She was ready now for her second bridal, in her dress of white, with no vestige of color in her face, and her great blue eyes shining with a brilliancy which made them almost black. Occasionally, as her thoughts leaped backward over a period of almost six years, a tear trembled on her long eyelashes, but Morris kissed it away, asking if she were sorry.

"Oh, no, not sorry that I am to be your wife," she answered; "but it is not possible that I should forget entirely the roughness of the road which has led me to you."

"They are waiting for you," was said several times, and down the stairs passed Mark Ray and Helen, Lieutenant Bob and Bell, with Dr. Grant and Katy, whose face, as she stood again before the clergyman and spoke her marriage vows, shone with a strange, peaceful light, which made it seem to those who gazed upon her like the face of some pure angel.

In heavy rustling silk, which actually trailed an inch, and cap of real lace, Aunt Betsy moved among the crowd, her face glowing with the satisfaction she felt at seeing her neices so much admired, and her heart so full of good will and toleration that after the supper was over and she fancied a few of the younger ones were beginning to feel tired, she suggested to Bell that she might start a dance if she had a mind to, either in the kitchen or the parlor, it did not matter where, and "Ephraim would not care an atom," a remark which brought from Mrs. Deacon Bannister a most withering look of reproach, and slightly endangered Aunt Betsy's standing in the church.

Hospitality.

I pray you, O excellent wife, cumber not yourself and me to get a curiously rich dinner for the man and woman who have just alighted at our gate! * * * These things, if they are desirous of them, they can get for a few shillings at any village inn. But rather let that stranger see, if he will, in your looks, accents and behavior, your heart and earnestness, your thought and will, that which he cannot buy at any price in any city and which he may travel miles and dine sparely and sleep hardly to behold.—Emerson.

Browning's Modesty.

The only son of Robert Browning and his illustrious wife was a diligent art student when he grew to manhood. He was believed to have a promising career, but once when the father was showing a friend some of his son's pictures he expressed a fear that he might suffer from the high hopes built upon him.

"He is placed at a disadvantage," said Browning. Then he explained further, in a phrase as modest as any ever uttered by a great man:

"People expect much from him, you see, because he had such a clever mother."

Halloween.

Halloween, or the eve of All Hallows day (Nov. 1), was a heathen festival adopted by Christianity. It was the Roman feast of Pomona, goddess of fruits and seeds. About the same time of the year the Druids in a festival to the sun celebrated in thanksgiving for the harvest.

Mrs. I. W. Warner, Riverdale, N.S., is glad there is such a remedy as

Burdock Blood Bitters.

IT CURED HER AND WILL CURE YOU.

She says: "I wish to add my testimony to the many others who have spoken so highly as to the unfailing virtues of Burdock Blood Bitters. I was all run down, had no appetite, lost all ambition, could not sleep much and had terrible headache and backache, and my food did not digest properly. I saw B.B.B. advertised, so concluded to give it a trial, thinking if it did no good it could do no harm. But after using one bottle I began to feel better, and by the time I had used three bottles I was feeling like a new person. I am so glad there is such a remedy provided for suffering humanity, and cannot praise it enough for I think there is no medicine like it on the market."

HOW HEALTH IS GAINED

The story of a great deal of the unhappiness of women is a story of lost health. Women wonder how it is that little by little the form loses plumpness, the cheeks grow hollow and sallow, and they feel tired and worn-out all the time. In a large proportion of cases when women are weak, run-down and falling off in flesh and looks, the root of the trouble can be traced to womanly diseases which undermine the general health. The proof of this is that women who have been cured of painful womanly diseases by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription have recovered their general health, gained in flesh and in appearance.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription cures the womanly diseases which sap the general health. It establishes regularity, dries weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness.

"I suffered for three years with ovarian trouble," writes Mrs. Anna Quinn (Treasurer Woman's Athletic Club), of 60 Sycamore St., Milwaukee, Wis. "The treatment I took did not do me a particle of good, until a good neighbor who had been using Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription advised me to give it a trial. The next day took my first dose and it was my first step toward recovery. In nine weeks I was a different woman; my flesh which had been flabby became firm, complexion clear and my eyes bright. It was simply an indication of the great change within from pain and suffering to health and happiness."

"Favorite Prescription" makes weak women strong, sick women well. Accept no substitute for the medicine which works wonders for weak women.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets invigorate stomach, liver and bowels.

He Offered Her His Heart.

"But do you take Dr Agnew's Cure? If not, you know, I couldn't risk accepting it," she said.

She is wise. His heart may be disordered and his life in danger.

No matter how strong his heart is, Dr. Agnew's Heart Cure will make it stronger and his system healthier. No matter how weak from any disease, it would put him on his feet physically.

Dr. Von Stan's Pineapple Tablets give the stomach a vacation by digesting the food for it. Pineapple will digest beef or the greasiest of food. Dyspeptics eat heartily and laugh and grow fat while getting cured by this cure. Price 35c. 60

THE SHAMROCK.

Ireland's Wood Sorrel Said to Be St. Patrick's Emblem.

There are many people who do not know what the real shamrock is. The plant which is often called shamrock and generally passes for it in Ireland is the Trifolium repens, or white clover. This plant could not have been the one which St. Patrick held up to illustrate the doctrine of the Trinity, as it has been known only 300 years in Ireland and is a cultivated plant and not native to the soil.

Edmund Spenser says of the Irish of 1580 that "whenever they found a plot of shamrocks, or watercress, they had a feast. There were some who gobbled the green food as it came, some looked for the faultless stalk and the bloom on the leaf." This shamrock of Spenser's time was without doubt the Oxalis acetosella, which is commonly known as wood sorrel. It makes an excellent salad herb, though it has never become a market herb in France or this country. The sorrel of Paris and New York markets is a species of dock. The wood sorrel is indigenous to the soil of Ireland and is believed by botanists to be the original "herb trinity" with which St. Patrick used to illustrate his doctrines.

MONEY IN CORNERSTONES.

The Survival of an Older and More Tragic Custom.

The practice of putting money under the foundation stone of a new building is the shadow of an older tragic custom. The money stands theoretically for the ransom of the human being who by ancient superstition should have been buried in its place. Otherwise, it was held, the building would not stand firm and endure.

There was a time when this particular kind of human sacrifice had a vogue extending to most parts of the world. Even in England skeletons have been found imbedded in the bases of castle walls, and there is record of one German fortress at the building of which a child was bought from its mother with hard cash and walled in to the donjon tower, the unnatural mother, according to the story, looking on the while. Effigies of human beings are still used in some parts of Europe as harmless substitutes, and in remoter and more ruthless places the old custom crops out from time to time in all its grim reality. Within the last half century two children, a boy and a girl, were, it was reported, walled into a blockhouse by some laborers at Duga, Asiatic Turkey.

Ald. Best in referring to the rate said that he considered it too low. He thought that 18 1-2 mills was not sufficiently high; $11,000 he considered was not enough to provide for the public works of the town.

Ald. McWilliams speaking on the amount of the estimates said that the public should know that a substantial reduction in the amount appropriated for the public works for the year. He was pleased to learn that there was a reduction in the rate of taxation this year, and thought that no appropriations should be over-drawn without the consent of the council.

Ald. Adams, as chairman of the Finance Committee, said that the submission of the estimates was perhaps the most important matter to come before the council this year, and it had been given very careful consideration. The appropriation for public works had been reduced, but not to a very great extent, and he hoped that the amount placed in the estimates would be sufficient.

Speaking of the Property Committee he said that work was being prosecuted at the present without the sanction of the council, which he thought a mistake.

The estimated revenue this year is practically the same as that of last year. The amount to be raised this year by taxation will be practically $100,000, while last year it was about $88,000.

The School Board is responsible for about $2,500 of additional expenditure this year.

The Mayor said that the main point in last year's expenditure was that the town had kept within its revenue and a surplus had been carried over. He congratulated the chairman of the committee and the town on being able to strike such a favourable rate. He believed the rate was the lowest of any town of anything like a similar size to that of Peterborough.

Ald. Morrison congratulated the Finance Committee upon the rate of 18 1-2 mills. He thought it hardly proper that the taxpayers whose property would be benefitted by street watering should be called upon to pay the entire cost, and only for the fact that the rate was lower would he support the by-law.

Ald. Rush moved, seconded by Ald. Adams, that the collector be requested to report at the May meeting of the council the amount of taxes then unpaid and the reasons for the non-collection of the same.—Carried.

Before the council closed the Mayor remarked that he felt like congratulating the town, in view of the terrible catastrophe which had recently visited Toronto, on the fact that 25 new hydrants were being placed at different points in the town for further fire protection. The committee which had recently been on an inspection tour would probably report at the May meeting of the council and he hoped that at an early date some substantial improvement would be made in the town's fire protection equipment. A new fire hall, engine and alarm system were among the improvements needed. He understood that the fire underwriters were considering raising the rate in Peterborough and he hoped that the town would take such steps as were necessary to place the fire-fighting service in as modern a condition as possible.

The meeting then adjourned.

WAS RELATED TO PETERBOROUGH LADY.

Late Mr. Hooper, who Died in England, Uncle of Mrs. W. H. Meldrum.

A Highly Respected Gentleman, who Filled Many Responsible Public Offices.

The Biggleswade Chronicle and North Bedfordshire (England) Gazette, in a recent issue contains a lengthy account of the death of Mr T. J. Hooper, a prominent citizen of Biggleswade and an uncle of Mrs. Wm. Meldrum of Peterborough. Concerning the late Mr. Hooper the paper says:

"Mr. Hooper was born at Moreton-in-the-Marsh, Worcestershire, on July 21, 1833, and was the eldest son of the late Mr. John Jefferies Hooper, a native of that parish. He was educated at Worcester and Charterhouse. In the year 1849 he was articled to Mr. H. Sewell, solicitor, of Upton-on-Severn, whom he left at the end of four years; and in 1854 he passed his examination and qualified as a solicitor. He spent a few months in London, after which he came to Biggleswade, and took over the practice of Mr. Argles, who was retiring at the time on account of ill-health. Since then Mr. Hooper's connection with the town has been unbroken, and, we venture to state, mutually advantageous. He very soon exhibited excellent qualities as a lawyer and won for himself the high encomiums and esteem of his fellow townsmen, which he retained even in greater degree right up to the time of his death. In 1856 he married peculiarly, a Miss Hooper, who, however, was of no relation to him at the time, but who, since she has been Mrs. Hooper, has endeared herself to very many friends in this neighbourhood, and to whom, as well as her only daughter, the wife of Mr. S. E. Cotton, of Blydon, Bitterne, Hants, widespread and genuine sympathy is extended.

Mr. Hooper's first public appointments were those of clerk to the Biggleswade Guardians, and deputy Registrar of Biggleswade County Court, which he obtained in 1855, and shortly afterwards he was made registrar. At the time of his death he still held the former office and only a few weeks ago resigned the registrarship of the County Court, which is now in the hands of Mr. W. F. A. Fletcher. He has been clerk to the Justices of the Biggleswade Petty Sessional Division for many years. He was clerk to the old Biggleswade Highway Board, also of Biggleswade Local Board and when the latter turned into an Urban District Council he became clerk to that body. He was clerk to the School Board during its existence, and filled a similar capacity in connection with the Burial Board for a number of years, and to the Biggleswade Water Board, since its inception a year or two back. He was largely responsible for the conducting of the Biggleswade Water Supply Act through Parliament, and the initial working of the scheme. He was clerk to the recently formed Biggleswade Joint Hospital Board. He became steward of the Manor of Biggleswade on the death of the late Mr. Sam Day, and he was also steward of Earl Cowper's Bedfordshire Manor. Some years ago he acted as Conservative Registration agent in this division, but for a long time he has not taken any active part in politics. He was practically precluded from doing so by the fact that he had for many years held the post of under-sheriff for the county, which office he filled this year, under Mr. Francis Pym. He has had considerable experience in Parliamentary elections, and had often done the work of other under-sheriffs when he had not held the office.

Although he did not take any great been a prominent Free Mason, having initiated the Lodge at Biggleswade in the Beds. Rifle Volunteers. He had part in military service, Mr. Hooper was one of the first to hold a commission in 1861.

WHO IS "BILLY BAKER?

He Figured in a Boxing Bout in Brantford Last Evening.

A despatch from Brantford says: "A large crowd of local sporting men assembled at Frank Hern's boxing school last night, when four bouts were decided amid great enthusiasm. Hern conducts a large class, and has some very promising material under his instruction. The principal bout was between Tom Daly, of Toronto, and Bill Baker, of Peterborough. Referee Dickey Breen, of Montreal, declared this a draw, although the Toronto man had the best of the scrap throughout. The exchanges were pretty lively, and in the third round Daly got a punch below the belt, which nearly knocked him out of business."

LACROSSE.

The Lindsay Post says: — "How does this strike you as a district: Port Hope, Cobourg, Oshawa, Peterborough and Lindsay? All good towns, that play good lacrosse and can be depended upon to create big interest in the game. And right here we want to say that Lindsay can hold up her end against the homebrews of any of these places. Port Hope and Oshawa's ringers of last year and year before, have all gone, and they can no longer play senior, Peterborough will be good, and we should just about hold Cobourg. Such a district would, we think, be a grand arrangement and one that would help the game greatly. The people of this town have not been used to good lacrosse for some years past—let us show them, this year, that our own dozen can do things if they only try."

FOOTBALL.

The Y.M.C.A. kickers turned out in full force last evening for practice in the Central Park, and judging from the large number of husky-looking man that were on the field they will no doubt lay all other League teams low before the end of the season. Among those on the field were Kampf, Best, Linder, Roberts, Coulter, who are entirely new football blood. A practice game is likely to be arranged with the Bridgenorth team for next Saturday and to get in shape let every man interested in the pigskin turn out on Wednesday and Friday evenings on the oval for a full practice, and on Tuesday and Thursday on the Central Park.

To get this cold wet weather ended let all turn out and make things hot.

Kampf is just as eager after the man on the football field as he is when on the track of an insurance risk.

Best has got rid of another "Happy Thought" by signing with the Y.M.C.A. team.

Mr. Ed. Renton has been chosen as the official referee by the Quaker team.

JAPANESE CROSS THE YALU RIVER.

The Russian Official Report Minimizes the Affair.

FOUR JAP TRANSPORTS SUNK

Startling Story from Paris, which Credits the Vladivostock Fleet with the Performance—Ships Said to Have Been Carrying 4,000 Japanese Soldiers—Success of Submarines at Port Arthur.

St. Petersburg, April 27.—The censors' committee did not last night give out the despatches received yesterday regarding the movements of the Japanese across the Yalu River. It was intimated the Japanese had crossed the river, but this was accompanied by a statement that the success of the enemy should in no sense be regarded as an important victory, the Russians having no intention of vigorously contesting the passage, their plan being to annoy the enemy as much as possible.

It is regarded possible that when the Japanese troops are in sufficient numbers they will march along the Manchurian bank of the Yalu in the direction of Antung, near which lies the road on which the advance can continue to Fenghboungcheng, where the first determined stand of the Russians will be made.

No report has been received here, official or otherwise, showing casualties on either side.

Crossing Not Hotly Contested.

Liaoyang, April 27.—Between Monday night and yesterday morning the Japanese forced a passage of the Yalu, two companies crossing between Tchangdjiu and Siaopoussikhe.

Heavy firing was heard near Tatungkau, on which it is believed the Japanese made a feint in order to distract attention from the real point of passage.

So far no bridge spans the river. It is believed the Russian fire succeeded in destroying the floating parts of the Japanese bridges.

On April 23 the Russians observed that the Japanese were making preparations to cross the Yalu River.

On the night of April 25 two steamers and two torpedo boats were noticed at the mouth of the river. They approached the shore at daylight, and the Japanese commenced to build a pontoon on the left tributary. A second pontoon was being prepared ten miles up the stream.

At 3 o'clock the same afternoon the Japanese occupied the Island of Samolindo, to which they carried pontoon boats, etc.

Watch By Searchlights.

The night passed quietly, the torpedo boats maintaining a careful watch in case the troops ashore should be attacked, and examining the mouth of the river by searchlights.

At 3.40 next morning the Japanese crossed the river near the village of Tchindiagon, where, however, the Russian outposts commenced firing upon them. The Russian advance guards had been furnished with a small gun and they succeeded in destroying the pontoon constructed near Wiju. The wrecked pontoon was carried away by the current and further Japanese bridging operations ceased, but the Japanese continued to cross by another pontoon southward of Wiju.

A Japanese column with a battery of artillery approached Turnchen at midday, but the Russian skirmishers met them with sharp firing, evidently giving them trouble, as they retired with the battery, which made no attempt to answer the Russian fire.

Sank Four Japs.

Paris, April 27.—The St. Petersburg correspondent of The Matin says: "I learn from a sure source that the Vladivostock squadron Monday sank four Japanese transports which were conveying 4,000 men."

DID AS JUDAS DID.

Cronstadt, April 27.—A sensational story is afloat here of an attempt to destroy the battleship Alexander III. A stranger, wearing the uniform of an officer, went down into the engine room of the battleship, and was seen attaching something connected with wire to the dynamos. After the stranger left the sailor examined the attachment and found it to be a bomb. The sailor at once cut the wires, ran up on deck to tell what had happened and found that the stranger had hanged himself.

Port Arthur, April 27.—The experiments with submarine boats here have been attended with brilliant success.

Newchwang, April 27.—The Russian authorities here deny that there has been any important engagements recently on the Yalu, but they report the destruction of a few Japanese junks by the Russian volunteers. The Japanese have not arrived at the Yalu in force.

New York, April 27.—The Herald correspondent in St. Petersburg says he has excellent authority for the statement that the Emperor will go to the seat of war some time in August.

Daring Hold-Up in Toronto.

Toronto, April 27.—A desperate hold-up and robbery occurred on Wellington street, near Simcoe street, last night, about 11 o'clock, the victims, T. Williamson, Streetsville, and Perry King of London, Ont., losing in the neighborhood of $100, after one of them had been brutally assaulted. As a result of the affair, four well known characters have been arrested and held under suspicion. They are Frank Firless, High Ross, Wm McLeod and Joseph Scott, all members of the notorious "Gay Cat" gang. The thugs carried revolvers.

SPECIAL MEETING OF COUNTY COUNCIL

Called for the Consideration of Important Business.

The Warden's Feeling References to the Death of the late ex-Warden Crowe —County Solicitor W. A. Stratton.

Wednesday, April 27.

A special session of the County Council, called for the purpose of considering urgent business was commenced at 10.30 this morning in the Court House.

Present—E. A. Peck, Esq., Warden, in the chair, and Councillors Hunter, Fitzgerald, Moloney, Shaw, Monogue, Johnston, Buck and Curtis.

FLORAL TRIBUTES.

The desks of the late Richard Crowe, Councillor from Dummer and ex-Warden, and the late W. A. Stratton, K.C., County Solicitor and Sessional Clerk, both of whom had died since the last session of the Council, were covered with floral tokens of respect.

WARDEN'S ADDRESS.

The Warden in explaining the cause of the special session, referred to the immediate necessity of having a settlement of the county's accounts with the Town of Peterborough before June session. He also stated that at the January session it was understood that as soon as their auditors had completed their report, that a special session would be called to consider the report.

The auditors were now ready and it was desirable that these matters should be acted upon without further delay.

The Warden also stated that he had issued a warrant to the nominating officer of the Fifth Division commanding him to proceed with the holding of an election to fill the vacancy in the council caused by the death of the late Richard Crowe.

The Warden also took occasion to make feeling references to the death of their late colleagues, Ex-Warden Richard Crowe and County Solicitor W. A. Stratton. He said:—

"Since our last session two, who have for many years taken a prominent place in the affairs of the county, have passed away. Our late colleague Richard Crowe died at his residence in Dummer a short time ago. He had been gradually failing in health for a long time, and his death was not unexpected. He had been actively interested in municipal matters in his township and the council for many years, and had been in this council for a longer period than any member now present. He had excellent judgment and his opinions were always looked up to and generally accepted by his colleagues. His qualities of disposition had endeared him to all with whom he came in contact. He will be much missed by all and we feel deep sympathy for those who have lost in him a loving father and brother.

Our late County Solicitor and Sessional Clerk, William A. Stratton, K.C., had also passed away in the prime of life, after an illness extending over many months, during which his friends had hopefully looked forward to his final recovery. He had held the office of Sessional Clerk for nearly 30 years, and a large part of our records during that time represent his work. He had already before his illness attained considerable eminence in his profession, and he would no doubt if he had lived, have reached a very high position in it. He had a tremendous capacity for work and by his conscientious application to the interests of his clients no doubt contracted the disease which finally carried him away. He had been a warm personal friend of his, and he most deeply regretted his loss, and extended his sympathy to his aged mother, his sisters and brothers in their affliction.

Councillor Hunter said that he was quite sure that the members of the council concurred in the Warden's remarks regarding their late colleagues in the council. He would move, seconded by Councillor Moloney, That resolutions of condolence to the families of the late Richard Crowe and W. A. Stratton be presented by this council, and that the following special committee be appointed to draft the same: To the relatives of the late W. A. Stratton: Councillors Fitzgerald, Johnston, Moloney and Buck; to the relatives of the late Richard Crowe: Councillors Shaw, Curtis, Monogue and Hunter, and Warden Peck.—Carried.

A PEDLAR'S GRIEVANCE.

Moved by Councillor Johnston, seconded by Councillor Shaw, that Mr. Chatten of Lang, be allowed to address the council.

Mr. Chatten complained that the license fee for pedlars was too high for him, and asked that as he was an old man and unable to do further hard work, that some relief be granted him.

The request was referred to the Finance Committee.

THE AUDITORS' REPORT.

Moved by Councillor Shaw, seconded by Councillor Fitzgerald, — That the auditors be now allowed to present their report.

Mr. Geo. W. Bennett, one of the auditors, read the report, and presented the statement of accounts.

Moved by Councillor Fitzgerald, seconded by Councillor Buck, — That the auditors report and statements be referred to the Finance Committee.

COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE.

On motion of Councillor Shaw, seconded by Councillor Hunter, the council adjourned to take up work in Committee of the Whole.

MILLBROOK HAS DISASTROUS FIRE.

Wm. Thexton's Lumber Sheds Totally Destroyed.

His Loss Estimated at $6,000—Origin of Fire Unknown.

Special to the Examiner.

Millbrook, April 27. — About 10.30 last night fire broke out in the sheds across the track from the G.T.R. station, containing lumber, shingles, lath, salt, etc., and owned and occupied by Mr. Wm. Thexton. The buildings being of inflamable nature, the fire spread rapidly and required great effort on the part of the local fire company and the citizens to save the adjoining lumber piles, the office and the G.T.R. station. Mr. Thexton estimates his loss by last night's fire at $6,000, fairly covered by insurance in the Anglo-American, the Phoenix and the London and Lancashire. The cause of the fire is unknown but is supposed to have been of incendiary origin.

May.

Will be a good month to go to St. Louis, and see the great Fifty Million Dollar Exposition. The Grand Trunk will be the popular route, and from Peterborough will sell 15 day tickets for $21.50, thirty days for $28.70, or tickets valid for season for $31.40. Stop overs will be allowed at Detroit and Chicago, and intermediate stations in Canada. Tickets on sale on and after April 25th. Tickets, illustrated literature and information at city office, or depot ticket office.

Not a minute should be lost when a child shows symptoms of croup. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy given as soon as the child becomes hoarse, or even after the croupy cough appears will prevent the attack. It never fails, and is pleasant and safe to take.

THE MORALITY OF WILLIAM SHAKSPERE.

Continuation of Rev. Father Galvin's Address.

The Merchant of Venice and King Lear Referred to at Length.

The following is a continuation of Rev. Father Galvin's address on "The Morality of Shakspere," delivered in the T.A.S. Rooms on Monday evening:—

The result of the trial is that all the goods of the Jew become confiscate; one half goes "to the privy coffer of the state;" the other to Antonio, who agrees to hold it in trust for the Jew during his life, "to render it upon his death unto the gentleman that lately stole his daughter," for which favour Antonio requires the Jew instantly to become a Christian.

In this play we have enunciated the principle that the greatest right when pushed to an extreme may become a great wrong. Portia's father, for instance, had a perfect right to direct his daughter in her choice of a husband, but he had no right to direct her choice, as it were, from the tomb, he had no right to oblige her to accept the suitor who by chance might choose the right casket. He might have injured his daughter greatly, if fortune had not been so favourable to her. What a life of misery she would have passed, had the dark-complexioned Prince happened on the right casket. Luckily for her, Providence wisely ordered that Bassanio, the best deserving of the three, chose aright.

A second instance of this principle is found in the Jew's absurd demand for the fulfillment of his bond. Shylock had a right to compensation for the money lent, he had a right to demand what by contract Antonio had freely promised to give. But this claim to the fulfillment of the contract loses all show of justice, when that contract calls for the payment of flesh in return for money, of the principle of life in return for the base metal of commerce. We feel therefore that Shylock was in strict justice foiled in his attempt to have his bond carried out.

Other instances of this principle might be cited, but these will suffice to establish it at present.

Let us now briefly examine the tragedy of King Lear. Lear is King of Britain. He has three daughters, Goneril, Regan, and Cordelia. Age has rendered Lear desirous of shirking all responsibilities. He therefore decides "To shake all cares and business from his age." The division of his kingdom is resolved upon. In the presence of Goneril, Regan and Cordelia, and of Albany and Cornwall, two nobles, respective suitors for the hands of Goneril and Regan, he thinks the time most opportune for the publishing of his intention. He has also what he calls a darker purpose, which he wishes to make known here also. His craving for flattery impels him to call for expressions of their love for him before he assigns to each daughter her part. He has no doubt as to their love, but he wishes to have some outward expression of that filial piety which he thinks ought to exist. Goneril and Regan, in whom selfishness is a prominent characteristic, endeavour to surpass each other in their loving speeches, and thereby win for themselves larger portions of the kingdom. With speeches most artfully constructed to please they strive to outdo each other in gratifying his longing. Act I. sc. 1.

Cordelia, who knows them to be most insincere, becomes enraged to think that he can thus play on his debilitated mind, against the utter ruin of which she has so faithfully fought. Her answer therefore is framed so as to resent his weakness in so readily accepting their deceptive professions of love. Act I, sc. 1.

Thus we see Cordelia disinherited, and the whole kingdom divided between Goneril and Regan. Although Cordelia is rejected by her father, the King of France, who has been able to appreciate her noble qualities of soul, willingly takes her dowerless as his bride. Faithful Kent, as we have seen, is the only one who revolts against this foolish action of Lear, and as a reward he is banished from the kingdom, only to return, however, in disguise, to serve Lear, and to ward off the destruction that threatens him.

Lear is now completely at the mercy of Goneril and Regan. He has reserved nothing to himself but his maintenance at their expense with an attendance of 100 knights and the name of king. All goes well for a time; but a change soon takes place. When the inheritance of Goneril and Regan is secure, they have nothing to fear for the future. They soon become guilty of the basest ingratitude towards him. Under pretence of obeying the dictates of duty, that "stern daughter of the voice of God," they take in hand the correction of his petty faults. Goneril takes him to task for the alleged riotous conduct of his followers, and accuses him of not being as wise as his age demands he should be. She moreover proposes to reduce the number of his followers. Lear takes offence and goes to his other daughter, Regan, thinking he will receive a warm welcome from her. He is however greatly disappointed. Regan approves of all that Goneril has done. "I cannot think," she says, etc. Act II, sc. 3.

Matters grow worse until in the end they turn him out and leave him to the mercy of a rude storm. Kent here comes to Lear's aid. He finds shelter for him in a hovel. Application is made to Cordelia for assistance to aid her father regain his rights.

Goneril and Regan have up to this time been working in harmony to rid themselves of a common encumberance. This accomplished they next strive to destroy each other, both being victims to the love of a young man named Edmund, a villain like themselves. This Edmund is son of the earl of Gloster, and has succeeded in disinheriting his brother and then in dispossessing his father. He deceives his father by false accusations against his brother, and then most wrongly he informs Regan and her husband Cornwall that his father Gloster is privy to the introduction of the forces of France into the kingdom. Gloster is seized as a traitor, and his eyes are plucked but by Cornwall. During this fiendish operation, Cornwall is wounded fatally by a servant who resists the outrage done on the old Earl of Gloster. When Cornwall dies, Regan is free to marry Edmund. That is too much for Goneril, who, although her husband still lives, has reckoned on having Edmund for herself by doing away with her husband Albany. Edmund is slain in a fight with Edgar after his treacherous intentions had been revealed. Goneril poisons her sister Regan, and then seeing that her purposed attempt on the life of her husband was brought to light, and that Edmund her lover is slain, she commits suicide by plunging a dagger into her heart.

In the battle which took place between the forces of Goneril and Regan and those of Cordelia, who came to her father's assistance, the forces of Cordelia were defeated, she herself was taken prisoner, and put to death, and Lear afterwards died of grief for having lost the daughter whom he wronged.

In the opinion of the critic, Hudson, King Lear is the one of Shakspere's dramas, "which, considering both the qualities of the work and the difficulties of the subject, best illustrates the measure of his genius." It is one of his most complicated dramas. We have a main plot, and a subordinate one. There is the one in which Lear figures as centre, and the one which Edmund as centre. The introduction into the play of this second plot serves a double purpose. In the first place the poet considers it necessary in order to relieve the improbability of the unnatural action of the two sisters. We might be inclined to reject such a story as most untrue to nature. But when we are supplied with a second instance of the same fault, we are in a manner forced to admit of the reality of such deeds. In the second place, the subordinate plot furnishes Shakspere with the means of dividing Goneril and Regan. To withdraw them from the scene, still working in concert in furthering their wicked ends, even though both should have received their deserts, might leave on us the impression that there existed between them some sisterly attachment. But to prove that love is foreign to such natures, and that those who are ungrateful and unjust towards their parents are capable of all crimes, the introduces Edmund into the plot. Edmund is guilty of the same fault as they are, filial ingratitude. He is therefore an excellent instrument to employ for the purpose of effecting a separation between them. A third good also follows. It gives Shakspere scope for the development of another character in the person of Edgar, endowed with many of the highest qualities of the soul.

Now, from this play what do we learn regarding the morality of Shakspere? First we note that the wrong-doer is tortured by the pangs of conscience. Lear was conscious that Cordelia loved him more than Goneril and Regan but because she had not flattered him like they had he disinherited her. He afterwards regrets this action when he is ill-treated by his other daughters to whom he gave all. "O most small fault," he says, "how ugly didst thou in Cordelia show! which like an engine wrenched my frame of nature from the fixed place, drew from my heart all love, and added to the gall." Then when he beholds Cordelia doing all in his power to reinstate him in his kingdom, and to bring him comfort in his old age, so great is his remorse that it kills him. He must then have realized, and we also in reading the story realize, that filial love is not a thing to be purchased at any price, even that of a kingdom, but that it is one of the gifts of nature herself—of nature directed and enobled by the grace of God. But it is in the ending that the grand lesson is contained. Viewed temporally it is rather melancholy but looking at it in another light we cannot wish to have it otherwise. We see the filial ingrates punished for their sin, and finally, when Albany discovers the treachery of his wife and Edmund, and when the triumph of Lear and Cordelia is complete, but remark, not till then, are they dismissed. Shakspere takes them out of this world, which does not know how to appreciate real goodness, to have them receive their reward in heaven.

ONE THING DONE WELL.

The True Secret of a Remarkable Success.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People do only one thing—but they do that one thing well. That is the secret of their success. They actually make new blood; just that and no more. But good blood is the best cure—the only cure—for most diseases. Most diseases are caused by bad blood. Anaemia, paleness, pimples, eczema, indigestion, biliousness, kidney trouble, backaches, sideaches, neuralgia, nervous troubles, rheumatism and the special secret ailments of growing girls and women—these are different diseases but they are all due to bad blood. Ignorant people sometimes laugh at the idea that one little medicine can cure all these different diseases—but they forget that they were all caused by one little trouble—bad blood. The foolish people are those who take a different medicine for every symptom without thinking of the one cause at the root of them all. Dr. Williams Pink Pills strike at the root, bad blood and nothing else. They fill the veins with new, strong, rich red blood, which races to every corner of the body, toning the nerves and bracing each organ to throw off weakness and disease. In a brief way here is some strong proof of confirming the above statements:—

John Craig, Kells, Ont., says:—"I was paralyzed and had no power over my right arm or leg. I had to be lifted like a child. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have cured me and to my neighbours the cure seems like a miracle."

Miss Blanche Durand, St. Edmond, Que., says:—"The doctor told me I was in consumption. I had alternate chills and fever, and severe cough and was daily growing weaker. Then I began the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and my health and strength have fully returned."

Mrs. John McKerr, Chicknev, N. W.T., says.—"For some years I was a great sufferer from the ailments that make the lives of so many women miserable. I never got anything to relieve me until I began using Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and they have made me feel like a new person."

Mrs. Albert Luddington, St. Mary's River, N. S., says:—"I was a cripple from rheumatism until I began using Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Now the aches and pains have left me and I am as well as ever."

Mr. M. Cook, Lamerton, N. W. T., says:—"Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cured me of a severe attack of erysipelas."

Mr. William Holland, Sarnia, Ont., says: "I suffered for two years from kidney trouble. I tried many medicines but got nothing to help me until I took Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and after using them about a month every bit of the trouble was gone.'

What Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have done for these people—and for thousands of others—they will do for you, if you will give them a reasonable trial. Sold by medicine dealers everywhere, or by mail from the Dr. Willaims' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer one hundred dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

ENJOYABLE EVENT AT ALL SAINT'S.

Poverty Social Given by Members of the Girls' Guild a Success.

A Splendid Programme Rendered by Local Talent—A Unique Event.

A most enjoyable evening was that spent last night in the school room of All Saints' Church, all attending having nothing but words of praise for the manner in which they were entertained. The social was conducted under the auspices of the Girls' Guild of All Saints' church, which, without saying more, is sufficient to convince all of the quality of entertainment supplied. Last evening was indeed the climax, for to imagine a more enjoyable three hours' good time would be out of the question. Every person going expected a good time and if he did not have it no blame can be attached to those in charge of the entertainment. The programme given was all amateur and by local talent and too much praise cannot be given those taking part. The room was filled to the doors and standing room was at a premium. The first number on the programme was an adddress by the chairman, Rev. Mr. Major, who, in his pleasing and amiable manner, assured the audience of a good time, and welcomed all present, thanking them for their attendance. He was followed by Misses Bullen and Rickey in an instrumental duet, which won the hearts of the audience who could only be satisfied by a return. Mr. Jos. Halpany next sang "The Flower Song," which was loudly applauded, and he had to respond, giving "Bedelia," both of which were well rendred and appreciated. Miss Free pleased the audience with the recitation, "The Newsboy's First Experience in Church" and for an encore rendered "Uncle Moses Selling Eggs." Both efforts were heartily appreciated and loudly encored. A pleasing number was the solo by Miss Sawers, "Lenore." She was enthusiastically encored. Miss Sawers has a very sweet soprano voice and no doubt the public will hear her with pleasure on any future occasion. The instrumental duet given by Bert Peters, piano; and D. Richards, banjo, was well rendered and well received. This concluded the first part o fthe programme and the business of the "court" was then proceeded with, those having cases "in court" being Messrs. Chas. Sargent, Sidney Glass, Watt, R. Gardiner, Willis Garrow, McCune and W. Green, who were fined for breaking the rules and regulations of the "sochul," the fines ranging from ten cents up to seventy-five cents. The second part of the programme opened with an instrumental solo given by Miss Ida Mutinolland, the number being well rendered and the audience showing its approval by hearty applause. Messrs. Cranfield and Bruce Rickey next gave a characteristic duet, both taking their parts well and being forced to respond. Mr. Jos. Legg sang "Never Take No for an Answer," and for an encore gave the "Stein Song," both of which won the hearts of the audience. Miss Sproule pleased the gathering with a well rendred solo, "Echoes from the Woods." Mr Halpany sang a humourous song entitled, "He May Get over it, but He'll Never Look the Same. An encore was in order and Mr. Halpany gave "O', O', O', O'Brien." Master Herb Mowat next sang a solo which was heartily applauded. He has a rich voice and with training will develop into a "star." Messrs Tovey, Richards, Cranfield and Peters next gave an instrumental quartette, consisting of banjo, mandolin and mouth organs. The music rendered was very sweet and so charmed the audience that an encore was all that would satisfy those present. The evening's enjoyment was brought to a close, refreshments being served and a good chat indulged in.

The Guild deserves great credit for the original way in which the "Poverty Sochul" was conducted, and no doubt, if another opportunity of spending an evening of the same nature is given, the Guild would do well to secure a larger hall, as the attendance would be a record one.

KEENE.

Keene, April 26th.

Mr. and Mrs. R. F. McWilliams, of Peterborough, spent Sunday here, the guests of Dr. and Mrs. McWilliams.

Mr. Jas. Campbell, who has been attending Toronto Medical, returned home last Thursday. Owing to ill health he did not write on his final year examinations. He leaves for Calgary and other points in the West, on Thursday next, where he will spend the summer months.

Mr. Armour, public school teacher, spent Saturday and Sunday at his home in Percy.

Miss Agnes Campbell, of Thornebury, is visiting a number of her grand nephews and nieces.

Mr. Lou Bolin, of the General Electric Works, Peterborough, spent Sunday at home.

Miss Flora Rouche, who was in Buffalo during the past winter, is home for the summer.

Messrs. Walters and Goyay, who conducted a tonsorial parlour there during the winter months, left for their home at Oshawa on Tuesday.

Dr. Shaw attended the Masonic meeting of the Chapter in Peterborough on Friday night.

Miss Scines, of Peterborough, is spending a few days with Mrs. Jas. Miller.

Mr. J. C. Brown, P.S.I., visited the school here yesterday.

Mrs. J. Mourief and Miss Florence Miller, of Peterborough, spent Tuesday here.

Mrs. W. Mein, Peterborough, with Master Gordon, is visiting her mother, Mrs. A. Campbell, this week.

The ice in the lake is still solid, men were crossing it last week. This is remarkable at this time of year. Keene Bay, however, is open.

Many farmers tokk advantage of the spring weather during the last three days of the past week, and commenced seeding, and as a result a goodly number of acres received the embryos of this year's crop.

The Civic Improvement Association of the village is again up and doing. Not daunted by the deficit of last year, and the expense incurred by the reconstruction of the interior of the hall, they have on hand more improvements than last year. The village park will be levelled, seeded and planted with trees, five hundred feet of concrete walk will be laid on North street, and on Arbor Day the programme will be carried out with increased vigour. A subscription list has been opened and is being responded to with a liberality of spirit in keeping with the purpose, and the Association feels confident of riding over this year's finance with success. So say we all.

Will You Write a Postal

So a Sick One May Get Well?

Send no money—simply a postal card, giving the name of some one who needs help. Tell me the book to send.

Then I will do this: I will arrange with a druggist near him so that he may take six bottles of Dr. Shoop's Restorative. He may take it a month at my risk. If it succeed the cost is $5.50. If it fail, the druggist will bill the cost to me.

That month's test will show you what the remedy can do. It is the easiest way to induce all who need help to accept it.

I make this offer to multiply my cures, and I am willing to trust the cured ones to be fair with me.

In the past 12 years I have furnished my Restorative to hundreds of thousands of sick ones on just those terms, and 39 out of 40 have paid gladly because they got well. I pay just as willingly when one says I have failed.

The remedy is my discovery, the result of a lifetime's work. I have perfected it by watching results in thousands of the most difficult cases that physicians ever meet. I know what it will do.

My success comes from strengthening weak inside nerves, and my Restorative is the only remedy that does that. When an organ is weak I bring back the nerve power which alone operates every vital organ. It is like giving an engine more steam. I give the weak organ power to do its duty, and there is no other way to make a wea korgan well.

Can you conceive of a sick one who will neglect such a treatment, when I take the entire risk?

MOTION DEFEATED ON A VOTE

For a Two Cent Passenger Rate on Railways—Pere Marquette Agreement in Railway Committee — Western People Get a Two-Cent Rate Through Canada, While Canadians Must Pay Three Cents.

Ottawa, April 27.—The motion for the second reading of the Transcontinental Railway bill precipitated yesterday a renewal of the debate, conducted entirely by the Opposition members. No new ground of consequence was traversed, and the later hours of the day were characterized by another scene, in which the two parties faced each other with swords drawn and armor on, apparently prepared for an all-night or if necessary, an all-week session. This was eventually avoided at 1.30 a.m. by an agreement to adjourn the debate and conclude it to-night before getting the bill into committee. The closing scenes included an unseemly wrangle over the merits of an agreement, which the Opposition Whip said had been reached. Mr. E. F. Clarke, who had been deprived of an opportunity to speak on the railway resolution, delivered a lengthy and well-prepared speech. He concluded by moving this amendment:

Mr. Clarke's Amendment.

"That the bill is intended to ratify and confirm agreements providing for the construction of a transcontinental railway system, a large portion of which is to become the property of a railway corporation to whom the remaining portion is to be leased for fifty years on terms burdensome to the country. That under the proposed agreements Canada must incur enormous obligations, both direct and by guarantee, while the obligation assumed by the other guarantee is comparatively small. The House believes that before committing the country to such enormous obligations the Government ought first to submit to the people the whole question, and especially the question whether Canada should not rather assume the entire obligation and thus own and control the proposed line of railway from the Atlantic to the Pacific."

Defeated By 66 to 47.

This resolution was defeated on the following division:

Yeas—Alcorn, Armstrong, Barker, Bell, Bennett, Birkett, Blain, Borden (Halifax), Boyd, Carscallen, Casgrain, Clancy, Clare, Cochrane, Donnelly, Earl, Gilmour, Hackett, Haggart, Henderson, Hughes (Victoria), Ingram, Kaulbach, Kemp, Lancaster, Lariviere, Leonard, MacLaren (Perth), Maclean, McGowan, Morin, Osler, Pope, Puttee, Richardson, Robinson (Elgin), Roche (Marquette), Sherritt, Sproule, Taylor, Thomson (Grey), Tolton, Vrooman, Ward, Wilmott, Wilson—47.

Nays—Basinet, Bickerdike, Blanchet, Borden (Sir Frederick), Bourbonnais, Brodeur, Brown, Bureau, Calvert, Carbonneau, Copp, Costigan, Delisle, Demers (St. John), Douglas, Fielding, Fisher, Fitzpatrick, Fortier, Gauvreau, Gibson, Gould, Hazzard, Heyd, Hughes (Kings), Johnston (Cape Breton), Johnston (Lambton), Kendall, Lang, Laurier (Sir Wilfrid, Laurier (L'Assomption), Lavergne (Drummond and Arthabaska, Lavergne (Montmagny), Law, Leblanc, Ley, MacDonald, MacKie, MacLaren (Huntingdon), McColl, McCreary, McEwen, McIsaac, McLennan, Malouin, Mariel (Bagot), Mariel (Bonaventure), Matheson, Mayrand, Meigs, Mignault, Murray, Parmelee, Paterson, Prefontaine, Reid (Restigouche), Ross (Victoria, N.S.), Sinclair, Smith (Vancouver), Stephens, Sutherland (Oxford), Talbot, Tolmie, Tucker, Turgeon, Wallace—66.

The Other Speakers.

The other Opposition speakers were Mr. A. C. Bell, Mr. M. K. Richardson and Mr. W. H. Bennett, all of whom had spoken on the resolution, and who last night went over the old ground in length and to a rather thin audience.

The House assented to a motion by the Premier that after questions by members the National Transcontinental Railway bill should have precedence on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays until finally disposed of.

FOR TWO CENT RATE.

W. F. Maclean Tells on What Basis He Will Support Pere Marquette Agreement—An Interrupter Silenced.

In the Railway Committee yesterday morning, Mr. Ingram's bill to confirm the lease of the Canada Southern to the Michigan Central Railway, together with certain agreements between the Michigan Central and the Pere Marquette Railway Companies, respecting the usage of certain lines in Canada, was taken up.

Michigan Rates For Canada.

When the preamble was about to pass, W. F. Maclean, addressing the committee, said that he would be glad to support the bill, provided Mr. Kingsmill agreed to insert a clause by which the company would be obliged to give to Canadians the same passenger rate which it gives in the State of Michigan.

"Why," demanded Mr. Maclean, "should the people of Canada be compelled to pay three cents a mile to a railway which carries the people of Michigan for two cents a mile?"

"It," he said, "we insert in this bill a clause requiring the Michigan Central Railway to carry passengers in Canada for two cents a mile, the force of competition will soon make that rate general throughout this country."

Parliament Should Say.

Nicol Kingsmill suggested that this was a question for the Railway Commission.

Mr. Maclean replied that Parliament was the Railway Commission, and Parliament should say to the Vanderbilts: "Give to Canadians the same rate that you give to the people of the State of Michigan and the State of New York."

Jabel Robinson warmly endorsed Mr. Maclean's proposition.

Mr. Ingram pointed out that this would give the Grand Trunk and the Wabash an undue advantage over the Vanderbilt line.

An Interrupter Checked.

Mr. Cochrane of Northumberland, endorsed Mr. Maclean's view, and Mr. Kingsmill interrupting him, he shot back: "Will you just keep still a moment? You are paid for your brief; I am here representing the people, and I want a word to say once in a while."

Mr. Kingsmill renewed his objection that the Michigan Central should not be placed in a different position from the Grand Trunk, the Canadian Pacific and the Wabash.

The bill was held over on the understanding that a representative of the company would appear before the committee and supply the necessary information.

Will Buy the Railway.

Montreal, Que., April 27.—It is said that the Dominion Government has decided to buy the Canadian Eastern Railway. Hon. H. R. Emmerson, Minister of Railways and Canals, left Montreal on Sunday for New Brunswick to arrange the purchase. This action on the part of the Government has apparently been precipitated by the publication of Hon. A. G. Blair's celebrated memorandum of Dec. 10, 1902.

Will Be Wound Up.

Toronto, April 27.—A winding up order was granted by Justice McMahon at Osgoode Hall yesterday against the Canada Woolen Mills, on application of the Dominion Bank, who are creditors to the extent of $246,103. George Davidson, secretary of the company was appointed a provisional liquidator, with J. S. Cartwright referee and assignee.

A TRUE STORY.

How a Young Wife Regained Her Health and Beauty.

W. E. Birch, Afton, Va., an extensive fruit grower of that place, writes the following letter to the Peruna Medicine Co., of Columbus, Ohio. We print the letter in full:

Afton, Va., June 4, 1900.

The Peruna Medicine Co., Columbus, O.:

Gentlemen—"The country is so flooded with patent medicines of every kind that are worthless and a humbug, that I for one, am glad to be able to say I have found one that is everything and more than is claimed for it.

"My wife was very much run down and out of sorts in every way. She had a pelvic disorder which left her very weak, nervous and no appetite at all.

"One day I happened to be at my father's store, S. A. Birch, Coresville, Alb county, Va., and noticed your medicine he had there for sale.

"I thought it might help my wife, so I brought a bottle of it home and within a week she commenced to eat and now she is hungry all the time and not half the medicine has been taken. We both agree that it beats any medicine to bring on an appetite and to put the nerves in good shape that we have ever had anything to do with. We had our family doctor to give her medicine and he did all he could, but she did not improve the least. She has consumption in her family and she was in such bad shape; so run down, nervous, weak, and could not eat, that I had begun to get very uneasy, but your medicine made an entirely new woman of her. I believe she eats and feels better now than she has for years.

"I have not the slightest doubt but that your medicine has saved her from a long spell of sickness, if nothing more. All my family had begun to get uneasy, but, of course, she did not know it and I have only just told her of it since she has improved so much. I had no idea it would do half what it has and don't think there is another medicine made that will begin to compare with it."—W. E. Birch, Fruit Grower, Afton, Alb county, Va.

AN OPPORTUNITY LOST.

British Opposition Might Have Defeated the Ministry.

London, April 27.—(C.A.P.)—Lax opposition enabled the Government to escape defeat in the House of Commons Monday night. The breakdown of a private bill debate brought on the income tax resolution before the Government majority was secure. Nineteen Liberals and three Irish, ignorant of the state of affairs, voted with the Government, and without their support the Government would have been in a minority of six. The Liberals are disgusted over the lost chance.

Australian Trade.

London, April 27.—(C.A.P.)—Hon. Henry Copeland, Agent-General for New South Wales, addressing the Australian section of the Chamber of Commerce in London, gave a disquieting picture of Australian trade and shipping with the Motherland, which was giving place to the foreigner. Australian trade with the United Kingdom in 1891 amounted to £51,952,000, but receded to £1,500,000 in 1901. In the same period the trade with Germany had risen from £2,566,000 to £5,352,000, and with the Americans from £5,312,000 to £9,228,000. The trade had increased to the greatest extent where the highest tariffs existed. He thought there was a loose screw due to the Imperial Government leaving the commercial ties between Australia and the Motherland, to take care of themselves. As a remedy he suggested a Consular staff in each large city and the establishment at Sydney and Melbourne of an Imperial Government link in the shape of small branch Boards of Trade.

EXTENSIVE REPAIRS TO ST. PAUL'S CHURCH.

The Board of Managers will Make Improvements.

The Board of Managers of St. Paul's church, intend making repairs to the edifice on a somewhat extensive scale this year. It is understood that the roof is to be sheeted with iron, and the whole structure will be painted and otherwise renovated. The proposed alterations when completed will make a decided change, and the Board of Management in this undertaking are determined to have the alterations done in a first class manner.

SIX MONTHS' TERM GIVEN TO A WOMAN.

A Sad Scene at this Morning's Police Court

The large number of spectators at the police court this morning heard a pathetic recital of a woman's downfall, and obtained an object lesson on the terrible evils of intemperance, and the misery that invariably follows in its wake.

A well known married woman who a few years ago enjoyed the blessings and comforts of a happy home, and whose little ones were recently placed in the Shelter, on account of her downfall, was charged with being an idle person, without employment, place of abode, or means of support, drunk, and loitering on the public streets and parks, and unable to give a satisfactory account of herself.

Mr. R. F. McWilliams defended the accused, and several witnesses were called, who testified as to having seen her in a drunken condition, and several hackmen narrated their experience in trying to secure her lodgings on Sherbrooke street, and also at the corner of Hunter and Aylmer streets, where she and her husband having been staying of late.

Mr. McWilliams contended that the evidence submitted to the court did not establish the charge, and said the accused could give a satisfactory account of her actions.

Police Magistrate Dumble held that the charge had been proven and that both she and her husband were confirmed drunkards. She had appeared in court several times before, and the promises then made had been broken. Something, the Magistrate remarked, must be done in order to save her from total destruction, and a sentence of six months in the Mercer Reformatory was imposed.

The unfortunate woman wept bitterly and bade an affectionate farewell to her husband.

HOME MISSIONARY AUXILIARY MEETING.

Open Session of Auxiliary of St. Paul's Mission was Held.

The Home Missionary Auxiliary of St. Paul's Mission church held an open meeting last night which was largely attended, and a thoroughly enjoyable evening was spent. Mrs. J. Miss Carrie Knox rendered a vocal solo very effectively, and Mrs. McPherson gave a Bible reading.

Rev. Dr. Torrance and Rev. J. A. Wilson were present at the meeting.

THE RUGBY GROUP IS WELL UNDER WAY.

Mr. R. M. Roy Preparing Something Original in Photography.

The Rugby football group taken by Mr. R. M. Roy, is well under way and promises to be something unique in the photographic art, and those who have had the opportunity of seeing the group, although at present in an unfinished stage are loud in their praise of the design, and the ingenuity displayed by Mr. Roy. In the centre of the group are placed three stalwart players in scrimmage position, the remaining members of the team and officials being arranged very artistically, the whole forming a group which will probably excel any effort ever attempted by Mr. Roy in his long experience as a successful artist.

WILL LINDSAY DROP FROM MIDLAND LEAGUE?

They are Dissatisfied with the Present Schedule.

The Lindsay Post says: — "A meeting was held last evening in the Simpson House parlours, of the officers and players of the Lindsay Baseball Club, at which the advisability of remaining in the Midland League was discussed. By the way the schedule runs, all the games are played on Saturday, which would not suit Lindsay, having no Saturday half-holiday, like other towns. Secretary Menzies has written to the clubs asking them to agree to Lindsay having their games played on Thursday or Friday. Peterborough is willing, but he has not heard from the other towns. If these days are not arranged for, it is likely that Lindsay will drop out of the Midland League and try and form a league with Uxbridge, Orillia and other clubs."

TO-NIGHT'S LABOUR MEETING.

A meeting of the Trades and Labour Council will be held this (Wednesday) evening in the Foresters' Hall, Schneider's Block, over Dr. Wood's Dental Parlours, for the purpose of discussing the Institute and Sugar Company's Bylaws. All local union men are requested to be present.

SUGAR MEETING IN FIFTH WARD.

Large Number of Ratepayers Heard the Question Discussed.

MR. MOORE AND MR. GARVIN.

Interesting Meeting was Held—The Industry Would Benefit Peterborough—Mr. Peck's Endorsation.

A lively meeting was held last night in the town hall, fifth ward, when the Sugar Company bylaw was discussed pro. and con. before a number of the ratepayers of that portion of the town. Mr. J. W. Garvin was the principal speaker of the evening, and he presented some strong arguments in favour of his proposition. The only opposition was that instigated by Mr. W. H. Moore, who spoke for over half an hour and replied with considerable warmth, and with some effect, it must be admitted, to the charges made by Mr. Garvin in his speech, which preceeded that of Mr. Moore.

Both speakers secured a good hearing, and the audience remained, for the most part, until the close of the meeting. Considerable interest was manifested in the subject under discussion.

Mr. Garvin, in opening the meeting read a letter from Ald. Adams, in which he expressed his regret that he was unable to act as chairman of the meeting. He further stated in the letter that he was decidedly in favour of the passage of the bylaw, and was sorry that he could not take the chair. He had in his unavoidable absence asked Mr. J. H. Smith to act as chairman of the meeting.

Mr. Smith, on taking the chair, expressed his opinion that he was strongly in favour of the bylaw, as he believed all the ratepayers would be when they learned the true conditions. The Company had to spend a large sum of money before the town would be called upon to guarantee any bonds, and he thought the later would be fully secured in its investment. He called upon Mr. J. W. Garvin as the first speaker.

MR. GARVIN'S ADDRESS.

Mr. Garvin on rising remarked that he thought he was correct in assuming that all the citizens of the town were interested in the matter which they had gathered to discuss. The Company had come in for some adverse criticism, but he thought all would rejoice to see the industry established here. He had found when he accepted the managing-directorship of the Company, that if the farmers could be induced to grow the beets in sufficient quantities it would be no difficulty to get the money necessary to construct the factory. Michigan capitalists had fairly poured their money into Western Ontario, into the sugar enterprises established there. Unfortunately the farmers in this vicinity were slow to realize the great benefits to accrue to them from growing sugar beets, and when he took the management of the Company only 300 acres had been contracted for. This was increased to 600 acres in a short time, but this was too small an acreage, and the Company was forced to enter itself into the culture of the beets, 830 acres of land being rented for this purpose. No one here knew anything about growing beets, and the whole undertaking was a strange one. The Company did everything in its power to secure the labour necessary to do the work in connection with growing the beets, but even with the strenuous efforts put forth 130 acres were frozen before the crop could be harvested. This was the beginning of the Company's trouble, and he thought the mistake a small and very natural one. Some Michigan capitalists who had engaged in the beet sugar industry had lost as much as $60,000 in one year before they learned the best methods.

MR. GORDON SATISFIED.

He had frankly stated the case to Mr. Gordon, who had said that he was perfectly satisfied that no great mistake had been made. The whole question hinged on the Company's ability to get a sufficient supply of beets, and if they could be secured there would be no trouble in getting the money, and if the bylaw carries the factory will most certainly be built. The factory had not only the County of Peterborough, but the whole Trent Valley to draw from for the supply of beets, and the whole eastern half of the province would be contiguous to the company's operations.

Agents of the company during last fall were out securing the farmers to contract for the growing of beets and 1100 acres had been secured in the counties of Victoria, Ontario, Durham, Northumberland and Hastings. The company at that juncture could not see its way clear to proceed with the construction of the factory, and the agents were called in.

NEGOTIATIONS WITH DRESDEN PEOPLE.

Negotiations had then been entered into between the company and Captain Davidson, of the Dresden factory, but the little town of Janesville, Wis., had offered him a bonus of $50,000, and in a few hours one afternoon the farmers had contracted for 3,000 acres of beets, which was soon raised to 5,000, for three years. In view of these inducements the factory had been moved to that town.

If the agents had been kept in the field it would have been an easy matter to have contracted for 4,000 acres by May 1st. The farmers are interested in sugar beet culture, and he believed that 1,000 acres could be secured in each of five counties bordering on Peterborough, and 2,000 acres in Peterborough. This would give a total of 7,000 acres. This would be sufficient to keep the factory in operation for at least four months in the year at a time when the men had but little to do, and he predicted that in a few years 100,000 tons of beets would be grown, and 1,000 tons a day would be sliced in the factory, and it would be one of the greatest of its kind on the continent.

MR. MOORE'S LETTER CRITICIZED.

Referring to the letters written by Mr. W. H. Moore, the speaker said that the writer spoke of "promoters," and included Mr. Gordon in the list. This was not correct, as Mr. Gordon was in no sense a promoter. Who is Mr. Gordon? He is president of the Wallaceburg Sugar Company, the Managing Director of the Sydenham Glass Works, President of the Wallaceburg Cooperage Company, and was prominently connected with a large number of other large industries. He was one of the "biggest" men in Western Ontario, and Mr. Garvin only found one fault with him, which was that he was a Liberal, and he predicted that he would be elected to the House of Commons at the next election to represent West Kent. If this were the case he would help to get the Trent Canal completed, which would benefit the factory greatly.

MR. GORDON NOT A "PROMOTER."

He was not a promoter, and had nothing to do with the promotion of the company. If he could be assured that the factory would be completed this year he had offered to invest $100,000, and had consented to accept the presidency of the company. He had met the council and had submitted his proposition, which was to issue 15 year bonds, the company to provide a sinking fund each year for the redemption of the bonds. The council did not agree to, this and a modification of the first proposition was made by which the bonds were to be 10 year bonds, and $50,000 was to be paid back at the end of three years. This would be an easy matter as the Government bounty alone would more than provide for this.

Mr. Moore had said in his letter that it was absurd to believe that if only $50,000 of stock had been subscribed in a year the whole amount, $200,000, could be secured in three years. He thought there would be no difficulty whatever in this as everyone knows that it is much easier

THE ONTARIO HOUSE

An Uneventful Finale to a Fighting Session.

SPEECH FROM THE THRONE

Much Important Legislation Receives the Royal Assent—The "See" Bill—Free School Books—Statute Law Amendments—Taxation of Railways—Factories Act Amendment—Volume of Private Bills.

Toronto, April 27.—The Ontario Legislature was formally prorogued yesterday afternoon. His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor was escorted to the Parliament Buildings by a military guard of honor. Immediately proceeding to the chamber, His Honor ascended the Throne, and the Clerk of the House read a list of the bills passed during the session, and which had been given the royal assent.

The Speaker then came forward and read the supply bill, which the Clerk afterwards announced had also been assented to.

Speech From the Throne.

His Honor read the following speech from the Throne:

Mr. Speaker and Gentlemen of the Legislative Assembly:

In dismissing you from the duties of a session unusually protracted, I desire to congratulate you upon the extent and importance of the legislation which has occupied your attention. The revision of the Assessment Act by which the basis of municipal taxation is materially broadened and the burdens more fairly equalized is a measure which should prove satisfactory to the municipalities of the Province, and I assent with much pleasure to its enactment.

Approves Railway Extension.

I cordially approve of the legislation connecting the railways of the Province with the transcontinental systems of Canada. The extension of the Temiskaming & Northern Ontario Railway to the Grand Trunk Pacific, the opening of a line from Thunder Bay to the main land of the eastern division of the same railway, and the construction of the James Bay Railway from Toronto to Sudbury on the C.P.R. will enable the manufacturers and agriculturists of this Province to share more largely in the trade of Manitoba and the Northwest, besides opening for settlement Crown lands now unoccupied and practically inaccessible. The obligations thus imposed upon the Province will, I trust, be more than compensated for by the increase of trade and population which usually follow railway development.

The "See" Bill.

The measure to which I have assented for the early completion of the Algoma Central and the Hudson Bay Railways is of great public interest, as it is advisable to furnish an outlet for the timber and minerals of a district of great natural resources, and at the same time incidentally aid in the re-establishment of industries at Sault Ste. Marie, on which much of the prosperity of the western portion of the Province depends.

Free School Books.

The bills which you have passed for the consolidation of school boards in cities and towns, for the supply to pupils of rural schools of free text books, for the improvement of public libraries, and for the extension of technical education, cannot fail to promote the efficiency of a system of education already deeply rooted in public confidence.

Statute Law Amendments.

I notice with great pleasure the various amendments that you have made to the statute law, by which previous acts of the Legislature have been improved in many important details and their objects more effectually attained. I am particularly pleased to notice the re-enactment of those clauses of the Lord's Day Act which, owing to the decision of the Privy Council, were of doubtful validity, incorporated in the revised statutes of the Province. I hope it will be found that the Provincial Legislature has the right to regulate labor on the Lord's Day on public works deriving their legal status from the acts of the Assembly.

Asylum Waste Met.

I am pleased to notice that you are increasing the asylum accommodations of the Province by the conversion of the reformatory at Penetang into an institution for asylum purposes. With this addition, it is confidently expected that no further increase of asylum accommodation will be required for many years to come. The action taken for the early completion of the hospital for epileptics will, I am sure, be gratifying to all persons interested in the care and protection of this unfortunate class of the community.

Taxation of Railways.

The necessity for providing additional revenue for the growing wants of the Province amply justifies the imposition of further taxes upon railway corporations, particularly as nearly all the railways so taxed have shared either in the bounty of the Province or of local municipalities. I am pleased to notice that a commission is to be appointed to inquire into the methods of taxation prevailing in the United States for the information of the Legislature, should it be deemed necessary in the near future to depart from the present basis of taxation.

Factories Act Amendment.

The amendments you have made to the Factories Act, with a view to the greater safety and comfort of the artisan classes, command my heartiest approval. Where so much of our prosperity depends upon skilled labor, your efforts to safeguard the health of the operatives are worthy of commendation.

I congratulate you on the large volume of private bill legislation which had engaged your attention, and which I have no doubt will prove advantageous to the many interests affected.

Thanked For Liberality.

I thank you for the liberality which you have displayed in making the necessary appropriations for the current year, and I assure you that the supplies which you have voted will be expended as economically as is compatible with the efficiency of the public service.

The Provincial Secretary, coming forward, declared His Honor's desire that the Legislature be prorogued. This concluded the ceremony.

There were few members present during the winding-up of the session, and the citizens were equally chary of their presence.

THIS YEAR'S TRAINING CAMPS.

Question of Full or Skeleton Strength Not Yet Decided.

Ottawa, April 27.—(Globe Special.)—It is understood that military camps will be held at London and Niagara this morning, sometime before July 1, as to whether the rural regiments will be called out in full strength of 40 to 50 men per company or only on skeleton has not yet been decided. Lord Dundonald's ideas is to call out the officers and non-commissioned officers and a small percentage of the men per regiment; in other words to have skeleton corps.

The commanding officers of regiments and company commanders, do not look at the matter in the same light. They like to go to camp with big turnouts and not with skeleton companies or regiments. Moreover, they say there is more enthusiasm and more swing to the work when each regiment makes its best possible "turnout" at camp.

Sir Frederick Borden is believed to sympathize with the officers in this matter. The question is now engaging the Minister's attention, and in a day or two will be settled one way or the other.

ERIN GREETS THE KING.

His Majesty Replies With Tact to Numerous Addresses.

Dublin, April 27.—King Edward, Queen Alexandra and their suites landed at Kingstown from the royal yacht Victoria and Albert before noon, and soon afterwards proceeded to the Punchetown races. Their Majesties were accorded a splendid reception, and large crowds assembled to greet them. The vessels in the harbor were gaily trimmed with bunting, while Kingstown was bright with Venetian masts and festoons.

Several addresses were presented to the King, replying to which His Majesty expressed his delight at finding the spirit of hopefulness in the future as evinced on the occasion of his last visit. With the improvement in agriculture and industry, the King confidently anticipated a growth of better feeling throughout the country. His Majesty believed that the greatest hope for the future of Ireland lay in education, for the wide diffusion of cultivated intelligence was the surest guarantee of social peace and the most faithful source of self-reliance.

Purified by Suffering

BY MARY J. HOLMES.

The carriage from Linwood stood at the farm-house door, and Katy, wrapped in shawls and hood, was ready to go with her husband. There were no tears shed at this parting, for their darling was not going far away; her new house was just across the fields, and through the soft moonlight they could see its chimney tops, and trace for some little distance the road over which the carriage went bearing her swiftly on; her hands fast locked in Morris's, her head upon his arm, and the hearts of each too full of bliss for either to speak a word until Linwood was reached, when, folding Katy to his bosom in a passionate embrace, Morris said to her:

"We are home at last—your home, and mine, my precious, precious wife."

The village clock was striking one, and the sound echoed across the waters of Fairy Pond, awakening, in his marshy bed, a sleeping frog, who sent forth upon the warm, still air a musical, plaintive note as Morris bore his bride over the threshold and into the library, where a cheerful fire was blazing. He had ordered it kindled there, for he had a fancy ere he slept to see fulfilled a dream he had dreamed so often, of Katy sitting as his wife in the chair across the hearth, where he placed her now, himself removing her shawl and hood; then kneeling down before her, with his arm around her waist and his head upon her shoulder, he prayed aloud to the God who had brought her there, asking His blessing upon their future life, and dedicating himself and all he had to his Master's service. It is such a prayer which God delights to answer, and a peace, deeper than they had yet known, fell upon the newly married pair at Linwood.

CHAPTER LII.

The scene shifts now to New York, where, one week after the wedding at Silverton, Mark and Helen went, together with Morris and Katy. But not to Madison Square. That house had been sold, and Katy saw it but once, her tears falling fast as, driving slowly by with Morris, she gazed at the closed door and windows of what was once her home, and around which lingered no pleasant memories, save that it was the birthplace of baby Cameron. Lieutenant Bob Reynolds had thought to buy it, but Bell said "No, it would not be pleasant for Katy to visit me there, and I mean to have her with me as much as possible. So the house went to strangers, and a less pretensious but quite as comfortable one was bought for Bell, so far up town that Juno wondered how her sister would manage to exist so far from everything, intimating that her visits would be far between, a threat which Lieutenant Bob took quite heroically, indeed, it rather enhanced the value of his pleasant home than otherwise, for Juno was not a favorite, and his equanimity was not likely to be disturbed if she never crossed his threshold. She was throwing bait to Arthur Grey, the man who swore he was fifty to escape the draft, and who, now that the danger was over, would gladly take back his oath and be forty, as he really was. With the most freezing kiss imaginable Juno greeted Katy, calling her "Mrs. Grant," and treating Morris as if he were an entire stranger, instead of the man whom to get she would have moved both earth and heaven. Mrs. Cameron, too, though glad that Katy was married, and fully approved her choice, threw into her manner so much reserve that Katy's intercourse with her was anything but agreeable, and she turned with alacrity to father Cameron, who received her with open arms, calling her his daughter, and welcoming Morris as his son, taken in Wilford's stead. "My boy," he frequently called him, showing how willingly he accepted him as the husband of one whom he had loved as his child. Greatly he wished that they should stay with him while they remained in New York, but Katy preferred going to Mrs. Benker's, where she would be more quiet, and avoid the bustle and confusion attending the preparations for Bell's wedding. It was to be a grand church affair, and to take place during Easter week, after which the bridal pair were going to Washington, and if possible to Richmond, where Bob had been a prisoner. Everything seemed conspiring to make the occasion a joyful one, for all through the North, from Maine to California, the air was rife with songs of victory and the notes of approaching peace. But alas! He who holds our country's destiny in his hand changed that song of gladness into a wail of woe, which, echoing through the land, rose up to heaven in one mighty sob of anguish, as the whole nation bemoaned its loss. Our President was dead, and New York was in mourning, so black, so profound, that with a shudder Bell Cameron tossed aside the orange wreath and said to her lover: "We will be married at home. I cannot now go to the church, when everything seems like one great funeral."

And so in Mrs. Cameron's drawing room there was a quiet wedding, one pleasant April morning, and Bell's plain traveling dress was far more in keeping with the gloom which hung over the great city than her gala robes would have been, with a long array of carriages and merry wedding chimes. Westward they went instead of South, and when our late lamented President was borne back to the prairies of Illinois, they were there to greet the noble dead, and mingle their tears with those who knew and loved him long before the world appreciated his worth.

* * * *

Softly the May rain falls on Linwood, where the fresh green grass is springing and the early spring flowers blooming, and where Katy stands for a moment in the bay window of the library, listening to the patter on the tin roof overhead, and gazing wistfully down the road, as if watching for some one; then turning, she enters the dining-room. Aunt Hannah and Aunt Betsy are visiting her this rainy afternoon, while Morris, on his return from North Silverton, is to call for Uncle Ephraim and bring him home to tea.

Morris and his young wife are very happy together, and Katy finds the hours of his absence very long, especially when left alone. Even today the time drags heavily, and she looks more than once from the bay window, until at last Brownie's head is seen over the hill, and a few minutes after Morris's arm is round her shoulders, and her lips are upturned for the kiss he gives as he leads her to the house, chiding her for exposing herself to the rain, and placing in her hand three letters, which she does not open until the cosy tea is over and her family friends have gone. Then, while her husband looks over his evening paper, she breaks the seals one by one reading first the letter from "Mrs Bob Reynolds," who has returned from the West, and who is in the full glory of her bridal calls.

"I was never so happy in my life as I am now," she wrote. "Indeed, I did not know that a married woman could be so happy, but then every woman has not a Bob for a husband, which makes a vast difference. You ought to see Juno. I know she envies me, though she affects the utmost contempt for matrimony, and reminds me forcibly of the fox and the grapes. You see Arthur Grey is a failure, so far as Juno is concerned, he having withdrawn from the field and laid himself at the feet of Sybil Grandon, who will be Mrs. Grey, and a bride at Saratoga the coming summer. Juno intends going too, as a bridesmaid of the party but every year her chances lessen, and I have very little hope that father will ever call other than Bob his son, always excepting Morris, of course, whom he has adopted in place of Wilford. You don't know, Katy, how much father thinks of you, blessing the day which brought you to us, and saying that if he is ever saved he shall in a great measure owe it to your influence and consistent life after that great trouble came upon you."

There were tears in Katy's eyes as she read this letter from Bell, and with a mental prayer of thanksgiving that she had been of any use in guiding even one to the Shepherd's Fold, she took next the next letter whose superscription brought back so vividly to her mind the daisy-covered grave at Alnwick. Marian, who was now at Annapolis, caring for the returned prisoners, did not write often, and her letters were prized the more by Katy, who read with a beating heart the kind congratulations upon her recent marriage, sent by Marian Hazelton.

For a long time Katy held this letter in her hand, wondering if the sorrowful woman whose life was once so strangely blended with that of Marian Hazelton, could be the Katy Grant who sat by the evening fire at Linwood, with the sunshine of perfect happiness resting upon her heart. "Truly He doeth all things well to those who wait upon Him," she thought, as she laid down Marian's letter.

There were great tear blots upon that letter as Katy put it aside, and nestling close to Morris, laid her head upon his knee, where his hand could smooth her golden curls, while she pondered Helen's closing words, thinking how much they expressed, and how just a tribute they were to the noble woman whose life had been one constant sacrifice of self for another's good— "The soldiers call her an angel, but we know her as Marian."

The Deadly Trail

Of disease is often the trail marked by a woman's gown. A recent investigation showed a horde of microbes, including those of influenza, consumption and a dozen other varieties, gathered in the trail of a woman's dress.

The microbe is everywhere, but its prey are the weak and feeble people whose blood is "poor" and digestion "weak." Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition and purifies the blood. It strengthens the body by increased nutrition to resist or throw off disease.

"Please accept my thanks for the good Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has done for me," writes Mrs. N. Cheley, of Cleveland, Cuyahoga Co., Ohio. "I was troubled for over a year with what the doctor pronounced indigestion. I had nervous headaches an unpleasant taste in my mouth in the morning, and my blood was very poor. I tried different medicines but to no avail. My parents insisted on my taking Dr Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I did so, am now on the fourth bottle, and feel stronger than I have for ten years. I cannot speak too highly in its favor."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Peilets are easy and pleasant to take. A most effective laxative. They do not beget the pill habit.

Deranged Nerves AND Weak Spells.

Mr. R. H. Sampson's, Sydney, N.S., Advice to all Sufferers from Nerve Trouble is

"GET A BOX OF MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS."

He says: "I have been ailing for about a year from deranged nerves, and very often weak spells would come over me and be so bad that I sometimes thought I would be unable to survive them. I have been treated by doctors and have taken numerous preparations but none of them helped me in the least. I finally got a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. Before taking them I did not feel able to do any work, but now I can work as well as ever, thanks to one box of your pills. They have made a new man of me, and my advice to any person troubled as I was, is to get a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills."

FIRST USE OF GAS.

The Way the Idea of Using It For Light Was Ridiculed.

Great was the amazement of all Europe when at about the close of the century William Murdoch discovered that gas could be used for illuminating purposes. So little was the invention understood by those who had not seen it in use that even the great and wise (?) men of the British parliament laughed at the idea. "How can there be light without a wick?" said one member of that august body, with a wink and a knowing nod. Even the great Sir Humphry Davy ridiculed the idea of lighting towns and cities with gas. He one day asked Murdoch, "Do you mean to use the dome of St. Paul's for your gas meter?" Sir Walter Scott also made merry of the gas idea and of the coming attempt to "illuminate London with smoke from a tar factory."

When the house of commons was finally lighted with the new illuminant, the architect and custodian of the building, who imagined that the gas ran as fire through the pipes, insisted that they be removed several inches from the wall to prevent the building from taking fire! Several distinguished members were also observed carefully touching the pipes with their gloved fingers and then smelling of them to see if they could detect the odor of burned leather.

INSTANT DEATH.

It Is Not So Quick but That the Mind Has Time to Act.

It is questionable if such a phenomenon as instant death is known to the scientist and investigator. Physicians and surgeons tell us that death by gunshot wound is the easiest mode of terminating life; yet, rapid as such a mode of taking off must necessarily be, the body has leisure to feel and time to reflect and on rare occasions even to act.

On the first attempt of one of the adherents of the Spanish monarch to assassinate William, prince of Orange, the ball passed through the bones of his face and brought him to the ground. In the instant which preceded stupefaction, however, he was able to frame the notion that the ceiling of a room had fallen in and crushed him.

Another question in this connection is that of probable pain. Although numerous instances could be cited in support of the view that the mind acts in cases of so called instant death, it by no means follows that the infliction of a fatal blow is attended by the least semblance of pain or a single pang of fear or regret. Unless death results immediately, however, the pain may be as varied as the nature of the injuries.

NOT JUST AS GOOD

Did you ever inquire at a store for certain articles and get for a reply "We have something just as good"? Did it ever occur to you that "Something just as good" is something the dealer has been able to buy much cheaper than the articles you inquire for? This is true in drugs, fabrics, groceries, hardware, and in fact every line, including silver-plated ware. If you inquire for 1847 Rogers Bros.' Knives, Forks or Spoons, don't accept any bogus Rogers' stamp because your dealer tells you it's just as good.

1847 TRADE MARK ROGERS BROS

The above trade mark has been stamped on every article of the original and genuine Rogers Bros.' goods for over 50 years. Get this and you get the best that is made.

ONE NIGHT TREATMENT.

Soak the hands or feet on retiring in a strong, hot, creamy lather of Cuticura Soap. Dry and anoint freely with Cuticura Ointment, the great skin cure and purest of emollients. Wear on the hands during the night old, loose gloves, and bandage the feet lightly in old, soft cotton or linen. For red, rough and chapped hands, dry, fissured, itching, feverish palms, with brittle, shapeless nails and painful finger ends, or sore, tender, inflamed or itching feet, this treatment is simply wonderful, frequently curing in a single application.

Complete local and constitutional treatment for every humour of the skin, scalp and blood, with loss of hair, may now be had of druggists. Bathe with hot water and Cuticura Soap, to cleanse the surface of crusts and scales, and soften the thickened cuticle. Dry, without hard rubbing, and apply Cuticura Ointment freely, to allay itching, irritation and inflammation, and soothe and heal, and lastly, take the Cuticura Resolvent Pills to cool and cleanse the blood. This treatment affords instant relief, permits rest and sleep in the severest forms of Eczema and other itching, burning and scaly humours, and points to a speedy, permanent and economical cure of torturing, disfiguring humours, from pimples to scrofula, from infancy to age, when all other remedies and the best physicians fail.

Cuticura Resolvent, Liquid and in the form of Chocolate Coated Pills, Cuticura Ointment and Cuticura Soap are sold throughout the world. Depots: London, 27 Charterhouse Sq.; Paris, 5 Rue de la Paix; Australia, R. Towns & Co., Sydney; Boston, 137 Columbus Ave. Potter Drug & Chemical Corp., Sole Proprietors.

SUGAR MEETING IN FIFTH WARD.

to sell stock in a concern which is in operation. He had been amazed to find the readiness with which the people had subscribed for the stock, and he would undertake to sell all the stock within one year after the bonds were guaranteed, and also agree to pay back all of the $50,000 in one and a half years.

Mr. Garvin asked would Michigan capitalists have subscribed $2,000,000 for sugar factories in Ontario in such a short time had they not believed there was money in it? Why had they not made money then? In the first place there were two bad years for the beets in western Ontario. The land there is flat and for two years the beets were drowned out. There had been two apparent failures of factories, but these were not real failures. In Dresden, which was only 12 miles from Wallaceburg, only 12,000 tons of beets were secured, which was not sufficient to make the factory a paying one. Some 20,000 tons at least were required in a season to enable a factory to hold its own, and with 40,000 or 50,000 tons it will pay a handsome dividend. Capt. Davidson, of the Dresden factory, had moved his plant to Janesville, Wis., where he got a big bonus. In the Wiarton concern gross mismanagement and incompetence had been practised, and a factory might as well have been built in Muskoka as in that part. The plant was not in harmony with itself, as some parts were capable of handling 1,000 tons a day, while other parts were only capable of 400 tons a day. It was so badly built that only 179 pounds of sugar were extracted from a ton of beets.

He then dealt with the statement of Mr. W. H. Moore and asked why he did not compare Berlin and Wallaceburg with Peterborough. Mr. Gordon was satisfied with his experience in Wallaceburg. This year he had 5,000 acres under contract.

Mr. Garvin then took up Mr. Moore's letter and replied to certain parts of it. He referred to the comparison made by him between guaranteeing the bonds and endorsing a note. The cases were not analagous, for in this case the town had $3 security for every $1 guarantee. Before the town guarantees $1 of bonds, the company must spend at least $250,000. The machinery must be on the ground and paid for before the town puts up any money.

Mr. Garvin characterized Mr. Moore's action as childish in saying that the town had no guarantee that the machinery would be installed. The company would not be foolish enough to buy the machinery and allow it to lie on the ground. Mr. Gordon believed that there was a great future for the sugar beet industry and was willing to put his money into it here.

Mr. Garvin referred to Mr. Moore letter with reference to the resolution passed at the Board of Trade meeting, and said that it was an insinuation against Mr. Hughes-Charles, who had always taken a deep interest in the welfare of the town. He said that Mr. Moore after having written the letter had swallowed himself. Speaking of Mr. Moore's connection with the Board of Trade, Mr. Garvin said it was not until the afternoon of the day on which the meeting was held that Mr. Moore became a member of the Board.

"Did you ever hear," said Mr. Garvin, "of Mr. Moore spending a dollar to build up Peterborough?" The directors of the Sugar Company had spent thousands of dollars in industrial concerns here.

A voice—"Who has?"

Mr. Garvin—"Mr. Jas. Kendry, M. P., Mr. T. E. Bradburn and myself."

Mr. Garvin then accused Mr. Moore of being tricky. He had taken the financial statement given by him, and had misconstrued it until a totally erroneous impression had been created.

Mr. Garvin then explained that included in the item of $6,000 for salaries, expenses of charter, etc., was that for the lithographing of the stock certificates, office furniture, and other incidental expenses in connection with the starting of the industry.

The company had spent in wages alone nearly $25,000. Mistakes had been made and they confessed it, but he believed that Providence would yet bring good results out of the mistakes.

MR MOORE GETS BACK.

Mr. Moore, who was on the platform, was given an opportunity of replying, and made a spirited speech of 40 minutes' duration. Mr. Moore said that for over 20 years he had taken a deep interest in the affairs of the town, and was for years a member of the town council. He had been honoured by being on the Board of Water Commissioners and a member of the Town Trust Commission. "Did Mr. Garvin ever sit as member of the Town Council?" asked Moore.

Mr. Garvin did not dare to say that he had ever said one word against him. They were of the same stripe in politics and had always been friends. The stand he was taking now was taken because he thought the welfare of the town was at stake, and he was acting in the public interest. He referred again to the Board of Trade meeting and said that of the 10 members who voted, 5 were stockholders in the Company, and of the five who were not, three voted against the resolution. He said that he had come to the meeting last night to deliberate with those present, and had only talked as he was then doing because of Mr. Garvin's attacks on him. He had hit Mr. Garvin hard, but he felt impelled to do it in the public interest.

Mr. Moore then produced the first prospectus of the Company and quoted copiously from it in support of his statement that the company had made claims which were not founded on facts. He referred to the prospectus as the most remarkable document he had ever seen. The estimated revenue from the factory was $468,000 annually and the shareholders were to receive 27 93-100 per cent. dividend. He then dealt with the financial condition of the town, which he said was such that no such proposition as this should be entered into.

The present debenture debt is $558,040.17, while that for local improvements is $82,219.71, a total of $640,259.88. He enumerated a number of other expenditures which the town would have to make in the near future. These were:—

Collegiate Institute, $50,000.

Outfall sewer, 5th ward, $15,000.

Repairs to Water Works Dam, $70,000.

Improvements to Water Works system, $15,000.

Site for drill hall, $10,000.

Fire Hall, $15,000.

This makes a total of $150,000, which added to the present debt is $790,000. There was talk of a new City Hall, which would cost $40,000, but he thought this and the sugar bylaw luxuries, and could not be indulged in. If the bylaw is carried he thinks the town will lose at least $75,000.

Mr. Garvin who replied briefly, said that he would answer Mr. Moore at the public meeting to be held on Thursday night. The prospectus he quoted from was one prepared before he, (Mr. Garvin,) had been associated with the company.

Peterborough was not going to stand still. He believed that in a few years the population of the town would be 30,000 or 40,000.

Mr. E. A. Peck, who followed, made a brief but effective speech. He said that he had concluded to vote in favour of the bylaw after having carefully considered the conditions. The party of the county represented by him would be greatly benefitted by the sugar factory, but it was in his capacity as a citizen that he was going to support the proposition. This was a big question and should be discussed in a broad way. He was sorry to hear the way in which it had been dealt with by the former speakers. He had a high regard for Mr. Moore, and thought his views should be respected. He was sorry to hear Mr. Moore's position characterized as it had been to-night, and he thought the audience did not like to hear it. Mr. Garvin, he said, had experienced a trying time during the last few months, and thought he should be excused for speaking in the way he did of Mr. Moore. The sugar industry was a new one in Ontario, although it had been tried in Michigan and found to be a success. Sugar is a staple article, and if it could be manufactured here it would mean a great saving to the country. He would like to see an industry of this kind here. He thought Peterborough an admirable place to start such an industry, and the security to the town in the acceptance of the proposition was good. He thought the fact that Mr. Gordon had offered to take $100,000 of stock, and allow the town to have a first mortgage on the plant was sufficient evidence of his faith in it. It was not often that the town got an opportunity to interest a man like Mr. Gordon and he thought there should be enough of the sport in the ratepayers to take the small risk. Mistakes had been made by the company in the past, but he understood that if the bylaw carried new management would be put into the company's affairs. He thought the town should support the bylaw.

Mr. Bradburn followed in a brief speech agreeing with all that Mr. Peck had said.

This closed the meeting.

PARK STREET Y. P. U. MEETING OF INTEREST.

The Pastor, Rev. A. H. Brace Gave an Instruction Talk.

The B. Y. P. U. of the Park street Baptist church was well represented on Monday evening when the pastor, Rev. A. H. Brace, took a special subject giving exercises in the use of the Concordance, on the black-board, dissecting the subject and developing a general outline. The members supplied themselves with a number of concordances, paper and pencils and much interest was manifested. An inspiration to work the Concordance will produce valuable Bible students. At the close of the exercises Mr. Brace read the paper thus produced and the question of how to write a paper was answered.

Crossed at Two Points.

"We know that the Japanese crossed at two points at least. Their first attempt to force a passage near Chandchukow, 20 miles above Wiju, near Siaopoussikhe, on the Poussikhe, a tributary of the Yalu, was successful. This is important because a road leads from Siaopoussikhe northeast to Kwantien, which commands one of the roads to Mukden.

"It is evident that the Japanese devoted most of their attention to crossing near Wiju. The river here is divided into several channels by islands, the largest of which is Samilando. Above and below Wiju was bridged at three points.

"Up the stream near Sindiagou the Japanese were watched by a small party of Cossacks, but the enemy was practically unopposed. At Turenchen, lower down, our outposts directed a fire from a fieldpiece so successfully that they destroyed the moorings and wrecked the pontoons. The enemy was thrown into disorder and suffered considerable loss. Still further down the stream the Japanese proceeded to make a third attempt at crossing.

Possible Jap Plans.

"We do not think the Japanese will attempt to land at Takushan or Tatungkau now that they have crossed the Yalu. The object of such landings has been to cause a diversion so as to enable the Japanese to cross the river. Takushan is not a good strategic point. The roads from there are bad, and troops could only be supplied with great difficulty.

"The Russians will not show their hand at this stage, but will constantly harass the enemy, choosing their own time for a battle."

A military expert, who is particularly impressed with the importance of the Japanese crossing near Siaopoussikhei said that the use of the road therefrom would enable the enemy not only to march upon Mukden but to outflank the Russian position at Fenghuancheng and cut off any of Gen. Renenkampff's Cossacks who may have gone to join the attack on Gensan.

Port Arthur, April 28.—The successful trials of the submarine boats here are regarded by the Novi Krai as opening fresh prospects for active operations on the part of the Russian fleet.

Jap Judge Shot.

Tokio, April 28.—The Tokio correspondent of The Times says that one of the Japanese spies shot by the Russians at Mukden was identified as Sundo, a Japanese judge, and not a military man, as has been stated.

Flattering Off Gensan.

London, April 28.—A special despatch from Kobe, Japan, says several vessels, believed to be Russians, were again sighted off Gensan, Corea, yesterday.

Skrydloff Leaves.

St. Petersburg, April 28.—Vice-Admiral Skrydloff left St. Petersburg for Moscow yesterday.

St. Petersburg, April 28.—One of the Japanese columns, while attempting to cross the Yalu River at Turenchen sustained severe losses, owing to unexpected shelling by a Russian battery from the opposite bank.

Done With Torpedoes.

St. Petersburg, April 28.—The Emperor has received a telegram from Viceroy Alexieff as follows:

"Rear-Admiral Yeszen, who is at sea with cruisers and torpedo boats, despatched the later to Gensan, Corea. The torpedo boats blew up a Japanese merchantman in the roadstead. The crew was sent ashore. The torpedo boats returned the same day to the squadron."

Japs Retreated.

St. Petersburg, April 28.—An account given here of the movements of the cavalry under Major-General Mistchenko, the commander of the Eastern Cossack Brigade, while not officially confirmed, is accepted as trustworthy. It is as follows:

"Gen. Mistchenko's Cossacks reached Songjin, and after occupying that place, turned north along the Seoul-Pekin road and occupied Anju. Not a shot was fired, the Japanese and Coreans withdrawing. The unexpected appearance of Cossacks in the rear of the Japanese force near the Yalu caused a panic among the Japanese troops proceeding towards the Yalu from Pingyang, and they consequently retreated. The Japanese troops at Pakchon, Kusong, Kasan and Chongju did not attempt to stop the Cossacks, but moved towards the northwest by forced marches."

Russians Unprepared.

Berlin, April 28.—Col. Von Gaedke, war correspondent of The Berliner Tageblatt, writing from Harbin, Manchuria, under date of April 4, says he found the Russians much more unprepared for war than he anticipated.

High officers assured him that the garrison of Port Arthur amounted to only 8,000 combatants when the first attack occurred. The troops south of Mukden ready for action then numbered only 20,000 to 25,000 men.

Col. Von Gaedke asserts that the total strength of the Russians in Manchuria at that time was hardly above 90,000 men, exclusive of 23,000 railroad guards. The Russians expected a speedy advance of the Japanese after the outbreak of war and rather lost their heads.

Much censure the colonel adds, was heard in army circles of the mismanagement of the defence of Port Arthur.

DIPLOMACY TRIUMPHED.

Sir Louis Jette Makes His First Public Utterance in Alaskan Boundary Case Since His Return.

Montreal, April 28.—Sir Louis Jette, Lieutenant-Governor of Quebec, delivered an address yesterday before the Laval faculty, His Honor's remarks being interesting from the fact that this has been his first public utterance since his return from London, where he sat as one of the Alaska Commissioners.

"We were not plenipotentates," he began, "neither were we diplomats. We did not have the right to make concessions or compromises. We were judges and were told to interpret the treaty to the letter. For this reason, when the Rutland Canal had to be treated the Canadian Commissioners did not consent to what they believed to be a compromise, and it was the same all through. The clear arguments, however, of the Canadians could not triumph, and the majority of the Commissioners decided against Canada. It was, in fact, diplomacy that triumphed. The question had probably been negotiated and decided in advance, and it was better perhaps for England that the question should have been decided as it was. In any case, the press and the reviews seems to agree that right was on the side of Canada."

Sir Louis also told the students of Laval that Europeans were more learned than American citizens. The case of Sir Edward Carson, who took up the Canadian side of the Alaska controversy, and although he had very little time to prepare his plea, was a wonderful one.

Then in the Venezuela case before The Hague Tribunal, Sir Louis said, the Solicitor-General of England, with only a few days for preparation, showed up quite as well as the men from other countries. In order to be convinced of this, the Lieutenant-Governor invited the students to read the factum in the Alaska case, demonstrating the fact that the English were much superior to the Americans and possessed in a far greater sense, a sense of right.

Sir Louis concluded by telling the young men that Sir Wilfrid Laurier was greatly thought of both in England and on the continent.

MOLTEN METAL INJURED HIS EYE.

Mr. Geo. Minorgan Met with Painful Accident.

Mr. George Minorgan, foreman of the moulding department of the Peter Hamilton Manufacturing Company's works, met with an accident, which, though not serious, is very painful. The accident occurred while Mr. Minorgan was superintending the casting operations and some molten metal flew into his eye, causing him great pain. The physician states, however, that the sight will be saved.

Mr. Starr, also an employee of the same company, some little time ago, was struck with a piece of cold steel, which penetrated the eye. Mr. Starr went to Professor Reeves, of Toronto, who operated upon the optic, and his sight also will be saved.

There are very few cleansing operations in which Sunlight Soap cannot be used to advantage. It makes the home bright and clean.

COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE BYLAW

The question of a new Collegiate Institute building — there is no question of the necessity — will demand an answer from the ratepayers of Peterborough on May 5th. And that answer will be in the affirmative, if the necessities of the situation are appreciated; must be in the affirmative, if the town is to retain its rank, as the foremost town in the Dominion. Peterborough is now reaching out to city-hood, and the conditions worthy of city dignity must be provided. We must see to it that in municipal and educational matters we reach and retain the standard that our best and most progressive citizens feel that we must aim at and attain. We must in no respect fall below the level of surrounding towns in educational matters. And there is a danger of that, in the matter of Collegiate Institute buildings and equipments, we are not at all up to the mark. Napanee, Cobourg, (last year,) Lindsay, and other towns which Peterborough could, in the matter of relative commercial and industrial importance, hold in the hollow of its hand, have first class Collegiate Institute buildings, both structurally and in regard to equipment such as is required in a modern educational institution.

Apart altogether from the educational point of view in relation to the question of culture, there is a material aspect to be considered. A town, or city, which aims to grow in population must have, or not having, create, the conditions that make for an increase of population. We have many of these conditions: a clean, well-built, brisk, modern town, good walks, good streets, splendid churches of all denominations, the cheapest and best electric light and power in Canada, an excellent water system, owned by the town, good sewerage, thriving and numerous factories, shops of all kinds, equal in size and fittings and stock, to city shops of the same kind, where goods of similar quality and variety can be obtained at as reasonable prices. We have excellent sanitary conditions, making Peterborough a healthy place of residence. Yet with all these, the determining factor to an outsider in selecting a new home, is the educational advantages the town may present, and these we cannot have unless we have a new, modern, and properly equipped Collegiate Institute building. At present we are standing in the way of educational advancement. We are occupying premises which are badly needed for public school purposes, and paying a rental for them which represents the cost of new Collegiate Institute buildings. If the present arrangement continues to exist we shall have to face the problem of housing our public schools. The Menzies' building is quite unsuited, and quite impossible as a proper public school building. Releasing the building now occupied by the Collegiate Institute would, for a time, at least, solve the public school accommodation question.

It is false economy to delay the erection of a new Collegiate Institute Building. We have provided a first rate staff of Institute teachers, at a considerable cost annually, yet we neutralize the skill of our educational workmen by providing them with inefficient and antiquated tools. With a first rate staff of teachers, we should have corresponding buildings. And these buildings should provide for an equipment that will meet modern educational, as well as our special requirements. Peterborough is essentially a manufacturing centre, and we should have an educational institution capable of meeting the wants of our children in regard to acquiring a knowledge of physical science and the rudiments of technical training such as modern conditions demand. The teaching of physical science in our present buildings is a physical impossibility—they are structurally inadequate.

To meet this want alone, new buildings, which will permit of proper equipment, are largely justified. The province of Ontario is erecting at a cost of between $200,000 and $300,000, new buildings in connection with the School of Practical Science. It is recognized that Ontario has great mineral wealth, and natural adaptation to immense development of electrical energy, and the province proposes to provide facilities for educating Ontario young men to become the engineers, mining and electrical, that we require. Peterborough is the greatest electrical industrial town in Canada, and we should do our share in giving the home education of our youth a bent in the direction of mechanical and practically scientific pursuits.

We must look to the future—plan for the future, build for the future. If we hope to be a thriving city in the heart of the great Midland District, we must make the conditions which will help realize such an aspiration, and one of these conditions most urgently indicated is new and thoroughly well equipped Collegiate Institute buildings. There is much in favour of making Peterborough a great educational, as it is now a great industrial and commercial section, and we cannot hope to maintain our standing in the second and third regards referred to, if we neglect the first.

THE OPPOSITION LEADER.

Mr. Whitney, leader of the Opposition in the Ontario Legislature does not find his position a bed of roses. The place he holds is difficult under the most favourable circumstances, but when his followers do not follow and show a disposition to kick over the traces, to take the bit in their teeth and lead, instead of follow, complications and unpleasantness come. He has not much to boast of in the matter of the loyalty of his following in the House. Whether it is his natural incapacity to lead or the political perverseness of his supporters, who with no settled Conservative policy to unite them, browse about in the political pasture at will, still the trouble comes. Even the Conservative party newspapers are a thorn in the flesh. The Toronto Telegram periodically slangwhangs Mr. Whitney and the Toronto world has an ever-ready knife. The Sunday World, prints the following which, from what has been evident during the session, may consistently have been written by some member on the Opposition side of the House:—

"As an exhibition of petulance and irascibility, that of the leader of the Opposition on Thursday night was probably the finest that has ever taken place in the Ontario Legislature. The Premier was encroaching dangerously near the midnight hour, and every one was anxious to have the Soo debate disposed of as quickly as possible. Mr. Whitney's excuse for not wanting to sit after 12 o'clock was that he would have to walk home. He was anxious to catch a five-cent car home, and some of the others also mentioned their anxiety to get out before midnight, when the night cars are put on. Mr. Whitney was unusually hurt when the Premier declined to fall in with the early-closing idea, and fussed and stormed beyond measure. One of his followers, commenting on the incident, said: — 'Mr. Whitney on occasions can rise to the height of a statesman. It is a pleasure to follow him in his best periods; but, again, he drops down to the character of a carping, peevish, whining school boy. We were somewhat surprised at Thursday night's exhibition of pettyuneness, but perhaps he was ill, as he usually is about the end of a long session.'"

The Opposition entered upon the session with a great flourish of trumpets, declaring that they would unseat the Ross Government, and as this hope was dashed, Mr. Whitney naturally became irritable and his followers inclined to kick. But that one of his followers could bring himself to use for publication the language quoted above shows a lamentable lack of respect for his leader and even less self-respect. It all shows, however, that the Opposition ranks are not a nest of turtle doves.

THE MORALITY OF WILLIAM SHAKSPERE.

Continuation of Rev. Father Galvin's Address.

The Merchant of Venice and King Lear Referred to at Length.

The following is the conclusion of Rev. Father Galvin's address on "The Morality of Shakspere," delivered in the T.A.S. Rooms on Monday evening:—

In Macbeth also Shakespere teaches grand moral lessons. In that drama, "the most sublime and impressive drama the world has ever beheld," Shakespere endeavours to make us realize the terrible punishments, both external and internal, that await those who allow themselves to be carried away by disordered ambition.

Duncan as king of Scotland, having succeeded his grandfather Malcolm. Seditious and rebellions harass the kingdom, as the result of his leniency in governing his subjects. In the quelling of these his generals, Macbeth and Banquo, the former his cousin, render him important service. Macbeth is a man ably fitted to hold the royal sceptre. His claim to the Scottish crown on the death of his grandfather, Malcolm, was as good as Duncan's, but the choice of a sovereign being left to a vote, the election was lost to Macbeth. Duncan became King, and Macbeth remained a General in his service. This state of things might naturally be expected to create strife between Macbeth and Duncan, the more so that Macbeth is conscious of his superior fitness as a ruler. Outwardly, however, no discontent is shown by him, but in his soul he longs for the opportunity to seize the reins of power. In the meantime he continues to discharge his duties faithfully, aiding Duncan in the suppression of all uprisings in the kingdom.

Returning one day from a battle in which they have been successful, Macbeth and Banquo are met by the Weird Sisters, Shakespere's "impersonations of evil influences." These have penetrated into the secret of Macbeth's heart, and are going to lead him on to the accomplishment of his object, and thus effect his ruin. "All hail, Macbeth! Hail to thee, Thane of Glamis!" begins the first. The second immediately afterwards says,—"All hail Macbeth! Hail to thee, Thane of Cawdor!" Then, the third ends up with the words, "All hail, Macbeth, that shalt be King hereafter!" Turning to Banquo the first witch exclaims, "Lesser than Macbeth and greater;" the second, "Not so happy, yet much happier;" and the third, "Thou shalt get Kings, though thou be none." Part of their prophecy is soon fulfilled. Macbeth becomes Thane of Glamis by the death of his father, Sinel. "Treasons capital confessed, and proved," against the Thane of Cawdor lead to his execution, and Macbeth is appointed in his stead. Thus they leave him no room for doubts as to the truth of what they say. The first two prophecies are fulfilled, and he is therefore induced to place absolute confidence in the third witch who addressed him with the words, "All hail, Macbeth, that shalt be King hereafter!" He will therefore be King; his ambition will be gratified.

Herein is found the truth of Banquo's moralizing:—

But 'tis strange;
And oftentimes, to win us to our harm,
The instruments of darkness tell us truths;
Win us with honest trifles, to betray's
In deepest consequence.

They have mixed up truth with statements which in the natural course of events must prove false, and thus they betray him "in deepest consequence," and lead him on to seek the result they foretell.

All this is gladsome news for Macbeth, but strange to say he becomes sorely troubled on hearing it. He perceives that the prophecy coincides almost exactly with the drift of his own thoughts. He accepts it as an instigation to the murder of Duncan, the very thought of which, although he has assurance of success, "shakes so his single state of man, that function is smothered in surmise, and nothing is but what is not." He sets aside the evil thought regarding the murder of Duncan, and says:

"If chance will have me King,
Why chance may crown me,
Without my stir."

But this hope is destroyed by the creation of the King's son, Malcolm as Prince of Cumberland, as thereby the immediate succession is secured to Malcolm. Nothing is left now but the usurpation of the throne by force. However, Macbeth, by himself is not capable of the deed. "I have no spur," he says, "to prick the sides of my intent, but only vaulting ambition which o'erlaps itself and falls on the other side." But his wife, who, in fact, was the one that formed the original conception of the deed, steps in, and points out to him the means of accomplishing the murder, and of remaining undetected. No barrier now remains. Duncan is murdered when on a visit to Macbeth. His sons, suspecting Macbeth of the murder of their father, flew from the kingdom, lest a like fate befall them. Macbeth is then crowned king.

Everything goes well for a time. But guilty minds cannot long remain calm. He misinterprets the agonies of his conscience, and the imaginary terrors that beset him, and believes them to be forewarnings of some impending evil. He is also on the alert to perceive any danger on its first appearance. He recalls the promise of the Weird Sisters to Banquo, "Thou shalt get kings, though thou be none." He had better beware of such a man. To free himself from all uneasiness and to allay the fears that arise in him, he resolves to rid himself of Banquo. In this he does not need the assistance of his wife. The terrors of remorse and the fears of the future are a sufficient incentive to goad him on. Banquo then is his next victim. Thus he continues using the dagger, cutting his way, he thinks, to perfect peace, whereas with each blow his mental misery but becomes greater.

There is no contentment for him yet. Everyone around him fears for his own life, and he fears everyone. He still holds the dagger in his hand and walks on until in the end he is overthrown and killed, and the rightful heir ascends the throne. Shortly previous to this Lady Macbeth dies by her own hand, the remembrance of the past having done its work in the wreck of her mind.

So ends the tragedy of Macbeth. What a grand moral lesson do we not learn from it! We are witnesses of the terrible tortures that guilty consciences have to undergo. We see them given up as a prey to the devouring pangs of remorse, living in a very hell of terror, and forced, as Shakspere says, "on the torture of the mind to lie in restless ecstasy." Finally we see their destruction, in consequence of their own guilt, creep gradually up behind until is suddenly pounces upon them, and carries them off from the scene, leaving us alone with those whom they so foully wronged. Such is the punishment that awaits an ambition which knows no bounds.

In the present essay I have limited myself to an examination of only three of Shakspere's dramas; but all will stand the test on the score of morality. You must remark, however, that all are not free from licentiousness, and that when I say Shakspere is a very moral writer, free from all expressions and incidents that would shock the delicate consciences of truly Christian persons. You will find in many places in his writings passages and expressions which to a very great extent mar by their licentiousness the beauty and sublimity of his works. He wrote in an age when the passions of man were not sufficiently held in check, or, rather, he wrote under favour of a court in which the indulgence of the base passions of man was to a certain extent held in veneration. He was not therefore perfectly free from the contagion that was then so widespread. But it can be said to Shakspere's credit, that he sinned less in this respect than any of his contemporaries.

Hence when you meet objectionable passages in Shakspere's works, passages which pander to the baser passions, you must not say that you heard a Catholic priest contend that Shakspere was a very moral writer, and that therefore no fault is to be found with these passages. A writer may be commendable for his morality and still sin to a slight degree by his licentiousness. Shakspere is a moral writer, because by his plays he teaches great moral truths, because he elicits our sympathy on the side of virtue, and makes virtue ever triump over vice. When we finish reading Shakspere's plays we always feel that the truly virtuous characters are alone worthy of our imitation. It is said that the German poet Schiller, by his drama entitled "The Robbers," sent many young men of his day on the highway as robbers. He so pictured the life of these daring highwaymen as to render it in the eyes of young men most attractive. This play therefore of Schiller's must be pronounced immoral, since it rendered a lawless life attractive, and since it inculcated false principles—principles contrary to the teachings of Christian morality. Shakspere never errs in that way. His sympathy was on the side of virtue, and he makes us partakers of that sympathy. He can consequently be recommended as a teacher who will impart to his pupils sound principles which have been tested by experience and have been approved by the code of Christian morality.

TEMPERANCE MEETING WAS WELL ATTENDED.

Rev. Dr. Abraham, of Toronto, Gave a Forceful Address.

Meeting Passed Resolution Favouring the Voters' League The Abolition of the Bar.

The Examiner has been favored with the following report of the meeting held Tuesday night in the interests of temperance:—

An unusually large number assembled together in the spacious hall of the Y.M.C.A. Tuesday night to listen to an exposition of the plans and purpose of the Voters' League by Rev. Dr. Abraham, Field Secretary of the Dominion Alliance for the Suppression of the Liquor Traffic.

Dr Abraham undertook to show the tremendous waste of capital and the horrible destruction of character that was involved in the traffic in strong drink. He proved most conclusively that the country would be richer, industries more prosperous, farmers largely benefitted and municipalities financially strengthened by the removal of the saloon. Over the counters of the 3,030 bar rooms in Ontario there passed annually over eighteen million dollars, ($18,000,000) while but a comparatively small part of that amount was given in revenue to the Province.

He then proceeded to show, and succeeded [illegible]ing the entire audience, that success seemed very uncertain according to present methods, where partizanship was so strong, although there seemed to be so little difference between the parties. As temperance workers all had endeavoured to work at the wrong end. It was too late when men were selected by the conventions to begin to coerce men into our way of thinking. If any Government is to give temperance legislation it can only come by putting men on either side of the house pledged to this movement for the abolition of the bar. This was the design of the Voters' League, which means —

1. Practical, effective action, not mere expression of opinion, but the overthrow of the drink traffic.

2. An army of actual voters, not merely for parade or drill, but for the supreme test of a soldier.

3. Clean wholesome, political organization, the enrolling of thousands of young electors, whose first vote will be for principle.

4. A union of loyal and determined workers that will do what they desire to be done.

Dr. Abraham received the enthusiastic applause of the assembly at the conclusion of his effective speech.

Mr. Northey and Mr. Eyres supported a resolution appreciating the address of the Field Secretary, and in neat speeches endorsed the movement.

Rev. J. G. Lewis and Mr. Powell were mover and seconder in the following resolution, unanimously and heartily adopted:

"Resolved, That having heard the Voters' League Movement explained, we declare our hearty approval of its objects and methods, and hereby call upon all friends of the temperance cause to do all they can to promote this movement in all electoral contests, particularly in our own constituency."

The opportunity was then given to all voters present to sign the following covenant and a hearty response was the result.

The following is the Voters' League agreement:—

"In view of the widespread evils resulting from the legalized liquor traffic, and recognizing our personal responsibility as citizens, and our duty to strive earnestly for better conditions and laws;

"We, the undersigned, do hereby agree with each other, that in preparation for the next election to the Provincial Legislature of a representative of this constituency, we will earnestly endeavour to secure the nomination of a candidate who can be relied upon to do all that he can to secure effective temperance legislation at the earliest possible opportunity, and who will hold himself absolutely free from party dictation in relation to such legislation;

"And we further agree that in the said election we will work and vote only for a candidate who will comply with these requirements, if such a candidate is nominated, and is endorsed by the Voters' League of this constituency;

"By effective legislation, we mean legislation abolishing the bar and the treating system and drinking in clubs, and imposing upon the liquor traffic such other restrictions as shall most effectually curtail its operation, and remedy its evils.

"This agreement is binding upon us as soon as one hundred signatures to it are secured in this constituency."

STOMACH HAS EARNED A REST

It has been Overworked and Calls for Help Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets the Help it Needs.

"I was troubled for three years with Dyspepsia and Biliousness," says Jos. Locke, of 194 McNab street, Toronto. "I tried several medicines but none would cure me till I began to use Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets. One box of them cured me.

"My daughter was troubled with Headaches and Dyspepsia. She also used Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets and was cured."

It is proof like the above that has made Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets known all over Canada as the one sure cure for Dyspepsia.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets rest the stomach by digesting the food themselves. Nine out of ten people overwork their stomachs. They either eat too much or they do not more than half chew their food. Just think when your stomach bothers you when you last gave it a rest. If you think it has earned a rest use Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

STRIP MEDICINE OF ITS MYSTERY

The most skilful physician in the world has but three weapons against disease. These are sedatives, stimulants and the knife.

He uses them according to his ability, his conscience and the symptoms described or revealed to him by the patient.

Scarcely any two doctors will diagnose symptoms in the same way, or fully agree upon a case.

Because,—symptoms are unreliable, and often indicate only a small part of the ailment. It is folly to waste time and money in treating part of the disease indicated by the symptoms, when the more important cause is not reached.

But what physician in practice can afford to admit this? He will do his best to cure, and he often succeeds.

He will experiment till he finds a drug which seems to take hold. He will prescribe a sedative which numbs the pain or a tonic which stimulates the sick organ to temporary activity, but the inevitable re-action is bound to follow. He will do his best but can't afford to tell you he is only experimenting.

There is but one sure way of eradicating disease. That way is to go straight for the cause, no matter how tedious the process. The "cure-quick" methods of medicine are as risky and uncertain as the "get-rich-quick" schemes of finance.

Certain things in treating disease are positively known. The rest is mere opinion.

I, who am writing this article, have been thirty years a physician, and have treated over two million cases.

This has taught me some certainties.

I have proven beyond all doubt, that nearly all diseases except some surgical cases are due to weakness of the inmost nerves.

Not the nerves we feel with, the cerebro-spinal system—which is usually treated, but the power nerves, that operate the Heart, Liver, Kidneys, and all the vital organs.

I have never found sickness of any organ where these inmost nerves were strong—cancer excepted. And I have never failed to find a weakness of these nerves where any of the organs were sick.

It is these nerves alone that give power to operate each organ, so it can throw off its poisonous waste matter and rebuild new tissue from the blood to replace it.

When we strengthen these nerves,—we do more than give new life to the organs affected known to be affected. We also repair unsuspected weakness in any other organ,—in complications which do not reveal themselves through symptoms. This is why my mode of treatment cures in so many cases that baffle other physicians who rely on symptom treatment.

After years of experience and observation I discovered that a certain chemical would directly and safely vitalize these inmost nerves. To this I added, subtracted from and modified, noting carefully each result, till I perfected a prescription which never fails now to give strength to the source of power—to the inmost nerves—strength from the very first.

With it I cured on actual test of 2,000 cases, 39 out of every 40 sick people.

It is not a "quick-cure" because I have not used in it a single drug that could accumulate, nor be injurious if a hundred bottles were taken. There are no sedatives in it to lull the patient into a delusion that his pains are disappearing. There are no narcotics nor injurious stimulants to exhilerate him temporarily, at the future expense of health.

This prescription is now widely known as "Dr. Shoop's Restorative" and so sure am I of its curative effect that I will place it on a month's trial, at my own risk, with practically any sick one who writes me for it. If this trial does not convince him that it is succeeding, I will bear the whole cost myself.

When Dr. Shoop's Restorative succeeds, as it does in 39 out of 40 cases, the cost to the patient for the entire (six bottles) treatment is but $5.50. This includes my professional help in the case.

And you alone shall be the judge as to whether you or I shall pay for the treatment,—your mere word shall decide this without quibbling or question.

I have written six books of vital importance to every sick person.

Tell me which book to mail free for yourself or for a sick friend.

Book 1 on Dyspepsia Book 4 for Women
Book 2 on the Heart Book 5 for Men (sealed)
Book 3 on Kidneys Book 6 on Rheumatism

Simple cases often yield to a single bottle of Dr. Shoop's Restorative (one dollar). Sold by all druggists.

HAVELOCK.

(From our own Correspondent.)

Havelock, April 26.

A ball was held in the town hall under the auspices of the Orange Lodge on Thursday, April 21st for the purpose of raising funds to buy a new standard. The ball proved a complete success.

Mr. Lloyd Knewasser, of Toronto, spent a few days at his home in town.

Mr. John Barlow of Toronto, has been renewing old acquaintances at his home here.

Mr. Ward Barlow of town, is visiting friends in Toronto. He is laid off work on account of having two of his ribs badly crushed while lifting some heavy freight which fell on him.

Mr. G. A. Ghent, formerly of Norwood, has moved to town and has secured rooms in the bank building and will practice law here.

A letter has been received from Marmora asking the Havelock baseball team to give them a game there on the 24th of May.

A concert will be given in the town hall on Friday evening.

A meeting of the lacrosse club will be held in the council chambers on Friday evening for the purpose of organization.

Some twelve engineers and firemen left for Smith's Falls yesterday to attend the funeral of the late Bruce Lammow, who met his death while out rowing with three other young firemen, who were fortunate enough to escape.

Havelock lacrosse boys are taking advantage of the fine warm weather by getting in condition for the coming season, which will soon be upon them. The Havelock boys should certainly be a stumbling block to the clubs in the newly formed Trent Valley League, and with such a bunch of seasoned players as these to pick from should train most of the C.L.A. teams: Charlie Powers, Ottawa; J. O'Sullivan, Campbellford; A. L. Ferguson, Smith's Falls; N. C. Stubbs, Bradford; Joe Muldoon, T.A.A.; Geo. Easterbrook, Tweed; E. Graydon, Toronto Junction; Alex. Irwin, Port Hope; Jack Mein, Peterborough; Alf McGuire, H. Andrews and about 20 others who can be relied upon to play in fast company.

Mr. George Mathieson took a run down to Belleville a couple of days ago for the purpose of getting his books and winding up his affairs there before he goes with a surveying party at the latter end of this month.

The rates for lights for the Havelock Electric Light and Power Company have been set as follows:

Stores, banks and hotels, $2.50 per light per year, 16 c.p.; $1.25 per light per year 8 c.p.

Private residences and livery stables, 25c per month for 16 c.p.; 10 1-2c per month for 8 c.p.

Churches, post office, blacksmith shops, halls, $2.50 per light per year, 16 c.p.

Store lights are allowed to burn for the first four all night. All 8 c.p. lights used down stairs, except woodsheds, pantrys, and cellars will be charged the same as 16 c.p. lights. All lights to be paid for on the 20th day of each month; if not paid by the first of the following month 10 cents extra will be charged.

It is a wonder the C.P.R. does not widen out the sidewalk leading up to the west end of the station. It is altogether too narrow for the number of people passing over it about train time. The council has left the street crossing sidewalk wide enough so in case they do widen it out the crossing will correspond.

An invitation was extended by the Sovereign Bank to the business men and others to meet in the Oddfellows' Hall last Thursday evening. A number accepted and a social chat was enjoyed before the addresses of the evening were given. Mr. R. A. Williams, manager of the Sovereign Bank, acted as chairman and made a short speech, introducing the General Manager, Mr. A. D. Stewart. The following gentlemen addressed the meeting: Mr. Jos. Knox, the reeve, who gave a short address on the advantages of a bank in the town and how it should be patronized; Mr. Wm. Mathison, Mr. J. Thompson, Dr. Holderoft, D. S. Summerville, Rev. A. E. Campbell, F. C. McMaster, G. A. Ghent and others. Dr. Crawford, in a witty speech, said the bank must have heard of his coming to the town, and came because he did, as it was established shortly after his arrival. Mr. Mat Swain at the intermission favoured the audience with one of his famous songs, entitled, "The Pumpkin Pies that Mother used to make." Mr. A. D. Stewart, the popular General Manager of the Soverign Bank of Canada, also the youngest general manger in the Dominion, made a witty speech, plainly showing he was a thorough Irishman. He expressed his pleasure at meeting such a large gathering of citizens. He also spoke on the great success the bank has had, considering it is the first of its kind that has opened in Canada in the last twenty years.

He briefly referred to the benefits and advantages derived from a sound financial institution as he represented being started in their midst and thanked the citizens for their encouragement.

Mr. Mat Swain next sang a comic song entitled, "I am my own Grand father," after which the proceedings closed with the National Anthem.

ACCIDENT ON FOOTBALL FIELD.

Mr R. N. Jolliffe Injured Last Night—Probably Not Serious.

The many friends of Mr. R. N. Jolliffe, will learn with regret of an accident which befel him. He has ambitions along the line of football and while on the practising ground last night, had the misfortune to be kicked by Mr. E. M. Best, and the result is that he is laid up to-day. His friends are in hopes that his injury will not necessitate his withdrawal from the game, in which he is fast developing into a player of more than ordinary ability.

His period of confinement to the house is being made pleasant by the kindly remembrance of the A.F.F. Club, the members of which to-day sent him a beautiful bouquet of roses.

AN ASSAULT CASE HEARD THIS MORNING.

An Englishman Resented the Teasing by Small Boys.

At this morning's Police Court an Englishman lately arrived from the Old Country, was charged with assaulting a small boy on Sunday evening.

From the evidence it appeared that a group of small boys who had congregated at the corner of London and Harvey streets on the date in question, called the accused names and in remonstrating, he slapped an innocent boy in the face. One of the guilty ones admitted calling the names, and the Magistrate gave the boys some sound advice regarding their actions in the future, and urged upon them the necessity of always acting as gentlemen. He advised the accused to be more careful in the future and not take the law in his own hands, although their was provocation in this particular instance. He was discharged.

A PRESENTATION TO MR. A. COX.

By Fellow Employees of the Central Canada Loan and Savings Co.

The Toronto Star Tuesday night contained a report of a presentation made to Mr. Alfred Cox, son of Mr. Aaron Cox, of Peterborough, by the employees of the Central Canada Loan and Savings Company. The Star says:—

"The staff of the Central Canada Loan and Savings Company tendered Mr. Harry Gundy, the Secretary of the Securities Department, and Mr. Alfred Cox, one of their fellow employees, a sumptuous dinner at McConkey's last evening, the Managing Director, Mr. E. R. Wood, presiding in his able way. The occasion was the approaching marriage of Mr. Gundy, and the departure of Mr. Cox to take a position on a ranch in the North-West, with the ultimate end in view of settling on one of his own. The high esteem in which each of these young men is held by their colleagues was evidenced by the happy tenor of the festive board, and by the handsome presents which each received. Mr. Gundy was the recipient of a handsome cabinet of silver, containing 102 pieces, and a leather suit case, with toilet set of silver and ebony, while several members of the staff made him individual presents of useful articles for the state in which he will presently find himself. Mr Cox was also made happy by a purse of gold and a .38 revolver, with which he hopes to do good service on the Western prairies. The loss of Mr. Cox will be keenly felt by his friends both in Toronto and his home in Peterborough, for he is indeed one of the young men which the East can ill spare, and in taking up his abode there the West will gain an excellent specimen of Canadian manhood."

AUDITORS' REPORT WAS PRESENTED.

At Adjourned Vestry Meeting of St. Luke's Church.

Rector Reported on Work of the Church During the Year Financial Condition is Satisfactory.

The adjourned Vestry meeting of St. Luke's church was held last night in the school room, and was attended by a large number of the members of the congregation.

The Rector presided at the meeting, which he opened with prayer, and after the reading of the minutes of the annual Vestry meeting, which were confirmed, Rev. Mr. Langfeldt gave his annual address.

Mr. Langfeldt, in his address, expressed his delight at being with his dear friends again. He said that of all the countries he had seen and visited there was no country like Canada. Reviewing the year's work they had all cause to thank God and to take courage. The congregation were loyal to the church and to him, and all worked together in the best of harmony and co-operation. He referred in appreciative language to the marked improvement of the choir under the able leadership of Mr. Jos. Legg, choir master, who was faithfully supported by the talented organist, Mr. Armstrong.

The different societies had done good work and had substantially augmented the funds of the church. He paid high tribute to his lay Reader, Mr. J. J. Turner, junior, who not only materially assisted him in the services, but also did good work in his Bible class. Mr. Langfeldt regretted that he found so much sickness in his congregation, and that the first duty he had to perform was to lay to rest a member of St. Luke's, and was again called upon to bury, to-day, another valued member, whose death occurred under very sad circumstances. He urged his congregation foremost to cultivate a spiritual nature. Individual religion was needed. Though the finances and organizations were in a fine condition, and though the services on Sunday were well attended, what was needed was increase in spirituality among them. Only with the growing in grace, only with everyone's personal trust in the Saviour could the church fulfil her mission, which was to bring souls to Christ. He prayed that God would continue to bless the church and to prosper her handiwork.

AUDITORS' REPORT

The auditors' report was presented by Mr. F. J. Jameson, and was on motion received. The report follows:—

To the Vestry of St. Luke's Church, Ashburnham:

Ladies and Gentlemen—We, your auditors appointed to report upon the several statements of accounts presented by the church wardens at the Annual Vestry Meeting held on Easter Monday last, beg leave to report that we have gone over carefully the several accounts, compared the same with the vouchers therefor, and found them correct. The statement at that date shews as follows:

Ontario Bank overdraft ...	$163 26
From this deduct for salaries paid in advance		$118 53
Overpaid domestic missions		6 73
Leaving debit balance of ...		37 95
	$163 26	$163 26

But as the Men's Guild and the Girl's Guild have undertaken to pay for the balance of the organ repairs amounting to $84.25, which has been advanced by the church wardens, and $13 00 advanced on the furnace account, this will transform the debit balance to a credit balance of $59.30.

MORTGAGE ACCOUNTS.

During the year the mortgage account has been reduced from $1,250 to $400 with $33.65 in the hands of the wardens to apply in still further reducing this account.

During the year the following sums were expended chargeable to Capital Account:

Organ repairs	$165 00
On furnace account	13 00
Repairs Sunday school	51 98
Rectory expense account	21 17
Total	$251 15

Your auditors, in checking over the books notice that quite a portion of the moneys forwarded to the Synod is not shown in the accounts, there merely being receipts for same from the Synod through the Rector. As this system is detrimental for the purpose of making comparisons between the amount contributed one year with another, we recommend that all moneys forwarded to the Synod should be sent through the Church Wardens and entered in their books in order that comparisons may be made from year to year, and a correct record record in the wardens' books of account.

In the matter of insurance and valuation there has been no change made during the year, none of the insurance policies having expired during that time. The increased value of real estate, cost of building, etc., if taken into account, would greatly enhance the value of church property, but as this valuation is liable to fluctuation your auditors did not deem it necessary to have valuation made.

In conclusion we wish to congratulate the congregation on its excellent financial standing, and hope that steps may be taken at an early date to wipe out the small balance of $400 due on mortgage account. This sum would, no doubt, have been largely reduced this year had the congregation not been called upon for extraordinary expenses in connection with the rector's enforced absence, and the necessary repairs to the organ, and installing a new furnace.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

F. J. JAMESON,
G. G. PRATLEY,
Auditors.

Reports were then presented from the various societies of the church, all of which showed the church's enterprise to be in a good condition.

The action of the Advisory Board in securing the services of Mr. Jos. Legg, for choir leader was ratified, and the Wardens were instructed to arrange the financial considerations.

The Advisory Board was appointed, as follows:—The Church Wardens, Messrs. Jameson, E. A. Peck, G. G. Pratley and Nesbitt.

The thanks of the meeting was tendered to the different activities of the church, and the press, and after a similar vote to the auditors, the meeting adjourned.

COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE A PRESSING NECESSITY.

Peterborough's School Buildings not Equal to those of Other Towns.

"Civis" Writes a Strong Letter Asking for Support of the By-law Small Cost to the Ratepayers.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Sir,—The vote on the Collegiate Institute by-law will be taken on Thursday, the 5th of May. The importance of this vote, I think, is scarcely realized by the citizens of Peterborough and I am surprised that so little has been said concerning it by the press. We are all proud of our manufacturing institutions, our churches, our hospitals, and our splendid retail stores, but few of us are proud of our school building notwithstanding their great importance. There are few towns in Ontario so backward and so poorly equipped as we are with respect to school buildings and why the citizens of Peterborough have so long tolerated this condition of things is not easily understood. Our people are progressive in the best sense of the word and there is no single interest approaching the importance of the educational interest. The future of our boys and girls depends largely on the character of the education they receive at our public school and collegiate institute and consequently nothing is too good for them. We find in the west almost every town has splendid school buildings thoroughly equipped. Orillia has just completed a splendid high school building, and last year Cobourg completed a high school which is modern in all respects. We find also that Bowmanville, Lindsay, Brockville and Napanee have fine structures and the Government grant, considering the size of the places is very large. Belleville has not only a fine high school but they have also a college, which is much appreciated by the citizens. Galt has had a very good collegiate institute in the past but the town has decided to build a collegiate during the present year that will cost over $43,000. If the citizens of these different places can afford to do this, surely Peterborough is in no worse position. In the past our Government grant has been very small owing to the fact that our institute building and equipments have been marked very low by the high school inspectors. I understand that if we had proper grounds and a new institute that the amount we would receive from the Government would be greatly increased. Further, I understand our public schools, especially in the junior departments, at present are over-crowded and unless the Collegiate Institute By-law passes it will be necessary for the board to ask from the council a sum not less than $15,000 or $20,000 to build a new public school, which would be entirely unnecessary if a new institute were built. Further every rate-payer can compel the Board of Education to furnish proper accommodation for the education of his children. I have learned from a member of the board that it is not the intention to pay a large price for a lot. The price, I understand, will not exceed $5,000 or $7,000 at the utmost, and that, of course, is moderate. In the past our high school teachers have been working at a disadvantage and the pupils have been working at a still greater disadvantage owing to the fact that the present building is not at all suitable for high school purposes. Should the by-law pass it will mean an expenditure of about $50,000. The average assessment in Peterborough is about $1,400. Therefore the average cost to the property holders would be about 77c (seventy-seven cents) a year. To those whose assessment averages from $500 to $600, the extra cost would be about 35c or 36c a year. Surely no person in Peterborough would be unwilling to contribute this small amount yearly for 30 years for such an institution as the Board of Education proposes to build. I take it, therefore, that it is the duty of all who have the interest and welfare of the town at heart to turn out and vote for the Collegiate Institute By-law to be submitted for the approval of the citizens of Peterborough on Thursday, the 5th of May,

Respectfully yours,
CIVIS.

A BLAZING STEAMER

Set on Fire Two Bridges on the Red River, Manitoba.

BOTH BRIDGES WERE SAVED

The Gertie M. Catches Fire Near Winnipeg and the Flames Communicate to the Canadian Northern and the Louise Traffic Bridges—Considerable Damage Done—Did He Choke His Wife?

Winnipeg, Man., April 28.—The steamer Gertie H. caught fire on the Red River, when near the Canadian Pacific Railway bridge yesterday afternoon. The steamer struck the bridge and the blaze communicated to the ties, which caught fire. The boat then drifted down stream to the Louise traffic bridge and also ignited that structure. Both bridges were saved, but not before considerable damage had been done. The boat was burned to the water-line. Loss about $25,000.

Farm Hand Commits Suicide.

Aylmer, April 28.—John Murray, a resident of Malahide for years, and a man about fifty years of age, committed suicide in a barn on the farm of Charles A. Bell, where he has been lately employed. He had been in poor health all winter and was of late noticed to be of unsound mind.

A Locomotive Explodes.

Pittsburg, April 28.—A locomotive of the Baltimore and Ohio Railway exploded early yesterday at Braddock. Three men were fatally injured, three others dangerously hurt and five buildings were wrecked. Two of the houses caught fire and were destroyed.

Minstrels Had Narrow Escape.

Victoria, B.C., April 28.—Ten members of the Al. G. Fields' Minstrel Company, playing Tuesday night in Victoria Opera House, had a narrow escape from death by fumes from a charcoal stove in the dressing-rooms. Eight of the minstrels became unconscious, and for a time were thought to be dying.

FAIRY TALE KING.

Believed to Have Lured Williamson in Hold-Up Case in Toronto on Tuesday Night.

Toronto, April 28.—The police have lost no time in working on the Williamson hold-up case, which occurred Tuesday night. Percy Ernest King, the young chap who claimed to have been robbed at the same time as Williamson, is now under arrest. King is the man who told the fairy stories about five shining British bulldog revolvers being pushed in his face.

Detectives Cuddy and Black have also arrested Frank Donavan, 6 Bulwer street; Ben Cohen, 89 Chestnut street; Izzy Cohen, 138 West Adelaide street; Mike Tobin, 14 McDonnell square. The charge against them is vagrancy, but they are all thought to know more or less of the hold-up. King is supposed to have lured Williamson to the spot and the gang did the rest.

Did He Choke Her.

Yorkton, April 28.—A coroner's inquest was held here Tuesday on the body of one Heckla Rodiski, wife of Jacob Rodiski, of Tetlock. Her death was peculiar. She was found dead in her bed with certain marks on her body, which indicated death by violence. The strong evidence given at the inquest was the husband's confession to a neighbor that he choked his wife to death. Rodiski has been under arrest since the commencement of the inquest, and a preliminary investigation will be held at once.

Labor Cabinet Formed.

Melbourne, Victoria, April 27.—Mr. Watson, the labor leader, has formed a Cabinet with himself as Premier and Treasury; Hughes, Minister for External Affairs; Higgins, Attorney-General; Batchelor, Minister for Home Affairs; Fisher, President of the Board of Trade; Dawson, Minister of Defence; Mahon, Postmaster-General, and McGregor, Vice-President of the Federal Executive Council. All the members of the new Cabinet belong to the labor party, with the exclusion of Mr. Higgins.

Blood Spots Found.

Windsor, April 27.—Another link which the police say will strengthen the claim of evidence against Jonathan George, suspected murderer of Mrs. Eliza Williams, has been found. When a closer examination of George's coat was made, several large blood spots were found. Crown Attorney Clarke has sent the coat to Toronto to have an analysis made of the blood spots, to learn if they were human blood.

Against Canadian Reciprocity.

Boston, April 27.—A vote against Canadian reciprocity was taken yesterday in the Legislative Committee on Federal Relations, when the Committee decided to report adversely a bill calling for the presentation of a memorial to Congress in favor of a trade treaty with Canada. The vote stood 9 against the memorial and 2 in favor.

LIBERAL CAUCUS.

Weight of Opinion Against Sweeping Changes in Tariff.

Ottawa, April 28.—(Globe Special.)—A Ministerial caucus was held yesterday morning, at which the discussion was devoted solely to tariff matters. Mr. Ross of Halifax presided, and Senator Wark was among those present. The centenarian received an ovation when he entered room 16.

There was some diversity of opinion in regard to tariff changes, but the consensus of opinion seemed to be that the present duties, in the main, should be undisturbed. The matters in regard to which some thought changes should be made were coal, coal oil, iron and steel and woollens.

A suggestion thrown out was that a committe of Council should consider the subject of tariff revision, but the weight of opinion amongst the Government's supporters against any sweeping changes seemed to be overwhelming.

How to Ward Off an Attack of Rheumatism.

"For years when springtime came on and I went into gardening I was sure to have an attack of rheumatism and every attack was more severe than the preceding one," says Josie McDonald, of Man, Logan Co., West Va. "I tried everything with no relief whatever, until I procured a bottle olf Chamberlain's Pain Balm, and the first application gave me case and before the first bottle was used I felt like a newp erson. Now I feel that I am cured, but I always keep a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm in the house and when I feel any symptoms of a return I soon drive it away with one or two applications of this liniment. The Toronto Horse Show.

Toronto, April 28.—The Horse Show opened here yesterday morning, and there were also afternoon and evening performances. The animals shown are almost perfect specimens of their classes. The "Society" show is even better worth looking at. A gratifying feature of this year's show is found in the increase in attendance of people from outside this city. The vice-regal party is expected from Ottawa on Friday.

BLOOD DISEASE CURED.

If you ever contracted any Blood or Private Disease, you are never safe until the virus or poison has been eradicated from the system. Don't be satisfied with a "patch up" by some family doctor. Our New Method is Guaranteed to Cure or No Pay. No Names Used without Written consent.

Cured When all Else Failed

"Could I live my early life over, this testimonial would not be necessary, though I was no more sinful than thousands of other young men. Early indiscretions, later excesses, exposure to contagious diseases all helped to break down my system. When I commenced to realize my condition I was almost frantic. Doctor after doctor treated me but only gave me relief—not a cure. Hot Springs helped me, but did not cure me. The symptoms always returned. Mercury and Potash drove the poison into my system instead of driving it out. I bless the day your New Method Treatment was recommended to me. I investigated who you were first, and finding you had over 25 years' experience and responsible financially, I gave you my case under a guarantee. You cured me permanently, and in six years there has not been a sore, pain, ulcer or any other symptom of the blood disease."

Beauty and The Man

By Keith Gordon

Copyright, 1903, by T. C. McClure.

In the long talks that those two excellent friends Baird Dunham and Barbara Somers had from time to time about life, the world and the men and women therein he had more than once confided to her that never could he fall in love with a woman who was not a beauty.

"I can't exactly explain how I feel about it," he said one day as they sat together in an art gallery, where his worshiping eyes returned ever and again to a pictured face of rare beauty that looked down upon them from the warm red walls. "It isn't that I think they are the most fascinating. Wit and beauty are not too fond of each other's company. Besides, the most attractive woman I've ever known was ugly so ugly that at first she made you gasp. After that—well, she was your criterion of charm. When you left her things became stale and lifeless. All the color and sympathy went from the scene. You simply hungered for her."

He paused and turned toward his companion with a waiting, expectant look, as if he wanted to be sure that she understood, and she answered the unspoken question of his glance with a slow smile that did not betray, by so much as a flicker, the warm, reproachful, woman wrath in her heart.

She had heard practically the same thing from him before, but today for the first time her patience gave way utterly. Apparently all sense of her womanhood had been sunk in their comradeship. Instead of rejoicing in this state of affairs, a feeling of injury, outrage, suddenly flared up in her heart.

Did he think that because her features were irregular and her complexion dull she was a girl who did not need to be reckoned with? Did he suppose she was the less a woman because she was plain? Had he no idea of the sting in the remarks he was forever making about feminine beauty?

These were the questions she asked herself hotly, but her voice—that low, vibrant voice that thrilled one with its rich difference from other voices—betrayed in its full evenness no trace of the resentment that surged within her.

"You are right," she agreed, with impersonal candor. "All women should be beautiful"—there was a slight pause, a hesitation just marked enough to give force to the conclusion of her sentence—"just as all men should be big and strong!"

Dunham glanced at her quickly. For one startled moment he half thought—But, no; Barbara was too good a fellow to give a man a fleck on the raw like that. It was a mere coincidence.

Dunham was but five feet six, and, though he was well knit and substantial, with a clean bred look that was in itself a recommendation, he was a trifle sensitive on the score of the six additional inches of height that he felt should have been his.

"A man's appearance isn't of much consequence," he observed, somewhat stiffly. "His field is action. It is what he is rather than how he looks."

There was more heat in his tone than he liked, but he wasn't able to suppress it. Somehow he didn't enjoy being made to feel that he was not at all like her ideal man, even though they were nothing but friends.

"Perhaps you are right," was the mild reply, and the conversation drifted to other and safer subjects. But there was a speculative look in Barbara's eyes for the rest of the afternoon, which would have told a careful observer that she was turning some plan over in her mind.

Her usual hour of rest before dinner she spent lying at full length on the divan in her room, with her hands clasped under her head and her eyes fixed on the open fire, thinking.

So Baird could never love any one but a beauty! She carefully refrained from asking herself why this should pique her particularly, since her plainness had never interfered with their friendship, and he spent far more time with her than with any of the pretty girls of their set. Still—

"Well, I don't care," she said aloud as, glancing at the clock, she arose and began to roll up the masses of her dark hair, sticking the great shell pins in here and there with reckless indifference. "I'm tired of hearing him talk that way. He deserves to be punished. Beauty may be the greatest thing, but it isn't greater than all other things put together.

"A few weeks of Amy will be good for him," she soliloquized as she went on with her dressing. Then, when she was ready for dinner, she sat down at her desk and wrote a letter to a former schoolmate—the beauty of her class—urging her to make her a long promised visit.

In the course of a week or two the invitation had been accepted, and Miss Averill arrived. That she was a beauty was a fact as self evident as that the sky is blue (when it is so). It was a fact that admitted of no difference of opinion.

Her skin was like a La France rose, her eyes deeply blue and her hair suggested mingled gold and copper. The curves of her gracious figure swirled and flowed in lines so graceful, so alluring that even the most sluggish beholder was kindled into admiration.

"She's a beauty, all right," Barbara decided as she kissed her in greeting and conducted her to her room, and, though she kept up her part of their

It was October; perhaps she might find some of her friends returning to the city. Pausing a moment on the threshold of the sleeper, she looked down the red plush aisle.

A few feet in front of her a man was seated, with his back turned toward her. He had light hair, "just like Mr. Hardin's," and standing on the seat beside him was a little child. The car lurched, and the little fellow swayed, only to be caught by a strong arm that threw him downward. Then the man's head darted down, and Alice smiled at the screams of childish laughter.

She watched them for a moment; then the child, peering over the man's shoulder, called out: "Pretty lady! Pretty lady!" And she, feeling too weary to more than smile at the little fellow, turned to go back to her uninteresting book.

The train was crossing the long bridge over Lake Pontchartrain, and Alice paused in the vestibule between the Pullman and the chair car. Standing at the window she looked out upon the vastness of the moonlit lake and sky and felt very tired and small and useless. She was not blue, nor was she morbid, but somehow her heart rebelled at going back to that old life in the city—so empty, so shallow, so—

"Alice! Miss Ellison"—

"Why—why—where did you come from?" Her voice trembled, but she did not care.

She held out both hands to Allyn Hardin, and as his own closed over hers a sudden picture flashed before her. She heard again those peals of childish laughter, saw again a man's head bend swiftly down, like a great boy's, beneath the tug of baby hands; saw a face, habitually cold, alight with something divinely warm as it had looked at her across the sunny head of little Alice from the narrow doorway of a fast receding train. Her heart gave a bound that frightened her, and, drawing her hands away, she turned and looked again upon the moonlit water.

"I was called home unexpectedly on business," Allyn was explaining, when he noted that she was not listening.

He stepped nearer to her side.

"Miss Ellison," he began. Then he saw how the moonlight was caught and shimmered in the tears that lay on her cheek and which she could not help any more than she could have told the reason why they fell.

"What's the matter, Alice?"

There was a long pause, and when she answered her voice was like a tired child's.

"Nothing; only I'm so tired."

She had turned and involuntarily stretched forth her hands again, but Allyn's hands slipped past hers, and he folded her in his arms.

"Oh, Alice," he murmured—"Alice, you don't know how I love you."

She raised her wet face to his, and as he bent low over her the weight slipped from her heart and the old life that had so tired her became a thing of the past.

The Koreans.

The people of Korea are neither Japanese nor Chinese. They are Mongolians and have a polysyllabic language, with a phonetic alphabet. They have a recorded history of disputed authenticity which claims for them a continuous existence as a Korean people of about 5,000 years, the earlier part of which of course is shrouded in mists of traditions and fable.

Cold Feet.

When Dr. John A. Hartwell, better known as "Josh" Hartwell, was at Yale he was asked by a professor what would happen to a patient if his temperature were to get as low as possible. "Why, sir," Hartwell gravely replied, "he would have cold feet."

The Main Question.

Practical Father—Has that young man who wants to marry you any money? Romantic Miss—Money! He gave me a cluster diamond ring and a bracelet of pearls. Practical Father—Yes, I know. Has he any money left?

The Telling Part.

"Do you tell your wife when you have done wrong?"

"No; she tells me."

OUT OF A BURNING MINE.

Eight Hundred Workmen Escaped Through Vein Mile Long.

Scranton, Pa., April 27.—The Pine Brook breaker, owned by the New York, Ontario & Western Railroad Co., is on fire. There is no possibility of saving the structure. There were 800 men and boys in the mine when the fire broke out, and it was feared that many would be suffocated by the smoke which entered the shaft. All of the men are believed to have escaped through the China vein, the outlet of which is nearly a mile from the shaft over which the breaker was built. The loss on the breaker will amount to about $150,000.

Herbert Burrows Dead.

Kingston, April 27.—Herbert Burrows, son of Inspector Burrows, Napanee, died in Kingston on Monday evening, aged 40 years. He was a Toronto journalist, and also Private Secretary to Hon. J. R. Stratton, Provincial Secretary, and while thus engaged suffered a collapse, which terminated in his death. He was married. He was in his day one of the cleverest newspapermen in Canada, having been employed by The Globe, The Empire and The World. He left The World to become secretary to the Provincial Secretary. Early in life he was private secretary to Sir William Mulock. He was a true friend and skilled worker.

Suicide at the Falls.

Niagara Falls, N.Y., April 27.—An unknown woman committed suicide here yesterday, making the second death this season at the Falls. Her hat was left behind in a summer house about 500 feet back from the brink of the American Falls, over which her body undoubtedly passed. To the hat was pinned a note written in pencil and unsigned. The substance of the note is that the writer had sinned, and that life was not worth the living. The hope was expressed that her body would not be found.

Don't Trust to Luck.

Even if there is such a thing as luck, you cannot afford to trust it in a case of sickness. You know by the experience of others that Dr. Chase's Nerve Food actually forms new blood and tissue and revitalizes the nerves, and by using it regularly you can be certain that your system is being built up and that weakness and disease are being overcome.

S. A. Veteran Commits Suicide.

Regina, N.W.T., April 27.—An ex-member of the Mounted Police, named Stewart, shot and killed himself near the barracks Sunday morning. Stewart went to South Africa with one of the contingents, and had recently applied to rejoin the force here. While awaiting a decision on his application, and being despondent as a result of excessive indulgence in drink, he deliberately ended his life.

Fall 2,000 Feet to Death.

Johannesburg, April 27.—The collapse of a cage in the Robinson Mine precipitated forty-three natives 2,000 feet to the bottom. All were killed. The bottom of the shaft is a quagmire of human remains.

MRS. WALTER MANTHORNE, BROOKLYN, N.S.

She says: "I suffered for three years with terrible headaches and rushing of blood to my head. I lost my appetite and became very thin and weak. I tried many different remedies and consulted doctors, but all in vain until I started to use Burdock Blood Bitters. I had not taken more than two bottles when I began to feel better, my appetite improved wonderfully and I increased rapidly in weight. I took altogether four bottles and am now as well as can be, for which I owe my thanks to Burdock Blood Bitters. I can recommend it to all those suffering as I did."

A Chest that Came in the Mayflower

Is sure to attract the attention of every New England woman and with pride in her heart she marvels that it is so strong and well preserved. This is due to the fact that it has received prompt attention when any signs of weakening were shown.

So the woman of to day may keep her strength and preserve her good looks if she gives immediate attention to the first symptoms of any womanly weakness.

Dr Pierce's Favorite Prescription promptly cures disease and restores strength to all women who are weakened by any womanly disease and are run down by maternal and household cares.

$500 REWARD! FOR WOMEN

WHO CANNOT BE CURED.

Backed up by over a third of a century of remarkable and uniform cures, a record such as no other remedy for the diseases and weaknesses peculiar to women ever attained, the proprietors and makers of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription now feel fully warranted in offering to pay $500 in legal money of the United States, for any case of Leucorrhea, Female Weakness, Prolapsus, or Falling of Womb which they cannot cure. All they ask is a fair and reasonable trial of their means of cure.

WORLD'S DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION, Proprietors, Buffalo, N. Y.

Miss Stella Johnson of 28 Brady St., Dayton, Ohio writes: "I was troubled with severe pains every month when I wrote to you for advice. After following your directions I am happy to say that after years of untold suffering I have not had any pains since first using your Favorite Prescription. I thank God and Dr. R. V. Pierce for the health I now enjoy. I shall urge other women who suffer as I did to use your medicine."

Take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets instead of any cathartic.

NO NEED TO SUFFER.

Torture of Rheumatism Relieved in Six Hours Cured

In One to Three Days.

The acid poison that invades the joints in Rheumatism can be reached only through the blood. South American Rheumatic Cure neutralizes the acids, dissolves and washes out all foreign substances and sends a current of rich, red blood to the affected parts, bestowing instant relief from the torturing pains. Read what C. M. Mayheer, of Thomasville, Ont., has to say: "My joints were so badly swollen with Rheumatism that I could hardly walk, or even feed myself. I have tried various other remedies, but they did me no good, and I almost despaired of getting cured. A friend advised me to try The South American Rheumatic Cure, and after using only three bottles I was entirely cured, and have never had a return of the agonizing symptoms."

Pain in Your Kidneys?

South American Kidney Cure purges the kidneys of every impurity, and restores them to health—speedily and perfectly. No. 31

NOT JUST AS GOOD

Did you ever inquire at a store for certain articles and get for a reply "We have something just as good"? Did it ever occur to you that "Something just as good" is something the dealer has been able to buy much cheaper than the articles you inquire for? This is true in drugs, fabrics, groceries, hardware, and in fact every line, including silver-plated ware. If you inquire for 1847 Rogers Bros.' Knives, Forks or Spoons, don't accept any bogus Rogers' stamp because your dealer tells you it's just as good.

1847 TRADE MARK ROGERS BROS.

The above trade mark has been stamped on every article of the original and genuine Rogers Bros.' goods for over 50 years. Get this and you get the best that is made.

Is Your Piano in Tune?

The change of season affects pianos as well as everything else. Mr. Geo. Gumpricht, practical piano maker and tuner, with twenty-eight years' experience, attends to all orders left at Mr. H. S. Macdonald's drug store.

ELECTION FOR COUNTY COUNCIL.

Mr. W. H. Moore, Reeve of Dummer will be a Candidate.

Mr. W. H. Moore, who is at present Reeve of Dummer, will contest the election to fill the vacancy in the County Council caused by the death of Mr. Richard Crowe. Mr. Moore has had a wide municipal experience. For several terms he filled the position of Deputy Reeve of Dummer, and in that capacity was a member of the County Council, during which time he became thoroughly conversant with county affairs, and should by virtue of the experience thus gained, be well qualified to fill the office for which he is a candidate, with satisfaction.

As has already been announced, Mr. Thos. Webster will also be a candidate for the vacancy.

THE PROPER TRIBUNAL IS THE POLICE COURT.

For the Consideration of a Case When a Summon is Served.

At the police court this morning Police Magistrate Dumble referred to a matter which he stated would be tolerated no longer, and that was the practice of ignoring a summons, and the parties served calling at his office and private residence, and endeavouring to have the case considered, when it was pending in the court. The Magistrate under no circumstances would listen to any explanations. The court was the proper tribunal for the consideration of a charge and in future, the Magistrate stated, he would listen to no complaints outside the police court.

ORGANIZATION OF A LAWN TENNIS CLUB.

In Connection with the A. F. F. and B. A. C. Clubs Last Evening.

A number of the members of the A. F. F. and B. A. C. Clubs met last evening for the purpose of organizing a Tennis Club, as an outlet for the sporting tendencies of some of the members. When the clock ticked the hour for meeting only three young ladies had appeared on the scene. Shortly after, however, a young man was seen struggling up the street on a wheel, and very soon, breathless, dusty, but with his enthusiasm unimpaired, he added his good judgment and fertile imagination to the meeting. After another short interval another of the popular young men of the town made his appearance in the company of half a dozen of his young lady friends, and a quorum was declared present.

After some general discussion on the prospects for weather, the latest club gossip, and the mystery of the white glove, the meeting got down to business, laid plans for the summer's campaign, and elected the following officers:—

President—Mr. S. S. Moore.

Sec.-Treasurer—Miss Ethel Thornton.

Committee of Management—The officers and Messrs. M. J. Hutchinson and R. N. Jolliffe.

Grass Manager—Mr. M. J. Hutchinson.

Caddie—Mr. E. M. Best.

The question of a name for the club was vigorously discussed, but so many and varied were the suggestions given that it was utterly impossible to decide which was the most expressive so the matter was left in abeyance. —Com.

LACROSSE.

At the meeting of the Peterborough Lacrosse Club last night, it was decided that a team would not be entered in the senior series, but that the team would play intermediate. The district suggested was,—Peterborough, Lindsay, Oshawa and Port Hope.

BASKET-BALL.

One of the most important basketball games of the season will be played in the Y.M.C.A. on Monday evening next, the challenge of the Athletics to the Brownies having been accepted. The Brownies defeated the Athletics last week and a fast game is assured. Admission 15c. tickets on sale at Best's Stove Works, Hunter street, and the Examiner office and from members of the teams.

* * * *

The Junior Arrows challenge the Business College to a game of basketball for Monday night next.

FOOTBALL.

The O.C.W. team will practice tonight at 6.30 at the driving Park.

A club meeting of the O.C.W.s. will be held on Friday night at the Crown Hotel at eight o'clock. A full attendance is requested.

WRESTLING.

The following is a copy of a letter which was sent to the Toronto Star last night, and which answers an article which appeared in that paper last week: Sporting Editor, Toronto Daily Star:

I notice in the last issue of your paper of the 20th inst. an article under the heading, "After Wrestling Fakirs," in which Kingston and Peterborough are denounced, and evidently regarded by the writer and author of the article as the Mecca of fakirs. Of course Artie Edmunds' good name is closely allied with the insinuations. Peterborough is a good sporting town and its sports are good sports. When fault has been found with either boxing or wrestling contests held in Peterborough the same was due to the actions of outsiders brought here in good faith. One of the wrestling fakirs so brought here some time ago to wrestle D. Simon, of Montreal, was Artie Edmunds, of Toronto, the wrestler with a reputation. When the latter came of the mat for the bout he was thickly greased from head to foot. On becoming aware of this Simons, who had not practised "catching greasy pigs" left the stage. The audience expressed their indignation for such tactics on the part of this "hero" in the usual way. Isn't any wonder that he is not favoured by Peterborough sports?

The affair in Kingston referred to in said article was gotten up by and for a Kingston organization. Mr. E. K. Dolan, of Peterborough, was requested to manage the affair, which he undertook to do. This gentleman has never had a hand in any show held in Peterborough. The pimple Edmunds carries on the upper end of his neck is sore because he was not given a hand in the "take." However, if Edmunds is the good sport and the square man he claims to be (excuse the exaggeration) Mr. Dolan will produce two Peterborough men, one a boxer and the other a wrestler, to box or wrestle (or both) him in private for any sum from $250 to $500 and will deposit $50 as a guarantee of good faith with any standard newspaper in Toronto. These same two men were scheduled to appear in Kingston on the night in question. Now it is up to you, "Artie," to make your "hot air" speech to the Star reporter boil over with essence of "raw material." Edmunds claims that the man who went on the mat in Kingston are of the "rawest variety." In the next breath he says, "I will go down there and box or wrestle or box the whole outfit one after another, and if I can't beat them all I don't want the money." If he couldn't beat them I don't suppose he would get much money anyway. We know, "Artie" your hobby is men of the "raw variety" in both boxing and wrestling and your reputation was thus gained. But it is up to you now. The same "raw variety" will cover your cash up to $500, as stated above and will bet with you that your money goes.

Yours truly,
PETERBOROUGH.

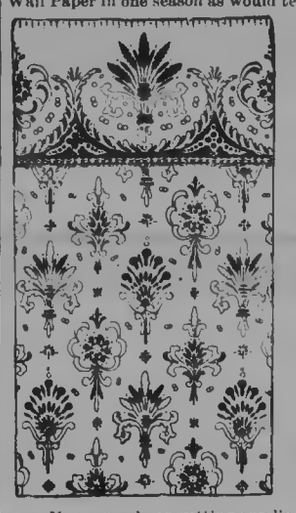
Peterborough and the surrounding county are reaping the benefit of a firm which has worked night and day to gain the top rung of the ladder. We now buy as much Wall Paper in one season as would ten ordinary dealers all put together.



Therefore, with such purchasing power it is only reasonable that we can buy and therefore we are able to give you the newest obtainable goods at 25 per cent. less than you can get a like class of paper this side of Toronto.

We have our salespeople from Quebec to Winnipeg and our orders from that source net over $20,000 worth of Wall Paper per year. Here are a few snaps:

Lot for .45 — 10 rolls Wall Paper, Blue and White Grounds for bed rooms. We will also give you free 18 yards of nine inch border, perfect match.

Lot for .56 — 12 rolls Paper, Green and Cream colour, pretty effects. No charge for 20 yards matched 9 inch border.

Lot for .62 — 12 rolls Gold papers; colours—3 shades in Green and White and Cream; 20 yards perfectly matched border goes free.

We claim you can't get the border for less elsewhere.

Lot for 1.25 — 10 rolls Heavy Gold papers in 3 shades with 18 inch blended friezes or borders to match. The frieze is regularly sold at $1.44 or 8c per yd

TWO HUNDRED JAP SOLDIERS DROWNED

Brave Fellows Went Down with Ship Rather than Surrender.

RUSSIANS ADMIRE THEIR FOES.

Seventeen Officers, Twenty Soldiers and Eighty-Five Military Coolies Captured by Russians — Later Sank Japanese Transport Kinshin Maru—Nakamaru Also Sunk by Vladivostock Squadron.

St. Petersburg, April 29.—Russian torpedo boats belonging to the Vladivostock squadron sank a Japanese military transport, the Kinshiu-Maru, of 4,000 tons, during the night of April 26, with all on board, with the exception of seventeen officers, twenty soldiers, sixty-five of the crew and eighty-five coolie carriers. The other 200 of them, who refused to surrender, were sent to the bottom with the ship.

The Official Report.

The official report of Rear-Admiral Yeszen to the Emperor is as follows.

"During the night of April 26 two Russian torpedo boats met at sea the Japanese military transport Kinshiu-Maru, of 4,000 tons, laden with rice and other military stores, and about 1,500 tons of coal. The transport was armed with four Hotchkiss guns of 47 millimetres. The Russians captured on board seventeen officers, twenty soldiers, eighty-five military carriers, or coolies, and sixty-five of the crew, who surrendered. The remainder of the men, who were left without officers, obstinately refused to surrender or go on board a Russian cruiser. Furthermore, they offered armed resistence to the Russians. In the end they were sent to the bottom with the transport. Two hundred went down."

Nakamura Also Sunk.

Admiral Yeszen also reports that besides the sinking of the Japanese steamer Goyo-Maru at Gensan, April 25, the Russians sank at sea the same evening the Japanese steamer Nakamura Maru of 220 tons, whose crew were saved.

The satisfaction of the people of St. Petersburg at the exploits of the Vladivostock squadron is tempered with admiration for the bravery of the Japanese soldiers who were on board the Kinshiu-Maru, and who preferred to drown rather than surrender.

The admiralty admits that the men acted heroically, but holds that Admiral Yeszen had no other alternative than to sink the transport, as he could not spare a prize crew or hamper his swift squadron with a slower steamer. It is pointed out that the officers on board the Kinshiu-Maru appreciated the situation by accepting imprisonment rather than death.

Crew Was Sent Ashore.

In the case of the smaller Japanese transport sunk by the torpedo boats at Gensan, the crew were sent ashore because there was no accommodations for them on the torpedo boats.

The crew of the Japanese steamer Nakamura-Maru, as well as the Japanese of the Kinshiu-Maru who surrendered, have been taken to the Russian cruisers.

The admiralty here professes ignorance as to the future plans of Admiral Yeszen, but it is believed that he is in communication with Vladivostock by wireless telegraphy, and is not likely to be surprised by the Japanese squadron sent to prevent his return.

Report Confirmed.

Tokio, April 29.—A telegram from Gensan reports that the Japanese transport Kinshiu-Maru has been sunk, near Shinpo, north of Gensan. The despatch fails to state whether the transport was wrecked or sunk by the Russians.

Escape Jap Vigilance.

London, April 29.—The Daily Telegraph's Tokio correspondent asserts that the Russian cruisers slipped past the Japanese squadron during a fog and regained the harbor of Vladivostock.

The report that the Japanese have occupied Kuliencheng has not yet been confirmed.

Country Is Flooded.

According to The Standard's correspondent, the whole country outside of the great wall is abnormally flooded, and any movement of the land forces is impracticable for the present.

A special despatch from Port Arthur says that the demonstration made by Japanese torpedo boats covered by a Japanese squadron off Port Arthur yesterday morning was for the purpose of creating a scare and inducing the batteries to waste their ammunition, but the Russians refrained from answering the Japanese fire.

The Standard's Tientsin correspondent reports that a strong secret society, movement, anti-Governmental and anti-foreign, is in progress in the vicinity of Tsinanfu (175 miles south of Tientsin) and that the people are flocking to the cities for safety.

Russians 20 Miles From Gensan.

Paris, April 29.—The Temps correspondent at St. Petersburg telegraphs as follows: "A Russian column is about 20 miles from Gensan, where the Japanese garrison has fortified itself. The Vladivostock squadron supports the movement of the Russian column."

Silenced in Half An Hour.

Washington, April 29.—A cablegram from Tokio has been received by the Japanese Minister here. After describing minor engagements on the Yalu, Monday, adds:

"After 5 p.m., on the 26th, the enemy again fired upon the Japanese from the direction of Antung. The Japanese replied and the Russians were silenced after about an hour's fighting. The Japanese sustained no loss."

Fought Series of Engagements.

Tokio, April 29.—The Japanese gunboat Maya, escorting a fleet of torpedo boats, entered the mouth of the Yalu River, on Monday, and moved toward Wiju.

En route, it fought a series of small engagements with the Russian forces protecting the right river bank. These encounters transpired frequently throughout Monday and Tuesday. Admiral Hosoya, commanding the third squadron, in reporting the operations, says:

"Our detachment reached the Yalu River Monday and while going up stream the enemy's field guns opened against us without effect. We discovered a force of the enemy on an island in mid-stream, and when we fired on them they fled. On Tuesday the enemy's cavalry, 100 strong, attacked our launch. Our torpedo-boat No. 69 replied to the enemy's guns and silenced them after a half hour. There were no casualties on our side."

Shots Were Fired.

Port Arthur, April 29.—The Japanese torpedo boats were sighted at 1.10 yesterday morning covered by a Japanese squadron. A few shots were fired without damage, after which the Japanese ships disappeared southward.

Japs Buy Ships.

London, April 29.—Japan has just bought from the Canadian Pacific Line the steamers Tartar and Athenian. They are purchased for the Nippon Kaisha Steamship Company. Nothing is known of the sale at the London offices of the C.P.R.

DELIMITATION RESULTS.

Albert Edward Nyanza Found to Be in Congo Free State.

London, April 29.—The Associated Press understands that one of the most important results of the delimitation work in East Africa along the Anglo-German-Congo frontier, west of Victoria, Nyanza, is the discovery that the whole of Albert Edward Nyanza belongs to the Congo Independent State. As a result Great Britain loses an important strip of territory, including the valuable salt deposits north of Lake Edward.

It is also announced that the mouth of the Kagera River is in British territory. Hitherto it has been believed to be in German territory.

Ovation For the King.

Dublin, April 29.—King Edward and Queen Alexandria had a great popular ovation in the streets of Dublin yesterday afternoon, while on their way to lay the foundation stone of the Royal College of Science. Troops lined the route, which was crowded for hours before the royal cortege arrived.

King Edward and Queen Alexandra attended a performance of Beerbohm Tree's company at the Theatre Royal last night. The appearance of Their Majesties in the royal box was the signal for the entire audience to rise and sing "God Save the King." This was followed by an outburst of enthusiastic cheering.

Russia Butts In.

St. Petersburg, April 29.—It was learned yesterday that Russia proposes to be considered in connection with the disposition of Egyptian funds in spite of France's withdrawal of her objection to their use by Great Britain, in accordance with the Anglo-French agreement. The attitude of Russia is based on the fact that she is one of the six powers which originally guaranteed to make good the deficits of the Egyptian Administration. Though there is a surplus now, instead of a deficit, Russia holds that she is as much entitled to be consulted as France.

Toronto Horse Show.

Toronto, April 29.—Yesterday morning the damp weather militated against the attendance of the Horse Show. In the evening, however, the attendance was much larger and the events followed without any hitch. The boxes were a galaxy of beauty.

50 Bodies Recovered.

Madrid, April 29.—The caving in of a mine at Tocina, Seville, yesterday buried many miners. Fifty bodies have been recovered. Ten of the miners were rescued.

STORMED BY THE BRITISH.

A Fierce Fight With Dervishes on the Coast of Somaliland.

London, April 29.—The Admiralty has received an official report of the capture of Illig, on the coast of Somaliland. Three bluejackets were killed and six were wounded in the attack on the enemy's works.

Rear-Admiral Atkinson-Wiles, Commander-in-Chief of the East Africa station, who personally commanded the landing force, says the fighting, which occurred on April 24, was at close quarters. The dervishes defended their stone zarebas and towers determinedly, but the British blue-jackets and a detachment of the Hampshire Regiment stormed their stronghold gallantly and drove them out, with heavy losses. It was impossible to use the guns of the ships without danger to the attacking force.

The British and Italian flags were raised side by side over the zarebas, which will be demolished, and Illig will be handed over to a tribe friendly to Italy.

Good Ship Gauss Held Up.

Montreal, April 29.—A cablegram received here yesterday says the German Government has refused to hand over the Gauss to Capt. Bernier and his men, claiming that the Canadians shall pay the full amount of purchase, $75,000. On the other hand, the Canadian officials claim that the money is all paid except $5,500, and that it was agreed that this balance should remain until the ship showed her capacity to steam a certain mileage per hour.

Death of A. S. Irving.

Toronto, April 29.—The death of Andrew S. Irving, in his 68th year, removes one of the most amiable and affable of Toronto's merchants from the number of those who have built up the city, into its present commercial importance. He finally established the Toronto News Co., as the branch was then styled, and remains as a monument in the particular department of the news trade which Mr. Irving introduced into Canada.

That Hold-Up Aftermath.

Toronto, April 29.—Perry E. King, the London man, who was arrested in connection with the Williamson hold-up, appeared in police court, pleaded not guilty, was remanded until May 4, and given his liberty on his own bail. King is the man who claims he was robbed at the same time as Williamson. Detective Cuddy has arrested Frank Wilson, as being one of the robbers. King has identified him.

Just Like Chicago.

Newtonville, April 29.—John Morrow, a farmer, west of here, had a heavy loss by fire Wednesday night, caused by a cow kicking over a lantern and consuming the barn and most of its contents. Mr. Morrow had a narrow escape in saving his horses, burning his head and face. A small insurance on contents; barn a total loss.

Fraternal Societies.

Toronto, April 29.—The annual meeting of the Canadian Fraternal Association was opened in the Temple Building yesterday with some 60 delegates present, representing the leading insurance fraternal associations of Canada, with some 300,000 members.

Beekeepers to Meet.

Barrie, April 29.—The Simcoe County Beekeepers' Association will meet in the Council chamber on Saturday in morning and afternoon session. John Fixter of the Ottawa Experimental Farm will speak.

Loubet's Leave Taking.

Rome, April 29.—President Loubet left Rome for Naples yesterday. Despite rain, the route was crowded. The president was continually cheered.

AUDITOR'S REPORT WAS ADOPTED.

By County Council at the Recent Special Session.

Resolutions of Condolence to Families of Late Richard Crowe and W. A. Stratton Town and County Accounts.

Council re-assembled Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, Warden Henry in the chair, all the members being present.

RESOLUTIONS OF CONDOLENCE.

On motion of Councillors Mahony and Shaw, the following resolutions of condolence to the relatives of the late Richard Crowe, were presented:

"That the members of the Council of the County of Peterborough, at this special session, desire to place on record our deep sorrow caused by the lamented death of our late brother member, ex-Warden Richard Crowe, whose decease has made a vacancy in our ranks which it will be hard indeed to fill.

"To the members of the bereaved family we extend our heartfelt sympathy in this great trial which they have been called upon to bear, and to assure them that we feel his loss very keenly. He was one of the most highly respected members of the council, and that he enjoyed in a more than ordinary degree, the confidence of his fellow members is evidenced by the fact that he was, in the year 1900, elected unanimously to the office of warden of the county, which office he filled with entire acceptability and efficiency.

"He was a public spirited citizen, and the whole community mourns with you in the great sorrow which has entered your home. We know that these words of ours can but feebly express the sympathy which we feel, but would like to assure you that in this sorrow you are not alone.

"Signed on behalf of the members of the Council of the County of Peterborough."

On motion of Councillors G. W. Fitzgerald and T. M Hunter, the following resolution of condolence to the relatives of the late W. A. Stratton, K.C., was presented:

"That this County Council of the County of Peterborough desires at this, the first opportunity, to express its deep sympathy with you and the members of the bereaved family at the great loss which you have sustained in the death of your son and brother. We, as members of this council, feel a personal loss at his death. During the years in which he was associated with this body in the capacity of legal adviser, we learned to respect him for the many estimable qualities of character displayed by him. He always possessed good judgment, and during the years of pleasant association with him, the members of this council came to depend on his advice, which was always found to be in the best interests of the community.

We deeply sympathize with you in this your great sorrow, which is shared not only by us, but also by all who came into contact with the late Mr. Stratton and knew his true worth.

"Signed on behalf of the members of the Council of the County of Peterborough."

Moved by Councillor Shaw, seconded by Councillor Menogue, — That the Warden and Treasurer be authorized to receive from the Dominion Government on behalf of the county, the sum of one thousand dollars for the purpose of aiding in the construction of the Gannon's Narrows bridge between the townships of Ennismore and Harvey, in this county, and that the said Warden and Treasurer be authorized to execute such acknowledgment and release therefor to the said Government as may be required by them.—Carried.

The council again adjourned to take up committee work.

WEDNESDAY EVENING.

At 6 o'clock the Council resumed, and on motion of Councillors Hunter and Johnston, the Finance Committee reported as follows:—

FINANCE REPORT.

The Committee on Finance beg leave to report as follows:

1. Your Committee recommend that Andrew Chatten be granted a one-horse peddlars' license for the balance of this year free of charge.

2. That the report of the Auditors for 1903 be adopted and printed.

3. That the Auditors be paid the sum of ninety dollars each for their services in auditing the accounts of the year 1903.

4. That the Chairman of this Committee wait upon the Mayor of the Town of Peterborough and obtain refund of volunteer grants paid by our Treasurer to residents of Peterborough.

All of which is respectfully submitted

T. M HUNTER.
Chairman.

On motion of Councillors Shaw and Fitzgerald, the report was adopted.

TRUSTEE NORWOOD HIGH SCHOOL.

Moved by Councillors Curtis and Johnston, that clause two, of the January, 1901 report of Committee on Appointments, be rescinded, and that the following clause be substituted therefor:—That John Breckenridge, Esq. be re-appointed trustee of the Norwood High School.—Carried.

MUD LAKE BRIDGE REPAIRS.

Moved by Councillors Shaw and Buck, that the matter of the repairs to the Mud Lake Bridge be left in the hands of the Chairman of the Roads and Bridges Committee, and Councillor Fitzgerald, with power to act.—Carried.

TOWN AND COUNTY ACCOUNTS.

Moved by Councillors Shaw and Moloney, that the matter of the adjustment of the accounts between the Town and County of Peterborough, in reference to the Village of Ashburnham, be left in the hands of Councillors Hunter, Fitzgerald and the Warden; they to submit a statement to the Joint Committee of this Council in order that a meeting between the Town Committee and the Joint Committee may be held before the June session of this Council.—Carried.

On motion of Councillors Curtis and Johnston, the Council adjourned.

Don't Trust to Luck.

Even if there is such a thing as luck, you cannot afford to trust it in a case of sickness. You know by the experience of others that Dr. Chase's Nerve Food actually forms new blood and tissue and revitalizes the nerves, and by using it regularly you can be certain that your system is being built up and that weakness and disease are being driven out.

BACKACHE

The ordinary every-day life of most of our women is a ceaseless treadmill of work. How much harder the daily tasks become when some derangement of the female organs makes every movement painful and keeps the nervous system all unstrung. One day she is wretched and utterly miserable; in a day or two she is better and laughs at her fears, thinking there is nothing much the matter after all; but before night the deadly backache reappears, the limbs tremble, the lips twitch—it seems as though all the imps of Satan were clutching her vitals, she "goes to pieces" and is flat on her back.

No woman ought to arrive at this terrible state of misery, because these symptoms are a sure indication of womb diseases, and backache is merely a symptom of more serious trouble. Women should remember that an almost infallible cure for all female ills, such as irregularity of periods, which cause weak stomach, sick headache, etc., displacements and inflammation of the womb, or any of the multitudes of illnesses which beset the female organism may be found in

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

When a medicine has been successful in more than a million cases, why should you say, "I do not believe it would help me"?

Will not the volumes of letters from women who have been made strong by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound convince others of the virtues of this great medicine?

Surely you cannot wish to remain weak and sick and discouraged, exhausted with each day's work. If you have some derangement of the feminine organism try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It will surely help you.

GET ADVICE AND HELP FREE.

If there is anything in your case about which you would like special advice, write freely to Mrs. Pinkham. She will hold your letter in strict confidence. She can surely help you, for no person in America can speak from a wider experience in treating female ills. Address is Lynn, Mass.; her advice is free and helpful.

MISS PEARL ACKERS.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—About two years ago I consulted a physician about my health, which had become so wretched that I was no longer able to be about. I had severe backache, bearing-down pains, pains across the abdomen, was very nervous and irritable, and this trouble grew worse each month.

"The physician prescribed for me, but I soon discovered he was unable to help me, and I then decided to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and soon found that it was doing me good. My appetite was returning, the pains disappearing, and the general benefits were well marked.

"You cannot realize how pleased I was, and after taking the medicine for only three months, I found I was completely cured of my trouble, and have been well and hearty ever since and no more fear of the monthly period, as it now passes without pain to me. Yours very truly, MISS PEARL ACKERS, 327 North Summer St., Nashville, Tenn."

$5000 FORFEIT if we cannot forthwith produce the original letter and signature of above testimonial, which will prove its absolute genuineness. Lydia E. Pinkham Med. Co., Lynn, Mass.

SOME HAPPENINGS IN THE NORTHERN TOWN.

Personal Mention and Other Items of Interest at Lakefield.

Lakefield, April 27th.

Mr. A. Kennedy has sold his stock of groceries and boots and shoes to Mr. Spence, formerly of Toronto. Mr. Spence takes possession shortly. The citizens of Lakefield will learn with regret that Mr. Kennedy has sold out as he was a merchant highly esteemed by his fellow townsmen.

Mr. Gillett, of Cobourg, was in the village last week the guest of Mr. Levi Payne.

Mr. J. Craig has sold his hotel business and property to Mr. J. Furlong of Elmvale. Mr. Furlong comes highly spoken of as a hotel proprietor, and we hope that this popular house will be run second to none in the county.

The Lakefield Lawn Tennis Club held a meeting in the News office on Wednesday evening, when the following officers were elected for the season:—

Hon. President—Mr. J. M. Kilbourn.

Hon. Vice-Presidents—Dr. J. R. Fraser and Mr. Geo. Hilliard.

President—Dr. R. A. Fraser.

Vice-President—Mr. S. W. Hill.

Secretary-Treasurer — Mr. F. A. Kilbourn.

Executive Committee—The officers together with Messrs. J. Ridpath, C. S. Tanner, and Irwin Hambley.

Mr. Richard Nichols of Peterborough, was in the village on Monday in the interests of the Peter Hamilton Manufacturing Company.

A meeting in the interests of the temperance question was held in the Methodist church on Monday evening, which was well attended. Rev. Mr. Abraham, of Toronto, gave a powerful address on the subject as it presents itself to the people of this province.

Mr. F. A. Kilbourn contemplates purchasing a steam launch.

Mr. John Ridpath, of Toronto, spent Sunday and Monday in Lakefield, the guest of his brother, Mr. James Ridpath, of the Lakefield News.

Dr. R. A. Fraser spent a day with his parents in Toronto last week.

Mr. Roland Johnson is in Toronto this week on business.

Mr. Blackwell, of Norwood, is in the village in connection with the completion of the drainage of Buckley's Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Furlong and family, of Elmvale, arrived in Lakefield Tuesday. Mr. Furlong assumes the proprietorship of the Craig House at once and will begin to prepare for summer trade.

YOUNG'S POINT.

(From our own Correspondent.)

The funeral of the late Mrs. Thos. Houlihan of Selwyn, proceeded to St. Mary's church here on Tuesday morning at nine o'clock, where Rev. Father Phelan officiated at the solemn requiem high mass. After mass had been celebrated Rev. Father Phelan preached an eloquent and impressive sermon, in which he spoke of the deceased lady being one of the oldest and most respected members of his congregation. Her many friends here in our little village sympathize with the family in their sad bereavement. The pall bearers were her four sons, Mr. Thos Houlihan, of Pittsburg, Pa., Ambrose and Austin of Buffalo; and Jas. Houlihan, of Selwyn; and her two sons-in-law, Mr. J. Devere and H. Carroth, of Peterborough. The remains were conducted to the grave by Rev. Father Phelan, and there in the shade of the church the deceased lady was laid to rest by the side of her husband's grave. Requiscat in pace.

Captain Scollard spent a couple of days in Peterborough last week.

Miss Josephine Phelan of Lakefield, spent a couple of days visiting with friends here.

Mr. Richard Dawson and wife of Nome, Alaska, spent Sunday with friends here.

Mrs. William McFarlane, after an extended visit with friends here has returned to her home in Lovesick.

Miss Jennie Kearney spent a couple of days with friends in Peterborough last week.

Mr. P. P. Young was in Peterborough last week.

Mr. Jas. Reid has completed brickmaking his resolution.

Mr. Richard Oliver has accepted the position of assistant cheese maker at Buckhorn again this season.

RUSH POINT.

(From our own Correspondent.)

The farmers are all busy putting in their spring crops.

Mr. Hugh McArthur, who has been confined to his bed for some time through illness is now recovering.

Quite a number of the young folks from here attended the at home in the town hall at Havelock last Thursday. The proceeds were to purchase a new banner for the L.O.L., Havelock.

The roads are drying up nicely now. Two of our old time sports took advantage of them on Saturday afternoon. If they are late in life they were bound to be on time on Sunday.

Good Digestion.

If you can keep your digestive system in proper condition the body will be well nourished and you need have little fear of disease. By regulating the kidneys, liver and bowels, Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills ensure a healthful condition of the organs of digestion and for this reason are indispensable as a family medicine.

ARE WASTING TIME

Opposition is Asking for Information Very Vehemently.

LITTLE WAY IN G. T. P. BILL

Only One Clause Adopted in Committee So Far—The Time Extended For the Completion of the Road—The Premier's Retort—Protection of Railway Employes — Treasury Bonds Outstanding.

Ottawa, April 29.—That the progress of the Government's Grand Trunk Pacific bill through committee will not be rapid was the conclusion which forced itself upon many members when the House adjourned at midnight yesterday. Although the bill was taken up in committee at an early hour yesterday afternoon, the sum total of the day's work was the adoption of the first clause, sanctioning an extension of time for the completion of the road. The cry of the Opposition for more information was probably presented with more vehemence than it was heard last year, the western members being especially anxious to learn something definite regarding the location of the road in the prairie section, but their request was not gratified. Taunts thrown across the House respecting his capabilities as a business man elicited from Sir Wilfrid Laurier a neat retort which turned the tables upon his critics effectively.

Protection of Railway Employes.

Mr. Lancaster introduced a bill to amend the railway act of last session. The measure has for its object the restoration of the law as it existed under the old railway act with reference to packing guard rails, switches, etc., for the protection of employes.

Treasury Bonds Outstanding.

Hon. Mr. Fielding, replying to Dr. Sproule, stated that the amount of treasury bonds outstanding at present is £845,000, of which £300,000 at 3½ per cent. falls due on 30th April, 1904, the remainder at 3½ per cent. becoming due on 6th October, 1904. Arrangements have been made by cable by which £400,000 will be discounted at 3 per cent. and £55,000 at 2½ per cent. on 30th April, both falling due on 7th of November, 1904. These will replace the £300,000 falling due on 30th April, and the total amount of treasury bills outstanding will be increased to £1,000,000, but the funded debt will be considerably reduced.

Replying to Col. Sam Hughes, the Minister of Militia stated that notice has recently been issued by the militia department concerning arrears of pay claimed to be due to members of C Battery for service in South Africa.

Those members of C Battery who were denied the extra pay accorded to other corporations in South Africa will not now receive extra pay, as their allowance in South Africa exceeded the regulation rate.

Mails Congested.

Mr. T. O. Davis of Saskatchewan called the attention of the Government to the telegrams which he had received from Rosthern. Prince Albert and other places bitterly complaining of congested traffic and delayed mails. The situation was described as desperate. Mr. Davis blamed this state of affairs on the railway company.

W. F. Maclean asked the Minister of Finance to do something to stop the circulation of Straits Settlement silver coins in Canada. This money, he said, closely resembled our coinage, but a fifty cent piece of Straits Settlement coinage is not worth 26 cents in this country. There was an organization, almost a conspiracy, Mr. Maclean declared, to unload a large quantity of Straits Settlement silver on Canada, and it is giving business men a great deal of annoyance.

The Minister of Finance replied that he would hardly be justified in proceeding against another colony's right to its own coinage. If there was a dangerous similarity, the difficulty could be averted by changing our own coins. He pointed out that Straits Settlement silver is not legal tender and people are not obliged to take it.

THE SENATE.

Canadian Currency and Not Yankee Silver Is Only Legal Tender.

Ottawa, April 29.—Sir Mackenzie Bowell drew the attention of the Senate yesterday to the fact that the country is swamped with United States money. This money, he said, should not be received. A larger amount of Canadian silver and small bills was needed to meet the demands. Senator Ellis said the St. John bankers took American silver and withdrew it from circulation.

Other Senators took similar ground and gave further instances of mechanical disabilities.

Hon. R. W. Scott said the remedy was in the hands of the people. The banks should refuse all American coin. Under the currency act the only legal tender was Canadian currency. It might be wise to make some concessions in regard to British silver. He would call the Finance Minister's attention to the discussion. The demand for small bills was so great it was difficult to keep up with it.

The Senate adjourned till May 18.

Senator Wark Honored.

Ottawa, April 29.—Distinctions of party and place were absent from the assemblage which gathered in the chamber of the Senate yesterday afternoon to do honor to the senior legislator of the Dominion and of the world, Hon. David Wark, the New Brunswick Senator, who, in February last, passed the hundredth milestone of his life journey. Sir Wilfrid Laurier and the leader of the Opposition occupied adjacent chairs. Everybody present arose and applauded vigorously as Senator Wark entered the chamber, supported by Sir Mackenzie Bowell and Hon. R. W. Scott. Bowed by age, yet steady of step, he walked to the dias and took the Speaker's crimson-cushioned chair.

Speaker Power read the address recounting the historical width of his life, and informed him that the Senate had "resolved that the event is signalized by placing in our gallery a painting which will enable future generations to look upon the countenance with which we were happily familiar."

Senator Wark made a suitable reply in a low but quite distinct voice, and eulogistic speeches were then made by Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Mr. R. L. Borden, Hon. R. W. Scott and Sir Mackenzie Bowell.

PLANTS IN BEDROOMS.

They Are Harmless In the Daytime, but Vicious at Night.

In the daytime, when sunlight stimulates their nutrition, plants can do no harm in bedrooms, for then they give off oxygen and are useful in absorbing from the air the carbon which is injurious to animal life. The free use which is made nowadays of flowers and plants in our hospitals is in itself sufficient proof that this is a wholesome means of ministering mental cheer and comfort to the sick and suffering.

At night the case is different. Then all plants and flowers are removed from hospital wards, because they exhale the carbonic acid which they have gathered from the soil and air and thus give off by a process similar to respiration a gas which is injurious.

We may therefore conclude that during the hours of darkness, when the respiratory process is active and the nutritive is at a standstill, plants should have no place in our bedrooms. What is prudent in spacious wards is imperative in smaller chambers.

Handwriting on Iron.

It was an accident that led to the discovery of the method of transferring handwriting to iron. An iron founder while experimenting with molten iron under different conditions accidentally dropped a ticket into a mold. He presently found that the type of the ticket was transferred to the iron in distinct characters. Following up the idea which this fact suggested, he procured a heatproof ink, with which he wrote invertedly on ordinary white paper. This paper was introduced into the mold before the molten iron was poured in. When the mold cooled the paper had been consumed by the heat, but the ink, which had remained intact, had left a clear impression on the iron.

Ungainly, but King of Soaring Birds.

No one would be likely to imagine, for example, that so heavy and, in fact, apparently ungainly a bird as a pelican is a king among soaring birds. After much flopping when these great birds have acquired headway the broad wings are spread, and in majestic circles they mount skyward, with only an occasional flap of the wing, often passing beyond the range of one's vision.—Country Life In America.

A Good Word for Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

"In December, 1900, I had a severe cold and was so hoarse that I could not speak above a whisper," says Allan Davis of Frcestone, N. Y. "I tried several remedies but got no relief until I used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, one bottle of which cured me. I will always speak a good word for that medicine." For sale by all druggists.

BLOWING HOT AND COLD.

How Iron and Steel In Losing Heat Rise In Temperature.

The phenomenon of a substance rising in temperature while losing heat, known as "recalescence," which was first observed by Professor Barrett and investigated by Dr. Hopkinson, has been noticed in the case of iron at a high temperature. A piece of iron was heated to about 800 degrees C. and then allowed to cool slowly. At the cost it bright red, but on cooling to about 785 degrees C. a sudden disengagement of heat takes place, the iron rises in temperature and glows with a brighter red.

This phenomenon was investigated more accurately by Hopkinson in the case of steel. Round a bar of this metal he wound a coil of copper wire insulated with asbestus and jacketed with layers of asbestus paper. The temperature of the wire was followed during the experiment by connecting the coil to a Wheatstone's bridge to find the variation in its resistance and from this the variation in temperature. The steel bar was then heated bright red in a furnace and allowed to cool. The temperature fell regularly to 690 degrees C., then rose to 712 degrees C., when it again diminished.

COAL TAR PRODUCTS.

Some of the Things We Get From This One Time Nuisance.

When coal gas was first introduced as an illuminant for large towns the tar which is condensed from the gas was looked upon as a nuisance. However, chemists discovered that coal tar was an exceedingly complicated compound and lent itself admirably to the production of a great number of useful chemicals. So we find today that all the various brilliant and beautiful dyes employed for coloring various kinds of fabrics are produced from this substance.

Coal tar also furnishes the basis for several kinds of medicines, such as trional, sulphonal and so on. Saccharine, which is a substitute for sugar, is also made from coal tar. Carbolic acid (phenol), the most important and best known antiseptic and disinfectant, is a product of coal tar. Benzol, a clear and colorless liquid resembling alcohol to some extent, is another distillate which is employed for removing grease spots.

Then we have naphthalene, a substance which to some extent resembles camphor and is employed, like camphor, to protect woolen fabrics from moths.

THE FIRST BANKS.

They Were Established In Italy In the Ninth Century.

The first banks of which we have record were established in Italy so far back as 808 by the Lombard Jews, who had benches, or counters, erected in the market places for the exchange of money and bills. It is from their banco, or bench, that banks have taken their name.

The earliest bankers were also goldsmiths and dealers in precious stones, but with the advance of civilization banking became a distinct business. Merchants had deposited their cash in the mint in the Tower of London until Charles I. laid hands upon the money in 1640. In 1645 traders agreed to lodge their money with the goldsmiths of Lombard street, who had strong chests for their own valuables, and this was the origin of banking in Britain.

The chief banks in Europe were established as follows: Venice, 1171; Genoa, 1345; Hamburg, 1619; Holland, 1635; Bank of England, 1694; Scotland, 1695; Ireland, 1783; France, 1803; United States, 1816.

Snubbed Again.

"Have a care, madam," said Mr. Meeker, summoning up a little spunk. "The worm will turn!"

"Did you ever know the worm to hurt anybody when it turned?" calmly asked his wife.

Just think of it! We are passing through this world, but we are not stopping here. Let us make the journey agreeable to each other.—Schoolmaster.

Get My Book, if Sick

Don't Send a Penny.

Don't send a penny.

Just wait till you see what I can do. Let me take the risk. Let me prove up first what Dr. Shoop's Restorative can do. The Restorative will gain your friendship, your endorsement, if you test it. And for a whole month you can use it without the slightest risk.

I will tell you of a druggist near you who will furnish six bottles of Dr. Shoop's Restorative a month on trial.

I will absolutely stand all the cost if it fails. If you say, "It did not help me," that ends it as far as cost to you is concerned. Do you understand me? I am telling it as plainly, as clearly as I can. I want you to know absolutely and without doubt that this offer is made on honour. I have the prescription that cures. My only problem is to convince you that Dr. Shoop's Restorative will cure—is an uncommon remedy. A common remedy could not stand a test like this. It would bankrupt the physician making the offer. And I am succeeding everywhere, and here is the secret of my success. I found invariably that where there was a weakness the inside nerves were weak. Where there was a lack of vitality, the vital nerves lacked power. Where weak organs were found, I always found weak nerves. Not the nerves commonly thought of but the vital organs' nerves. The inside—the invisible nerves.

This was a revelation. Then my real success began. Then I combined ingredients that would strengthen, that would vitalize these nerves. That prescription I called a restorative. It is known the world over now as Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Thousands are accepting my offer and only one in each forty writes me that my remedy failed. Just think of it. 39 out of 40 get well and these are difficult cases too. And the fortieth has nothing to pay. That is a record I am proud of. It is wrong to stay sick when a chance like this is open. If well, you should tell others who are sick, of my offer. Don't let a sick friend stay sick because he knows not of my offer. Tell him. Get my book for him. Do your duty. You may be sick yourself, sometime. Sick people need help. They appreciate sympathy and aid. Tell me of some sick friend. Let me cure him. Then he will show to both of us his gratitude. Your reward will be his gratitude. Send for the book now. Do not delay.

Simply state which book you want and address Dr. Shoop Box 47 Racine Wis.

A TEST OF FLOUR.

It Is Quite an Important Event In the Big Mills.

The letters XXXX which decorate our flour bags are a source of mystery to the average housewife, but get there very naturally. In the largest flour mills several tests are given all flour sent out, but the final test is the baking trial. In a kitchen attached to the flour mills, which is resplendent with shining pans, electric ovens and white cooling boards, there are loaves of bread made daily from the different samples of flour which have just been ground. Cooks are kept the year round for this purpose, for as many as sixty loaves are made daily by one mill alone.

Exactly at 8 o'clock in the afternoon, after the bread is done, the head millers file into the kitchen and cut and inspect the different loaves. No man knows which flour has come from his mill, so the test is an impartial one. A vote is taken on the best loaf, and the flour from which that was made is marked with the mysterious X's. So great has this business of testing flour become that one great mill has testing rooms to which samples of grain are sent from all over the United States and Canada. These samples are made into bread after going through a miniature flour mill. After the bread has been made the package of grain is sent back to the miller who shipped it with full directions how to mark his flour, whether best or second best.

THE LAND CRAB.

A Mean Trick by Which Pacific Island Natives Catch Them.

In Fiji and other Pacific islands the natives have an ingenious plan of capturing the male crab. The native goes out in the late night, and when he hears a crab at work up a tree he climbs up some fifteen or twenty feet—the tree is generally a hundred feet high or more—and ties a large wisp of grass round the trunk. The crab, having finished his work, hurries down to his partner for a feed, traveling backward, as usual. When he comes to the treacherous clump of grass, thinking he is once more on mother earth, he lets go his hold of the tree and of course goes down smash, breaking his legs and getting stunned, to fall an easy victim to the native boys who come round with their baskets in the morning. The whole of crabdom apparently regarded this as a mean trick when it came in first, and they are now very circumspect on their expeditions, so that few are caught in this way.

In his hole the land crab makes himself a comfortable bed of cocoanut fiber, and he makes the material up so well that the native women burrow for it, as it is found useful for many purposes—pillow stuffing, the making of chignons, pads and other modern toilet "fakings" which they have now picked up from the mission stations and towns.

The Name Patterson.

Tompkins with a "p" is not more significant than Patterson with two "t's" if tradition is to be trusted. According to the story that has come down from the sixteenth century, the Pattersons all spelled the name with one "t" before Queen Elizabeth set about marking those of her subjects who left the ancient Catholic faith and cast their lot with the Church of England. She insisted that all the Protestant Pattersons take to themselves a second "t," and since that time many have followed that mode of spelling the name.—London Standard.

Colorado Springs Water.

Colorado Springs, Colo., has the purest water of any city in the United States. The supply is derived from reservoirs and lakes on the side of Pike's peak, which are fed by springs and melting snow. Chemical analyses of the water have repeatedly shown it to be purer than that of any other city in the country, due to the fact that the supply is derived from such an altitude as to make contamination impossible.

NATURAL HISTORY.

I love to wander in the woods
When gentle spring is springing,
And listen to the budding birds,
And to the blue bells ringing.

I love to hear the croning crow,
But cause for grief and sobbing
It is for me to catch, you know,
The naughty robins robbing.

I wander out into the fields,
Where little quails are quailing;
The marshland, too, its secret yields,
For there the rails are railing.

Down by the riverside I go,
Sandpipers there are piping;
I dodge the bullets, too, you know,
The jacksnipes may be sniping.

I watch the young folks in the park
Upon the grass go tripping;
Likewise I've seen the meadowlark,
And caught the cowslip slipping.

I do not see why men should be
In grossest darkness wallowing,
When they might ramble forth with me,
And hear the swallows swallowing.

Come with me, then, where babbling brooks
Upon the stones go purling;
Awhile forsake your musty books,
To see the curlews curling.

'Tis lovely in the wilderness,
And what's the use of talking;
E'en bitterns lose their bitterness,
When hawks around are hawking.

Rare sounds you hear, I tell you this,
'Tis an experience thrilling;
'Twill fill your ears and soul with bliss,
To hear the trilluns trilling.

Down by the waterside you may
Perchance see woodchucks ducking;
While in the fields of clover hay
Are busy woodchucks chucking.

I've seen the chipmunks monkey, too,
And seen the blackbirds blacking;
But better far 'twould be for you
To hear the maudrakes quacking.

'Tis nothing at this time of year,
When maids and swains are sparking,
The ravings of the loons to hear,
Or watch the shorelarks larking.

Birds in their little nests agree,
But still there must be bickerings;
At night time did you ever see
A flock of flickers flickering?

Of course it's nothing new to hear
The pussy willows purring;
But you have never seen, we fear,
A painted larkspur spurring.

This sounds absurd, but now we've quit,
All things that sound like joking;
You'd laugh until your sides would split
To hear a crocus croaking.

The roses rise in manner rare,
But I'll confess 'tis jarring,
To see somewhere in upper air,
Two scrappy sparrows sparring.

We hurry on, we cannot stay,
We've little time for stopping;
But note as we pass on our way
The busy poppies popping.

The silent woods just now are full
Of sounds of something crushing;
Perchance 'tis but a gulping gull,
Or else some thrashers thrashing.

It is enough, the time has come,
Dear Reader, for our parting;
We turn our footsteps toward our home—
The red starts, too, are starting.

While buzzards buzz and redpolls poll,
A glimpse of them we're catching,
And note on yonder leafy knoll
A little nuthatch hatching.

Farewell, sweet woods, no common chap
Can view you at this season;
With timbers full of sapient sap,
Why should the trees talk treason?

Canadian Women Warned.

A caution to young Canadian women is as necessary as that which is finding place in many American religious papers, to the effect that an organized attempt is being made to entice young women to St. Louis for infamous purposes, under the guise of attractive and profitable employment. The great Exposition to be held there will call for domestic help of every class, and many favorable positions will open for industrious and competent girls, but there is fearful risk in any young woman going to such a city to find employment in answer to an ordinary advertisement, and without certainty as to the responsible and respectable character of the advertiser. A woman's society in the western cities is sending out circulars and publishing papers showing that there are gangs of vile wretches scouring the country towns and places to lure girls to cities where it is promised they will be met and cared for by kind friends and provided with a home and employment. To their dismay they are taken to dens of infamy, and only escape as by a miracle, if they escape at all. And the scoundrel who sent them forward is paid a large commission for every one he thus sends to the snare of the fowler. This seems too diabolical to be true, but the facts are verified, and the operators of the shameless game have been traced and convicted and imprisoned, though much oftener they escape. Knowing this, the young women of Canada should not only keep far away from all such treacherous schemes and schemers, but they should put all their young acquaintances in possession of the facts referred to, and unite with them in a crusade for purity and happiness within the range of their acquaintance.—Canadian Baptist.

The Railway Man's Mile-Book.

The railway man's mileage has been recently completed by The London Advertiser. According to that mathematical journal there are conductors and brakemen running between London and Windsor and Windsor and Niagara Falls, who, in a year's run—not counting Sunday—cover respectively 68,460 miles and 18,000 miles. On the Sarnia branch are men whose year's run total up to 41,800 miles. On the through trains from the tunnel to Suspension Bridge, train-hands make on an average 52,000 miles in a year. The C. P. R. mileage per capita is also a case of big mathematics. Between Toronto and Windsor the crews on through trains roll up 66,000 miles to their credit in a year. Even in the C. P. R. freight service the average year's run is 38,100 miles. According to these figures the average express train conductor on the through lines of both the Grand Trunk and the C. P. R. travels more than three times round the earth at the equator in a year. A conductor forty years on the road—if such an average rate could be maintained for the length of time—would travel 2,312,600 miles.

CITIZENS HEAR OF SUGAR PROPOSAL.

Mass Meeting Last Night Addressed by Messrs. Garvin and Moore.

HISTORY OF THE COMPANY.

Mr. Moore Scores Company for not Issuing Statement of Debts Bright Future for Industry Predicted by Mr. Garvin—A Farmer's Voice.

The public meeting which was held last night in the opera house for the purpose of discussing the Sugar by-law was not largely attended, about 500 persons being present. The principal speakers were Mr. J. W. Garvin and Mr. W. H. Moore. Mr. Garvin, in his address, gave a history of the Sugar Company from its inception until the present time. He advanced a number of arguments in favour of the by-law to guarantee the Company's bonds. Mr. Garvin expressed his firm belief in the future of the industry, and stated that if the ratepayers supported the by-law in sufficient numbers to carry it, the factory here would, in a short time be one of the greatest on the continent.

Mr. W. H. Moore followed Mr. Garvin, and, as in former meetings, spoke in opposition to the project. He thought the town would be making a bad bargain by accepting the proposition made by the company. He did not consider the security sufficient, and in view of the present debt of the town, and the prospects for its material increase in the near future, he did not consider it a wise or prudent thing to guarantee the Company's bonds. Mr. Moore stated that all of the public speakers favouring the passing of this by-law were either stockholders or creditors of the company.

Mr. Dawson Kennedy, the last speaker, addressed the meeting from the standpoint of the farmer and said that the cultivation of sugar beets would pay the farmer if undertaken intelligently.

A public meeting, called in response to a resolution of the Board of Trade, requesting that such a meeting be held, for the purpose of discussing the Sugar Bylaw to be submitted to the ratepayers on May 5th, to authorize the town to guarantee the bonds of the Peterborough Sugar Company to the extent of $100,000, half of which is to be paid back to the town at the end of three years, was held in Bradburn's Opera House last night, and was attended by about 200 persons, the majority of whom were ratepayers. The two principal speakers of the evening were Messrs. J. W. Garvin and W. H. Moore, the former supporting, and the latter opposing the bylaw.

The chairman of the meeting was Mayor Rogers who in opening the meeting remarked that since the meeting had been held at the request of the Board of Trade, he presumed the members of that body would be prepared to take the prominent part in the meeting, and to discuss the question.

He reviewed the proposition as it had been presented to the council, by Mr. Gordon and his associates, and which the ratepayers will have the opportunity of voting on on May 5th. He believed the security given by the Company was all in their power to give. The matter should be discussed on its merits and personalities should not be indulged in.

MR. GARVIN.

Mr. J. W. Garvin was the first speaker of the evening, and, as the representative of the Board of Trade, expressed his pleasure at seeing so many of his fellow-citizens present to hear the question discussed. He regretted that Mr. Gordon was not present to address the meeting, but he had been unavoidedly detained, and hoped to have him here next week. Mr. Garvin then reviewed briefly the history of the Sugar Company, which, he said was started at the instance of Mr. T. E. Bradburn, who was and is largely identified with business enterprises in Peterborough. He had received a proposition from a construction company in Detroit, which after considerable negotiating offered to erect a factory here for $425,000 which was much lower than the price originally agreed upon. The Construction Company told the Sugar Company that if as 1000 acres of beets must be grown to make the concern pay, and unfortunately the farmers did not contract for this amount. The Company then engaged in the culture of beets, which was a losing proposition and the result was that the Company lost $50,000.

SOME DIFFICULTIES

The Company then found itself in financial difficulties, and unable to pay its men. At this time no further stock was being offered for sale, and since then the Company has been endeavouring to interest capitalists with a view of completing the factory. After a considerable time Mr. Gordon, of Wallaceburg was induced to interest himself in the project and he offered to take $100,000 in stock on condition that the town guarantee the Company's bonds to the same extent. He had thought of this proposition first, after seeing that the Government had just adopted the policy of guaranteeing bonds to the Algoma Central Railway, a course, which, Mr. Garvin said, I fully agree with. The proposition, Mr. Garvin remarked, was one absolutely safe, as the town would get a first mortgage on the property. The proposal was one eminently fair, and he could not conceive of any sane proposition being objected to by the ratepayers. Mr. Gordon did not ask the town to give bonus as in a number of other towns Ontario had done to secure a sugar factory. He simply asked to guarantee the bonds to the extent of $100,000, and give 83 security for every $1 so guaranteed. The shareholders and Mr. Gordon, might, perhaps be running some risk, although he did not think so; but the town would be running absolutely no risk whatever. Sugar making machinery in this continent could not be purchased at a price anything like that being paid for the plant which the local Company had an option on in Holland. A 450 ton plant cannot be purchased for $300,000 on this continent—the demand is so great. It was because of the fact that the Company had such a good prospect in the plant in Holland that Mr. Gordon was induced to associate himself with the Company. The great question determining the success of the industry is the quantity of beets which the factory can secure. The local counties are well adapted for dairying and the culture of beets fitted in well with the dairying industry; 12 tons to the acre is a small crop of beets, and at $5.50 per ton would net the farmer at least $30 per acre. Both a number of farmers have raised 20 tons per acre. A farmer in the west had from three acres, raised enough beets to pay the wages of a hired man for 7 months. So that there should be no trouble to secure beets. It would be no trouble to get sufficient labour to enable the farmers to grow the beets.

OUTPUT, 15,000,000 POUNDS

In a few years the factory, if completed would slice 60,000 tons of beets the output of sugar would be 15,000,000 pounds.

There will be paid out for wages, coal, lime, and other items, at least $150,000 per year, in the factory here. He believed $10,000 per year could be saved on coal alone in the plant because of our cheap electric power.

A good deal was heard on the streets concerning salaries. In answer to this Mr. Garvin said that all that had been paid for legal fees was $205. An office assistant was being paid $25, per month, a bookkeeper gets $25 per month. His brother had only drawn three months' salary out of 14. He, himself had not drawn a cent of salary for 6 months, and would not draw a cent until all the debts of the Company had been paid. If the bylaw did not pass this night he the last address that he would deliver in Peterborough. All that was needed to carry the industry to a successful issue was courage, and he thought that the town should be willing to run a slight risk.

ASK FARMERS FOR GUARANTEE.

At the conclusion of Mr. Garvin's address, a gentleman in the audience asked him why, if the farmers were to be so greatly benefitted, did he not ask them to guarantee the bonds of the company.

Mr. Garvin explained that he appealed to Peterborough because of the fact that the town would greatly benefit from the factory. The farmers had assisted the company by giving the company the beets at $4 per ton for the first year.

MR. MOORE.

Mr. Moore was the next speaker, and said that he was sorry indeed to learn that the company had become in such a financial condition. The first objection that he had taken to the submission of the bylaw was that the town should have made an independent audit of the company's affairs, before submitting, at the town's expense, the bylaw to the ratepayers.

Some 15 or 16 years ago the town was visited by the C.G.E. officials, and an effort made to have the company locate here. In order to do this the company had been given free site and railway sidings. This action of the town, and that of the contract entered into with the Cereal Company, had been wise ones, from which the town had reaped rich benefit.

The two concerns mentioned had been strong financially, and he thought that a company which was in the condition of the Sugar Company, should not be assisted.

Mr. Moore then took up the prospectus of the company, and criticized it in a similar manner to that made use of in the meeting on Tuesday night.

SECURITY NOT SUFFICIENT.

Discussing the security to the town Mr. Moore said he would like to know where the money to be provided by the town would go; whether it would be used to pay the company's debts or go to buy machinery. According to Mr. Garvin's statement the machinery would cost $300,000, and all the money to pay for this machinery and erect the sugar house building was the $100,000 to be paid by Mr. Gordon, and the equal amount to be raised by the sale of the bonds guaranteed by the town. He could not see where the money to pay for the plant was to come from.

The stock of the company is being offered at 25, 20, 15, 10, or 5 cents on the dollar, and there are no buyers.

He believed that it would be impossible to get the farmers to grow the beets. Mr. Garvin had admitted that he had failed in this respect. Mr. Hughes-Charles had said at the Board of Trade meeting that it would be absolutely impossible to operate the factory without a loss, unless it could secure 3000 acres of beets, yet during the last few months the company's agents had been through the six counties adjacent to Peterborough and all they had secured was 1100 acres.

THE FARMERS CONSERVATIVE.

The farmers are a very conservative class and it would take years to induce them to grow beets. The experience in Ontario in the sugar beet factories had been unfortunate. Two had ceased to exist, and the two remaining factories, although they had been given a half cent a pound bounty, had never paid a dividend to anyone.

One serious consideration in this connection was, "Could the town afford to do this?" and he quoted from the bylaw to show that the present debt of the town, added to the large amounts which will have to be spent in the near future, would be about 1-8 of the total assessed value of the property in the town.

At the same time that the sugar bylaw is voted on a bylaw to raise $50,000 to erect a Collegiate Institute will also be voted on. Mr. Moore quoted other expenses which the town would have to meet in the near future. He thought it would be bad policy to guarantee the bonds of the company, as it would impair the town's credit.

The company had made a number of miss-calculations, the last of which was that it expected that town to endorse the bylaw. The company had come with its hat in its hand asking for assistance, because of its miss-calculations.

MR. KENNEDY.

Mr. Dawson Kennedy, a farmer, spoke from that standpoint. He said that in 1891 he was the only farmer who had tested the beets for the Ontario Government. He believed that the industry was bound to be one of the most important in the country, and he saw a great future for it in the county of Peterborough.

The only detriment to the project was that the farmers were not inclined to adopt the growth of beets. One reason was that the farmers were very prosperous and that they did not care to adopt anything new.

An industry which even though it fails at first often succeeds in the end, and he believed that the sugar industry was one of these. The history of the sugar industry in every country was that it was necessary to foster and help it.

FITS WELL WITH DAIRYING.

The dairy industry had not been adopted by the farmers at first, but at the present time 67 1-2 per cent. of all the cheese imported into England came from Canada. The sugar industry fitted in well with the dairy industry. He believed that the farmers when they once saw the profits to be derived from it, would readily grow beets.

From the lift lock to Rice Lake and return there are about 100 miles of shore line and all of this land is well adapted to grow beets.

Mr. Kennedy said that he was not financially interested in the industry, but for 13 years he had been intensely interested in the growth of beets, felt satisfied that there was a great future for the industry.

It is the amount of money sent out of a country that makes it poor, and $8,000,000 each year is sent out for sugar.

The Mayor, in closing the meeting, called the attention of those present to the persons eligible to vote on the present bylaw.

COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE ASSEMBLY HALL.

Plans of Institute Provide for a Hall, Which is the Town's Urgent Need.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

It must be apparent to many, if not to all, that Peterborough is sorely in need of a hall suitable in size and equipment for the holding of lectures, debates and recitals. At the present time, in order to secure accommodation for these, it is generally necessary to go to one of the churches or Sunday school rooms, or some other equally unfit place. The Y.M.C.A. building has, it is true, an assembly hall, but it is very small and ill adapted to the needs of public gatherings. We all recognize that churches should be used solely and exclusively for religious purposes. Nor does the proposed erection of an academy of music remove the difficulty, for it will be too large and expensive for most lectures and local entertainments. What we want is a hall suitable for holding five or six hundred people, arranged and equipped for lecture and concert purposes. I am credibly informed that the plans of the proposed new collegiate institute provide for just such a hall. If the vote on May 5th is favourable, a central site will undoubtedly be chosen, and an urgent need of our town will be satisfied. There is a growing taste in Peterborough for literary functions. It is a pity that this growth should be hampered and discouraged by the lack of a hall in which our citizens could meet and listen in comfort to addresses by scholars and eminent public men. I believe I am quite justified by observation in saying that Peterborough would be no whit behind other places in literary tastes and pursuits if these were encouraged by the means I have suggested.

Moreover, the students of our collegiate institute are under a great disadvantage in having no assembly hall whatever in their present building. A few years ago it did possess a small hall capable of holding most of the pupils, and it was put to good use, lectures being held regularly by the staff and others, and literary meetings by the students. But it was found necessary to turn this hall into class-rooms, so that at present there is no room in the building in which more than one class can meet. As a result, there is no literary society at present in connection with the school. This is a very serious defect and should be remedied.

A very important branch of education is of necessity being neglected. High School students should be enabled to meet together in a body to listen and to take part in, debates, addresses, recitals and musical numbers, arranged for by their literary society officers, with the assistance and under the supervision of the teachers. The Collegiate Institute should be a literary centre and the medium through which the excellent work done by the Fortnightly Club under disadvantages, could be carried on. At present the students are not in a position to invite their parents and friends to meet them in a body, even once a year in a social way. With a new building such as is proposed, the influence of our highest educational institution might be considerably widened, its value more generally known and appreciated, and a stronger esprit de corps developed in the pupils. By all means let us have a new collegiate institute and assembly hall,

Respectfully yours,
CITIZEN.

A SERIOUS FIRE IN DUMMER TOWNSHIP.

A Dwelling House Destroyed and One of the Inmates Severely Burned.

The dwelling house of Mr. Henry Mustard on the 12th line of Dummer, was destroyed by fire last Friday forenoon. The fire started in the roof over the stovepipe, and a brave effort was made by Mr. and Mrs. Mustard to extinguish it, but in doing so Mrs. Mustard was severely burned about the body, and would have probably been fatally burned, had not a nine year old lad named Harvey Ellis come to her rescue, and threw a quantity of water over her. Mr. Mustard had no insurance and the house and contents were totally destroyed.

MOUNT ST. JOSEPH A FINE STRUCTURE.

A Finishing Touches Being Made to the New Wing.

The new wing to Mount St. Joseph, the mother house of the Community of St. Joseph, is all but finished, and the painters are now adding the finishing touches to the addition. The new chapel is at present being used for the Community services and the formal opening will take place at at an early date.

It is understood that it is the intention of each of the Catholic Societies in the town to place a window in the new structure, which promises, when fully completed, to be a credit not only to the diocese, but the good Sisters in charge.

THE DAYS OF CHIVALRY ARE NOT YET DEAD.

A Citizen Challenged to a Duel on Old Dickson Bridge.

A case was tried this morning in the Police Court out of the ordinary run of cases with which the local authorities have had to deal with, and the penalty for which is three years' imprisonment.

Donald Brown charged Felix Lynch with challenging him to a duel, contrary to the criminal code. Both are employees of the Dickson Company and it appears that Brown has owed Lynch a sum of money for some time, and the latter had made several attempts to collect it, but without success. They finally had litigation in the Division Court, and Lynch got judgment for $2.00. He endeavoured to collect that amount from Brown, but was unsuccessful and Brown informed Lynch that he could go ahead and sue.

Patience had evidently ceased to be a virtue with Lynch, who forwarded Brown the following letter:

"Mr. Donald Brown:

'I would like if you would meet me on next Thursday about 7.30 on the old Dickson Bridge, and I will fight you to a finish, and let that settle our trouble. You are the meanest man I ever had anything to do with. You are acting a rogue and you have a rotten principle; but if you come and meet me I will settle with you in short order. Thursday evening 28th of April, at 7.30. Make no mistake. FELIX LYNCH."

The accused elected to be tried by Magistrate and the evidence of several witnesses who were instrumental in delivering the ultimatum to Brown was heard, as was also his son's story regarding meeting Lynch last evening in close proximity to where the encounter was to be pulled off, and his anxiety regarding Brown's appearance to engage him in mortal combat.

Mr. R. E. McWilliams appeared for the accused and held that the offence did not come under the Criminal Code regarding duels, as there was no mention of weapons, and as it only constituted a fist fight.

Police Magistrate Dumble, however, contended that the epistle was a direct challenge to fight over the difference existing between the parties and combat would unquestionably be a duel, as the dictionary stated that a duel was a premeditated fight between two persons. Ill-feeling undoubtedly existed between the two men and if allowed to continue, trouble would certainly arise, and he felt that it must be nipped in the bud. It was all over a matter of $2.00, and if every man in town who owed that amount received a castigation we would lose half our population. He fined Lynch $10.00 and $16.00 costs to be paid in five days.

AN INFRACTION NOT INTENDED.

Mr. John Kylie's Unwitting Breach of the Early Closing By-law.

Mr. John Kylie, the Hunter street shoeman, who was fined this morning for an unintentional infraction of the early-closing bylaw, explains to the Examiner that on the night in question, and in fact any night, when his store is open, it is not for the purpose of selling goods, for he has never broken the law in this respect. Mr. Kylie conducts a custom department in his business, and repaired work is frequently called for at night. For this purpose he has kept his store door open, upon being assured by the police that he could keep open all night if he wished, so long as he did not sell goods. Acting on this advice Mr. Kylie has allowed his door to remain open, but he has never sold goods after hours, and his infraction of the law, if it is an infraction, was one entirely unintentional.

TRENT VALLEY CANAL DEPUTATION IN TORONTO.

Interviewed Hon. F. R Latchford re Transfer of Locks and Storage Dams.

The following appeared in the Toronto Globe of Wednesday: Chief Engineer Rogers of the Trent Valley Canal, headed a Peterborough deputation which waited upon Hon. F. R. Latchford, Tuesday. They urged that the locks and storage dams at the head of the canal be transferred from the jurisdiction of the Provincial Department of Public Works to that of the Dominion.

WORK TO COMMENCE ON STREET RAILWAY

Next Week will See the Work Undertaken.

The Old Roadbed to be Torn Up and the Material Ordered for its Speedy Construction.

The citizens of the town will be gratified to learn that operations on the proposed street railway have at last assumed definite shape, and that it will not be many days until a staff of men will be employed on the undertaking.

Mr. Learmouth, of the American Creed Company has been appointed manager of the railway, and he stated this afternoon that work would commence on the line next week when the old road bed would be torn up and the work proceeded with as speedily as possible. He was instructed to procure the necessary supplies for the undertaking, and tenders will be called for a portion of the work.

Mr. Edward Burch, of Minneapolis, has been appointed consulting engineer, and is expected in town any day in connection with the project. This announcement will be hailed with pleasure by the citizens, who will watch with interest the operations in connection with this important work.

TRADES AND LABOUR COUNCIL OPPOSE IT.

Pass Resolution Asking Members to Vote Against Sugar By-law.

Believe it Would not be in Best Interest of the Town—The Official Report of the Meeting.

The secretary of the Trades and Labour Council has given the Examiner the following official report of the meeting held on Wednesday night when the bylaw to guarantee the bonds of the Sugar Company was discussed:

The Trade and Labour Council have unanimously passed a resolution of their disapproval of the town going into guaranteeing of $300,000 bonds for the sugar beet industry. They firmly believe it is not in the interests of the working men in general of the town. They contend that if it is going to be a money-making business let private capital take hold of the business and run it to a success, or run it as the present company have done.

We further believe that the idea of a few men going into such a business of buying a large tract of land and erecting such costly buildings, without first counting the cost and seeing an end to it, have no right to come to the town council as a last resort and ask for such favours.

Surely if this is such a wonderful business private capital could be easily raised to complete the works. The town council should have rejected the putting of this bylaw to the people for it is unfair at this season of the year to get a proper vote on a matter of this kind.

The impression seems to be very much abroad that the town council did not like to see the company who are interested in the industry, lose so much of their money, and when the proposition was brought before them they thought with the promoters of the scheme, that this would be the only way out to redeem what they had in the business. "Nothing ventured, nothing won."

It is the desired wish of the Trades Council that all working men, and qualified owners, will turn out and vote, and vote solidly against this bylaw. We have one sample of guaranteeing bonds presented to us in the money towards the stove foundry started here. Did the town get back the $6,000? No; not one cent, and there was good strong capital at the head of it.'

HOME WEDDING.

Mrs. Margaret Jinks Married to Mr. William Jeffery.

A quiet wedding took place at the residence of Mr. B. Jinks, Charlotte street, yesterday, when his mother, Margaret Jinks, was united in marriage to Mr. Wm. Jeffrey, of Cavan.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. P. Wilson, of the George street Methodist church, in the presence of only the immediate friends and relatives of the contracting parties.

Mr. and Mrs. Jeffrey will reside in Cavan, where they went last night after the ceremony.

READ SECOND TIME

Grand Trunk Pacific Bill Advanced in House of Commons.

MAJORITY WAS FORTY-FOUR

All the Speakers Were From the Opposition Benches—Liberals Take No Further Part in the Discussion—Mr. Osler's Attitude Dangerous—Threatening the Maritime Fishing Interests.

Ottawa, April 28.—Under much more harmonious circumstances than accompanied Tuesday night's vote, the House last night advanced the National Transcontinental Railway bill another stage by giving it its second reading. The Liberals, who had been taken by surprise on the vote of Mr. Clarke's amendment, mustered in force and registered a majority of 44, thus answering the imputation that they were weakening on the bill. The House went formally into committee preparatory to continuing the work until it is disposed of. The debating again yesterday was all done by the Opposition, the speakers being Messrs. Lavell, Armstrong, Lennox, Osler and Kaulback. Mr. Osler declared that the building of this road would be a benefit rather than an injury to the C.P.R., and said that, although opposed to the principle of bonusing railways, still any road built through the inhospitable region from North Bay to the prairie should have a bonus.

The following private bills were introduced: To incorporate the Alberta Railway & Irrigation Company—Mr. Scott.

Bookkeeping Compulsory.

Mr. Bickerdike—To amend the criminal code, 1892, respecting the punishment of fraudulent debtors. He explained that it compelled traders doing an annual business of over $1,000 to keep books. This, he said, was a useful law in other countries, especially in Scotland and in France, and he commended it as a measure which would be of great value, both to debtors and creditors, in the winding up of an estate. The lack of such record left the door open to the commission of a good deal of fraud. The bill had been introduced and passed in the Senate last year.

Hon Mr. Prefontaine informed Mr. Kaulbach that 82,000 trees had been planted on Sable Island in May, 1901, but that the weather of the past two seasons had not been favorable for their growth.

Canada and Mexico.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier, replying to Mr. R. L. Borden, said the Government had under consideration a project for a direct steamship line between Canada and Mexico. The Government had reached the conclusion that it would be eminently useful if obtained on fair terms. They hoped to confer with a representative from Mexico and make an announcement to the House before the session closed.

Mr. Taylor inquired if anything had been done to secure better mail connection at Brockville between the Grand Trunk afternoon train for Montreal and the Canadian Pacific train for Ottawa.

Sir William Mulock replied that he had called the attention of the companies to the matter, and had not yet received any reply.

Newfoundland Fishing Monopoly.

Mr. Kaulbach moved the adjournment of the House to call attention to the position of the fishermen of the Maritime Provinces, whose interests were in peril by reason of the recent action of Newfoundland. He quoted the Newfoundland letter by Mr. Norman Smith in The Globe of yesterday, showing that a monopoly had been given to an American company who were acting in close relationship to the Newfoundland Government. This, he said, would greatly injure and handicap the Maritime deep-sea fishermen, because of their inability to get bait.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier replied that the Government could not interfere with the domestic concerns of the United States, whose Treasury Board ruling permitted the entrance duty free of fresh fish bought by an American company in Newfoundland. Any action we might take with regard to that would be absolutely without effect. "My hon. friend has more reason to look with hope to the action of the Gloucester fishermen, because I see that the correspondent says as soon as the tenor of this bill passed by the Newfoundland Legislature is known in Gloucester there will be wigs on the green. I have information to-day that already some action has been taken within the last two or three days by the Gloucester fishermen. I have received from the United States certain resolutions passed by the Gloucester fishermen strongly protesting against any action which would deprive them of their rights, which they have always claimed. If it were a matter in which the application of the Bond-Blaine treaty were involved there would be some point in the remarks of my hon. friend (Mr. Kaulbach). So far as I can see at present, the action of which he complains has no relation whatever to the Bond-Blaine treaty, but is a matter of domestic concern for the Newfoundland Legislature and for the American Congress."

Mr. Kaulback replied that the Canadian Government could interfere to protect the Maritime fisherman, on the same principle as the Gloucester fishermen were interfering with the action of the United States.

Mr. R. L. Borden thought the deprivation of the Nova Scotia fishermen of bait would be a serious interference with their business. It was a matter that would stand investigation.

Hon. Mr. Fielding warned the House to approach Newfoundland in the proper spirit, as he had it on the highest authority, from the statesmen of Newfoundland, that the presumption sometimes shown in this country, that we could force them to do something specially for our interest, had done much to make Newfoundlanders hostile to union with Canada. We should remember that they were as much an independent colony as we are.

Mr. Wade suggested the establishment by the Government of bait depots in the Maritime Provinces.

Mr. Alex. Johnston thought the matter important enough to warrant an investigation by the Government.

Hon. Mr. Prefontaine said he would take steps at once to have an investigation made with the least possible delay. The matter then dropped.

Mr. Fielding's Denial.

Hon. Mr. Fielding then made a personal explanation to the House. He denied in the strongest possible terms that he had, as alleged by Mr. Haggart a few days ago, used in the House a confidential letter prepared by a member of the Conservative Government before they left office in 1896. The document in question, he said, had been estimates prepared and not submitted to the House, but had been used by Conservative candidates in different parts of the country.

Mr. Haggart, after some mutual explanations, said he did not mean that Mr. Fielding had taken confidential documents, but that he had referred to estimates prepared by Conservative Ministers, but which were not presented to the House, as the party went out of office.

In the Senate.

Ottawa, April 28.—Hon. R. W. Scott stated in the Senate yesterday that the amount of policies in the Mutual Reserve Fund Life Association, which lapsed and surrendered between the years 1890-1904 was $47,260,574. He was also informed that the sum of $1,200,000 was collected as premiums between 1900-1903; that the amount of liens on Dec. 31, 1903, was $84,576, presumably bearing interest.

Senator Beique will move for a return showing year by year the business receipts and expenditures of the Mutual Reserve Fund Life Association in the States and Canada since it commenced to do business in Canada.

Senator Templeman explained for the benefit of Senator McDonald that there was no provision in the G.T.P. contract which would require the company to commence work on the Pacific coast simultaneously with the commencement of the work at Winnipeg. The company would, he said, have to commence early in order to complete in time. He presumed they would have to commence at the coast in their own interest, as it would be to their interest in handling and transporting freight.

PILLS AND PILES.

A prolific cause of piles is the use of cathartics and pills of a drastic, violent nature.

Followed by a reaction on account of the resinous, drying properties they contain.

There are other causes, but no matter what the cause or what the kind of piles, Dr. Leonhardt's Hem-Roid can be regied upon to cure—to stay cured.

It's an internal remedy that removes the causes of itching, blind, bleeding or suppurating Piles.

A guarantee goes with each package containing a month's treatment.

It can be obtained for one dollar at James Lynch's, druggist, No. 166 Hunter street, Peterborough.

Inspiration For a Ball Gown.

Among the many characteristic stories that have been told of the methods that were used by the great man dressmaker of Paris, Worth, in creating his surprises there is one of a commission he received for a fancy gown which a great belle desired to have absolutely unique. The great man spent the night consulting with his collaborators, but the idea refused to materialize. Weary with their fruitless toil, the three artists stepped out on a balcony to rest and forget their disappointment in a cigarette. "Voila! It is the dawn!" said one. "Ciel! It is the dress!" cried Worth, and "Dawn," with its subtle harmonies of gray and violet and rose shot through with gold, was the success of the ball.

The First Preaching in Maine.

The earliest church permanently established in Maine is said to have been Episcopal. Services were held at Saco in 1637. At what is now Popham services were held frequently in 1607, the first instances of the performance of the rites of the Episcopal church in any part of the United States north of Virginia and the first Protestant worship and preaching by an ordained minister in any portion of this vast territory.

There is nothing like Sunlight Soap for Household Utensils.

When you have to use hard water it is not an easy matter to wash household utensils. To do good washing you should have good soap and soft water (rain water). If you use hard water you must have good soap, and the best soap you can get is Sunlight Soap because it softens the hard water and makes a copious creamy lather. Use Sunlight Soap for all household purposes and the results will surprise you.

SIR GEORGE CLARKE'S PLAN.

How He Would Protect Empire Communications—One Hundred Salvationist Men Leave London For Canada.

London, April 28.—(C.A.P.)—Sir George Clarke, one of the reformers of the War Office, in an article in the Nineteenth Century, says he is convinced that formal schemes directed towards a closer political union between the Motherland and the Colonies are visionary and may be harmful. The two highest interests of the British people are security and intercommunication. The difficulty of applying an Imperial fund for the navy might give rise to jealousies and recriminations, and he suggests a 1 per cent. tax amounting to £4,600,000 for the strengthening of the maritime communications within the Empire. The assistance should take the form of subsidies, bounties and loans, and an Imperial Maritime Council should administer the fund. The Council might be formed thus: The United Kingdom, 4; representatives from India, 2; from Canada, 2; South Africa, 2; Australia, 2; Newfoundland, 1; other colonies, 2; and it could sit at intervals of four years in the great centres of Imperial commerce, such as Montreal, Cape Town, Bombay and Sydney.

The Fight For Canada.

London, April 28.—(C.A.P.)—The Morning Post says the appearance of Major Wood's "Fight for Canada" marks an epoch in the evolution of the Canadian school of history. Parkman, Kingsford, Bourinot and Bradley practically ignored the vast determining force of sea power as the most vital principle in the Empire's growth. It hopes Major Wood will proceed further in his revision of Canadian military history, and endeavor to eradicate misconceptions. He has already confuted President Roosevelt as to the value of the victories gained on land by Canadian troops in the war of 1812.

Would Tax Stock Gamblers.

London, April 28.—(C. A. P.)—Mr. Field, M.P. (Nationalist), asking the Chancellor of the Exchequer whether a tax on gambling futures would not provide a revenue sufficient to enable him to remove the proposed increased taxation on tea, received the reply that the tax was impossible, for the difference in the two classes of transaction was not their form, but in the minds of the parties concerned.

London, April 28.—(C.A.P.)—Premier Watson has adjourned the Australian Federal Parliament to the 18th of May, to enable the Ministerial program to be prepared.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer one hundred dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

THEY DIDN'T PART.

How Two Brothers Settled a Matter of Matrimony.

An English book of reminiscences tells of two squires named Leaman of Ivybridge—"two thin, delicate looking old men, twin brothers, seventy-two years old, with white hair, very gentle and courteous in manner, red cutaway coats, white cords, black boots, caps and gloves." When past sixty years of age one night after hunting one of them said to the other: "I have been thinking neither of us can have much longer to live in this world and it will be a terrible thing for the survivor to have to remain here alone. Don't you think one of us ought to marry?" "Yes," was the reply. "I have thought so for a long time." "Well, do you know of any lady?" "Yes; I do. Is there any one you fancy?" On comparing notes it appeared they had both selected the same woman, the manager of a hotel at Okehampton. "Well," said one, "we have lived together all these years without a wry word, and it's a pity we should fall out at our time of life." So they tossed up who should marry her. The winner rode down to Okehampton next morning and was accepted. All three lived together and the wife nursed both brothers in their last illness and was left their money.

WRITERS' CRAMP.

It Is a Sort of Paralysis of Either the Muscles or Nerves.

Writers' cramp, which is more paralysis than cramp, is caused by excessive writing, especially when in a weak or depressed condition. It is still a matter of doubt whether this embarrassing defect is due to a failure of the central nervous system or whether it arises in the muscles involved.

Duchenne, one of the highest authorities on nerve diseases, holds that it is an affection of the great nerve centers, for local treatment of the hand does no good, and cramp rapidly appears in the left hand if the sufferer transfers the work to it. It is probably caused by the complete exhaustion of some portion of the brain which presides over the movements of the group of muscles involved.

Rest is the chief, if not the only, cure, though the substitution of a keyboard typewriter in the early stage is often of no avail. A dial machine, which must be grasped with finger and thumb, is not so successful. Pianists, violinists, telegraph clerks, tailors and many others suffer from a similar cramp.

Fortify Against The Ills of Spring

Build Up the System and Strengthen the Nerves by the Use of

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food

Every person is more or less weakened and debilitated by the artificial life of winter, and few escape the depressing ills of spring. In the winter the blood gets thin and watery. It lacks the richness and vitality necessary to rebuild the tissues wasted by over-exertion and disease. The system is so weakened and enfeebled as to invite the germs of infection.

It is an easy matter to keep well and to keep the blood pure and rich by using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. That "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure" is well known, and this applies especially to disease of the blood and nerves. If the gums, lips and eyelids grow pale, the appetite poor and digestion imperfect you recognize that the blood is getting thin and watery in quality. Such blood cannot support and sustain the nervous system, and there is bound to follow sleeplessness, irritability, irregularities and severe nervous exhaustion.

Nine out of ten persons require just such a tonic as Dr. Chase's Nerve Food at this season of the year to enrich and purify the blood. It is not one day too soon to fortify against the ills of spring. You may as well keep well this spring and avoid the debility and weakness that seems to follow the change of temperature.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, six boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

To protect you against imitations the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, are on every box. 7

Plot For The Story

By M. J. Phillips

...Copyright, 1903, by T. C. McClure...

It was an ideal June morning. A chorus of bird songs aroused Cartright at sunup, and, yawning, he walked to the window. From some prehistoric ancestor, who killed his food with a stone ax while the grass was still wet, Cartright had inherited a passion for tramping through the dew. He dressed quickly and started out for a brisk walk.

Cartright was a literary free lance who was slowly winning his way. He had awakened that morning with a feeling known to all who disfigure good white paper with pen or typewriter—the desire to write and joy in the power to write. A certain great magazine editor in a kindly letter had asked Cartright for a story. His request was the magic password that admitted one, clad in purple and fine linen, to the society of the truly elect of the literary world.

But inspiration refused to come at Cartright's bidding. With an instinctive grasp of the magazine's style he had sketched the principal characters of his story. There must be two—a man and a woman. The former must be fine and sincere and honorable, a gentleman in every respect, who had made a place in the world by his own efforts. The girl must be sweet and true, with softly curling hair and wide, frank, innocent blue eyes. The characters must be ideal companions, warm friends, but not lovers. Cruel circumstances and their own ideals of honor must send them through the world apart, even though their very souls, as if alone in the wilderness, cried each unto the other.

He could get no further. Plan as he would, Cartright could find no reason to separate the children of his brain. The characters became almost as real to him as living personages. A regret grew up within him at the necessity of parting them, but to preserve the value of the story separation was inevitable.

He had been mistaken in his feeling that morning that the plot was about to disclose itself, for after breakfast it still eluded him. He could not think effectively in his study. The free, wind swept porch and his easy chair and pipe were not the solaces and aids to thought he usually found them. In despair he seized a fishing rod and started for the river, a half mile away.

There, sprawled on a grassy bank, the noon sunshine filtering through the trees and dappling the velvety carpet about him, he set himself anew to his task. Situation after situation, plot on plot, passed through his brain, each to be rejected in turn as impracticable. At the end of an hour the obstinate characters were still together and happy in their companionship.

A log bridge for the accommodation of the rare pedestrians and the rarer vehicles crossed the stream a few yards from where he lay. Squirrels chattered in the trees, birds flitted overhead. Only a faint hum from the bustling little city reached him. It was an ideal spot.

A splash in the water and a little cry awakened Cartright from the reverie in which he had fallen. A girl was standing on the bridge. Her sailor hat had blown into the river and was floating lazily toward him. The fishing rod was brought into requisition, and a moment later, bowing, he was presenting the dripping hat to its owner.

She was the girl of his story personified. He had imagined his heroine with wavy hair curled softly about her temples, just as this young lady's did. She was very young, and in her wide blue eyes were the fearlessness of a child and the soul of a woman. Her lips were scarlet, and in the creamy cheeks the color came and went. In slight details perhaps she was different. Yet so quickly did his brain child merge with the charming personality before him that on the instant they became one. To Cartright thereafter she was the "girl of the story."

A single glance and she knew him for a gentleman. Soon they were seated side by side talking like old friends.

He discovered that her name was Ruth Broadhurst and that she was visiting at Banker Lawton's. Miss Broadhurst knew of John Cartright—had read some of his stories. The young man's character and achievements had been highly spoken of by the Lawtons, and although the irregularity of their meeting at first troubled her the lack of a formal introduction soon ceased to make itself felt.

That will ever be a golden afternoon in Cartright's memory. At times he read aloud from the book of poems with which Miss Broadhurst had planned to while away an hour alone by the river. More often they chatted of many things—plays, books, mutual acquaintances, themselves. And then long silences would fall—silence more eloquent than words—in which each seemed to read the other's unspoken thought. It was wonderful to the girl, this perfect sympathy and companionship with a man whom she had not seen until a few hours before. Two little clouds occasionally darkened Cartright's sunshine. He was plighted to another, and on Miss Broadhurst's slender, pink tipped third finger a splendid diamond flashed. He banished these thoughts whenever they came. "This one afternoon shall be ours," he said to himself.

Quite naturally he fell to talking of his story and the plot that would not come. "The man is an athlete, a splendid fellow in every way. Him I have modeled after Philip Lotridge, a friend of mine. He is in love with a girl, a sweet, lovable girl, but now I can't get them together. I've got to keep them apart. Why, I don't know myself."

Miss Broadhurst's eyes were fixed upon the water. Cartright's voice died away. He looked at her. Her face was flushed, and her eyes were downcast. Suddenly she looked up, and their eyes met. Cartright's heart leaped. Was it possible? Could it be? Was he a fool? Was he dreaming? Was he mad? Was he—

"Oh, Mr. Cartright," she said, "I'm so sorry I lost your hat!"

Cartright's hat! Cartright's hat! Cartright's hat!

NEW CHURCHES FOR PETERBOROUGH DIOCESE.

Several Fine Structures in Course of Erection in New Ontario.

The Catholic Record says: "The church is growing and flourishing under the guiding hand of Bishop O'Connor of Peterborough, in New Ontario. A new church is in course of erection in North Bay, which will cost when completed over $50,000; a new Catholic school will be built in the same town this season, the cost and equipment of which will amount to at least $13,000. His Lordship considered recently the tenders for a new church at Verner, which will cost $30,000, and which will be built this summer. The Catholics of Sudbury intend building a new parish hall and meeting place of societies. New churches are also to be built at Powassan and South River and the churches at Warren and Blind River are to be enlarged and improved."

FOR ENFORCEMENT OF GAME LAWS.

A Society for this Purpose Formed in Bobcaygeon.

Poaching Should be Prevented in the Interest of the District—The Duty of All Citizens.

(Special to the Examiner.)

Bobcaygeon, Ont., April 28th 1904.—Through the efforts of Messrs. Claes and W. E. Arnberg, a number of our leading citizens were induced to be present at Mr. D. Cain's general store on Monday night, April 25th, at 7.30 p. m., for the purpose of discussing the feasibility of forming a society to assist in enforcing the fish and game laws of the Kawartha district.

In opening the discussion Mr. Claes Arnberg was asked to give a few explanatory remarks in regard to the objects of the meeting to which he replied that he was of the opinion that unless some steps were taken to prevent poaching the fish and game of the Kawartha district would become so scarce as to necessitate the making of more restrictive laws and probably the closing of the district to fishermen and hunters for a number of years for the purpose of restocking, which would greatly affect the tourist trade and would be detrimental to the prosperity of the entire district and the outlay of several years of successful advertising. In speaking of the fish in particular, he intimated that the present number of inspectors was insufficient to guarantee the strict enforcement of the laws as made by the Fisheries Department to withstand the additional cost of maintaining more inspectors at the present salaries, and which salaries were well earned by faithful overseers. Some of the overseers have suggested that a license fee of $5.00 be charged all non-resident tourists to obviate the additional cost to the department, but this, Mr. Arnberg claims, would be defeating our purpose, as, he estimates that tourists already pay at the average rate of $10 per pound for all the fish they succeed in taking. Mr. Arnberg stated that if the present laws were properly enforced it would not be necessary to extend the closed season to July 1st, as has been done this year, which is not desirable, as is shown by the number of signatures on the petition which was forwarded to the Department some time ago, asking that the open season begin on June 15th as formerly. He went on to say that he knew for a certainty that there was a great deal of poaching being carried on, such as the catching of fish during spawning season, the shooting of muskrats, ducks, etc., and the killing of deer by woodsmen, which, he thought, was the bounden duty of every faithful citizen to prevent as far as lies within his power.

In concluding his remarks the projector said that if those present were favourably impressed, Bobcaygeon would be the first to take this action, with the hope that other towns along the route would fall into line, and, by their united efforts, be able to effect a strict observance of the laws which would naturally cause an increase in the numbers of fish and game, and thereby encourage the influx of tourists.

Some of those present were of the opinion that there were more fish caught and speared in the close season than in the open season.

Mr. J. T. Robinson gave it as his opinion that some such protection was of the utmost importance and that he regretted that the organization had not been formed some years ago. After some further discussion it was unanimously decided that they form themselves into an organization to be known as the "Kawartha Lakes Fish and Game Protective Association." The following officers were elected: President, Claes Arnberg; vice-president, Jos. Hunter; sec.-treas., W. E. Arnberg. A committee composed of Messrs. W. J. Read, D. Cain and W. E. Arnberg, was appointed to draw up the constitution and by-laws.

The meeting then adjourned till Monday May 2nd, at 8.00 p. m., in the council chamber.

THE SOCIAL WORLD.

Interesting Personal Items Gathered by Reporters.

Dr. Harry King, of Ann Arbour, Mich., is spending a vacation in town.

Mrs. E. A. Langfeldt is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Hatley, Colborne street, Orillia.

Mr. R. Robertson, of Lindsay, is spending a few days visiting his father, Mr. J. Robertson, sr., Bonacord street.

Mr. Sid Byers, who left here some time ago for the West, has accepted a position in Winnipeg. We wish Sid. every success.

Mr. Matchett, who has been employed by the Orillia Export Lumber Company, leaves for Peterborough to resume his former position.—Orillia Times.

The Millbrook Reporter in writing of the service in the Methodist church last Sunday, says: "Mr. R. N. Jolliffe, of Peterborough, sang two solos with rare volume and power to the delight of all present."

MILLBROOK.

The Millbrook Reporter says:—Rev. Alex. Allen, of Springville, Ill., met with a very severe accident last week while driving in a funeral procession. The horses of the carriage became frightened and ran away, and Mr. Allen seeing the danger jumped out and in alighting struck his face on the pavement, receiving a compounded fracture of the nose and a sprained shoulder. While the mishap is bad indeed it is almost miraculous that he did not meet his death. The runaway carriage struck a telephone pole a foot in diameter and shattered it to splinters. Latest account sent to his father, Venerable Archdeacon Allen, report that he is recovering nicely.

Reports as to the condition of the fall wheat in this district vary somewhat, but the great majority of farmers report favourably. Snow came so early they say, and to such a depth, that the plant was well protected except in some localities where much drifting took place and thus patches were winter killed. The fields came from under the snow looking fresh and green, and several days of mild weather had a notably good effect. The recent frosts have not caused any trouble as they were not severe, and the ground is so wet that no heaving has resulted. Present prospects are more favourable than usual, and, although the season is very backward, the fact is regarded as giving the crop a better chance of escaping damage by frost.

Special to the Examiner.

Havelock, April 28th, 1904.

A special meeting of the Lacrosse Club was held last night in the Council Chambers. Mr. Edward Fennal was elected chairman for the evening and Mr. P. Lancaster, secretary.

The minutes of last meeting were read and confirmed.

Mr. E. Dineen, the delegate to Peterborough presented his report. He also mentioned that it was decided to assess all clubs admitted to the League a fee of $3.00, for the purpose of carrying on the minor expenses connected with same.

A motion was made by J. Muldoon, seconded by E. Aulger, that the club purchase one dozen suits, goal nets, one-half dozen sticks, and one-half dozen balls.

Moved by P. Lancaster, seconded by Sullivan, that T. Dineen be appointed as member from the Havelock Club to sit on the league executive.

Moved by T. Dineen, seconded by J. W. Rose, that J. Muldoon be made captain. After this was carried Mr. Muldoon gave a very instructive speech and said he would do the best he could, and everybody was pleased to see such a competent man in the field as captain.

Mr. H. Andrews was appointed manager on account of Mr. C. Williams tendering his resignation.

It was moved and carried that Mr. J. W. Rose, W. Patterson and B. Haig be appointed to the Membership Committee.

The sale of tickets will be pushed by the members. The boys are all looking towards coming out victors at the close of the season, and it will be a good stiff fight that will be put up before they go down to defeat, and with the aggregation that they are putting on the field it is the next thing to impossible to lose. The colour of suits will be red, with a black strip coming from the shoulder to hip and black trunks.

The Field Committee was instructed about getting the park and pleasure grounds into good shape for the coming hard practice which will be held every day until the team get in proper shape and the games commence.

FOOTBALL.

Mr. Arthur Noble, Vice-President of the Midland League will referee the opening game at Norwood tomorrow, between the Wanderers of Peterborough and the Norwood High School team.

The Midland Football League gratefully acknowledges a handsome donation from Dr. Geo. Burnham towards the League funds. The doctor is an enthusiastic supporter of clean sport of all kinds.

BASEBALL.

On Wednesday night the first game in the Public School League Series was played in the South Central School grounds, the teams being the Central and 5th ward. The former won by the rather wide score of 28 to 1. The teams were:

Central — Fred Hall, C. Leah, V. Carton, B. Laing, A. Belleghem, S. Laing, R. Thornton, B. Carmichael, H. Maguire.

Fifth ward — Bert Gillespie, Geo. Stevens, L. Creighton, W. Crough, H. Faint, G. Quartermaine, N. Geale, C. Clithero, L. Miller.

Mr. Fred Craig acted as umpire in an efficient manner.

The University of Toronto baseball team has accepted the offer of the Peterborough Midland League team for a game here on June 4th. The University team is one of the best in Canada, and is making a tour of the principal cities in Canada and the United States. This game should be one of the best of the season, and as it may be the first in which the local team will play an outside team, the opening of the season should be an exceedingly interesting game.

* * * *

The St. Luke's Men's Guild Baseball Team will enter the Guild League. Mr. G. G. Pratley is the team's representative on the executive.

* * * *

Mr. Ross Dobbin will represent the Georgy street team in the Guild League.

* * * *

Three games will be played in the Midland League to-morrow, although only one of the three teams in town will participate in tomorrow's games. The Wanderers will go to Norwood to play the High School team, and the other games will be—Omemee at Bethany and Keene at Harwood.

The season will open with the brightest of prospects for a most successful series of games, and the finish promises to be very exciting.

BASKET-BALL.

One of the most important basketball games of the season will be played in the Y.M.C.A. on Monday evening, the challenge of the Athletics to the Brownies having been accepted. The Brownies defeated the Athletics last week and a fast game is assured. Admission 15c., tickets on sale at Best's Stove Store, Hunter street, and the Examiner office, and from members of the teams.

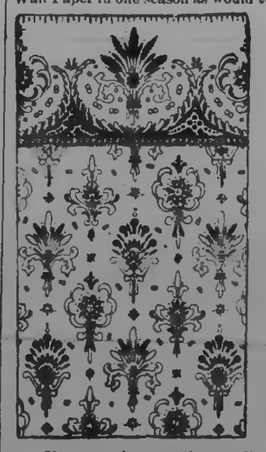
379 George St., Peterborough. 252 and 254 Queen St. west, Toronto

Peterborough and the surrounding county are reaping the benefit of a firm which has worked night and day to gain the top rung of the ladder. We now buy as much Wall Paper in one season as would ten ordinary dealers all put together.



Therefore, with such purchasing power it is only reasonable that we can buy and therefore we are able to give you the newest obtainable goods at 25 per cent. less than you can get a like class of paper this side of Toronto.

We have our salespeople from Quebec to Winnipeg and our orders from that source net over $20,000 worth of Wall Paper per year. Here are a few snaps:

Lot for .45 — 10 rolls Wall Paper, Blue and White Grounds for bed rooms. We will also give you free 18 yards of nine inch border, perfect match.

Lot for .56 — 12 rolls Paper, Green and Cream colour, pretty effects. No charge for 20 yards matched 9 inch border.

Lot for .62 — 12 rolls Gold papers; colours—3 shades in Green and White and Cream; 20 yards perfectly matched border goes free.

We claim you can't get the border for less elsewhere.

Lot for 1.25 — 10 rolls Heavy Gold papers in 3 shades with 18 inch blended friezes or borders to match. The frieze is regularly sold at $1.44 or 8c per yd

JAP WARSHIPS AT VLADIVOSTOCK

Ten Cruisers and Six Torpedo Boats off That Port.

REPORT OF RUSSIAN DISASTER.

Repulsed After Two Days' Hard Fighting on the Yalu River—London, However, has Heard no Further News of the Alleged Reverse—China may Fight if Empress-Dowager's Will has Sway.

St. Petersburg, April 30.—Viceroy Alexieff telegraphs, under yesterday's date, that Japanese ships were sighted six miles off Port Arthur Thursday night. Yesterday morning ten Japanese cruisers and six torpedo boats were seen in Usuri Bay, adjacent to Vladivostock.

Russian Reverse Reported.

Shanghai, April 30.—It is reported here that the Russians have suffered a disastrous repulse after two days' fighting on the Yalu River. The Japanese forces crossed the river and the Russians retreated.

No Further News.

London, April 30.—No further news of any kind has been received regarding the reported Russian reverse on the Yalu.

According to The Daily Telegraph's Shanghai correspondent, the bulk of the supplies of the Russian army at Liaoyang are being sent to Fenghuangcheng.

A despatch from Port Arthur, dated yesterday, reports all quiet there.

The Icebreakers are expected to commence running on Lake Baikal, May 8. The Manchurian administration of waterways has issued a notice that the Ussuri and Sunggri Rivers will soon be open. The ice is rapidly breaking up on the Amur.

The Daily Telegraph's Sinminting correspondent, cabling under date of April 29, says he regards a general rising of Manchu brigands, encouraged and landed by Manchu officials, as probable in the event of a Japanese land success.

China May Fight.

Pekin, April 30.—It is asserted on the best authority that the Russians are about to enforce martial law west of the Liao River. The Government is worried, and the Dowager Empress has ordered the provincial Governors to abandon her birthday celebration and to use the money collected for that purpose to equip 72,000 troops immediately.

Kinshiu Maru's Casualties.

Tokio, April 30.—Seventy-three Japanese were killed or drowned as a result of the sinking of the Japanese transport Kinshiu Maru, which was torpedoed by the Russian armored cruiser Rossia at midnight Monday last. One non-commissioned officer committed harakiri (suicide), according to the ancient custom, and the others used rifles to kill themselves. The official reports agree in placing the number of men lost at seventy-five. It is possible that more survivors will be found, as one of the Kinshiu Maru's boats is still missing.

Some Were Saved.

London, April 30.—The correspondent of The Daily Mail at Kobe, Japan, says the captain of the Japanese schooner Chihayi, which arrived at Gensan yesterday, announced that he had rescued a boat load of forty-five soldiers and nine members of the crew of the Japanese transport Kinshiu Maru, which was torpedoed and sunk by the Russians at midnight on Monday last.

Yessen's Squadron Returns.

Valdivostock, April 30.—The squadron, commanded by Rear-Admiral Yessen, has returned here from its recent operations off the Corean coast.

Denies Report.

Cronstadt, April 30. — Admiral Birylef, in command here, emphatically denies the report circulated at Cronstadt, April 26, of an alleged attempt on the part of a stranger to blow up the battleship Alexander III.

Russia Will Not Tolerate Mediation.

St. Petersburg, April 30.—The official declaration that Russia will not tolerate the mediation or intervention of a third power either during or after the war receives nothing but hearty commendation from all classes of the community here. Great curiosity is manifested as to how this far-reaching decision of Russia will be received by the other powers.

Another War in Sight.

Lima, Peru, April 30.—Alarming cablegrams have been received here from Santiago de Chile, saying that the Chilean Government has instructed its minister at Washington, Senor Walker-Martinez, to inquire if the United States will defend Peru in case Chile shall proceed forcibly on the question of annexing the provinces of Tacni and Arco, which that country is disposed to do.

Closed Its Doors.

Montreal, April 30.—La Compagne Credit du Canada closed its doors yesterday. This is one of the institutions working under a Dominion charter, which is now receiving a great deal of attention from Parliament.

Financing Soo Loan.

New York, April 30.—The Herald yesterday morning says: It was stated in Wall street Thursday night that negotiations are being conducted with Blair & Co., of this city, to assist in the financing of the Consolidated Lake Superior loan, which was recently authorized by the Ontario Legislature. Blair & Co. may finance the grant6 of $2,000,000 made to the Algoma Central Railroad.

Two Men Drowned.

Kingston, April 30.—Thursday night Black Mallory and Frank Swan of Alexandria Bay left Seneca's Hotel at Rockport, below Kingston, in a boat to fish. In a heavy sea the skiff capsized and both men were drowned.

Perry King Acquitted.

Toronto, April 30.—Perry King was acquitted of complicity in Williamson hold-up, but one of the accused, Wilson, who was identified by King, was sent for trial.

Cut to Crude Oil.

Pittsburg, April 30.—The Standard Oil Company yesterday made a cut of three cents on all grades of crude oil except Ragland.

FERNIE FIRE SWEPT

The Heart of the Town Eaten by the Flames.

ITS BEST BUILDINGS BURNED

Victoria Avenue, the Principal Business Street, Burned on Both Sides—Crow's Nest Coal Office, the Bank of Commerce and the English Church Fall a Prey to the Flames.

Winnipeg, April 30.—In a fire that blazed fiercely and spread rapidly in spite of the most heroic efforts of the fire brigade to check it, nearly the entire business portion of the town of Fernie was reduced to ashes and several residences were destroyed early yesterday morning. The damage is estimated at $500,000.

The fire broke out at 3.30 in Richards' general store, in the south end of the town, and quickly spread north and south along Victoria avenue.

The firemen and many willing towns-people were on the scene early, but they were hampered by an inefficient supply of water and exhausted their energy in a hopeless fight against ravaging flames.

The fire jumped across the avenue and fiercely licked up the dry buildings on either side. Special efforts were directed towards saving the coal company's offices, but the fire-fighters were forced back and these were soon reduced to ashes.

The southward course of the conflagration was checked at the Central Hotel about 5 o'clock, but continued its northward course on both sides of the avenue as far as the Northern Hotel, where, with the use of the chemical and the little water supply, it was put under control at 6.30.

Every dry goods and grocery store in the town was wiped out.

Losses in Detail.

Following is a list of the losses: Richards & Co., general merchants; Hazelwood & Sudaby, druggists; Mitchell & Co., tailors; Crow's Nest Trading Company, general mercants; The Trites, Wood Company, general merchants; Cuthbert & Co., confectioners; Purdy & Co., fruiters, etc.; Beasdell, druggist; Stork, hardware; J. D. Quail, hardware; McEwing & Slinn, bakers, Hutchinson, tailor; Liphardt, jeweler; Burns & Co., butchers; Calgary Cattle Company, butchers; Royal Hotel; Alberta Hotel; Fernie Hotel; Muskato Hotel; Victoria Hotel; Waldorf Hotel; Crow's Nest Pass Coal Company's offices; Bank of Commerce; English Church.

Much property was saved and piled in heaps on the commons. The insurance companies carried heavy risks. Business men express the opinion that the fire will result in ultimate good, as the town will now be built up with substantial structures in place of the fire wood, such as lined the main business streets.

Liner in the Ice.

Halifax, N. S., April 30.—The Allan Liner Corinthian arrived yesterday morning, having been unable to proceed up the St. Lawrence on account of ice. She reports a Donaldson Liner in the ice in the gulf.

Port Stanley, April 30.—Mr. Parker of the Sandwich Fish Hatchery planted 1,000,000 white fish fry in Lake Erie at this port yesterday.

THE TELEGRAPHERS READY.

Matters Ready For a Settlement or a Tie-Up of Entire Line.

Toronto, April 30.—Final steps have now been taken by the members of the Order of Railroad Telegraphers employed on the Grand Trunk Railway system that may either lead to a settlement of their claims or a tie-up of the entire line, from Chicago to Portland. A request has been made to the Minister of Labor, Sir William Mulock, for the appointment of a conciliatory committee, or a board of arbitrators, to enquire into the differences existing between the company and their station agents and operators. The union have abandoned any further hope of securing a conference with the company which would lead to a settlement of their grievances. Accompanying the request for intervention from Ottawa they have taken the last step before forceful means are employed to secure what they ask. If the Minister declines to exercise his powers it is hardly possible that trouble can be averted.

The next few days will decide whether there is to be peace or war. It is said that the committee representing the men are most anxious to get through their negotiations in a peaceful manner and are prepared to do a great deal to realize that desire. Still, it is declared they are determined to secure their demands, and should the Minister of Labor not see fit to appoint a board of arbitrators, a strike will be ordered at once.

IN WESTERN CANADA.

Banking Corporation With $500,000 Terms in Omaha, Neb.

Omaha, Neb., April 30.—A corporation with a capital stock of $500,000, which is to do a private banking business in Western Canada is to be formed immediately. Omaha will be the American headquarters, and Winnipeg will probably be the Canadian headquarters of the corporation.

W. V. Bennett of Omaha, representing the Canadian Government, is one of the promoters, and Chicago and St. Paul capitalists are to be heavily interested in the project.

The first bank will be opened at Regina. Assiniboia, and if the project succeeds the business is to be extended through Manitoba, Assiniboia and Alberta, the parts of the Dominion which are being settled by Americans.

It is expected that the American settlers will patronize the new banks largely, and that they will be successful from the beginning.

Joggins Mine Tied Up.

Joggins Mines, N.S., April 30.—Great excitement prevails at Joggins Mines as the result of the men quitting work at noon Thursday on account of five weeks' wages not being forthcoming. The pumps were stopped and all the fires drawn. All the horses but two are still in the mine. The manager was requested to take the horses out, but it is understood has refused to do so. It is feared serious damage will be done to the mine if the difficulty is not at once arranged. About 300 men are employed, 200 tons of coal raised daily, and from $4,000 to $5,000 paid in wages each fortnight. The train from the mine has stopped running on account of the trouble.

G.T.P. RAILWAY BILL

Progress of Transcontinental in House Committee.

TWO MORE CLAUSES PASSED

An Amendment of Mr. Borden Accepted --Guarantee Bonds of Western Section Where Completed—Third Clause Stands For Verbal Amendment --Fourth Clause Adopted— Other Business.

Ottawa, April 30.—Consideration of the Transcontinental Railway bill in Committee of the Whole occupied the entire day in the House yesterday. Progress was not rapid, only two clauses of the agreement being adopted; still this was more satisfactory than an attitude of obstinacy and defiance, and the expectation is that the bill will be through the committee stage by the end of next week. The Opposition have intimated their intention of presenting amendments on some of the clauses which have been tentatively approved. The discussion covers much the same ground traversed in discussing the original contract last year, and most of the talk is done by the Opposition members.

Bills Introduced.

The following private bills were introduced: For the relief of James E. Keely—Mr. Grant; respecting the Decima & Barry's Bay Railway—Mr. Northrup; respecting Toronto & Hamilton Railway Company—Mr. Calvert; respecting certain patents of William A. Davis—Mr. Campbell; respecting a certain patent of E. A. Small—Mr. Logan; respecting the Tomagami Railway Company—Mr. McCool.

Without Seed Grain.

Mr. Scott brought to the attention of the Government the plight of the settlers at Davidson on the line of the Regina and Prince Albert Railway, where they are, without seeding grains and have no prospects of getting any owing to five miles of the railway south of that place being under water.

Mr. Sifton promised to do his best to remedy the situation as the matter was urgent, the settlers being from the United States, having only moved in last fall.

Mr. T. O. Davis said there was an abundance of grain seed north of Davidson.

The Holding of the Canso.

Mr. E. F. Clarke questioned the Government in the House yesterday upon the following telegram from Montreal:

"A special cable to La Presse from Bremen says that the German Government has refused to allow Captain Bernier to leave the port of Bremen with the steamer Gauss, because $5,000 of the purchase money remaining unpaid. Lord Strathcona paid $70,000, holding back $5,000 until the vessel's speed should be tested in Canada. The despatch adds that upon being notified of the situation the Canadian Minister of Marine replied that the Government would stick to the conditions of the sale. The German Government on the other hand demands full payment before the vessel leaves port."

The Prime Minister replied that there had been some difference between them over the sum of $5,000. He did not think, however, that for the matter of $5,000 the bargain would be lost. He had not heard lately about the affair, and so concluded that it had been settled.

An Amendment Accepted.

On resuming the consideration in committee of the National Transcontinental Railway bill, Hon. Charles Fitzpatrick announced his decision to accept an amendment to clause two of the agreement, which had been proposed by Mr. R. L. Borden. He explained that although the time in which the western division was to be completed by the company was prescribed, there was no limit as to the time the Government had for building the eastern portion. The amendment was designed to provide that the Government's guarantee for the western section will go into effect and the deposit of $5,000,000 may be withdrawn when the western section is completed and $15,000,000 worth of equipment supplied, notwithstanding that the eastern section may not have been completed by the Government. At the same time Mr. Fitzpatrick expressed the view that there would be no doubt of the eastern section being completed as soon as the western division. In reply to criticisms by several Opposition members, the Minister of Justice explained that the amendment was merely to provide against a contingency which was almost sure not to arise. The whole project would fall to the ground unless the eastern extension was built. He believed it would be completed even before the western division.

The second clause was adopted at 5 o'clock, it being understood that the question of the Government's claim on the rolling stock will be taken up again at a later stage.

To Be Run As Completed.

Clause 3 amends the original contract so as to allow the Grand Trunk Pacific to take over and operate sections of the eastern division as completed by the Government. After considerable discussion this clause was also passed.

The next clause taken up was No 4, under which the Government guarantee is to be ¾ of the total cost of the mountain sections, whatever it might be, instead of ¾ of $30,000 per mile.

After desultory discussion paragraph 4 was adopted. The committee rose at 10.25 and reported progress.

The House then adjourned.

A Good Word for Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

"In December, 1900, I had a severe cold and was so hoarse that I could not speak above a whisper," says Allan Davis of Freestone, N. Y. "I tried several remedies but got no relief until I used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, one bottle of which cured me. I will always speak a good word for that medicine." For sale by all druggists.

Rights of Workingmen.

London, April 30.—Hamar Greenwood, addressing a large crowd of railway workmen at Holbeck Bridge during the dinner hour, referring to the Trades' Union Disputes Bill, said the employer could persuade people to work for him whether they were Chinese in South Africa or blacklegs in England. He maintained that the workingmen had an equal right to persuade others not to work for an employer if the reasons were good enough to justify him in so doing.

Blake and Devlin.

London, April 30.—On the second reading of the Local Government in Ireland Act's Amendment Bill, framed to remove the disqualification which prevents persons who have been convicted under the Crimes Act from serving on Local Government bodies in Ireland, Edward Blake, M. P., thought there was an overwhelming case for the bill. Mr. Devlin said he could not understand the opposition to the bill.

THE COLONIAL SECRETARY.

Says One and a Quarter Million of Chinese Are Working Under the British Flag—British News.

London, April 30.—Alfred Lyttleton, speaking at the Royal Canadian Institute, and referring to the Chinese question, said one of the greatest problems confronting British statesmen was the desire of those living in congested areas to break out and the indisposition of the great democratic states in possession of vacant lands to admit men of lower civilization and lower industrial standards. He would remind them that at the present moment there were one and a quarter million Chinese working under the British flag, representing a capital of £4,000,000. Since taking office the great thorny questions of Alaska and Newfoundland had been settled, and he trusted that these great settlements might contribute largely to the ability of the Empire and the colonies peaceably to develop their own affairs.

Warning to Britain.

In a paper discussed by the newly-formed Compatriots Club, J. L. Garvin asks if Britain is going to continue to spend yearly 100 millions sterling to develop American competition, instead of creating colonial customers and Imperial citizens. Should the Empire be made self-sustaining with the serious exception of iron ores, he warns the Empire that America will become the first maritime naval power in the world if Canada is ever incorporated with the States. If Canada goes, the whole fabric of the Empire will break asunder.

Churchill Can Speak.

Winston Churchill, addressing a meeting in connection with his new candidature, at Manchester, said the Conservative party in the next Parliament will be protectionist and no Unionist free trader need apply.

Very Satisfactory.

The Lancet, criticizing the Royal Academy pictures from a medically-minded standpoint, declares that the Duchess of Sutherland is a very satisfactory example of young and splendid womanhood.

Decision Reversed.

The Privy Council has decided the case of McDonald v. Belcher, which was appealed from the judgment of the Supreme Court of Canada given on May, 1903. The appeal was allowed with costs, and the judgment of the territorial court of the Yukon restored. Blake for appellants; Tupper for respondents.

Praise For the King.

Lord Strathcona, speaking at the French Chamber of Commerce banquet at London, on behalf of Canada, said the whole country felt gratitude for the King's action in bringing about a better understanding between France and England.

ARE SURE RELIEF FOR THE AGED

What Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets did for Angus MacMillan they will do for Others.

Angus MacMillan, of Laggan, over eighty years of age but still strong and vigorous, is a splendid specimen of the men who have made the sons of Glengarry County known and respected from ocean to ocean.

No one would imagine, to look at Mr. MacMillan to-day, that for 20 years he had suffered the tortures of Dyspepsia. But such is the case nevertheless. Here is his story as told by himself:

"I am over eighty years of age. I suffered with Dyspepsia more than twenty years, and never met with anything to cure me till I commenced taking Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets. After using the Tablets for two days all pain and restlessness left me. I am still using the Tablets, but I feel like a new man."

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are sure relief for the aged because they take the work of digestion off their tired stomachs and ensure a full supply of food and heat to every muscle and organ of the body.

A SUCCESSFUL CONFERENCE HELD.

Pastors and Deacons of Peterborough District Met in Port Hope.

Address by Local Ministers on Church Topics Report of the Services.

Rev. L. McKinnon, of the Gilmour Memorial Baptist Church, has kindly supplied the Examiner with the following report of the conference of Pastors and Deacons recently held in Port Hope:—

"Come ye yourselves apart." This is what some of the pastors, and a very few of the deacons, of the Peterborough Association of Baptist churches, did in meeting at Port Hope, on the 26th and 27th of April, and the going apart for a little season was found to be spiritually profitable. Port Hope is a convenient and pleasant place to meet, and the members of the conference feel a special pleasure in meeting with Pastor Trotter and his people, and from beginning to close a warm Christian atmosphere pervaded the sessions. The devotional exercises were uplifting and refreshing and the discussions of the conference helpful and stimulating. In the absence of Rev. J. E. Hawkings Rev. O. C. Elliott was appointed chairman.

On Tuesday afternoon at the opening session, Pastor J. Bastow gave a very helpful and practical talk on consecration to God, and non-conformity to the world, basing his remarks on Rom. 12, 1-2. Then an hour passed very quickly in the hearing of reports of encouragement and discouragement in the various fields represented. The encouragements seemed to outweigh the discouragements, but of the latter there were some.

A song service led by W. J. Huston, began the evening service. This was an evangelistic meeting led by pastor A. H. Brace, who associated with him Pastors Kelly and Elliott, and Deacon Geo. Lee. This was a service worthy of a larger audience than that which greeted the speakers.

Wednesday's meetings began with devotional exercises, and a devotional exposition by Pastor Trotter. For a Scripture lesson he read the story of the walk to Emmaus, as given in the 24th chapter of Luke. The theme of the address was "A Cure for Spiritual Dejection." Jesus Himself drew near.

A conference on the financial aspect of the Church of Christ was opened by an address by Pastor L. McKinnon on "Principles and Practices in Church Finance." The closing hour of the a.m. session was divided between a consideration of Sunday school work, and of the ethics of the church roll. In connection with the discussion on the former Bro. G. Lee gave an account of the Banca Class of the Murray street Baptist church S. S.

The afternoon session opened with an exposition of Romans 7th chapter by Pastor J. Grant, of Cobourg. It was a sympathetic inquiry into the causes and character of the conflicts of the good man. The ministry of the Deacon was the subject of two papers the one by Rev. H. Shaw of Colborne, and the other by G. Lee. Pastor Shaw discussed the character of the office and the qualifications for it, while Bro. Lee spoke of the helpfulness which might characterize the deacon's relation to the pastor. Pastoral visitation, its purpose and method, was the subject of two interesting papers the one by Pastor Brace and the other by Pastor Whitman.

The evening service aimed to contribute towards the strengthening and deepening of the Christian life of faith in the Son of God. Addresses were given by Pastors McKinnon, Brace and Elliott. Thus closed a pleasant and helpful conference. We missed some of our deacons and also some of our former pastors.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.

"Keep your little ones' stomach and bowels right, and they will be healthy, happy and grow well." This is the deliberate opinion of a physician of world wide reputation. One mother who followed this advice — Mrs. Albert Boisvert, St. Claude, says: "I have the greatest faith in Baby's Own Tablets for young children, and I always keep them in the house. Both my little ones were troubled with constipation and sour stomach. I gave them the Tablets, and they are now perfectly well. Once in a while I still give them a dose to prevent the trouble coming back." If all sensible mothers follow this advice there will be fewer cross, peevish, sickly babies in the land. These Tablets are guaranteed to contain no opiate or harmful drug. Sold by medicine dealers everywhere, or sent by mail at 25c a box by writing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Changes in College.

Halifax, N.S., April 30.—The Board of the Presbyterian College closed its sittings yesterday. Rev. Dr. Pollock's resignation as principal professor in the Presbyterian College has been accepted, and Dr. R. A. Falconer has been nominated to General Assembly as his successor. Rev. Arthur S. Morton of St. Stephen's, N.B., has been nominated to the General Assembly as lecturer in theology and church history for the term of three years, at a salary of $15,000 per annum.

Good Digestion.

If you can keep your digestive system in proper condition the body will be well nourished and you need have little fear of disease. By regulating the kidneys, liver and bowels, Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills ensure a healthful condition of the organs of digestion and for this reason are indispensable as a family medicine.

Attempt on Governor.

Erivan, Russia, April 30.—An attempt has been made to assassinate the District Governor of Echmiedzin. He was struck by two bullets. One of them penetrated his chest. The motive of the attempt was political.

The King at the Races.

Dublin, April 30.—King Edward and Queen Alexandra attended the Leopardstown races yesterday, the smartest day of the Dublin race week.

Negro Lynched in Tennessee.

Brownsville, Tenn., April 30.—Tom Searey, a negro, aged 30, was lynched yesterday in a remote part of Hawood County.

If you wanted to make steam you wouldn't use half coal and half slate. You would use all coal—and good coal at that.

Why shouldn't your digestive organs be treated as carefully as a steam boiler?

"FORCE" is the greatest power-maker for the human engine.

If "FORCE" were a passing fad would three million people be eating it to-day with a relish? There are over forty "breakfast foods." But there is only one "FORCE."

C.P.R. Extensions.

Winnipeg, April 30.—Foley Bros. and Larson have secured the contract to build 90 miles of Canadian Pacific extension this season in the Territories. Twenty-five miles will be built east from Wetaskiwin, 25 miles from Lacombe and 40 miles from Pleasant Hills into Lost Mountain district. No United States contractors will receive sub-contracts and none but Canadian workmen will be employed.

The World's Fair To-Day.

St. Louis, April 30.—St. Louis last night prepared for the greatest day in her history. To-day at noon her great exposition, upon which the city has lavished millions of money, to which her people have devoted years of their best endeavors, and for which they have labored with infinite patience and persistence, will be thrown open to the world.

Millions of Feet.

Fredericton, N.B., April 30.—The ice jam above Grand Falls broke yesterday and the huge mass of logs, estimated at from 40,000,000 feet, hung up last year, are running thickly past here. All will be saved.

How to Ward Off an Attack of Rheumatism.

"For years when springtime came on and I went into gardening I was sure to have an attack of rheumatism and every attack was more severe than the preceding one," says Josie McDonald, of Man, Logan Co., West Va. "I tried everything with no relief whatever, until I procured a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm, and the first application gave me ease and before the first bottle was used I felt like a newp erson. Now I feel that I am cured, but I always keep a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm in the house and when I feel any symptoms of a return I soon drive it away with one or two applications of this liniment. For sale by all druggists.

KING'S GOOD WISHES

For the Coming Exhibition of Colonial Products.

AN INDUSTRIAL EXPERIMENT

Premier Watson's Remarks on the Nationalizing of Australia's Industries—Heavy Sales of Land in the Northwest—Exodus of Lancashire Cotton Spinners—Sunday Closing Too Far in Advance.

London, April 29.—(C. A. P.)—The King has written to the president and manager of the Colonial Products Exhibition, to be held in Liverpoool in January next, expressing his hearty good wishes for its success.

An Industrial Experiment.

London, April 29.—(C.A.P.)—Premier Watson of Australia, says if it comes to the nationalizeing of industries, care will be taken to deal with the whole question on a commercial basis "before we embark on the undertaking. Our program will depend on the finding of the money. The financial side will be carefully considered." He expected to see the realization of his ideals in a reasonable space of time.

The Daily Chronicle in an analysis of the Australian Cabinet shows that every member has worked either with pen or pick.

Sir George Clark advised the Australian Government that submarine boats were in too experimental a stage to provide for the defence of Sydney harbor.

The Australian Government will not be asked to provide £2,000 to send a team to Bisley and compete for the Palma trophy, as it is expected the money will be raised by public subscription.

Calgary Land Company.

London, April 29.—(C.A.P.)—The report of the Calgary and Edmonton Land Company shows the sales of land during the year to have been 129,975 acres and the prices $535,329. The average price increased 64 cents per acre during 1903. Osler Hammond Nauton remitted $385,410 cash, against $262,318 in 1902. The profit for the year was £30,173, compared with £6,010 in 1902.

Sunday Closing.

London, April 29.—(C.A.P.)—Lord Avebury endeavored to induce the House of Lords to pass the second reading of the bill for the Sunday closing of shops, the present fine of 5s proving no deterrant. The bill provided for the exemption of saloons, tobacconists, news agents and chemists. Lord Belper and the Archbishop of Canterbury urged the bill was in advance of public opinion and it was dropped.

Against Reduction.

London, April 29.—(C.A.P.)—At a meeting of the Volunteer Yeomanry Committee in the House of Commons last night it was stated that Arnold Foster, Secretary for War, under his new scheme of army reform, intends to reduce the volunteer force by 80,000, the militia by 64 battalions and the yeomanry by 120 men per battalion.

The meeting resolved to send a deputation to Premier Balfour to protest against this proposed reduction.

Blow to Cotton Trade.

London, April 29.—(C.A.P.)—One of the largest cotton spinners in Blackburn says that the exodus of the Lancashire cotton workers who have started for Canada is likely to ruin thousands and be the greatest blow to the industry since the cotton famine caused by the Civil war in 1863. Numbers of emigrants are taking with them a capital of £50 to £150.

Should Be Popular.

London, April 29.—(C. A. P.)—G. Weir, M.P., in a discussion on the cleanliness of the House of Commons floor proposed that Parliament import Japanese girls to unlace the boots of members and place their feet in soft Japanese slippers.

HE'S WELL FITTED TO SPEAK OF IT

Postmaster's Pleasant Experience with Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Says the Great Kidney Remedy Made a Complete Cure in his Case—Grand Work in New Brunswick.

Lower Windsor, Carleton Co., N. B., April 29, (Special.) — Postmaster T. H. Belyea, of this place, is on account of his wide acquaintance and his personal experience, well fitted to speak on the grand work Dodd's Kidney Pills are doing in this part of New Brunswick. In an interview the postmaster says:

"I was bothered with kidney trouble for years. I had tried several kinds of plasters and other medicines but did not seem to be able to get much lasting benefit.

"During a particularly bad spell of the trouble I decided to try Dodd's Kidney Pills, and must say that I received more benefit from them than from any other medicine I ever used. In fact they seem to have made a complete cure, as I am as well as ever I was in that respect."

Remedies are known by their cures. That's why Dodd's Kidney Pills are the best and most favourably known kidney remedy in the world to-day.

A PROMINENT COLLEGE MAN.

One of Indiana's Useful Educators Says: "I Feel Like a New Man."

MR. JOHN W. MENG.

Mr. John W. Meng, 54 Jefferson Ave., Indianapolis, Ind., State Representative of Indianapolis Business College, writes:

"I firmly believe that I owe my fine health to Peruna. Constant travel and change of food and water wrought havoc with my stomach, and for months I suffered with indigestion and catarrh of the stomach. I felt that the only thing to do was to give up my occupation which I felt very reluctant to do. Seeing an ad. of Peruna as a specific for catarrh I decided to give it a trial, and used it faithfully for six weeks, when I found that my troubles had all disappeared and I seemed like a new man. I have a bottle of Peruna in my grip all the time, and occasionally take a few doses which keeps me in excellent health."—John W. Meng.

THE most common phases of summer catarrh are catarrh of the stomach and bowels. Peruna is a specific for summer catarrh.

Hon. Willis Brewer, Representative in Congress from Alabama, writes the following letter to Dr. Hartman:

House of Representatives,
Washington, D. C.

The Peruna Medicine Co., Columbus, O.:

Gentlemen—"I have used one bottle of Peruna for lassitude, and I take pleasure in recommending it to those who need a good remedy. As a tonic it is excellent. In the short time I have used it it has done me a great deal of good."—Willis Brewer.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio.

Salvation Army Self Denial.

The now well know self-denial week of the Salvation Army will be observed from May 1st to 7th, and the members of the local corps are making preparations for this annual effort. The Army's beneficient operations are supported purely by the free-will offerings of the people, and the needs of its vast missionary labours among the heathens abroad, and the down-fallen at home are met chiefly through the agency of self-denial. The Army is doing splendid work in its Industrial and Rescue Homes, Men's and Women's Shelters established in different centres in this country, while the world over the Army has about 500 similar refuges for the fallen and destitute.

BANDMASTER GLIDDON AND HIS CRACK BAND.

Delight a Large Audience in the Opera House.

An Excellent Programme Excellently Rendered—A Creditable Organization.

Bandmaster Gliddon and his red-coated organization achieved a triumph in their rendition of a choice programme last evening in the opera house, and the reception accorded the band, and the applause that followed each number must indeed be encouraging to that organization and its indefatigable leader.

It has been some time since the citizens have been afforded an opportunity of listening to our crack musical organization, owing to the fact that no concerts were given during the winter months, and as a consequence many were in ignorance regarding its capabilities and also the progress it was making since the cessation of the popular band concerts. But Bandmaster Gliddon is never idle, and the treat which was provided for the appreciative audience last evening, came in the nature of a surprise, and as a result of last night's brilliant effort there is no gainsaying the fact that we possess a musical organization, probably without a peer in the Dominion.

The programme presented last evening was a varied one, and appealed to all musical tastes. It opened with an inspiring march, "Peace Forever," which, together with the other marches, "A Southern Beauty," and "Glenwood," were rendered with a spirit and finish, and a delightful harmony that made them popular with the audience. It was, however, in Rossini's beautiful overture, "William Tell," that the band covered itself with glory. This arrangement is a combination of intricate passages for both the reed and brass sections, but they were all met and handled with a grace and finish that was truly admirable. There was delightful evidences of musical concord through the whole number, and when the magnitute of the undertaking is considered, and its rendition without the semblance of a dissonhut element, the work of the band places it in a class by itself. The spirited finale to this masterpiece was a brilliant combination of harmonies by the different sections, and the ovation that was recorded the performers was of such a magnificent nature, that a repitition of a portion of the overture was necessary in order to satisfy a delighted audience.

Another gem, although of a somewhat lighter nature, was the descriptive number, "By the Swanee River." In this number the band illustrated its capability of being at ease in the rendition of an arrangement that required not only the full instrumentation, but also called into play their vocal powers. The merry shouts of the negro and the shuffle of feet in a "warm up," mingled with the sprightly music in a manner that appealed to many in the hall, and the movement of feet suddenly became epidemic. This died away in a sweet vocal arrangement of 'Swanee River" with a beautiful obligato by a section of the band. This number of course had to be repeated.

The lullaby, "Sweet and Low," was a pleasing number, the different sections blending in delightful harmony in this short, but sweet, number.

Brahm's "Hungarian Dance," was another dainty number, admirably executed, and the medley—an arrangement of the popular songs of the day—was a number containing the latest vocal successes and pleased the audience immensely, as did also the oddity "Allegrazam."

The evening's programme was brought to a close by the National Anthem, and the many encomiums heard on all sides, as to the work of the band, and the progress it has made, is a source of gratification not only to the citizens, but also to the band and its capable instructor, and the music-loving portion of the community will await with pleasure the announcement of the next concert.

WHO HAS THE STAMPED COIN?

"Dazzler" 25 Cents Piece Returned but Did Not Stay.

Mr. W. Morgan, the George street tobacconist, is looking for an elderly man, with a twenty-five cent piece stamped with a "Dazzler" on its face. The gentleman in question came into the store yesterday to make a purchase, and offered in payment a 25 cent piece, which peculiarly happened to be the identical coin stamped by Mr. Morgan, and for which he offered $2 for its return. As the purchaser offered the coin he said, "Is this quarter any good?" Mr. Morgan recognizing the stamp, informed him that he would give him $2 for it, whereupon the farmer immediately replaced the coin in his pocket, remarking that if it was worth $2 to Mr. Morgan it was worth that to him. He was evidently not aware of the circumstances which constituted the value of the coin, and immediately rushed out of the shop before he could be further questioned.

THE PROPOSED NEW COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE

Many Letters from Citizens on the Great Necessity for Such a Building.

PRESENT COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE DEFECTS.

A New Building is a Pressing Necessity.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir, — In view of the fact that the day of voting upon the High School bylaw is near at hand, I feel it might not be out of place for me to speak of the great need there is for a new Institute. As a present pupil of the school, I am in a position to realize the deficiencies of the old building, and to recognize the necessity of a new one. I feel confident that few citizens of Peterborough realize the disadvantages the teachers are labouring under in trying to teach pupils in a school very ill-suited for the purpose.

In the first place, both the chemical and physical laboratories are totally inadequate, being very badly equipped with instruments, some of which have nearly out-grown their usefulness. A new gymnasium is also badly needed. The building which at the present time is honoured with that name is far too small to accommodate the large number of pupils who make use of it. What is required is a large commodious building, equipped with modern apparatus. Then, too, the High School should have a play ground where cricket and baseball, and kindred sports, should be played. This would serve to make the pupils more interested in their work, and more attached to the school. At present the pupils of the Collegiate Institute, in common with those of the Central school, use what is commonly known as a playground, but which is only a low-lying back yard. Having but one playground for the two schools, naturally causes some friction. For instance, when the High School cadets marched out to the grounds for their weekly drill on Wednesday last they found them occupied by a number of Central School pupils, who proposed having a ball game. This shows the need of having a separate campus for the High School students. The need of an assembly hall has already been enlarged upon by "A Citizen" in last night's papers. This furnishes us with another excellent reason for building a new Institute. Hoping that these few remarks may be of service, I remain,

Yours respectfully,
HIGH SCHOOL STUDENT.

ANOTHER STUDENT AIRS HIS VIEWS.

A Strong Advocate for a New Collegiate Building.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—Owing to the interest now being manifested in the erection of a new Collegiate Institute building here, perhaps a few remarks may be permitted regarding the present accommodation, by one of the students.

Our Collegiate building is, to say the least, very incommodious. The cloak rooms are narrow, dark, and so small as to be at times quite insufficient for the pupils' needs. There is no artificial means of lighting the class rooms, some of which are so gloomy that on dark days it is almost impossible to carry on work in them. The laboratories, both physical and chemical, are very imperfectly equipped, making these branches of study much harder for the scholars than they should be. The chemical laboratory is situated in the attic, so to speak, and consists of but one room, in which both experimental and class-work have to be carried on. The Collegiate buildings of smaller towns than ours have much better equippment. It is very desirable that the chemical laboratory consist of two rooms, one for experiments, and one adjoining for class work.

But the greatest lack in our present College Home is that there is no Assembly Hall. We have absolutely no room where the school can meet as a body. This prohibits any attempt at a Literary Society, an organization forming part of nearly all Collegiate Institutes, and of which there is great need. Indeed, a large part of what would otherwise be gained by the student, in the way of public speaking and debating, is lost on this account. Ours is about the only Institute in the province without such a hall, and it is a real necessity to the proper carrying on of school work.

Besides this, there is at present the merest apology for what should be a well-stocked library, a few volumes in the principal's private room, where it is often inconvenient to make use of them. This makes the essay-writing done by the students much harder, as they have often difficulty in obtaining certain information on the subject to be written on.

These are but a few objections from a scholar's standpoint, to the present building. Are they not enough to warrant the erection of a new one?

Respectfully yours,
ONE OF THE STUDENTS.

THE NECESSITY FOR A NEW COLLEGIATE.

M. E. B. Edwards Timely Letter on Educational Matters.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—Forty-five years ago, about eight or nine years after incorporation as a town, with a population of 3,700 and a total assessment of $67,297, Peterborough undertook to put up a school building which is still, after the lapse of all these years, the finest school building we have to-day. It was build by men who had faith in the town adn who had an eye for the future. It was placed on a lot large enough to furnish a playground for the pupils. It furnished accommodation for the public school classes and also for those of the grammar school, and there was a large room to spare, which was used as a lecture hall and room for meetings.

It has served its purpose well. It is apparently good for another forty-five years to come. But long ago it was found to be too small for the growing town. The lecture hall was divided to form two school rooms before the building was half a dozen years old. A new building was erected some years later with the idea that it would serve for a time for the institute and that when the institute had outgrown it, it would serve for an additional public school building. This, with the false ideas of economy that marked the second generation of school builders, led to the mistake of placing this building on the same lot as the original school to the disadvantage of both and greatly reducing, instead of increasing, the area of the boys' play-ground.

Peterborough of to-day, with a population of 13,000, with a total assessment of $5,400,000—over eight times that of 1858—is talking of putting up a collegiate institute building. Will the men of to-day have as much faith in their town as clear an eye for the future, as had their predecessors of forty-five years ago? Will their children and their children's children be able, forty-five years hence, to point with satisfaction and pride to the building to be put up this year? The lot on which the central school is erected and the two school buildings, including that occupied by the institute belong to the supporters of public schools—the Protestant ratepayers. The collegiate institute is supported by both Protestant and Roman Catholic ratepayers. It seems on the face of of it anomalous that a limited number of the ratepayers should furnish a building for the use of the whole body. Is it not time that the whole body should have their own building for their own work? I am told that there are some, who in this twentieth century and in this democratic and progressive Canada of ours are inclined to oppose the collegiate institute altogether, and to say, "Let the rich men educate their own children—let those who want higher education pay for it." A century ago and in less favoured countries, the rich had the advantage of not only having a monopoly of higher education for their sons, but also of having a monopoly of those positions in life where higher education was absolutely essential, and where its possession gave special advantages.

It is one of the most hopeful signs for the prosperity of our town and country that we have so few rich people who are independent of both public schools and collegiate institutes for the education of their children, and that we have so few poor people who are too poor to take advantage of both for their children. I hope the time will never come in Canada when we shall have privileged classes in the matter of education, when the son of the rich man can get an education that will give him a still greater advantage in life, while the bright son of the man who can barely make ends meet must be content with the three R's and be barred from all chance of rising to any higher position.

The vote on the 5th of May next should indicate how the ratepayers of 1904 compare in intelligence and foresight with those of 1858.

Yours truly,
E. B. EDWARDS.
Peterborough, April 29, 1904.

FROM A STUDENT'S POINT OF VIEW.

Our Present Collegiate Institute Very Incommodious.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—I wish to present as briefly as possible a few specific reasons why a collegiate institute building should be erected in Peterborough at the present time, and I shall mention only such reasons as I think can be appreciated by all.

The collegiate institute has no building but is occupying quarters rented from the public schools. These quarters are now required for the public schools and a new building of some kind is absolutely necessary.

Although the building now occupied would make a satisfactory public school it is far below the standard for a collegiate institute. The high school inspectors invariably report against it, and it is not unlikely that before long the Minister of Education will reduce the institute to the grade of a high school if better accommodation is not furnished. This reduction would greatly reduce the annual government grant.

Some of the defects of the present building for a collegiate institute are:

1. It contains no assembly hall in which the students may be called together for general lectures, literary society in connection with the school and such a society is a very important factor in high school work.
2. The laboratories are inconvenient and altogether inadequate, impairing to a serious degree the instruction in science.
3. No suitable waiting rooms are provided for students, particularly for those who, coming from a distance, find it necessary to remain at the school during the noon hour.
4. The gymnasium is too small, is badly ventilated and is otherwise unsuited for the work to be done in it.
5. The grounds are, for the institute, worse than the building. The girls of the institute have absolutely no place on which to set foot outside the building except their small platform and the street. As the grounds at the back are occupied by the boys of the public school the boys of the institute have practically no play ground and cannot organize any games. This utter want of play grounds causes the students to spend most of their time inside instead of in the fresh air.

If a collegiate institute is erected the school board will then be able, because of having ample room, to unite with the county for high school purposes, admiting the county students on the same terms as those from the town. In this case the County will be required to pay its share of the yearly cost of maintenance. This share will be more than the additional yearly expenditure due to the larger attendance.

A considerable portion of the yearly government grant to collegiate institutes depends upon the building furnished. Of this portion Peterborough at present receives almost nothing.

If the proposed building is erected the Board of Education will have at their disposal accommodation for manual training and domestic science if those subjects are approved. These are branches for the teaching of which it is very desirable to provide and the Government is prepared to encourage this work by very liberal money grants.

The Dickson Company's mills at Burnham's Point, have resumed operations, and a full staff of men are at work in the different departments. THE REWARD OF PERSEVERANCE.

Mr. W. Jobe Branching out in his Business.

Perseverance will have its reward. Mr. W. Jobe, the hustling manufacturer of Jobe's home-made candy, is both enterprising and persevering. Not content with running two home-made candy stores, on George street, he has now branched out into the ice cream and cream soda business. He has just completed the furnishing of a new, neat and nobby ice cream parlour in connection with his confectionery store, at No. 422 George street, next to Dutton's. At a very considerable expense he has installed one of McLaughlin's handsome "Coldstream" soda fountains—a very attractive silver counter apparatus, of most artistic design. It stands four feet high above a pretty Tennessee marble slab, with two electroliers, and is surmounted by a pear shaped globe, bisque figure and water spray. The interior of the ice cream parlour has been newly painted and papered by Fred Cook, and furnished with new tables and circular seat chairs, capable of accommodating fifty persons. The floor is covered with a showy pattern of linoleum. The arch between the confectionery store as well as the parlour windows, are all prettily draped, and the walls decorated with interesting and appropriate pictures.

AND A LITTLE CHILD SHALL LEAD THEM

By Louise Hubert Guyol

...Copyright, 1903, by T. C. McClure...

Allyn Hardin was a man who, though but thirty-seven, had traveled till he was well wearied with the world. Without family or ties, no one cared when he came nor where he went, so that whenever he did think of settling down it was with a very decided picture in his mind—a picture of a home that was home in the fullest sense of the word, where there reigned a wife whose life would be bound up in that home; where there romped little children who would welcome him with smiles and with drooping faces see him go. And it was this feeling, but dully realized, that made him look upon Miss Ellison with something of doubt, albeit much of admiration.

Life was joyous to Alice Ellison. Her blood ran high, and nothing had crossed her path that tended to make her feel aught but the joy of living. It was natural, therefore, that she should laugh and dance and sing. Sometimes, though, it palled on her, and she would sit within the silence of her room, wondering why she could not "fall in love, really and truly and deeply." And always at this wonder the picture of Allyn Hardin rose before her and her heart grew tender. And then something would crop up, like the weeds in the parable, choking out these tiny seeds of love. And that something was pitifully like the vision that had but just caused her a momentary gladness. But the clear blue eyes were so cold, the fine mouth so firmly set with determination, the chin so square, that she would rise impatiently, crying out:

"Ah, no, he would never be tender, nor sweet, nor—nor"—

For she, too, had her picture of what a home should be, and while she scarcely dared dwell on it, as he could do, it was there, in the clouds above her head—a home in which there was a woman whose life's one aim was to keep the tired lines from her husband's face, the worrying cares from his heart, to maintain forever the smiles on those little upturned faces at her knee. But the husband must be one with a heart warm enough to take and profit by the sympathy she held out to him in such good abundance, a man who could understand the hearts of those little children in the arms of that woman.

So, thinking much but understanding little of each other, they went their separate ways until one morning early, when a train drew out from the depot, Alice seated in the chair car, Allyn swinging on to the step of the last coach.

He was off on his vacation, and in the curlings of the smoke he saw not the face of Alice Ellison, but cool, green nooks by running streams. He heard the crunch of the dried leaves beneath his feet and felt the tugging of the trout upon his line.

He had bid Alice goodby two evenings before, expecting to leave the city then, and he recalled her look of good, frank friendship as she had put her hand in his. "What a pity there is not more to her," he mused. "She is so attractive, but she lacks weight."

The train was coming to a stop, and Allyn rose and went out on the platform. They were slowing into a picturesque little town with green trees in sight of the depot and big, sprawly southern homes, white and green in the sunlight.

Was that Alice?

Yes, there on the lower step of the coach ahead of him she stood, with an impatience barely hidden by her quiet manner, waiting for the train to stop. She was smiling, oh, so brightly, and the train had scarcely come to a standstill before she had sprung down and was running across the platform to meet—

Allyn Hardin could not believe his own eyes.

A little girl with brown legs flashing bare above low socks and face left bare by the bonnet that hung about her neck, reflecting the brightness he had seen on Alice's, came rushing down the platform too. With a shriek of joy she threw herself into Alice's open arms.

The whistle blew again. Alice was moving off with a young man and woman who had joined her.

"Miss Ellison! How do you do?"

Alice turned about quickly.

"Oh," she gasped, "I thought you were in Wisconsin!" She moved toward the train, not losing hold of the little hand that lay in hers.

"I could not get off. Wish I had known you were aboard"—the train was moving. "Goodby, goodby."

"Bon voyage," called Alice. Then, bending toward the child, "Wave bye-by to Mr. Hardin."

A sunburned little hand clawed the air, and Alice, raising her head, looked up at Allyn. They both laughed.

On the rest of that northbound trip all that Allyn saw was a little country railroad station, with its usual motley setting. Standing forth from it all were the same two figures, the Madonna and the child—one in gown of softly clinging blue, the other in ruffled white apron.

The two weeks' visit to her brother came to an end, and the train was fast drawing Alice Ellison away from the sweet peace of the country into the rush and whirl of that old life in the city. Leaning back in her chair, dreamily looking out of the window, she came to the conclusion that she was tired of herself.

She sighed and rose wearily. Swaying with the motion of the car, she made her way toward the Pullmans. It was October; perhaps she might find some of her friends returning to the city. Pausing a moment on the threshold of the sleeper, she looked down the red plush aisle.

A few feet in front of her a man was seated, with his back turned toward her. He had light hair, "just like Mr. Hardin's," and standing on the seat beside him was a little child. The car lurched, and the little fellow swayed, only to be caught by a strong arm that threw him downward. Then the man's head darted down, and Alice smiled at the screams of childish laughter.

She watched them for a moment; then the child, peering over the man's shoulder, called out: "Pretty lady! Pretty lady!" And she, feeling too weary to more than smile at the little fellow, turned to go back to her uninteresting book.

The train was crossing the long bridge over Lake Pontchartrain, and Alice paused in the vestibule between the Pullman and the chair car. Standing at the window she looked out upon the vastness of the moonlit lake and sky and felt very tired and small and useless. She was not blue, nor was she morbid, but somehow her heart rebelled at going back to that old life in the city—so empty, so shallow, so—

"Alice! Miss Ellison"—

"Why—why—where did you come from?" Her voice trembled, but she did not care.

She held out both hands to Allyn Hardin, and as his own closed over hers a sudden picture flashed before her. She heard again those peals of childish laughter, saw again a man's head bend swiftly down, like a great boy's, beneath the tug of baby hands; saw a face, habitually cold, alight with something divinely warm as it had looked at her across the sunny head of little Alice from the narrow doorway of a fast receding train. Her heart gave a bound that frightened her, and, drawing her hands away, she turned and looked again upon the moonlit water.

"I was called home unexpectedly on business," Allyn was explaining, when he noted that she was not listening.

He stepped nearer to her side.

"Miss Ellison," he began. Then he saw how the moonlight was caught and shimmered in the tears that lay on her cheek and which she could not help any more than she could have told the reason why they fell.

"What's the matter, Alice?"

There was a long pause, and when she answered her voice was like a tired child's.

"Nothing; only I'm so tired."

She had turned and involuntarily stretched forth her hands again, but Allyn's hands slipped past hers, and he folded her in his arms.

"Oh, Alice," he murmured—"Alice, you don't know how I love you."

She raised her wet face to his, and as he bent low over her the weight slipped from her heart and the old life that had so tired her became a thing of the past.

How the Blood Is Purified.

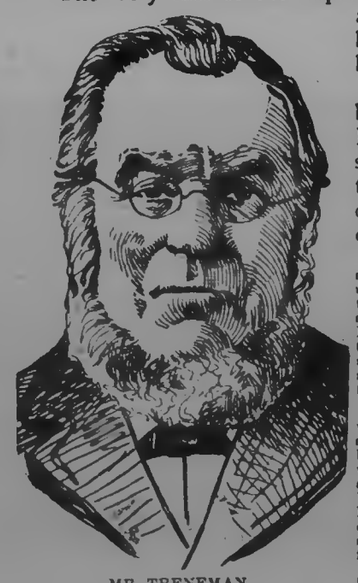
The Kidneys Directly Responsible for Poisonous Waste Matter Which is Left in the System.

People are accustomed to speak of a blood purifier as something which acts directly on the blood stream, whereas there is no other way in this world in which the blood can be purified except through the filtering action of the kidneys.

It is because of their direct and specific action on the kidneys that Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills have no equal as a means of eliminating from the blood the poisonous waste matter which collects in the system during the artificial life of winter.

This great family medicine is so frequently heard of as a cure for severe and chronic cases of kidney disease that people sometimes lose sight of its great value as a purifier of the blood.

The very fact of the supremacy of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills as a treatment for kidney derangements is the best evidence of its value as a purifier of the blood.



MR. TRENEMAN.

By ensuring activity of the liver and bowels as well as the kidneys, Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills thoroughly cleanse the system of all poisonous impurities, purify the blood and drive out the painful and dangerous ailments arising from a clogging of the filtering and excretory organs.

Mr. Treneman of 538 Adelaide St., London, Ont., states:—"Two years ago I was laid up with kidney disease and urinary troubles. Besides the pain and inconvenience caused by these troubles I became dropsical, and my legs would swell up so that I could scarcely go around at all. Hearing of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills I procured a box and continued the use of this valuable medicine until now I can say for a certainty that I am entirely cured. I never took any medicine that did me so much good, and am firmly convinced that if it had not been for this medicine I would not be working to-day."

Mr. Arthur Walden, Ferryville, Carleton Co., N.B., writes:—"My wife was a great sufferer from kidney disease for several years. She was troubled with pains in the small of the back and in the side, was gradually losing flesh and growing weaker. She got into a very bad state, suffered dreadful pains and her ankles would swell up so that we were afraid of dropsy. We had a book of Dr. Chase's in the house, and reading about Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills decided to try them. Relief soon came with this treatment. My wife has been entirely cured and says she would not be without Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills for ten times the price.

"I am using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food myself, and it is building me up wonderfully."

SEVEN SUTHERLAND SISTERS HAIR GROWER

The Great Hair Tonic is a Positive and Thorough Antiseptic

and will quickly eradicate all trace of scalp bacteria, which is the cause of hair falling, dandruff and baldness. NO SCALP CAN BE HEALTHY AND NO HAIR CAN BE BEAUTIFUL WHEN CONTAMINATED WITH THESE DISEASE-BREEDING CREATURES. They undermine the hair and devour all the nutriment or life-sap of the scalp, without which the scalp dries up and peels off, forming dandruff and causing the loss of hair. SEVEN SUTHERLAND SISTERS HAIR GROWER AND SCALP CLEANER ARE THE ONLY REMEDIES IN THE WORLD THAT WILL DESTROY THESE GERMS. They penetrate the scalp thoroughly, carrying with them all the necessary properties to quickly regenerate all the impoverished parts. They rebuild the lost tissues of the scalp and renew the growth of the hair in every case. A few applications will make the hair fairly sparkle with new life and vigor. They make healthy hair grow twice to three times as fast as it does normally.

CULINARY CONCEITS.

Boiled cabbage is much sweeter when the water is changed in boiling.

Don't throw away pieces of bread. Put them aside and dry or roll and save for scalloping or crumbling.

Add one-quarter of a cup of boiling water to any rule for sponge cake to make it roll easily for jelly cake.

To stir the yolks of eggs into soup or hot custard so that they will be smooth first beat them and then add a teaspoonful of cold water.

In making gingerbread, if the molasses and butter are heated together before the other ingredients are added the cake will be nicer.

Milk toast is improved by the addition of a little grated cheese just before serving. Grated cheese is also a pleasant addition to a dish of mashed potatoes.
